The Farmers' Friend — Clanton, Alabama

B. S. FREDERICK WRITES

Last winter when the greatest majority of people in the United States were worrying about food and clothing to protect them from the cold, little did they think that we again would have torrid heat and drouth. The Farmers Union has always contended that we did not need a reduction program and restricted acres, that God Almighty would take care of that in His own way. It has been proven to us again that we did not need the program that our Secretary of Agriculture insists on adhering to. Too often does man exceed his rights and try to do the things that are meant for God and God only. The good Book teaches us that we should store up food for the lean years, for the lean years that we are sure to have and that we are facing now. Why destroy the things that the great ruler of the universe has so graciously given us? Why not go teaching to preserve that portion that we do not need for immediate consumption to be used in the lean years?

I am told that Brother Eaverson, National president of the F. E. & C. U. of A. in his travels over various states, that the drouth and the grasshoppers have destroyed whole secitons of grain in the larger grain states, that pastures have dried up and dairy farmers are having to feed their cattle in mid-summer practically the same as in the dead of winter and with the winter facing them. I am not trying to paint a horrible picture to you, but just want to remind you that the Farmers Union program is a fair program and how unfair the program of the Secretary of Agriculture is.

We are hoping for better things to come, and with the help of the entire membership of the Farmers Union it can be accomplished. We can be a real friend pretty soon who has real friend in the fight for the refinancing bill, a bill that will enable a great majority of the farmers who are now in distress to take a new interest in life, and think that maybe there is something to live for. The new Frasier-Lemke bill was introduced by Congressman Lemke during the last few days that Congress was in session. The number of the bill was HR12715, and I urge everyone to get a copy of this bill. Write to your Congressman, or to the Government printing office at Washington, D. C., and ask for a copy of this bill and then study it carefully. It contains the amendments that we voted upon.

Mr. Lemke has also introduced a bill that will help the home owners in the cities and small towns, also the small business man who is in distress. The number of this bill is HR12945. The farmer has many friends in the city connected with the various labor groups who will be interested in this bill, and will be glad to assist the farmer in the fight for it if he will assist him in the fight for his bill.

Much can be accomplished at the coming session of Congress if labor groups will unite with the Farmers Union groups in their battle for a right of existence. A new ray of hope will come into the hearts of many people if they can see a chance of again owning their own homes. The battles have been hard, but with a valiant Congressman who has been a real friend as the test shows, coming to the front this fall, I think there is more hope than ever before. Let us be true friends to a true friend. Friendship, after all, can only be measured by a real test. Cooperation is the only solution for the farmer and the masses of labor. Let us all cooperate as one unit and we will succeed in all our undertakings.—B. S. Frederick, Jemison, Ala.

Sunday and Sunday night were our regular preaching services. We received another wonderful message by our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson.

Miss Odell Ellison was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Alta Mae Blow.

Misses Central Cost and Dotha Cleckler are spendng this week in Clanton with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hall, of Birmingham, spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Arledge.

We need more help in our Sunday school. Lots could help if they would come. We had quite a few absent last Sunday.—Reporter.

WOCO PEPPERS TAKE MONTEVALLO 11-7

J. E. Easterling's "Woco Peppers" went to Montevallo last Thursday and defeated that club 11 to 7. It must be remembered that this Montevallo is one of the two teams that have been able to take the doughty Lay Dam Killowatts on their own field this season.

Bill Armstrong led the Clanton attack with four hits, Simms got three including two triples, Wilson got a pair, and Tiffin, Scroggins, Easterling and Culver got one each, Culver batting for Scroggins in the ninth, hit one of "Fireball" Smitherman's smokers far over the centerfielder's head, and was said by many Montevallo fans to be the longest ball ever hit in that field. In all the Clanton team gathered 16 hits, good for 26 bases, registering four errors for the afternoon.

For Montevallo, Carter, Lee, Wilson, Lawley and Eiland had a pair of hits each, with Underwood, Kendrick and Galloway chiming in with one each. These 13 hits were good for 16 bases. Only one error was made by this club.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

Built Like an Automobile

You have never seen a mower like this

It is Really New and Different

Come in and go over the entire mower. You'll agree that you have never seen anything like it.

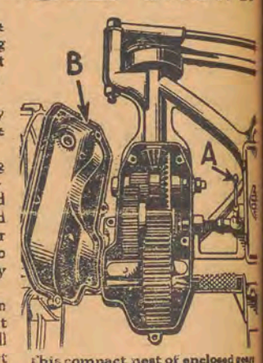
McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower

WE are anxious to have all or our friends see the New McCormick Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

Everybody who has seen it says they never had any idea that a mower could be built as this one is.

For example: The entire operating mechanism, including drive gears, differential, and countershafts, is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and fly-wheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration



This compact nest of enclosed gears runs in a bath of oil—a full gallon. The cover, B, makes the gear case dust-proof and oil-tight. Clutch is thrown in and out by lever, A.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Recently an outstanding Southern Minister wrote a lamentation about the spiritual state of the church. However, in this same comment he discounted the great doctrines of the Bible, such as the verbal inspiration of the Bible, the virgin birth of Christ, and the second coming of our Lord. "Jesus gave no encouragement to find out the time of the second coming", said the writer. I can't understand how any man would so misrepresent the Word of God. Jesus in the 24th Chapter of Matthew, taught us emphatically that certain world conditions would precede His second coming. All through the New Testament we are told that when certain things happen we may know "the caming of the Lord draweth nigh." In the first chapter of the Acts of the Apostles the disciples asked Jesus if He could at that time, restore the kingdam of Isreal. Jesus told them that it was not for them to know the times and seasons. He spoke to them about the Holy Ghost which would come upon them and equip them for the service for which they had been called. This does not mean that we are not to look for our Lord's return. We are not to be star-gazers. We are to be busy. The early church turned the world upside down. They were expecting Jesus to come back. The church today needs a revival of the doctrines of the eminent coming of our Lord.

"I am neither a fundamentalist nor a modernist." That is what some preachers say. But they either do not mean what they say or they do not know what they are saying. The fundamentalist believes that the Bible is the Word of God. Those two positions cannot be harmonized. If the fundamentalist is right, the modernist is wrong. Modernisis and fundamentalists are fighting about the interpretation of the scripture. They are fighting about the auhority of the scripture. "Whatever the book says is so," is the slogan of the fundamentalists. "All the Book says is not so", it the answer of the modernist. The fundamentalist says the Bible is an accurate book. What God has said, what the devil has said, and what man has said are recorded in the Holy scriptures, by the Holy Spirit through the writers or the Bible. "The fool hath said in his heart there is no God." The fool lied. But God told the truth when he said, "The fool hath said in his hear there is no God." Paul said in one place, "I speak as a man. I have no revelation from God on this point." Paul told us he was expressing his own opinion. The Holy Spirit, through Paul accurately recorded the fact that in that instance Paul was speaking as a man. The Bible is scientifically, historically and in other words, absolutely true. Heaven and earth may pass away, but the old Book will stand. It is God's book. It is authoritative. It is divinely inspired. It reveals God's holiness. It offers man salvation in only one name. It tells man he is a sinner and that he is helpless left to himself. It offers the gift of eternal life to all who accept Him. The unregenerated man hates the book. A good man could not have written it because it claims to be from God. If man was the author and claimed to get a message from God and did not do it, then he was not a good man. He was a liar. A bad man would not have written it. No man would tell on himself what the Bible tells about sinful man. Young people, do not let this modernistic crowd of preachers and educators shatter your faith in the Old Book.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Our Sunday school attendance was very good last Sunday. Everyone come back next Sunday and bring someone with you.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. We invite everyone to come and be with us.

We will meet at the church Sunday for our baptising. We have three candidates for baptism that were received during our revival. We urge eeryone to be present for preaching and for the baptising.

Next Saturday is our regular time to call a pastor. It was agreed that we would either call our pastor Saturday, or set a day in the near future fer the calling. We urge all members to be present Saturday.

WOCO PEPPERS LOSE TO TALLASSLE TEAM 6-4

The Woco Peppers went to Tallassee last Friday and lost a tight game 6-4, after battling the high-stepping Tallassee team for a 4-4 tie for the first five innings. Several Clanton fans went with the team and reported that it was one of the best this serson.

Due t othe fact that we could not get a box score of this game, no detailed report of it can be given.

MAPLE SPRINGS

The revival closed last Friday morning, with four additions to the church. They were: Mrs. J. S.Ogletree and Mrs. Gertrude Schumaker, by letter, and Messrs. Amzie Wright and J. S. Ogletree for Baptist, Our pastor, Rev. Carroll, did some mighty good preaching, of the people will only heed. The church elected a pastor for the year 1937. Brother Carroll was re-elected. We are hoping that 1937 will be a much more proseprous year for Maple Springs.

Folks, the people have re-organized their Sunday school. As you know, we have not had Sunday school here for a long time. There were about 50 present Sunday. We were indeed glad to have somen present and hope that our attendance may greatly increase.

The Rev. Newman, from Birmingham, will preach here next Saturday night. Please come and bring someone with you, and remember, the prayer meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock with preaching following. Don't forget the date, Saturday night.

The L&N is your "HOME SWEET HOME" on the Rails

You hard-to-please people who haven't yet found what you're looking for in genuine travel comfort . . . you folks who feel that the last word in downright livableness is confined to your own home . . . we want you to read this!

We had you in mind when we selected the chairs in the lounge cars . . . chairs that fit like your favorite in your own living room.

We had you in mind when we began to air condition our trains, from coach to observation car. You travel cool as a cucumber — free from dust and noise, in air that's fresh and bracing always, never too dry, never too humid.

We had you in mind when we searched the Southland for those tempting Dixie dishes that are served on Louisville & Nashville diners.

We had you in mind when we built our smooth roadways and all-steel equipment. You glide along safely, swiftly, silently. And when the sun goes down and the stars come out, you sleep as sweetly and as deeply as you do in your own bed.

Your "Home Sweet Home on the Rails" . . . that describes perfectly the comfort and excellent service the L & N offers at fares of 1½¢ a mile in coaches, and from 2¢ to 3¢ a mile in sleepers and parlor cars exclusive of Pullman charge.

Make the L & N your "Home Sweet Home on the Rails." Any ticket agent will assist you.

Ready—
as America Goes Forward

The railroads, like every other business in the land, have had their problems, and like every other enterprising business, have faced these problems with honesty and patience, with resourcefulness, most of all with determination to go ahead.

A vast range and variety of betterments in railroad practice and equipment is the result—air-conditioning, stepping-up passenger schedules to a point where many limited trains now average a minute speed, and speeding up freight transport—an average of 43%.

But the real story of railroad enterprise is scarcely told by these figures, for it is a story of speed with safety unmatched by any other transportation in the world!

WAY TO KILL BEETLES IS TOLD BY ROBINSON

Auburn, Ala.—Rains during recent weeks have caused Mexican bean beetles, cabbage worms, and potato beetles to become numerous in many sections of Alabama.

These insects can be controlled by the use of derris and sulphur, advises Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the zoology-entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The mixture of 1 pound of ground derris root containing 4 to 5 per cent rotenone and 7 pounds of sulphur should be dusted on the plants to control the insects.

POOR MONTHS TO BREED DAIRY COWS

Auburn, Ala.—August and September are poor months for breeding dairy cows, advises Prof. W. H. Eaton of the dairy department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Cows bred in these months will calve during May and June in the flush of the milk producing serson at a time when milk prices are on the downward trend.

STATE-WIDE LIVESTOCK MEET WILL BE HELD AUGUST 27

Montgomery, Ala.—R. J. Goode, state commissioner of agriculture, has called a state-wide meeting of livestock producers and processors in Montgomery on Thursday, August 27, to consider regulations on the buying, selling, slaughtering and transporting livestock in the state.

The law providing for regulating the livestock industry in the state was passed by the last session of the state legislature.

Plans are also being made for the organization of an Alabama Livestock Producers Association to promote and improve the livestock industry in the state, reports Dr. R. S. Sugg, extension livestock specialist.

All persons interested in the livestock industry in the state are invited to attend the meeting, says Mr. Goode.

HIGH PRICED MEATS, LIVESTOCK EXPECTED

Auburn, Ala.—Higher prices of both meat and livestock in 1937 than this year are in prospect, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Because of this year's drought meat supplies next year will be about as small as in 1935 following the widespread drought in 1934, the report says. "For this reason and because of prospective improvement in consumer demand the general level of both meat and livestock prices in 1937 is expected to be higher than for several years."

FARMERS HAVE BILLION DOLLAR COTTON CROP

Auburn, Ala.—Cotton brought $1,000,000,000 to the South last year and indcations are that it will bring about that much again this year.

The August 1 crop report estimates a crop of 12,481,000 bales. If this number of bales is harvested and cotton continues to bring 12 cents or above per pound and cottonseed $30 or more per ton, the crop will bring farmers all most a billion dollars.

At present prices the estimated cotton crop of 1,065 bales will bring to Alabama farmers about $75,000,000 in cash. This value does not include any of the $10,000,000 which cooperating farmers of the seate are due in benefit payments under the Agricultural Conservation program.

LEGUMES IMPROVE PECANS AND FRUITS

The legumes help pecans, peaches and apples by adding nitrogen and humus and retaining moisture in the soil when the crop is turned under by shallow plows or cut and left on the ground in the spring.

WINTER LEGUMES HELP CONTROL SOIL EROSION

On land with a 5 per cent slope the soil losses on an acre planted to vetch were only 3,784 pounds compared with 27,564 pounds per acre without vetch. On land with a 10 per cent slope the losses were 6,392 following vetch compared with 90,218 without vetch. On land with a 15 per cent slope the losses were 14,767 following vetch compared with 135,179 without vetch. On land with a 20 per cent slope the losses were 19,675 pounds following vetch compared with 182,562 pounds without vetch.

Agricultural leaders express the belief that a combination of vetch and oats as is often planted by farmers for hay production, is ideal for soil early in the winter months and that vetch s superior during the late winer and early spring months.

SECOND GENERATION WORMS EXPECTED SOON

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers are warned to be on the lookout for the apperance of the second generation of cotton leaf worms.

This warning is given by Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the zoology-entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, who states that the second generation of the insects threatens to destroy all immature bolls.

"About three weeks after the appearance of the first generation of worms the second generation will appear, he advises.

"The pest can be controlled by dusting the cotton with calcium arsenate, he says.

4-H COUNTY WINNER IN LIVESTOCK PROJLCT TO RECEIVE GOLD MEDAL

The Thomas E. Wilson gold medal for the outstanding county 4-H livestock club member is again offered in all counties of Alabama, announces the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

It and other attractive prizes provided in this national contest are to be awarded by club leaders at the close of the feeding and showing season. Reports from county winners must be submitted to the State leader's office to allow for judging before November 2nd. Forms for the use of contestants may be secured from county agents.

The winner of the State owners receives a $50 gold watch and becomes eligible to compete for one of the four all-expense trips to the 15th National Club Congress to be held in Chicago, November 27 to December 5, in connection with the International Livestock Exposition. From the four trip winners three will be chosen to receive cash scholarships of $300, $200 and $100.

In addition to giving 18 boys successful in the past six months contest a start on college careers, participation by hundreds of others have helped them to master problems of livestock production and to establish valuable herds of their own. Their examples have led to the adoption of better practices by entire communities in livestock farming.

LAY DAM LOSES TO STOCKHAM

The Lay Dam Kilowatts lost a hard fought contest to the Stockham team of the Birmingham city league at the Lay Dam field last Sunday By the score of 4 to 3.

Stockham gathered 8hits, good for 14 bases, off the offerings of "Rastus,, Warren, and were aided by two errors. Etheridge led the visitors' attack with two hits.

Lay Dam got to "Lefty" Pace and Walker, another portsider, for 8hits, likewise good for 14 bases, but several fast double killings held the Killowatts away from the pay-off plate

Stockham scored in the first inning when, with one awey, Thompson tripled to leit center, and scored a moment later when Cecil Jones let Baker's relay get through him; the ball was picked up by one of the spectors, which gave Thompson his extra base free. In the third, Dill opened with single, Pace tripled, scoring Dill, and Etheridge brought in Pace with a single. This rally was killed, out. Head flied to center, and Etheridge was hit by mulkin's grounder. The last Stockham marker came in the 4th frame;; with one away, Hayn es doubled; however, Pace and Busby were easy outs.

Lay Dam counted one run in the 3 Warren walked; Hayes laid one down and Warren went to second; Armstrong was on by an error, but was out stealing; Tom Reynolds tripled to right center, scoring Warren. But died on third when Cobb was an easy infield out. The second run came in the6th. Baker was safe on an error, Clint Jones hit a long single to center, and Baker was out on a close play at home after a perfect throw by Mulkin; meanwhile Jones came on around to the third, and scored when Dill thrw to third and hit Thim in the back, the ball caroming off into left field. The last run came in the 9th; with two away as a result of a double play, Hayes walked, Armsrong scored him on a double; Reynolds got a scratch single, putting the tying and winning runs on base, but Cobb grounded weekly to first to end the game.

JONES ANNOUNCES AS A CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF

Points Out Many Outstanding Things The City Has Achieved Under His First Administration As Mayor Of Clanton

Mayor C. Fenn Jones this week is announcing his candidacy for re-election as mayor of the City of Clanton Mayor Jones and his present board of Councilmen have given the city a very sensible and economical administration, and have made many improvements of various kinds during their tenure of office.

In his announcement, given below Mayor Jones sets out his various accomplishments, and expresses his thanks and appreciation to the Councilmen and citizens of the city for their cooperation in helping to give Clanton the fine administration of its business affairs which it has enjoyed. Below is reproduced the Mayor's letter of announcement, in full:

"On October 1st, I will have served as mayor two years. The duties and work connected with the office have been beneficial to me, especially mentally and physically, but financially, very little. I have had no selfish interest to foster, and the greatest pleasure I have experienced has been in trying to improve our city. Having had the valuable assistance of the Council and employees, and the good will and cooperation of the people, I feel justified in claiming my administration has been a success. Without this helpful support the result of my efforts would have been entirely different, and I wish therefore, to sincerely thank each one of you for the kindly assistance given me, and I want you to know that whatever good has been accomplished for our city, that you share largely in the credit for it, because without your combined help, I would have failed.

"In asking for re-election to the office of mayor I repeat my former promise that I shall conserve the interest of the city just as I did my own private business.

"We have had the kind of progress that suits me exactly. We have grown in population, we have increased our business, we are drawing trade from a larger territory, we have grown much in wealth, and at the same time we have reduced our debt and maintained our credit. As is shown by the statement I made on March 31st, we have a net gain in property and improvements of $27,405.13, and we owe $1,122.76 less money, and there has been no increase in the tax rate since I took office. Just so long as such progress as has been made during the past two years can be continued, I think every citizen should be proud of the way the affairs of the city are being managed. We must improve our condition and we must make progress, but we must not go too far in debt. No one should regret the erection of the city hall, as many people from over the state and without the state visit the hall and are very complimentary of Clanton on account of the hall and the general improvement in appearance of our business establishments.

"We are, I believe, more tolerant and more liberal in our views on subjects that affect our social and business life. The desire of groups of people to direct and control the activities and privileges of other groups when no law or moral code is violated, but simply possess a spirit to dictate to and regulate the lives of others, appears to be diminishing in our community, which is evidence of a broadening of our minds and views of matters of public concern that affects all of us and the growth of our city.

"I have given much thought to the condition of our schools to determine whether it is best for the city to take over and operate them independently. The council agreed that it was not wise just at this time for the city to assume the responsibility of operation. But I wish to assure you that the Council and myself are very anxious to relieve the unsatisfactory conditions, and shall work with you in your efforts to keep the grammar school open a full term. I have an ambition to formulate a plan under which when the grammar school doors open, they will not close until the end of the ninth month.

"Some complaint has been made that our water rate is too high. It is true the revenue from the sale of water is some greater than the cost of production. But let's consider both sides of the question and see if it is best to reduce the rate, as it is a matter of public interest to all. The water system was installed in 1914 at a cost of $25,000, and bonds were issued for the full amount to draw interest at 5 per cent, payable yearly, and the entire issue of bonds will be due in 1944. Don't you think it is time to begin preparation to pay these bonds when they come due? I certainly do. Another point connected with the question is this—our property tax rate is very low in Clanton. We pay only 50 cents on each $100 of the tax value of our property. Our neighbor town, Thorsby pay $1.00, Calera $1.00, Homewood $2.60 Birmingham $3.60, Montgomery $1.25.

So, by comparison with these places it does appear that our government charge is much less than theirs even if our water rate is some higher. The city needs the revenue we are getting so our debts can be reduced and improvements made from time to time. Therefore should we reduce the water rate now the loss in revenue to the city would necessarily have to be replaced by raising our property tax rate above the low 50 cents now in effect. I am opposed to any increase in taxes, but I wish to pay our debts so our taxes can be reduced.

"I shall not attempt to dictate to you whom you elect as Councilmen for another term, but I would be ungrateful to the present Council should I fail to express my appreciation for their loyal support, and assure you that they are true friends of Clanton, and that not one of them has any selfish plans or interest to serve at the expense of the city. They have made good Councilmen and deserve your sympathy and support as splendid servants without pay.

"I desire to mention some of the outstanding accomplishments during my few months in office. The city hall has been built, the water mains extended about 15,000 feet, our population increased from 1,847 to 3,363, trains Nos. 1 and 4 have been added to our train service, an extra engine has been placed at the city wells, a new well has just been completed which furnishes 50 gallons of water per minute, new sand and gravel has been put in the water filtering plant and the filtering tanks given a thorough cleaning, which is the first new sand and gravel used since the plant was installed eight years ago. The sand and gravel comes from Georgia and is expensive. A steel bridge has been built on the Kincheon Road, $14,000 of bonds have been retired, over one hundred water meters have been returned to the factory and made good as new which saved the city more than $600 by not having to buy new meters. I feel safe in saying that today there is not a single meter in use that is out of order. I am told that this kind of attention has never been given the water system before. As a rule when complaints are made that the amount of water charged was not used, a thorough examination of the plumbing in the home discloses leaks that only a good experienced plumber can readily locate.

"I desire to continue to improve and develop the city, and if you are pleased with the record I have made, give me your support and friendly cooperation again and you will not be disapointed in what I do for Clanton in the future.

C. FENN JONES."

"The Public Road Situation"

AS VIEWED BY THE ROAD SUPERVISOR

Actual Cost of Operation Versus the Expenditures Indicated in the County Treasurer's Records of Costs Charged to the Public Roads

Part One

(Note: The author extends his thanks and appreciation to the Editor of the Chilton County News for his timely editorial "Our Road Situation" which so amply provides an opening in the August 13 issue of his paper, and an opportunity to clear up several points on which everyone seems to be in doubt in connection with the costs and operation of the Department of Public Roads. It seems that the full responsibility of explaining the situation naturally falls upon the Road Supervisor, and feeling this responsibility he will attempt to give a comprehensive statement, which should be so self-explanatory and sincere that no person might be able to mis-construe, pervert or intimate that anything said or indicated could be accepted as a criticism of former or present practices of good policy on the part of our local governmental agency or any member of its organization. All figures used in this and the following articles hereafter are taken from the County Records which are open for public inspection at all times. Due to the bulk of the matter to be stated the author will attempt to analyze each month's operations separately, beginning with the months of June and July in the next two weeks' issues of our local papers if the Editors will allow space for the matter. Kindly be as patient as possible.

—Thomas J. Arledge, Road Supervisor.

APPROPRIATIONS—

Actual operations under the office of the Road Supervisor become effective May 1, 1936, at which time the Honorable Commissioner's Court "determined, set aside and appropriated" in accordance with the law, the sum of $15,000 for the purpose of construction, maintenance and repairs to the public roads and bridges of Chilton County, for the period of May, June and July, or $5,000 for each of those three months. According to law, with the exception of the salary and transportation expenses of the Road Supervisor, the sum or amount appropriated could not be exceeded. Therefore it was the responsibility of the Road Supervisor to see that the cost of work on the public roads and bridges, the cost of road materials and supplies, and the cost of trepairs and up-keep of machinery and other road equipment did not run over the amount set aside.

TREASURER'S REPORT—

Reference is here made to the County Treasurer's Report which appeared in the Chilton County News, July 16, 1936, in which it is evident that the following sums were paid during the first part of June for expenditures or purchases made prior to that time, and to the ordinary layman it would seem, apparently, that this was the actual costs of county road operations during the month of May. These figures are as follows:

Total Paid in June for Obligations made prior	9,085.39

The Treasurer's Report does not indicate what date the obligations were made, whether in the month of May, 1936, or some date last year. That is the purpose of this article; to fully explain by demonstration, to make it sufficient clear to all that no further doubt will be entertained on the question. All obligations, whatever they may have been made for, but which were made prior to May 1, could not justly and reasonably be charged to the cost of operations for the month of May; neither should costs of operating other projects, not in connection with and pertaining to the county road system, be included in or apparently appear to be included in the costs of the county road system and its operations. This apparent showing as indicated in the Treasurer's Report is no fault of any official of the County; it just so happens that the County Treasurer and the Commissioner's Court have no way to separate these various charges which are paid from the gasoline and road fund. In most cases the seller fails to get his invoice in on time and he is perhaps paid the next month or several months later. The same is the case with some of the county employees they wait several weeks and some time longer to file their claim.

Therefore, a check-up of claims filed with the Commissioners' Court for payment reveals the fact that the following items were paid for in June which were purchased or obligated for prior to the first day of May, 1936, and were not for work done or materials purchased during the month of May, as follows:

Hayes Chev. Co., April Invoice	$ 6.96
Polk Bros., March and Apr. In.	15.40
Big Four Hdw. Co., Apr. In.	16.75
Pete Gentry, Lbr. March In.	103.80
Chilton County Exchange, Jan. and March In.	22.35
Conway Hdw. Co., Jan. and Apr. In.	20.05
J. D. Adams Co., Apr. In.	26.85
Standard Oil Co., Feb., March and April In.	77.03
Gulf Refg. Co., March In.	10.60
G. L. Daniels Lbr., Apr. In.	43.96
J. D. Pittman Co., March and April In.	1,268.91
Guy Williams, road work in Apr.	3.25
Lee Pate, road work in Apr.	3.25
Ernest Wilson, road work in Apr.	3.00
R.W. Kendrick, road work in Apr.	5.00
T.M. Kendrick, road work in Apr.	6.00
T.E. Connell, road work in Apr.	2.00
Marion Littlejohn, road work in Apr.	84.50
Total	$1 719.67

In addition to this, and also included in the Treasurer's Report, was the following items, which were paid out of the Gasoline and Road and Bridge Fund, but which are not chargeable to the operations costs of the public roads, viz:

CLANTON AIRPORT PROJECT COSTS:

W.A. Reynolds, oil and gas	$ .60
Clifford Jones, trucking	4.80
Martin Gore, tractor opr.	84.50
Walter Jones, grader opr.	84.50
Sam Mitchell, chunk mover	54.00
760 gals. gasoline at .142	107.92
50 lbs. grease, at .10	5.00
20 gals. motor oil, at .50	10.00
T.E. Carlton, repairs equipment	16.50
Clanton B. & S. Co., supplies	7.11
L.M. Mathews, gasoline	22.15
Total	$397.08

3-WAY SELMA ROAD PROJECT—

County contribution in cash	$2,000.00
711 gals. gasoline, at .142	100.96
52½ gals. oil at .50	26.25
111 lbs grease, at .10	11.10
T.E. Carlton, equipment repairs	20.50
Total	$2,162.26

Summing up, we have a total of $4,279.01 which is not chargeable to the operation costs of the public roads for the month of May, 1936, which, subtracted from the total expenditures in the Treasurer's Report in the sum of $9,085.39, shows that the actual expenditures on the public roads for the month to have been $4,806.38.

The Monthly Progress Report for May, 1936, by the Road Supervisor to the Commissioners' Court, as provided by law, shows that the cost of labor, repairs, materials and supplies actually incorporated in the public roads and bridges was an aggregate sum of $5,062.85, divided and itemized as follows:

Supervision and transportation	$ 474.50
Warehouse-man	10.00
Skilled labor, 184 days	460.00
Common labor, 581½ days	581.50
Hired teams, 20½ days	49.20
1-man patrol grader, 82½ days	268.12
Tractor-grader oprs., 116 days	1,006.38
Co. truck drivers, 113 days	226.00
Gasoline truck oprs., 25 days	60.00
11,356 ft. B.M. lbr., at $20	227.15
73½ lin. ft. iron pipe, at 1.61	118.33
10 lin. ft. of cemt. pipe at .75	7.50
1365 lbs. of nails at .325	44.42
10 bags cement at .65	6.50
Office supplies	50.60
New tools, bolts, etc.	44.79
Repairs to equipment	315.46
1889 cu. yds. gravel at .5	94.46
6,264 gals. gasoline at .142	889.49
214.5 gals. oil, at .50	107.25
212 lbs. of grease, at .10	21.20
Total for May	$ 5,062.85

The reader will note that there is a discrepency or difference between the total actually paid out by the Treasurer for road work and materials during the month of May as indicated in the sum of $4,806.38, and the total actually charged out in the Road Supervisor's report, in the sum of $5,062.85. This is due to the fact that considerable materials were used and charged into the costs which were purchased some time in the past; some of the excess may be for labor and other items which were used but which had not been turned in for payment during the month of May. This difference will exist during each month reporting because of the fact that the Road Supervisor will charge into his costs every item he may use whether claims or invoices are filed for payment or not.

In next week's issue of this paper will appear a complete explanation of expenditures for the month of June.

Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Webb and children left Tuesday for a vacation in Florida.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One remark frequently heard in discussion of the deplorable condition in Spain is that such a thing would be impossible in the United States. It is often noted that people of Latin temperament seem most prone to revolutions. The upheaval in Spain, therefore, is no exception. South American countries and the Mexican Republic to the South of us have endured frequent revolutions in the past. Even France, Latin in temperament, but usually more stable, has had its share of political upheavals. So it seems the custom with us to blame any new revolution that comes along onto the Latin temperament.

It is going a little too far to say, however, that revolution is impossible in the United States. For there are revolutions and revolutions. The temperament of the German people is generally regarded as somewhat stolid, yet in the ushering in of the Hitler regime, there can be no question that the Reich has had a revolution which is about as complete as anything of its kind that has happened anywhere in the past. There was no great amount of fighting or real warfare when Hitler took charge. He won in the general elections and then simply proceeded to take charge "under the constitution" and step by step to nullify that constitution until today it seems decidedly archiac.

All revolutions are not accompanied with bloody fighting. Sometimes they are accomplished peacefully, and even then so gradually that the people themselves may not wholly understand what is going on. If we have a revolution in the United States it will doubtless be one of the latter type. The American people love their constitutional government and have a horror of civil strife. The war between the states seventy-five years ago was enough to last them for all time to come. So if there is any overturn of our government it will perhaps come before the people have realized it and after the horse has been stolen and the lock pried from the stable door.

In this respect it is interesting to contemplate what might have happened to our individualistic government, with its systems of checks and balances, had the Supreme Court held that the National Recovery Act and the Agricultural Administration Act were in line with the constitutional procedure and consequently valid. There can be no question that business has been regimented under the Blue Eagle, that prices and hours of labor and wages were being fixed. The celebrated case of the New Jersey pants presser who was convicted because he charged more than the federal agents permitted for his work, offers some little evidence of this, but there is more. There can be no question either as to the efforts of the Agricultural Administrition to regiment the farmer, and to tax the user of the farmer's commodities to pay the bills. There can be no question that the NRA and AAA violated traditional American procedure, with its theory of individualism and local rights. The Supreme Court fortunately held that they violated constitutional government as well. Consiqently there must have been a revolution under way when these executive arms of the government were put into action. Just how far it would have gone and where it would have ended are questions for the economical and political speculators to answer. So it would seem that there could really be a revolution of government in the United States, although it cannot be peacefully successful until those who want to change our system, shall do something first about the Supreme Court.

RUSSIA RECOGNIZES ROOSEVELT

Communist Russia is supporting the Blum government in France, the Azana-Quiroga government in Spain, and the Roosevelt administration in the United States. The motives in France and Spain can be discussed later. Americans are interested in the motives here. Why do the communists desire the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt?

A bulletin issued by the Communist international headquarters in Moscow states the reasons: "The decision of the comintern to join the worker's organizations in supporting Roosevelt is not because we endorse his policies or intend to stand responsible for his actions. We are going to work for the election of Roosevelt because we wish to strengen our influence among America's most radical groups. We all have a common aim. It is to defeat Landon, who represents forces which oppose the development of class war and revolution in America."

Early in his administration Mr. Roosevelt recognized Russia diplomatically and sent over an ambassador, Mr. Bullit. In a much more realistic sense Russia recognized Mr. Roosevelt. Max Litvinof, the cunningest foreign minister in Europe, came over here and visited the White House. Comrade Litvinof recognized Mr. Roosevelt at sight. Stalin recognized him from early reports, filled in with later details. Mr. Roosevelt was a familiar figure to the Communists. He was a developer. They are finishers. Mr. Roosevelt was Kerensky, the man who started things he couldn't finish, who released forces he could not control, and who was swept aside when he had opened the way for revolutionaries who could finish and mop up.

The communists believe that Lewis, Hillman, and the other unionists who have rebelled against the American Federation of Labor and form the committee for industrial organization and the Worker's Non-Partisan League are training the proletariat for revolution and a class war. They believe that Secretary Wallace and Mr. Tugwell are preparing the farmers for an attack upon the industrialists, Mr. Roosevelt's prince of privileges and economic royalists. Many of Mr. Roosevelt's phrases give great encouragement to Moscow.

In the Farmer-Labor the Russians see what to them would be a union of workers and peasants, the foundation of a dictatorship of the proletariat. They know that Mr. Roosevelt supports Lewis and that his Secretary of Labor, Miss Perkins, encourages the movement. Wallace and Tugwell are Mr. Roosevelt's favored administrators.

The New Deal is so frankly collectivist that the Russians could not mistake its purposes. Mr. Wallace says that the Marxist ideas would be modified to suit American temperament and adjusted to American conditions. That the Russians would recognize as the start desired. The communist bulletin warns against attaching the familiar tags to movements fostered in the United States. These are not to be known as communist or socialist. The familiar slogans are not to be used. The workers are not to expound Marxian doctrines.

The appearance of communists on a new front is easily explained by events. They have not changed their minds but they have changed their methods, believing that three countries, France, Spain and the United States, are shaping their destinies so as inevitably to make the red flag their national emblem and the commissars their governors. In Premier Blum of France, President Azana and Premier Quiroga of Spain, and Mr. Roosevelt of the United States they recognize those fateful figures of history who overthrow an established order, who can do that but nothing more. Then it is a tossup whether the dictatorship is communist or Fascist.

Spain has its class war now. France may be approaching one. The communists are not fools. They know that democracy is much safer in the United States. They know it may save itself. They know that the American people are safe if they are not incited against each other, if they are spared a panic, if they are not overwhelmed, as Germany was, by financial disaster, if they keep their heads, their footing, and their tried form of government. The Russians are for Mr. Roosevelt because they think that inevitably he must, within another four years, produce the conditions most favorable to them.—Chicago Tribune.

In one thing we know the youths of America will surpass their fathers. They're going to be much bigger taxpayers.—Pontiac, Mich., Press.

The New Dealers are very fond of Thomas Jefferson personally, but they don't like his principles.

MAN IN THE MOON

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE

The Trusts

A few years ago a great howl went up over the United States about the grip of the trusts. To offset the monopolies effected by the trusts, the national anti-trust laws were passed, and little more was heard of the trusts, or any trust, until March 4, 1933.

The Democratic platform of 1932 had set this passage out:

"We advocate strengthening and impartial enforcement of the anti-trust laws to prevent monopoly and unfair trade practices, and revision therof for the better protection of labor and the small producer and distributor."

When the NRA came into being, someone high in authority stated that it was in violation of the anti-trust laws. So, in his message to Congress advocating the extension of the NRA, on Feb. 20, 1935, President Roosevelt said:

"The fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied. Monopolies and price fixing WITHIN INDUSTRIES must not be allowed nor condoned. No monopoly should be private."

By this, the president left the impression that the evil of monopoly should be stamped out, if effected by industry, but that if national law, like the NRA, brought monopoly, then that should be allowed, "in the general interest." Business interests of the nation, both large and small, never have been able to see the difference between private interests and governmental interests, insofar as laws governing them are concerned. Business did not kick against anti-trust laws, but did feel that it should enjoy the same privileges as governmental interests. That "sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

"While this title is in effect and for 60 days thereafter, any code, agreement or license approved under this title SHALL BE EXEMPT from the provisions of the anti-trust laws of the United States."

Compare this passage with that plank in the Democratic platform which is quoted earlier in the article. It is an exact reversal of opinion and practice from that promised during the campaign, and was generally construed as one more step in the effort to change our republic into a monarchy.

Gen. Hugh Johnson, first administrator of NRA, after the president denied accusations that the NRA violated the anti-trust laws, stated on page 177 of his book "Blue Eagle From Egg to Earth":

"The anti-trust acts prohibit combinations in restraint of trade. But NRA specifically permits such combinations with government sanction and supervision. There is not one single code that is not a combination in restraint of trade, and, if codes are not permitted to restrain trade, then NRA ought to be repealed tomorrow."

"Step by step through the diabolical logic of events the NRA became the apparent exponent and protector of price fixing—that hateful objective of that most hated ogre, a big business monopoly."

Thus may be seen the NRA, one of the biggest acts attempted by the administration was plainly a direct violation of a national law, was so considered and admitted by the very heads of the bureaus set up to administer it. And all this in the face of a campaign platform which made a sacred promise to the nation's people the exact opposite of the changes effected. Can Americans be expected to support those who follow such tactics, who hold no promises sacred, and who respect not the wishes of the nation's people? We don't think so.

Labor And Strikes

In this connection, Mr. Roosevelt said, on June 16, 1933:

"This NRA is not a law to foment discord, and it will not be executed as such."

Again, on July 24, 1933, he said:

"The workers of this country have rights under this law which cannot be taken from them, and nobody will be permitted to whittle them away, but, on the other hand, no aggression is now necessary to attain those rights."

The first statement makes itself clear that the NRA would not bring about more labor disputes, as has been charged. The second explained the reason—that no such disputes were necessary for labor to obtain all of its rights; that, therefore, there would necessarily be less disputes.

Yet, statistics taken from the Bureau of Labor show that during tre 23 months that NRA stood on the nation's statute books as law, the average number of workers in disputes and the number of man days of idleness resulting therefrom were approximaltely FOUR TIMES as large as during a like period before the NRA went into effect. The statistics further show that after NRA was declared unconstitutional, both the number of workers in disputes and the number of work days lost therefrom DECLINED.

Again the president's GUESS was wrong, and another phase of the "glorious experiment of 1933" went a-glimmering, along with the myraid of New Deal experiments which shared a like fate.

Government In Business

The Democratic platform of 1932 stated:

"We advocate less government in business, and more business in government. We advocate the removal of government from all fields of private enterprise."

The administration has effected a direct reversal of this promise, with numberless business enterprises being set up, all in direct competition with private business, according to statistics given out by the Federal Reserve Bulletin in May, 1936. Below are given 19 of the competitive enterprises. These are the larger ones—there are scores of smaller ones:

Federal Housing Administration, Home Owner's Loan Corp., Alley Dwelling Authority, Subsistence Homesteads Corp., Resettlement Administration, Rural Electrification Authority, Electric Home and Farm Authority, First Export-Import Bank of Washington, Second Export-Import Bank of Washington, Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., Tennessee Valley Associated Cooperatives, Inc., Central Bank of Cooperatives, District Bank of Cooperatives (12 of these), Production Credit Corp. (12 of these), Federal Farm Mortgage Corp., Federal Credit Union System, Commodity Credit Corp., and the Virgin Islands Co. The administration has placed at the disposal of these government enterprises $8,317,000,000 of the taxpayers' money, of which a great part, of course, was paid in, is being paid in, and will be paid in by the very business interests into whose fields of enterprise the government enterprises have entered in direct competition. Aside from the fact that this is a reversal of promise, I want to ask our readers if they believe this is a sensible procedure. When business is good, everyone prospers. When business suffers, so does everyone else. Government competition causes business to suffer, and with it the whole people—that is the story of the present administration in another glorious experiment.

Out Of The Mud

President Roosevelt said at Charleston, S. C., on Oct. 23, 1935:

"Yes, we are on the way back—not by mere chance; not by a turn of the cycle. We are coming back more soundly than ever before, because we planned it that way, and don't let anyone tell you differently."

We wish that were true, but bare figures prove a different story. A United States Treasury report shows that from March 4, 1933, to May 15, 1936, the Roosevelt administration spent $22,431,000,000 of which $10,605,000,000 was a strict increase in the national debt.

Further, although Mr. Roosevelt spoke often in his campaign of the 11,000,000 unemployed at that time, The Amercan Federation of Labor reported in March, 1936, that the above number of unemployed had grown to 12,184,000, an increase of 1,184,000.

On top of this, the president, himself, in his message to Congress on March 18, 1936, quoted an FERA report that there were 5,300,000 families and individuals on relief in March of this year, in contrast to 3,908,000 in July, 1933.

But to cap the climax and to show to a nicety just how our nation is faring economically, in comparison with other nations of the world, the monthly Bulletin of Statistics of the League of Nations in its issue of April, 1936, finds that the United States ranks 12th in change of economic conditions since 1929. It is set forth that the depression was worldwide, (contrary to the belief of many in our country that it was confined to this nation alone) and that all the nations were in about equal economic conditions in 1929. This chart shows that seven nations out of the leading 18 are today in better condition than they were in that year, while 11 are in worse shape—the figures hhow that the economic condition of our country is 12.6 per cent worse than it was in 1929, while that of Japan is 52.9 per cent better, although that of the two nations in the depth of the depression was equal.

In other words, as Mr. Roosevelt says, we may be coming back, and "we planned it that way," yet we must not overlook the fact that the Japanese people have come back 65.5 per cent faster than we have. The only difference that we can see in conditions surrounding the two is that we had a "grand experimenter" and a "brain trust" to plan our recovery, while the poor Japanese were not so favored, but had to worry along with what nature and good hard work, with careful management, provided for their country.

We do not doubt that our Democratic friends will sneer at the comparison, yet any fair-minded and sensible person, deep down in his heart, cannot fail to recognize the fact that the Japanese government has had its age-old proved methods at work to relieve itself from depression, and has effected a much faster recovery than our own nation's people, proud as we may (and should) be of our Americanism. We can find no difference, by comparison, which could have caused the great economic difference, except the difference in style of economic and governmental procedure.—Man in the Moon.

SCARCITY THEORY EXPLODED

The theory of producing wealth through scarcity as applied by the AAA has been about as thoroughly exploded by the drouth and the tremendous agricultural imports, as the AAA itself was debunked by the United States Supreme Court. People are now pretty well convinced that it doesn't pay in the long run to hire American farmers not to produce crops, and then to buy farm commodities from abroad. They see that this is penalizing the American farmer and taxpayer to the benefit of the alien producer. They realize also that had the curtailment program of the AAA not been in effect there would now be millions of American farm acres raising crops to supply natural shortages due in other sections to the great drouth.

But the statistics of the past, too, prove that wealth comes only from producing and not through idle acres. The Rock County, Minn., Herald recently printed an interesting digest made by R. W. Hitchcock, Minnesota newspaper man and economist, of an examination of Department of Agriculture records made by Homer F. Grommon, presdient of the National Grain Dealers Association, dealing with a period of twenty-six years, from 1909 to 1934, and dividing the period into the thirteen largest, and the thirteen smallest crop years.

The examination of the record shows, according to Mr. Hitchcock, that the thirteen largest crops of wheat evceeded the thirteen smallest by 2,876,000,000 bushels. But the average price received for the thirteen large crops was nineteen cents a bushel more than the average price received for the thirteen small crops, the farmers getting $5,094,000,000 more for the thirteen big crops thna for the thriteen small ones.

The results were the same for corn. The thirteen largest corn crops yielded 6,407,000,000 bushels, with an average price of two-tenths of a cent higher per bushel, yielding the farmers $1,884,000,000 more money during the years of larger yields than in the poorer years. So much for Brain Trust economics.

Mr. Hitchcock sensibly says:

"The average farm prices for the country's three most important crops were higher in the years of flush producotn and higher in the years of scarcity. They show that the farmer received nearly 12 billion dollars more for his big crops than for his poor crops. Yet that very (Agricultural) Department today tells the farmer and the country that the way of scarcity is the road to prosperity.

"Not only did the farmers get better prices for their products in the fat years than in the lean years, not only did he pocket 12 billion dollars more from the big crop years than from the small crop years, but he produced nearly 14 billions more bushels of grain in the big crop years and these 14 billion bushels required the employment of thousands on their way from the farm to the consumer's table. 'The cycle of prosperity, started from these large crops, spread into all walks of life with direct benefits at every point of contact.' It was not alone the farmer, but everybody, who profited."

A school boy in North Dakota said in a test paper that the United States Treasury is the place where "the money goes round and round and comes out here."

A lot of folks are always ready to demand their rights, but they want somebody else to earn their rights for them.

STILL ON THE PAY ROLL

In a report on the still increasing numbers of federal employes, our Washington correspondent tells haw history in the case of the big NRA is being repeated in the case of the little NRA in the soft coal industry.

The smaller institution's powers under the Guffey Coal Act were nullified by the Supreme Court more quickly, but as effectually, as were the larger body's powers to regulate all industry. Having five members paid $10,000 a year each, the Guffey Coal Commission had hardly more than started to function when the Supreme Court's blow fell.

Still, that was several weeks ago, and the commission and its staff of seventy people, involving an annual pay roll of $440,000, continue on the active list as though nothing had happened. It is explained that they are engaged in "research work". Research formed the excuse for the larger organizaton's prolonged life, keeping several thousand employes in their places, until attacks in Congress and widespread criticism in the country finally brought about its dissolution.

Five Guffey commissioners and their seventy subordinates form a mighty small item either in the total of 817,856 federal employes at the end of May or in the increase of 258,000 since President Roosevelt took office in 1933.

Just the same, it proves another waste and doesn't make pleasant reading for the average taxpaying citizens.

There is reason for the alarm reported among the managers of the Democratc politics because of the charges of waste and extravagance made against Mr. Roosevelt by the Republicans.—Detroit News.

HOW WAS IT PLANNED?

When one takes credit for a situation, asserting that everything is going "according to Hoyle," it is always well to review each step by which the situation has been brought about and to be certain what the ultimate developments are going to be. Otherwise there may be embarassment and questions difficult to answer.

President Roosevelt was quoted as stating in a speech at Charleston, South Carolina, some months ago, in discussing the development of economic affairs in the United States: "We planned it that way and don't let anyone tell you differently."

Recalling this alleged statement the other night at Bismarck, North Dakota, Chairman Hamilton of the Republican National Committee has been quoted by the newspapers as desiring to ask the following two questions:

"Mr. Roosevelt, did you, in the fall of 1933, destroy 6,200,000 little pogs in order that in the month of May, 1936, the imports of pork from the foreign nations should be double those of the entire year of 1934; did you plan this that way?

"Did you retire from cultivation 12,600,000 acres of corn land in order that when a shortage came, as in this year, you could furnish a market in America for the corn farmer in the Argentine? Did you plan this that way?

The answer t othese questions, if they are to be answered, and they probably will be ignored, is, of course, "no." The AAA undoubtedly planned a program of crop curtailment for the farmers, but things didn't turn out as anticipated because of the intervention of Dame Nature, an element which the college professors, in their concentrations in logirithms and charts forgot to take into consideration.

There are one or two other points which might be brought to mind.

The Brain Trust, acting for the administration, conceived and put into effect the NRA. Business surged under false anticipation of inflation and then begin to bog down under the Blue Eagle regimentation. The Supreme Court then invalidated the NRA and other business began to pick up again. One might well feel justified in asking if when "we planned it that way, a part of the plan envisioned the invalidation of the Blue Eagle program by the highest court in the land. And the same might be asked of the AAA. Was it planned in advance that the pet Wallace-Tugwell agricultural plan was to be swept aside by the Supreme Court?

A LETTER FROM THE LIBRARIAN AT THE THORSBY INSTITUTE

Dear Friends:

I am sure there must be many of you who read this paper who do not know how much you are missing by not using the Thorsby Institute library. Perhaps many of you do not know about it, so I have decided to tell you.

We have somewhere in the neighborhood of three thousand books, some of which I am sure would interest you. Of course a great many are reference books chiefly of value to our students but we also have many shelves of fiction, biography, travel and books for boys and girls of all ages.

All of our books are donated. We do not take any money from the school treasury to buy books. That does not mean, however, that all of our books are discarded volumes from someone's old library. We have a number of friends generous enough to give us new books. One Thorsby woman has given us half a dozen. The Helen Keller Literary Society is buying some this summer, and a Sunday school in Illinois has made us a cash donation for several years, and teachers frequently put in books that they want their pupils to read.

Another scheme that we are trying for modernizing our fiction shelves is the renting of recent novels. Last year we put up seven new books on a rent shelf, charging the borrowers 5 cents a week. As fast as the books paid for themselves, the average cost being 60 cents, they were transferred to the free shelves. Now all but three of them have been paid for. As soon as the last one of these is "free", six or seven more will be bought.

Books are also frequently loaned to the library. The teacher of our Bible courses has left a number of books about the Bible on one of our tables to be used by any who are interested.

A few of our more recent volumes are Anderson's "Mary of Scotland", Belloc's "William The Conqueror", Carroll's "A Few Foolish Ones", Cather's "Shadows On The Rock", Hill's "The Witness", Lewis' "It Can't Happen Here", Ludwig's "The Son of Man", McHarg's "Indian Drum", Pitkin's "Life Begins At Forty", Tomlinson's "Gallion's Reach", Walpole's "Fortress", Well's "Men Like Gods", Wilder's "Bridge of San Luis Rey", and Young's "So Red The Rose."

We also have about thirty magazines of various kinds, which, like the books we are more than glad to have the public use, the only thing that can not be taken from the library is the Encyclopedia Britannica.

During the vacation the library is open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8 until 11 a.m.. Come and see us.—Marian Fairbank, Librarian.

1936 School Census Taken During July

The regular biennial school census was taken during the month of July, in which 9,075 people were listed, between the ages of 6 and 20, both years inclusive. This is a loss of a about 85 from the county's total of two years ago, according to Supt. Luther Little. He gave as the cause that two years agronany people were moving from the cities to the farms. whereas now there is a movement back from the farms to public works in the cities.

Of the total of 9,075, there were 7,567 whites and 1,508 negroes. The census disclosed 3,961 white males 3,606 white females, 755 negro males, and 753 negro females.

The report showed 545 white males and 374 white females who cannot read or write; the negro count in this deparmetnt showed 177 males and 150 females. Of the 919 white illiterates 454 were in the 6-year-old class; of the 327 negro illiterates there were 110 in this class.

Another important item brought up was that there are only six people in Chilton County in he 20 year old class who cannot read or write, and they are all white males. There are no white females in the 14 or 20-year-old classes who are illiterate. There are no negro females in the 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, or 20-year old classes who are illiterate, and no negroes in the 20-year class illiterates.

The percentage of illiteracy is 13 per cent plus. In many states the per centage of illiteracy is figured without including the 6-year old class. In Alabama the 6-year-old is included; if the 615 in this class were excepted it would put Chilton's illiteracyu figure down to approximately 10 per-cent.

All in all, white illiteracy in our county figures a little less than 13 per cent and the negro illiteracy a little less than 224 per cent.

Ray Crow, state WPA director, told the National Emergency Council of Alabama that the Works Progress Administration spent $18,428,379 in Alabama between July 1, 1935 and July 31, 1936.

H. S. Geismer, state PWA director, said that within the next 30 days he would receive bids on seven projects costing $2,075,000 and would award contracts on 12 additional projects to cost $1,241,999.

The Rural Electrification Administration has called for construction bids on the project of the Washington Power Association, Inc., in Clarke County, to build 51 miles of lines to serve 238 farms.

Alabama has refused to repeal her dry laws, but the Federal Government sold $25 licenses to 1316 retail liquor dealers in the state for the fiscal year ended June 30, the Bureau of Internal Revenue reported.

The lot behind the First National Bank in Huntsville has been turned over the city by the bank to be made into a park. A landscape architect probably will be engaged to submit plans for the property's beautification.

Erection of a stockyard and large sales barn in Decatur moved nearer reality after a meeting of the agricultural committee of Decatur Chamber of Commerce, that subscribed $500 on the estimated $2,500 needed for the project.

Selma will have a new municipal building of three stories, with a joint city and county jail on the third floor, if action of the Dallas County commissioners of revenue is accepted by Mayor L. P. Burns and the City Council.

A drive to open up a new trade area on the south side of the Tennessee River as soon as the toll is lifted on the Whitesburg bridge was decided upon by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Huntsville at a special session.

Decatur City Council has granted a 10-year tax exemption on equipment of three industries, in Decatur, two of which recently completed additions. They are Ingalls Iron Works Company, the city's newest industry, Cooper Weels Company, hosiery mills and Alabama Hosiery Mills.

Mrs. Billie Smith spent last Friday with relatives in Wetumpka and Montgomery.

BRAZIL, EGYPT AND INDIA NOW RAISING WORLD'S COTTON

The first year the present national administration went into power at Washington, 1933, southern farmers were paid $110,000,000 out of the public treasury to plow up 10,000,000 acres of cotton. To hold the acreage down another similar sum was paid out of the public treasury in 1934, and the same in 1935. Almost as much will be paid in 1936 to induce southern farmers to shift from cotton to grass. At the end of this year almost one-half billion dollars OF OUR TAX will have been spent to cut the size of our cotton crop. And with what results?

True, prices have risen from 5c to 12c and it looks like prosperity; but abroad things are happening. While we people were cutting our cotton crop 26 per cent, India increased hers 6 per cent; Egypt increased hers 18 per cent; while Brazil increased hers 216 per cent. This decrease in our country and increase in foreign countries is attracitng the attention of the cotton-buying world. And India, Egypt and Brazil have no government restrictions on their cotton crops either. So, what is fast becoming of the world market for our cotton under New Deal restrictions, Etc.?

LANDON—THE COOLIDGE FROM KANSAS

Calvin Coolidge said: "I favor the policy of economy, not because I wish to save money but because I wish to save people. The men and women of this country who toil are the ones who bear the cost of the government. Every dollar that we carelessly waste means that their life will be so much the more meager. Every dollar that we prudently save means that their life will be so much the more abundant. Economy is idealism in the most practical form."

Alfred M. Landon is often referred to as "the Coolidge from Kansas." Mr. Landon believes in the kind of economy that Coolidge believed in and practiced for the country.

GAME AND FISH NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., August 18.—Commissioner I. T. Quinn of the Department of Conservation, has received a telegram from Ira N. Gabrielson, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, informing him of the opening season for migratory birds in regulations which have just been promulgated by the President of the United States. The opening season on water fowl, snipe and coot in the zone including Alabama will be from November 26th to December 25th following. A closed season has been set on two species of ducks, namely canvas backs and red heads.

The open season for doves in all counties south of Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Jefferson, Shelby, Talladega, Clay and Randolph will be from November 20th to January 31st following. All other counties embracing about one-third of the area of North Alabama will have an open season on doves from September 1st to September 30th, after which the season will close and reopen again on December 20th and continue through January 31st.

SERVICES AT FRIENDSHIP

Next Saturday night and Sunday are the regular preaching times at Friendship church. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, will preach Saturday night. There will be baptismal services at Hugh Mims pond Sunday morning at 9:00 o'clock; the congregation will repair to the church for Sunday school.

The public is invited to any or all of these services. You will always be welcome at Friendship.

VISITED TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Among the visitors to the Texas Centennial last week were Mr. and Mrs. J. Dewey Rockett and daughters, Nell and Lois. Other members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomas and daughter, Sarah, from Sylacauga.

Mr. Dewey Rockett, in reporting the trip, stated that they went from the Centennial on to Fort Worth; the return trip was made through Hot Springs, Arkansas, were they remained for two days. When asked if things looked prosperous Mr. Rockett said that there were considerable evidences of the drouth, and the weather was exceeding hot. The best farming that they saw was in south Tennessee and in Alabama, Mr. Rockett stated.

T. L. BROWN DIES; OLD CRIMSON TIDE STAR

Thomas Luther Brown, 40, employe of the Resettlement Administration in Montgomery and former University of Alabama football star, died at St. Margaret's Hospital at 3:20 p.m. Monday from pneumonia. Brown, known to his associates as "Red" was ill only a few days.

A native of Jasper, Brown made an outstanding football record at the University shortly after the close of the world war. For several years he was a salesman and about a year ago joined the Resettlement Administration force. He lived at 615 South Perry Street, Montgomery.

The body was held by F. T. Leak and Sons, pending advice from relatives. The funeral probably will be held at Jasper. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Brown, of Jasper, and a number of brothers and sisters.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank those who assisted us during the illness and death of our loving son and brother, J. C. Also for the beautiful floral offerings. We shall always remember the kindness shown us by our neighbors and friends. May God's richest blessings be on each of them.—Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jones.

BOY'S ANSWER

THEY were seated at the table in a restaurant—a 7-year-old boy, his dad and sister. They were residents of Elmore County, Alabama.

At a nearby table there was a discussion of Alabama schools, the school term and school finance. The children could not help overhearing the conversation.

Said the daughter, "Dad, why is it that Elmore County pays its teachers more and runs its schools longer than any other county in Alabama?"

The schools in YOUR county operate for longer terms and pay their teachers more than they could if through the establishment of governmental power enterprises, the state, counties and municipalities were deprived of taxes now paid by Alabama Power Company, and other private utility companies.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 17.—Disagreement in the ranks of the "wets" may delay the special session of the Legislature until mid-October, according to reliable capitol gossip.

A number of the known advocates repeal have called on the Governor during the past few days and each has offered a different solution of the problem. Some want State control, others local option, while a greater number insist upon a pseuda-saloon system well regulated and highly taxed.

Most observers at the Capitol continued to insist that the date of the special session is September 22nd. If that be true, the Governor must issue his call within a week in order to comply with the law requiring 30 days notice for special elections, to fill four vacancies in the legislature.

SERVICES AT HOME OF UNCLE BILLY ADAMS

Just a few lines in regard to the services for our Lord at the home of Uncle Billy Adams last Sunday afternoon, August 16th. This was a real inspiring service, and one that was enjoyed by all. Brother Davis Durbin sure preached a fine sermon.

We wish to announce that Rev. W. E. Robinson will preach there next Sunday afternoon about 3:00 o'clock. Everybody come and worship God, and if you feel like praying, just pray all you like.

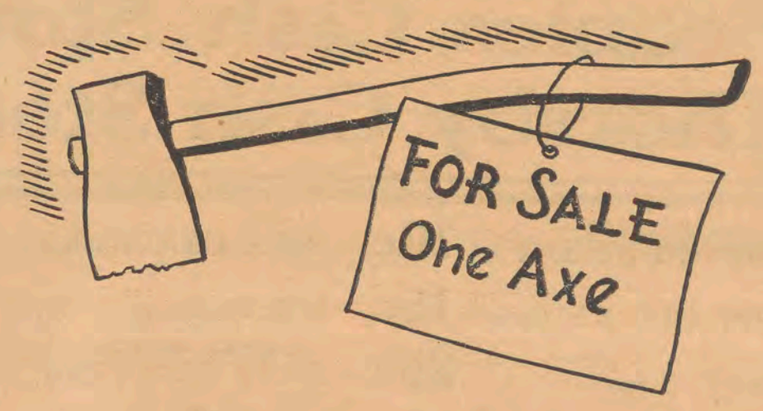
Earnings of Alabama's $20,000,000 State Docks jumped approximately 44 per cent for the quarterly period ending June 30. Net profits for the periad were $92,105, compared with $63,994 for the corresponding period of 1935.

The report released by Governor Graves showed net earnings of $272,974 for the nine months ending June 30. Governor Graves named the Docks Commission last September. It is composed of Gen. R. E. Steiner, Vice-Chairman, Frederick I. Thompson, both of Montgomery, and Robert I. Ingalls, of Birmingham.

Exactly $18,428,379 was spent by the WPA in Alabama from June 1, 1935, to July 31, 1936, according to Ray Crowe, State WPA Director.

Crawe said $12,827,358 was expended for labor and $5,601,021 for materials in erecting public buildings, paving roads, constructing airports, educating illiterates and various other activities.

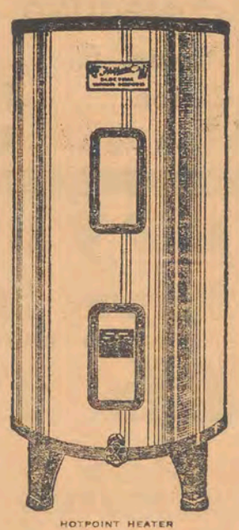
A state-wide meeting of livestock breeders and processors will be held here Tueday Aughst 27, according to announcement of R. J. Goode, State Commissioner of Agriculture. The meeting is called for the purpose of discussing regulations governoring the buying, selling and slaughter of livestock n the State. Provision of the regulation governing the buying, selling, and slaughter of livestock in the State. Provision of the regulation of the industry was contained in a law enacted last year. Plans are also being made for the organization of an Alabama Live stock Producers Association to promote and improve the industry, announced Dr. R. S. Sugg, of Auburn, Extension Livestock Specialist.



Used for many years chopping wood so the family could take a bath

This axe is in no "guaranteed perfect" condition. It has been used too long and hard for that!

Like the "old family toothbrush", unsanitary dishpan and other relics of an inconvenient past, the Saturday-night-bath-axe has been replaced by a modern, automatic Electric Water Heater in thousands of Alabama homes.



Keeping children fresh and clean--shaving--washing dishes and clothing (and many other every-day practices) aren't nearly so bothersome when you have plenty of hot water, ready at the turn of a faucet.*

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

© Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for August 23

THE GOSPEL FOR ALL MEN

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:5-17; Romans 1:15-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. John 3:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Learns a Lesson.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter Makes a Great Discovery.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Universal Brotherhood in Christ.

Christianity early found its progress impeded by a difference of opinion. Such a difference when met in a Christian spirit will not be a stone of offense, but when properly and tactfully settled may be a stepping stone to progress.

Jewish Christians at Jerusalem were disturbed by the report that Peter had received the gentile Cornelius as a Christian brother without requiring him to fulfill the Jewish law of circumcision.

Peter defended his action not by asserting his position or appealing to his apostolic authority, but by relating what God had done. Henry Drummond once said, "The best argument for Christianity is a Christian." The best proof that God has actually been at work is to present the unanswerable evidence of a redeemed soul. In thus making his plea Peter reveals that

I. He Had a Vision of God's Purpose (vv. 5-10).

God had spoken to him. When we meet a man who is in touch with God, we should at once give heed. He may be, and perhaps should be, the minister or a Christian leader, but he may be and frequently is some humble, unknown servant of God. But if God has spoken to him we will do well to listen. Peter had learned the great lesson that what God had cleansed man should receive as clean.

II. He Had Seen God Work (vv. 11-15).

The Holy Spirit had fallen on the gentiles and they actually had been saved. Is it not singular that in the early church they could hardly believe that a gentile could be saved? Now we are astonished if a Jew is saved! Why will we in our unbelief limit the Holy One of Israel?

The all-powerful gospel of the grace of God is still saving men and women, Jews and gentiles, from their sins. Have you seen it happen? It is a great inspiration to faith and service. God is ready so to encourage us—he is the same today as he was when he sent Peter to Cornelius. Are we willing to run his errands, proclaim his message?

III. He Had Received a Fresh Insight Into God's Word (v. 16).

The best way to learn the meaning of God's Word is to use it, live it, obey it. "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God" (John 7:17).

Peter had learned anew that God's Word meant just what it said. We who are his servants should believe his Word and act on it in faith.

IV. He Knew Better Than to Withstand God (v. 17).

When God has not raised any barriers of race, creed, color, class, or social position, it is not for his followers, and assuredly not for his servants, to build "fences" which he would not authorize or countenance.

One of the needs of our day is that those doing God's work should not withstand him and his will. He who is the same yesterday, today, and forever is ready to work as powerfully today as he did in the days of Finney and Moody, and in the days of Abraham, Moses, Daniel, and of Peter. Let us give him liberty to work in and through us, not as we may wish, but as he desires. Who are we that we should withstand God?

V. In Conclusion (Romans 1:15-17).

This portion presents a magnificent declaration from Peter's coworker, Paul, the apostle to the gentiles, that the gospel is the power of God unto salvation for everyone that believes, Jew or Greek. Regardless of race or condition, we are all unrighteous, and there is but one way of salvation—through faith in Jesus Christ. It is our responsibility and privilege to make this message known to all men everywhere. Your neighbor and mine, whether in the next house or on the other side of the world, is our opportunity. Not one is unclean or untouchable, although he may be stained with the dark pollution of sin. God is ready and willing to save. Let us tell men the good news!

Kindness

I shall pass through this world but once; any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human creature, let me do it now; let me not defer it, or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.—S. Grellet.

Pack Up Your Troubles

I make the most of my enjoyments. As for my troubles, I pack them in as little compass as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others.—Robert Southey.

CLANTON BLACK SOX LOSE TWO TO THE BIRMINGHAM BLACK BARONS

The Clanton Black Sox, local negra baseball team, lost two games to the Birmingham Black Barons last week end.

The game on Friday was a very one-sided affair, 16 to 2, with the visiting Barons scoring almost at will after the fourth inning. Up until that time, however, it seemed that a real game was on tap, as the two teams were battling in a 1-1 draw.

On Saturday, the Barons won 11 to 4, while taking things easy. They were never in danger in this game.

While Clanton negroes have a fairly good team, it must be remembered that they were up against one of the smoothest combinations ever to show on the local dismond. The members of the Baron team do just about everything with a baseball except eat it. It is no disgrace to Clanton's negro term to lose to such an rggreation as the Birmingham Black Barons.

During this series, these Barons put on exhibit one of the best batteries ever seen here. On the pitching end of a pair is a left hander with plenty of speed. More than that he has control—a virtue generally lacking in a left-hander. The portsider was smoking them down the groove in big league style, too; in fact, too fast for the negro umpire to see. According to many local baseball fans who have been "looking 'em over" for years, this brown boy has the goods, and the only thing that keeps him from giving "lefty" Grove plenty of competition in the big show is that Brown skin to his—sofar as pitching ability is concerned, he has it. A fast one that looks like a gray streak and explodes in the batter's face, a fast and exceedingly deceptive curve, and control that keeps tugging at the extreme corners for called strikes without giving the batter anything good to hit at—this is the story of this black boy's ability. Truly, he has the makings of a great pitcher, and would no doubt make the grade but for his color.

On the receiving end of the combination is a big six-footer who handles a baseball like a ki dhandles a loollypop. Fast ones, floaters, curves, drops, anything the pitcher tosses up, is equally easy for him. His throw to second is true as a die, and "whips" down like a bullet. A trial to steal a base is pure base running suicide. The big fellow can hit, too.

With this combination as a beginning, the Black Barons have a real mocbination of baseball talent. True to Negro instinct, of course, they like to "show out", but contrary to the rule, these fellows can do it, and get away with it, and make it look easy.

FIVE ARE INJURED IN GEORGIA CRASH

Clanton Deputies Are Among The Victims In The Wreck

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 18.—Five persons received injuries Tuesday in an automobile accident at Stonewall, Ga., near here.

Those hurt were:

J. A. Nivens and J. E. Smith, of Clanton, Ala., deputy sheriffs, slightly cut and bruised.

Russel Shouse, listed as an Alabama State prisoner in custody of Nivens and Smith, and being returned to Clanton to complete a prison sentence for parole violation, cut and bruised.

County police reported the accident occurred as the car containing Crawley and the young girl turned off the highway.

FLORIDIAN HEADS DRIVE FOR LANDON IN SOUTH

New York, August 17.—Appointment of J. Leonard Replogle of Palm Beach Fla., as special assistant to J. W. Martin, Jr., Eastern division campaign manager for the Republicans, was announced today by Mr. Martin.

Replogle will be in charge of the campaign for Gov. Alf Landon in the southern states, Martin said.

A retired steel man, the Floridian was prominently mentioned as a candidate for the nomination for vice president before the Cleveland convention last June.

Four years ago he was a candidate for the United States senate from the State of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Prince and son, Wilber, and Mrs. Irene Rasberry and daughter, Eloise, spent Tuesday in Montgomery.

LETTER FROM DR. BOB JONES

Cleveland, Tenn.

August 13, 1936.

Dear Friends:

My work as an evangelist has taken me into practically every state in the Union and into most foreign lands. I have met literally thousands of young people who went off to college and who came back with wrecked faith and shattered morals. I, therefore, made up my mind to build a college with as high educational standards as any other college in America and at the same time stand for the old time religion and for the absolute authority of the Bible.

Remember, the Bob Jones College give sPiano, Violin, Pipe Organ, Voice, and Speech without additional cost.

The 1936-37 college year opens September 9th. If you wish literature, write the Bob Jones College, Cleveland, Tennessee.

Sincerely yours,

Adv. BOB JONES.

KIWANIANS TO STAGE AMATEUR CONTEST SOON

An announcement was made this week by the Kiwanis Club of Clanton to the effect that the club will sponsor a Shirley Temple Pageant and an Amateur Contest for the people of Chilton.

This event, which is being looked forward to by those already familiar with it, will be one of the most novel and entertaining features ever brought to Clanton.

The event is set for September 11th, and further information will be given the newspapers at a later date. Any interested in entering the Amateur Contest, in dances, songs, music or what-not, should get in touch with Mrs. T. H. Walker, Clanton.

ATTENTION!! ATTENTION!!

All members of the 4-H Jersey Club of Chilton County are urged to attend the meeting to be held Saurday August 22, at Clanton High school at 2 p.m. There are several things to be taken up at this meeting and we want everyone to have part in it.

SOCIAL MEETING AT STANTON

There will be a community social meeting at Stanton in the school auditorium Saturday, August 22, at 7:30 o'clock, p.m.

Miss Margaret Hodo, the community worker for Chilton County will be present to lead the games. L. D. Harrison and Katherine Schurter will have charge of the music.

Everyone in the comumnity is invited to take part in the social meeting and enjoy the fun and fellowship with their friends and neighbors.

I pay highest price for seed in cash or exchange for meal, hulls or fertilizers.—J. N. Dennis.

GASOLINE TAXES HIGHER

Motor vehicle registration fees cost citizens of Alabama the sum of $3,511,864.00, in addition to the state gasoline taxes costing $10,313,112.00, it was reported today by J. B. Kelley Vice Chairman of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee. Mr. Kelley said that the total cost of these two taxes in 1935 was $13,824,976.00 compared with $12,482,000.00 in 1934. Total registration of motor vehicles in this state was 242,676 in 1935, as against 225,732 in 1934.

"The latest reports of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, giving the final figures for 1935," Mr. Kelley explained, "show that Alabama motorists paid $3,511,864.00 for motor vehicle registration fees in 1935 as compared with $3,183,000.00 in 1934. In addition, they paid $10,313,112.00 for state gasoline sales tax in 1935 as against $9,299,000.00 in 1934. The total, representing the cost of only two of the many taxes paid by Alabama motor vehicle owners was $13,824,976 for 1935 and $12,482,000.00 for 1934. To this bill must be added their share of the duplicating federal sales tax on gasoline, and various other federal, state and local city and county taxes which, while less expensive, tend to increase the total of approximately $18,777,000.00.

"To realize the staggering cost of motor vehicle taxation is to wonder when the upward trend in such levies is to end, and the long-looked for reductions begun. At the present time there is not only an expensive state sales tax upon motor fuel, but also a duplicating federal sales tax and local city and county taxes of from 1c to 3c per gallon. It looks as if our representatives forgot that the motorist pays so many different taxes on his automotive property, in addition to those he pays as a citizen. If they would compare the rate of taxation of real, personal, or any other property, they would discover that the motor vehicle is the most heavily taxed possession of the American citizen, and would begin to wonder why this modern necessity is so excessively burdened."

LIVESTOCK MEETING TO BE HELD AT MONTGOMERY ON AUGUST 27

As previously advised in my circular letter of July 29, the meeting that was scheduled for July 29, to consider regulations in connection with the Act of the Legislature to regulate the buying, selling, transportation and slaughtering of livestock was postponed because of the infantile paralysis epidemic, as hte health authorities considered it unsafe to hold the meeting at this time.

After conferring with the health authorities, we have decided to hold this meeting at Montgomery, August 27, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. All those who may be affected by or may be interested in these regulations are invited to be present at this meeting. After this hearing the State Board of Agriculture will prescribe reasonable rules and regulations for the enforcement of this Act.—Sincerely yours, R. J. Goode, Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries.

Clanton Boy Is Held On Extort'n Charge

Cecil Carter Allowed $500 Bond Pending Grand Jury Action

Cecil Carter, age 18, was arrested last Wednesday afternoon by Federal authorities on a warrant charging use of the mails for attempted extortion.

Young Carter was taken to Montgomery Thursday, where he waived preliminary hearing. His bond was fixed at $500 in District Federal Court, pending grand jury investigation. It was reported that Carter confessed the deed, and stated to the Federal officers: "I am glad it didn't go through." The charge and arrest grew out of a letter written to Mr. H. S. Shaw, local lumberman and farmer, who lives near the Carter home.

Mr. Shaw stated that about 4:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon he took from his mail box a letter which had been postmarked at the local postoffice at 3:00 p.m., August 18. When he opened it he found a letter instructing him as follows:

"Place $75 in an envelope and place it in the back seat of your old Dodge car by 7:00 o'clock Tuesday if you don't want your grandson to die. Put in five $5 bills and 50 $1 bills. Don't tell anyone, not even your wife, and don't watch." The letter was signed: "I kill where I go." The grandson referred to is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Ellison, who live at Lay Dam. The letter, too, was headed: "Lay Dam, Ala."

Mr. Shaw immediately notified county and city authorities, who placed men in a clump of weeds near the designated garage. At 7:00 o'clock, Mr. Shaw placed a dummy package in the car mentioned. The officers stayed in the weeds all night, but left about good day break. Not long after, Mr. Shaw went to the car, and the package was gone, although the officers had not seen anyone enter the building.

Federal authorities in Birmingham were notified, and J. W. Core, special investigator, was sent to clear up the situation. He arrived about noon on Wednesday. Using the paper and envelope used in the letter as a lead, Mr. Core checked a typewriter in a room where a supply of this kind of paper was kept, and the letter checked with the typewriter characters. The owner of the typewriter was questioned as to who had used the typewriter, and named Cecil Carter. Not long after, according to Mr. Core, under questioning, the Carter boy confessed that he had written the letter. He also stated that he had that day (Wednesday) written another letter to Mr. Shaw. At that time, Mr. Core stated that Carter told him: "I am glad it didn't go through."

Shortly after dark Wednesday evening, Mr. Shaw again called for his mail, and the second letter was there. It read as follows:

"No more funny stuff. This is your last chance. Place the package at the corner of the Carter garage, and don't watch, like you did last night." There was no signature.

By that time, however, the whole matter had been cleared up by the confession of Carter, who had been placed in the county jail.

Mr. Shaw expressed surprise that this boy would think of doing such a thing. Said Mr. Shaw:

"I could hardly believe that Cecil would do a thing like that. He was forever riding the baby (the grandson referred to) on his bicycle, romping and playing with him almost every day. The baby seemed to love him like a brother, and even now cries to go across and play with him since he has come home. Had it not been for the second letter, I would believe that it was nothing but a boyish prank. Taking that second threatening letter into consideration, however, it seems that he really meant business."

Conviction for such crime, for a person of Carter's age, carries a minimum penalty of two years in the reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio.

NEW CASE OF "POLIO" IN CHILTON COUNTY

After diagnosis of an illness of Herman Davis, Dr. J. M. Kimmey, county health officer, has stated that this is a "definite" case of "polio", or infantile paralysis. Mr. Davis is 27 years of age, and lives about five miles north of Jemison.

Dr. Kimmey stated that the case was not brought to his attention until last Thursday. Mr. Davis first suffered a severe headache, but thought nothing of it. Later his left arm became a bit numb, and has been getting worse ever since. Quarantine restrictions were declared at once; these will be lifted three weeks from August 20, which will be on September 10.

TIFFIN ENLARGING RADIO DEPARTMENT

Mr. Tom Tiffin, manager of the radio department of Tiffin Furniture Company, for the past week has been engaged in enlarging that part of the store devoted to radios. When completed, Mr. Tiffin will be able to make a much more attractive and advantageous display of his two famous makes—RCA-Victor and Philco. If you are at all interested in radios, you will enjoy visiting Mr. Tiffin's display of the latest models of these two outstanding makes.

NEW INSURANCE CONCERN TO OPEN IN CLANTON

Arrangements are being made for the opening of local offices for a branch of the Trustees Life Assurance Society within the near future.

This Company is a Birmingham concern, with Dr. J. H. Stephens, of Birmingham, as presdient. Dr. Stephens is a well known surgeon of Birmingham. Home offices of the Company are at 15 No. 55th St., in Birmingham.

Local representative of the company will be Mr. Isadore Harbison. He expects to have his office arrangements made soon. Elsewhere in this paper will be found an advertisement announcing the establishment of local quarters. Next week's issue will carry full particulars. Watch for it.

LAY DAM TO ENTER BIG TOURNAMENT

The Lay Dam Killowatts have entered into the tournament to be staged this week by the Association of Alabama Baseball Leagues in Talladega.

The Killowatts will tangle with the Tuscaloosa team at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon in the game of the first day's preliminaries. If successful in this game they will meet the Bemiston Cats on Saturday. And if winner in this contest, will be in the final play-off game scheduled to start at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The winner of this tournament will represent Alabama in the Mid-South Tournament to be in Birmingham in September.

The Killowatts are a good team, and will make somebody hustle for top honors. Local fans are urged to go with the Killowatts to Talladega next Friday and cheer them on to victory.

WORKS PROGRESS ADMINISTRATION OF ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24.—For the 13 months the program operated through July 31, Works Progress Administration invested $62,543 in projects in Chilton county, Ray Crow, state WPA administrator, announced here today.

Of this amount $28,804 was for payrolls and $33,738 was for materials used in the projects. A considerable part of the materials was purchased from local dealers where possible. The totals include the amounts spent by the National Youth Administration a unit of the Works Progress Administration.

For Alabama the total expenditure for the same period was $18,428,379. Of this amount $12,827,358 was for payrolls and $5,601,021 for materials.

While all materials purchased are made by the U. S. Treasury Department on low bids, regardless of the point of origin of the bids, Mr. Crow said, approximately 90 per cent of all orders were placed through Alabama firms.

OBSERVED GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

On last Wednesday, at their home in North Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Maddox, ages 71 and 70, respectively, observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary. At present Mr. and Mrs. Maddox reside within 10 miles of the place where each was born, and have resided here for the past thirty-five years. They are the parents of nine children, eight of whom are living.

The picture of Mr. and Mrs. Maddox appeared last Sunday in The Birmingham News, together with a write-up about their fiftieth anniversary.

CITY HALL AUDITORIUM FITTED WITH NEW CHAIRS

The city hall auditorium is soon to be equipped with 275 new seats. These seats have already been received, and will be opened and placed in the auditorium next week. They are of tubular steel, with laminated non-split seat, and were bought for $2.16 each, delivered, the total bill amounting to $594. The legs of the chairs are rubber tipped and the chairs are collapsable, so that they may be folded up and stacked away in case the hall must be cleared for any purpose.

Spanish War Vets Had Big Day Last Sunday

Last Sunday was a big and memorable day for the Spanish-American war veterans of Chilton county, that being the day on which an outdoor meeting was held at Mims Pond near Clanton.

As per announcement, Judge L. H. Reynolds spoke at 11 o'clock, and his discourse was most appropriate for the occasion, and was appreciated highly by those who heard it. Following Judge Reynolds' speech basket dinners were spread and all enjoyed it immensly.

At 1:30 the gathering was favored with a fine speech by Judge Leon McCord. It is said that Judge MsCord took up where Judge Reynolds left off and did the affair up in grand style. Other speakers were past commander Lipscomb, of Bessemer, Mrs Kilpatrick, of Birmingham, state president of the Womens Auxiliary; and Mrs. Lowe, of Montgomery, past president of the auxiliary; and other speakers.

Mr. Jeff Best, president of the Chilton County Camp No. 19, presided over the meeting. A short business meeting was held at the courthouse following the activities at the pond.

Those in charge of the meeting want to express their thanks to the women of the Auxiliary for the help rendered by them. A great degree of the success of the affair was attributable to the part played by the good women in preparing the spreading the basket dinners.

Kansas Tax Levy Hits 10-Year Low

Topeka, Kans.—As the result of economies effected by Governor Alf M. Landon, Kansas tax rates have been cut to the lowest level in 10 years. By economy and business-like administration, the Kansas budget has been reduced, and the benefits are being reflected back to the taxpayers. The Kansas state levy has been reduced to 1.29 mills, compared to 1.44 mills last year and 1.30 mills in 1934. The new levy will raise $3,276,425, as compared to $4,847,960 in 1933.

WILLIE CROWSON PETITIONED TO RUN FOR CITY COUNCIL

A petition signed by a number of citizens of Clanton were turned in to city officials the first of this week, requesting the Mayor to enter the name of Mr. Willie Crowson on the ballot as a contender for one of the places for councilman. Since the petition was filed, Mr. Crowson has met the required qualifications to make his announcement for this city office legal.

Mr. Crowson is a hustling young business man, residing and operating a business in the eastern part of the city. That section has built up considerably during the past year, and since being incorporated has put on the aspect of a real part of the city. It seems that there would be nothing wrong in letting those people over there across the creek have a representative in the city's governing body and Willie Crowson would make a good one.

TO THE COTTON FARMERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

On August 31st, I will open an office in Evan Parrish's seed store to handle cotton. I have accepted an offer with the Farmer's Union of Chilton County to grade and staple their cotton and sell it cooperatively with about 22 other counties in Alabama. I will also handle cotton for non-union men and will pay them the top of the market. All cotton farmers are invited to see me before selling their cotton. I am a licensed bonded cotton grader, and can give you an official grade and staple on your cotton. I will appreciate the business of everyone. I am in business to serve you.—Sincerely, W. T. Bean.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY DIVIDENDS PAYABLE

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 20.—The Board of Directors of Alabama Power Company today declared the regular quarterly dividends on its $6 and $7 preferred stock, payable October 1, 1936, to stockholders of record September 15, 1936 and on its $5 preferred stock, payable November 2, 1936, to stockholders of record October 15, 1036.

These dividends will aggregate approximately $585,000 and will be paid to approximately 15,000 stockholders of whom over 10,500 reside in Alabama, every one of the 67 counties of the state being represented in the list.

NINE ARRESTS BY COUNTY OFFICERS DURING LAST WEEK

Shriff J. R. Hardy reported nine arrests made by officers of his department during the past week. These were as follows:

One for desertion. Bond for $200.

One for assault and battery and violating the prohibition law. Bond for $300.

One far grand larceny. In jail.

One for murder. In jail.

One for assault and battery. In jail.

Three for violating the prohibition law. Bonds for $300 in each case.

PEBBLE WITH SQUARE HOLES

Many curious things are brought in to The Union-Banner office. Mr. Henry Popwell, the ex-soldier of Route 2, left at our office last Saturday afternoon, which at a casual glance looks just like an ordinary pebble, but upon closer examination it will be noticed that there are three or four square holes part of the way through it. These holes could not have been worn into the pebble. It looks as though the pebble had been poured or moulded on the ends of square iron bars and the bars left their imprints in the pebble. But we do not attempt to say how these holes got there.

MRS. W. C. ROBINSON BOUGHT OUT MARINELLO BEAUTY SHOPPE

Mrs. W. C. Robinson this week purchased the Marinello Beauty Shoppe from Mrs. Katherine Wade, and will move the equipment, Etc., to Montevallo. Miss Josephine Barrett, who has been working at Marinello, will enter the Modern School of Beauty Culture ni Clanton. Miss Barrett will be pleased to have her friends call to see her.

Miss Winnie B. Davis, who has also been employed by Marinello, will work in the shop of Modern Beauty Shoppe here.

The shop at Montevallo will be known as Modern Beauty Shoppe, and will be located next door to the new Strand Theatre. Working in the Montevallo shop will be Miss Louise Nolen and Miss Birdie Brooks, both of whom are well experienced in beauty culture work.

Mrs. Robinson is also pleased to announce that the famous line of Marinello cosmetics has been added to Modern Beauty Shoppe in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Varnell visited Mr. Varnell's parents in Scottsboro last week end.

Clanton Gets Boost From B'ham Paper

Clanton and its officials, Mayor O. Fenn Jones and Clerk Claudie Pipes, received quite a boost last Sunday by Mr. Harold I. Fisher, State Editor of The Birmingham News and Age-Herald. Pictures of the two officials together with five buildings of the city were carried in a very neat style. These buildings consist of Mr. M. Lande's new apartment house, the new post office, the city hall, the new home of the Peoples Savings Bank and the new Wadesonian Theatre building. About a column of space was used by Mr. Fisher in saying gobs of nice things about Clanton, its officials and its people. Special mention was made of the phenomenal growth of the city during the past few years.

NEW OPENING DATE SET FOR COUNTY SCHOOLS

Last week's issues of the county papers carried the anouncement that several of Chilton county's schools would open on Monday, September 7. This week Supt. Luther E. Little announces that decisions have been made to defer opening of any schools for two weeks, due to various causes.

On Monday, September 21, the county teachers institute will be held at the Chilton County High School building, when all teachers are urged to be present.

On Tuesday following, September 22, all schools in the county will open. Prof. Little is very anxious that this infomation be spread all over the county, so that there may be no cnfusion as to the opening dates.

The county board of education was scheduled to meet on Friday of this week to close all contracts with teachers and school bus drivers. In next week's issue will be carried a list of teachers for every school in the county.

ROCKETT DRY GOODS CO. PUTTING ON CONTEST

The Rockett Dry Goods Company is this week anouncng a prize contest for youngsters. A fine bicycle is named as first prize, a nice coaster as second prize, and a group of other fine prizes.

The contest is one of "vote gathering." Votes are given for each purchase, and the part of the youngsters is to see that their friends trade at Rockett's and give them their votes.

This whole novel contest is explained fully in the Rockett Dry Goods Co.'s advertisement appearing elsewhere in this paper. Turn to it and read the full particulars—and then get busy.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

The Assemblies of God will hold their 5th Sunday, Fellowship meeting at Pinedale, Aug. 30th, everybody come bring dinner for your self and Friend as there will be no Public dinner spread. This will be a day of worshiping the Lord and not a frolic.

SUSPENSION OF WORK ON PUBLIC ROADS

(By T. J. Arledge)

In order to stay within the funds appropriated by the Commissioner's Court for the month of August, in the sum of $4,000,000, the Road Supervisor finds it necessary to cease all operations in the maintenance and repairs to the public roads until the first of September. The Supervisor explains that extra workmen and materials and supplies called for to overcome extremely bad conditions and wrecked bridges and drainage structures caused by the recent floods in the lower central part of the County used up the greater portion of the funds during the first two weeks of the month. It was necessary to transfer most all the supply of lumber and other materials located at various points in the County to the affected area and the purchase of a quantity of new lumber for the work. During this period we used some 21,000 Board feet of lumber in repairs to bridges and other drainage boxes; some 3,000 cu. yds. gravel and other filled materials, and worked and increased forces of some 40 men in the affected areas. The roads as a whole, throughout the county are in very good shape except in some parts of Beat 5, 6 and 16 of District No. 4 and small sections of District 1, 2 and 3. During the placing of fills and gravel surface it was necessary to hire two extra trucks and part of the time we had to use teams.

Practically all of the affected area has been placed in service again.

ROCKETT GAVE AWAY 200 GALLONS LEMONADE

Mr. Dewey Rockett, of Clanton Building Supply Company, reports that this firm dispensed to visitors last Friday and Saturday a total of about 200 gallons of lemonade. Mr. Rockett says that Chilton County people are really "heavy drinkers" when plenty of ice cold lemonade is placed at their disposal.

The Building Supply Company was indeed glad to have each and every visitor call on them and take a drink or drinks "on the house." The occasion was the official opening of the agency in Clanton for AllState tires and tubes.

Mrs. Hugh Thompson and Misses Lona and Lois Thompson have returned from a week's vacation in Florida.

Miss Vivian Gray was a visitor in Birmingham Saturday.

MULLINS-NELSON WEDDING SOLEMNIZED WEDNESDAY

The wedding of Miss Sophia Mullins and Lawson Boone Nelson, of Chattanooga, whose engagament was announced Sunday, took place in Clanton on Wednesday, August 26, at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Payton D. Wilson, and Mr. Wilson, in the presence of a group of immediate relatives and close friends, with Rev. Cecil Ellisor, of Verbena, performing the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wilson and the late Tipton Mullins of Clanton.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson D. Nelson, and in assistant engineer for the city of Chattanooga.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Jolliffe of New York City, the latter of whom is a sister (Mary Sue) of the bride—Mr. Jolliffe is connected with the U. S. Trust Co., of New York; Dr. Joseph W. Johnson of Chattanooga, an uncle of the bride, Mrs. Tilman Nelson of New York, brother of the groom; and his sister, Mrs. Gladys Kreigner, of Chattanooga.

Preceding the wedding, the bride-elect was complimented at several lovely parties. Mrs. Omar Reynolds was hostess on Friday at an announcement party, and on Monday Mrs. Gladys Heflin gave a luncheon for Miss Mullins. Mrs. James C. Jones and Mrs. J. M. Shepherd entertained jointly at a tea Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Mullins entertained the groom and out-of-town guests on Wednesday.

C. C. H. S. ANNOUNCES FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

The followers of the blue and gold Tigers of Chilton County High School may expect strong opposition from the opponents scheduled to date. Eight games have been booked to date and Coach Varnell may add another one to the opening of the season. Much enthusiasm is being shown by the prospective candidates for a position on this year's team, and each boy is eagerly awaiting the call to practice on September 7.

The coaching staff will be assisted by the director of physical education for bays of the high school. This will be a valuable addition as this man will render great service in getting the boys into condition for the season, and in looking after minor injuries after each game.

An opportunity is being offered to two boys whereby they may win varsity letters that are unable to try-out for the team. Letters will be awarded to the manager and to an athletic trainer. Any boys interested in these positions are asked to confer with Coach Varnell.

The success of the team will depend to a large degree upon the support given it by the school and community. The incoming principal is a football enthusiast and a former high school coach. It goes without saying that he will be for the boys from the very beginning. Captain Durwood Williamson reports that most of the boys are ready to get gaing on the 1936 season. The schedule is as follows:

September 25—Selma High School at Selma.

October 2.—Billingsley High School at Clanton.

October 9.—Wetumpka High School at Wetumpka.

October 23.—Open.

November 13.—Holtville High School at Clanton.

November 20.—Isabella High School at Clanton.

October 30. — Maplesville High School at Clanton.

November 6. — Montevallo High School at Montevallo.

REV. JOHNSON HERE

A most appreciated visitors in Clanton last Friday was Rev. J. S. Johnson, now of Millerville, in Clay county, and who last year preached at Antioch and other Methodist churches in the southwest part of this county. Rev. Johnson was over here to attend the all day services that were to be held at Antioch Saturday.

Thee Union-Banner was indeed glad to have Bro. Johnson call on us. We immensely enjoyed his acquaintance while he was a resident of our county, and we are always glad to see him again.

Carlee Baker Killed Last Thursday P.M.

James Elijah Easterling Held For Preliminary Hearing On Murder Charge

James Elijah Easterling, 27-year-old farmer of Beat 16, is being held in the Chilton County jail on a charge of murder, after the shooting of Carlee Baker, 21, at the home of Easterling late last Thursday p.m. Plans were being made to allow a preliminary hearing in the Justice Court of J. L. Wilson, on Thursday, August 27th.

Reports were that Easterling had warned Baker to stay away from his home. It was also reported that he had found him there on several occasions in the past. Last spring there was an altercation between the two men, in which Easterling was stabbed by Baker. Bad feelings had existed ever since.

Thursday, on returning from his work, Easterling again found Baker at his home, making undue advances to his wife. On account of threats on his life, Easterling said he went to a neighbor's house and borrowed a shotgun. When he came back to the house, according to Easterling's statement, Baker advanced toward him with an ax. At close range he opened fire, several shots taking effect in the face and left arm of Baker, as he threw up his left arm over his face; as Baker ran away three more shots were fired, with several shot entering his back.

According to Coroner J. Mell Martin, two shots which entered his left temple, causing death. Baker ran about two hundred yards from the Easterling home and fell, where he was found dead by Easterling early Thursday morning. Easterling stated that he did not follow Baker after the shooting, as he was afraid that he might meet him and that Baker would kill him.

Easterling came to Clanton early Thursday morning and gave up to county officers, after relating his story, and was placed in jail pending his preliminary trial.

Easterling is the son of Henry Easterling of Beat 16. Baker is the son of Peter Baker, of the same community.

C. O. VARDAMAN AND FAMILY PASSED THROUGH CLANTON

Hon. C. O. Vardaman, with his wife and children, of Birmingham, stopped off in Clanton long enough last Saturday afternoon to say hello to The Banner man. They were on their way to Goodwater to visit Mr. Vardaman's mother. We were indeed glad to have them stop by and see us.

EZELLS WILL RETURN TO CLANTON THIS WEEK

A letter from Dr. S. J. Ezell, written from Ridgecrest, N. C., says that he, Mrs. Ezell and the family will arrive back in Clanton Thursday night of this week. Dr. Ezell added that they have had the best vacation of their lives. "Boy, it is fine and cool up here."

TWO CASES IN CITY COURT

Mayor Jones reported Monday that two cases were listed in his court during the past week. These were as follows:

One for fighting and disordely conduct. Fine of $2 and costs.

One for public drunkenness. A sentence of 10 days labor on the city's streets was imposed.

JONES-HODGENS

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Jones, of Clanton, anounce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn Eloyse, to the Rev. Maurice Hodgens, of Jemison and Birmingham, the wedding to be an event of August 30.

IT'S A GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards announce the birth of a baby girl, which arrived on August 12th. They have named her Willodean. Both baby and mother are doing fine.

A LESSON FOR THE DRYS

"The drys decided to lean on the law, and leave the educational end of prohibition to the quarterly Sunday school lesson, and you see what happened."

Thus Richmond Pearson Hobson, Alabama's hero in the Spanish-American War on a visit to Birmingham today, pointed out the failue of the temperance forces to heed his appeal for a vast educational campaign to back up the 18th Amendment.

"Soon after the amendment was passed, I appeared before a convention of dry forces in Washington and told them that the law was only the beginning, that we must now engage in such an educational venture that we would 'grow the cure.' We must raise a generation that is immune to the evil of alcohol."

But his proprosas, he says, were received coldy by the convention, and he has watched the swing from prohibition to repeal.

It is too late for this advice to be used by the drys to forestall repeal, but it is not in any sense too late for it to be used to promote real temperance.—Birmingham Post.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes and children, Bess and Helen, spent last week end with Mrs. Hayes mother, Mrs. W. E. Floyd, of Clayton.

High Points Of Landon's Speech Delivered At Birthplace Saturday

COUNSELS RETURN TO 'OUR HERITAGE OF OPPORTUNITY'

West Middlesex, Penn., Aug. 22.—Speaking from his village birthplace, Gov. Alf M. Landon told an outdoor throng today that the voters' choice in the 1936 campaign was between "the pig in the poke policies" of the Roosevelt administration and "our heritage of freedom and opportunity."

"Let us not abandon our determination to win security and abundance without sacraficing any of our precious heritage of freedom," Landon said, adding:

"The frontier of new wants points the way to a better standard of living in this country."

Bareheaded, in a blue summer suit, Landon stood on a flag and sunflower decked platform on the Tam O'Shanter golf course to deliver the first major eastern address of his campaign to oust the New Deal. Before him Robert Outhewaite of the Republican National Committee staff estimated, a crowd of 40,000 persons dotted the fairways. It was drawn chiefly from the Mahoning Valley industrial area of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

With a few gestures beyond a nod of the head, Landon stressed that "periods of depression are favorable for reviving ancient and discredited systems of society and government and presenting them as the sure way of gaining Utopia.

Doubt and Distrust

"Wool gathering," grown out of the depression, he continued in a speech entitled, "the American way of life," had shaken confidence. This doubt and distrust," he continued, "is fostered by unstable men to whom it is always dangerous to give political power."

"Some are trying to supplant our institutions by others from abroad," he said. "Now in many parts of the world democracy is in retreat and dictatorships are advancing."

To "timid souls" who fear that the temporary setback is to be permanent, Landon said "there is nothing to justify any such conclusion."

Saying that the unemployed and "exemples of special privilege" were defects calling for remedies, Landons received a cheer when he continued.

"I believe that there is more promise of their solution by clinging to Aberican ideals than any other plan which has been proposed.

"The remedy for unemployment is not a permanent dole . . . The American remedy for unemployment is real work at good wages. It is clear that limitation of production and destruction of crops is not going to provide this kind of work. The remedy for monoply and special privilege is to do away with them. This must be one of our first objectives. One of the chief causes of our economic difficulties is the tendency of monoply to fix prices and retain special privilege.

"How can it be said that we have over-production when so many Americans are badly clothed and badly housed? How can it be said that we have over-production when large numbers of our fellow citizens are neglected, underpaid, or unemployed? How dare we talk about over-production when the evil effects of these conditions run beyond the tragedy of stunted lives and challenge the welfare and honor of the nation?

At The Crossroads

"So, here, at the place of my birth, I have sought to make clear what I believe to be the choice now before our country. It is the choice between the pig in the poke policies of our present administration and those American institutions under which we have enjoyed more liberty and attained a higher standard of living than any other people in the world. Once that choice is understood, I have no doubt of the outcome."

At 2:00 p.m., Landon's special train reached the village where he was born 49 years ago Sept. 9, from a run which began at Lasalle, Colo., and included dozens of rear platform appearances in wheat and corn belt states.

The nominee was driven the mile and a half from his train to the speaking platform in an open car which was flanked, almost without breaks, by rows of onlookers. to their cheers and applause, he responded with a wave of his straw hat, sometimes rising. One or two "hurrahs for Roosevelt" and "boos" were heard amid the shouts of welcome.

Landon was introduced by M. Harvey Taylor, State Republican chairman, who said the so-called "New Deal" was an issue of the national campaign.

Side by side on a platform flanking the Governor as he talked sat former Senator David Reed, former Governor Gifford Pinchot and Senator James J. Davis. Members of the official Landon party also sat on the platform.

Before reaching West Middlesex, Landon made half a dozen stops in Ohio where he spent many of his boyhood and school days. At Mansfield he said, "We must frankly and resolutely attack the evils of monoply" while at Canton, home and burial place of William McKinley, he foreshadowed his afternoon address by referring to the depression of the 1890's.

Forty Years Ago

"Forty years ago," the candidate told a Canton crowd, "found the country under the blight of another depression. The American people found in this typical American community, a pilot who weathered the storm of the depression.

"The honesty, courage and common sense of William McKinley's leadership in those dark days revived the confidence of the American people and quickened anew their faith in American institutions.

"Under his piloting, the ship of state was put once more upon her course. As we emerge from this depression we are reminded that we need throughout the Union a revival of the spirit of McKinley."

The heavy speaking schedule of the last two days prompted Landon to postpone his scheduled visit with the 85-year-old Mrs. Mary Reid Baird, who served as his nurse. Sunday morning, the nominee planned to return and possibly attend church services in the church of which his grandfather, W. H. Mossman, once was pastor. William Mossman, of Pittsburgh, Landon's uncle, was one of those who greeted him today.

Immediately after the speech, the Governor returned to his train which pulled out of New Castle, 15 miles away, where he attended a Republican dinner conference Saturday night.

MINERAL SPRINGS

We have had a mighty good revival the last week, conducted by Rev. M. Lockhart, assisted by Rev. J. A. Smallwood and wife.

Our Sunday school is doing very well but could be better if we could get the parents interested in the Sunday school rather than going somewhere else. You know if you stay out of Sunday school one Sunday, it is harder for you to go back the next Sunday, and the more you stay out the less interest you will have and the first thing you know you will forget the Sunday school. You know, my friends, there is too many of the Sunday school people who have got to go some where else on Sunday morning. I don't blame them for going, but I do think their Sunday ought to come first. If they have just got to go somewhere else, for God's sake, wait until after Sunday school. You will hear people talk about young people not going to Sunday school. My friends, if you will get the parents of any church to turn out, it will be no trouble to have a good Sunday school.

Our B. Y. P. U. is doing fine but it is lacking for cooperation with the parents of our community just the same as the Sunday school. I am hoping that the fathers and mothers will wake up to their duties and instead of getting up on Sunday morning and hunting some excuse to keep from going to Sunday school, they will get up making preparations to go and the children will follow. If you can get the parents interested and going, you won't have much trouble getting the boys and girls to go. You know, they got discouraged with us, so let's all come on and do our duty and help them out and they will do theirs.

We will have prayer meeting every Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock and B. Y. P. U. following the prayer service. Everybody that will help us out with any service be sure to come.

Sunday school meets at 10:00 o'clock.
—M. Gore.

MT. SPRINGS NEWS

Our meeting closed last Friday night, and though we did not have any additions to the church, we feel that we had a great revival of God's spirit in our community. Rev. Stanley delivered some wonderful messages, and I truly hope that it will be as bread cast upon the waters in that it may be gathered together many days hence, or that we can see the effect many days hence in the way people come out and take part in the Sunday school and church functions. We urge the people who do not worship with other churches to come out and worship with us. In unity there is strength. We appreciate all the cooperation during the revival and thank Mr. Johnnie Plier and Mr. Richard Peterson for their help with the singing.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Sometime ago an outstanding modernistic preacher of America spoke of the virgin birth of Jesus christ as "piffle". The mental processes of the modernisti are very peculiar. They quote glibly the sayings of Jesus. All they know about the sayings of Jesus is what the inspired writers say Jesus said. These same writers say that Jesus Christ was born of a virgin. The modernists accept as valid what the writers say Jesus said Yet they discount what these same writers said about the virgin birth. The same writer who says that Jesus said, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God" taught that Jesus Christ was conceived by the Holy Ghost.

"Is it necessary to believe in the virgin birth in order to be saved?" That question is often asked. "A saved person will believe in the virgin birth." is the answer of the writer. Jesus said, "He that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out." Any man who comes to Jesus Christ will know that he has come to God The man who doubts the deity of Jesus Christ has never been born again. Only God could do for sinners what Jesus Chist does. We speak of this as a scientific age. We are urged to make experiments. If you are a sinner and you doubt the deity of Jesus Chaist, just turn yourself over to Him. You will find yourself in the hands of the omnipotent God. Jesus Christ is all the God I want.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination, backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood and to poison and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. You can get the genuine, time-tested Doan's at any drug store.

WEST CHILTON

Prof. W. T. Bean, of Clanton, addressed the Farmer's Union Number 285 last Saturday afternoon, also the Union at Ashby. His address was quite forceful, lucid and well received.

On the third Sunday night the writer and some others from West Chilton had the pleasure of attending the singing at Robinson Springs. We found that quite a charming community. We never visited a place where more unanimity of feeling and good will prevailed. Great sincerety was in evidence all around. At noon their free dinner was most excellent and bountiful. In the audience we found such leading citizens as J. E. Cobb, J. N. Scott, W. L. Sanders and John W. Hayes and others. It was a joyous occasion.

Political writers keep telling us how we are increasing in wealth under the New Deal, just as if we did not know our financial situation. Such an array of New Deal statistics is nauseating. Some tell us what we had to wear and how we had to skimp under "old Hoover." But bear in mind what we endured under Grover Cleveland and he was a Democrat, no New Dealer. Our cotton sold then at 5 cents a pound and less. We looked for the bargain counter, we bought shop worn goods, No, we have not forgotten those Cleveland times.

There are a few things we do not hear of now, white supremacy, the "robber tariff" and whiskey. If the tariff was once such a stinch, why is it not removed? The fault lies at somebody's door.

A few months ago it was DePriest, colored Congressman from Ill. Now it is Mitchell, a colored New Deal Congressman from Illinois. Keep silent. How does that compare with democratic writers and orators back in the seventies down to DePriest?

Then whiskey. Alas! Alas! Protestants awake. You have slept too long. Hoover's "noble experiment" was prohibition. But what have we now? The gravity of the situation is awful. We say no more.

Today our cotton is a moderate price while what the poor have to buy is out of their reach. Where is all this vaunted prosperity.

CAPITOL NEWS BUREAU

Montgomery—Fred A. Salmon, assistant highway engineer, and Tom B. Kirkland, architect of the highway department, tenderd their reginations effective Sept. 15, according to announcement by H. H. Houk, chief highway engineer.

Alabama's state income tax collections jumped 135 per cent during the seven months period of 1936, ending Aug. 15, compared with the corresponding period of 1934, according to announcemetn by Chairman Henry S. Long, of the tax commission.

Collections thus for this year were $722,289.07 compared with $307,346'-.63 for the same period two years ago, a net increase of $404,942.42.

The annual rally of farmers sponsored by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation scheduled for Friday and Saturday (Aug. 28-29) has been postponed to permit farmers to finish harvesting their crops, according to announcement by J. Litt Edwards, federation president.

Gov. Bibb Graves last week assured a delegation of circut judges and solicitors that some arrangement would be made to pay out of the state treasury the $100-a-year expense allowance provided by an act of the Legislature for judges and solicitors serving more than one county.

It was explained that the law granting the expense allowance failed to include an appropriation out of which to pay it. The total amount stimated to cover the expense of the officials affected is slightly over $10,-000 a year.

Governor's Day will be observed at Ft. McClellan on Sunday Aug. 30 when Governor Graves will review the 167th Infantry, 117th Field Artillery and other units of the Alabama National Guard.

Announcing plans for one of the most stirring military spectacles since the World War, Adj. Gen. John C. Coleman left here Sunday to attend the annual encampment which was delayed more than a month because of the infantile paralysis epidemic.

With mounting gasoline tax collections, the state highway department is beginning to take hope that $1,768,256 in Federal funds available at Washington can be matched before reverting to the general Federal aid fund on June 30, 1937.

Jeff Beeland, of Greenville, head of the Alabama Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association, was closeted for more than an hour with Gov. Graves last Friday but declined to discuss the object of his surprise call.

Later, Governor Graves told reporters that he had granted Beeland request for certain "work sheets" of the controversial "Stephens report"—a financial survey of the state's school system made by the Federal government two years ago.

Recently Beeland charged that Dr. J. A. Keller, state superintendent of education, had "withheld" the report, but it was later learned the report was in the possession of Algeron Blair, Montgomery contractor and former chairman of the board of direc ors of the old Alabama Relief Administration.

The Governor promptly gave Beeland a letter to Blair authorizing that the "report" be turned over to Beeland.

Lesson for August 30

BEGINNING OF WORLD MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:19-26, 13:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. Mark 16:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—On a Journey for Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC — The Gospel Starts Around the World.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC —New Adventures With Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —The Holy Spirit in Missions.

The normal expression of salvation in the life of a believer is a passion for the conversion of others. The early church soon began to fulfill the great commission of its Lord and Master. Its first missionary enterprise was in the great and wicked city of Antioch, only 150 miles from Jerusalem, but far from God. In this unpromising soil we find growing:

I. A Model Mission Church (vv. 19-21).

Its establishment was in accord with the plan of God, for it was:

1. The result of a faithful testimony (vv. 19, 20).

Those who were scattered abroad by persecution had but one crowning purpose—"preaching the Lord Jesus."

2. A gathering place for all God's people (vv. 19, 20). The truth was preached to both Jews and Gentiles.

3. A living witness in a wicked city (v. 21).

"The hand of the Lord was with them." Little wonder then that "a great number believed and turned unto the Lord." Note in verse 26 that it was in Antioch that the followers of Christ were first called by the beautiful name "Christians." In the midst of the most evil and degraded surroundings the sweet flower of Christian faith may grow.

II. The Model Mission Church Becomes a Model Missionary Church (13.1-12).

We have here the first step in the world-wide missionary movement which continues to our day and which has influenced the destinies of men and shaped the course of world history.

This first missionary enterprise presents the essential principles and methods which are vital to true missionary work, even in our day. To begin with, there must be a proper base of operation, namely:

1. The home church (vv. 1-3).

God calls his messengers right out of the church membership. On the Sunday that this lesson is taught missionary leaders of the next generation will be in the classes of some crossroads Sunday school. How important it will be that the teacher present the truth of God's Word plainly and faithfully.

Notice that this church was spiritually alive. It was a church that prayed, fasted, and ministered the Word of God. It was responsive to the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Next we have indicated the type of men called to be:

2. The missionaries (vv. 2-4).

a. The strongest men in the church (v. 2).

When you want something done, ask a busy man to do it. God's missionary program calls for the best the church can give, not misfits or failures.

b. Spirit-led men (vv. 3, 4).

God chooses and sends men into service. He separates and places them.

3. Missionary experiences (vv. 5-12).

a. Minister to all people (vv. 5-7). Paphos was a Greek city of high culture and low morals. It was ruled by Sergius Paulus, a Roman officer of noble character. With him was Barjesus also called Elymas, a wicked Jew. The missionary messenger rejoices in the opportunity to preach to Greek, Roman, and Jew.

b. Meet satanic opposition (vv. 8-10).

The devil has his servants who live only to oppose the gospel. Notice that even as God has children so also there are children "of the devil" (v. 10). We choose our spiritual family connections.

c. Proclaim judgment on sin (v. 11).

This is not an easy thing to do but is required of one who is "filled with the Holy Spirit."

d. Lead men to Christ (v. 12).

In this case it was the result of fear, which is a powerful factor in the conversion of some men.

The Master's commission, "go ye into all the world and preach the gospel," has never been altered, modified, or abrogated. It is still the great "unfinished business" of the church.

Learning From Suffering

I have learned more of God, and of myself, by one week's suffering than by all the prosperity of a long lifetime.—Bishop Hall.

More Work, Not Less

"We get out of our troubles only by working harder, not by working less."—Roger W. Babson.

Possessions

To know how to dispense with things is to possess them.—Regnard.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jones, of Montgomery, and Mr. H. C. Danforth, of Lafayette, Ala., were guests of relatives and friends here last week.

BETHSALEM NEWS

Sunday school began last Sunday at 10 o'clock with a good attendance. We had a good lesson. Everyone come back next Sunday and be with us. A short intermission was given after Sunday school before the singing began.

The singing was called to order at 11 o'clock by R. M. Brigance, who sung one song. Prayer was offered by W. L. Jones, of Prattville. Prof. H. G. Carter was elected chairman for the day. The program committe consisted of I. D. Huett, R. M. Brigance and C. M. Billingsley.

The directors, who sang one song each, were: W. L. Jones, Jessie Walker, Edward Jones, Buford Durbin, I. D. Huett, C. M. Billingsley, Lee J. Grant, R. M. Brigance and Huff Burkhalter. The White City quartet rendered one number which was enjoyed by all.

This brought us up to the noon hour. A bountiful dinner was spread out on the table. Everybody seemed to enjoy it and had plenty.

Singing was called to order again at 1:15 o'clock. Directors for the afternoon were: Edward Davis, Herman DuBose, Jean Davis, O. L. Devaughn, Orbie Devaughn, J. W. Devaughn, J. E. Varner, Marshall Burkhalter, Lee J. Grant, Sam Burkhalter. At this time we had a fifteen minute's recess. Directors after recess were: C. M. Billingsley, Edward Jones, R. M. Brigance, O. L. Devaughn, Herman DuBose, Buford Durbin, J. E. Varner. The White City quartet gave several splendid numbers during the afternoon. Prof. Carter arranged one special number. These special numbers were enjoyed by all. Everyone seemed to enjoy the day. We sure appreciate all visitors, especially the singers. We're glad to have you come to Bethsalem any time.

We have preaching every third Saturday and Sunday and a splendid Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. We have arranged to have choir practice every Sunday night, beginning at 6:30. Let's everybody come and take part in the service for our Lord and Saviour.—Reporter.

NEW COURSE TO BE OFFERED AT C. C. H. S. THIS YEAR

Diversified Occupations is the name of a recently developed course to be offered at Chilton County High School this year. This course will be under the direction of Prof. B. E. Evans, and is a course in vocational training, embracing a wide range of occupations.

According to Prof. Evans, the course will be a Federal project, to provide industrial education to students who might not otherwise have a chance of this kind. The course will include any kind of occupation in which the student can secure practical training with local concerns, such as carpenters, printers, electricians, plumbers, merchants, bankers, mechanics, barbers, painters, masons, cleaners and dyers, bookkeepers, bakers, jewelers, and many other trades too numerous to mention.

The plan works this way. A certain number of students are accepted for the course, subject to arrangements made with local concerns to provide the practical training. Prof. Evans takes the students under primary instruction for a period of time each week, and an allotted amount of time is spent in actual work at the specific trade. For instance, if a student were enrolled in the printing course, he would receive so many hours primary instruction by Prof. Evans in spelling, punctuation, capitalization and the like, and then spend an allotted number of hours in one of the local printing plants, learning the practical end of the business.

In this way it is hoped that such pupils could, while securing their high school education, at the same time be getting practical training in a profession.

Further explanation of this course will be published between now and the date of opening of schools. Prof. Evans is busy now contacting business houses and professional men with a view of placing the students after the opening of school. According to Prof. Evans, the number who will receive such training this year will be limited, but it is hoped that this service can be enlarged in years to come.

MANY AUTO WRECKS

Chilton County had several auto wrecks during the past week. Some of them were not serious, while a few of them sent patients to hospitals.

Last week end a sedan containing five women overturned on the Birmingham highway about two miles south of the Shelby County line. No one was seroiusly injured. Within a very few minutes another car topped a hill near this wreck, and in attempting to stop the car quickly, the driver lost control and it, too, overturned. All five of the occupants of this car were seriously injured.

Sunday morning a Ford sedan driven by Gerthie Easterling was in a collision with another car driven by a man named Carroll; this wreck occurred at the intersection of the roads at Concord school house, about three miles east of Clanton, on the Higgins Ferry road. Carroll suffered severe injuries and was taken to Central Alabama Hospital. No one in the Easterling car was seriously injured.

A minor accident occurred Sunday afternoon one mile south of Clanton, when a Ford sedan rammed into the back of Marvin Huett's Chevrolet in attempting to pass. Reports were that the driver of the other car attempted to pass Huett, and seeing his way blocked by another car, attempted to pull in behind Huett. No one was hurt in this affair.

Monday night a Ford coupe driven by Hugh Branch was in collision with a car driven by an unidentified negro, about a mile south of Verbena. No one from the Branch car was hurt, but several of the negroes were taken to Central Alabama Hospital, where hospital attaches stated that a negro woman had scant chance to live, according to reports.

SCHOOL MEETING AT ENTERPRISE

There will be a school meeting at Enterprise schoolhouse on next Saturday night, August 29th. All patrons and everyone interested in the school is urged to be present as we have some inportant business to be attended to relative to the fuel proposition, and also the painting of the inside of the building.

Warden Frank Boswell, from Kilby Prison was in Clanton last Tuesday.

GREAT SHORTAGE OF MULES AND HORSES IN ALABAMA

Neglect to breed mares between 1925 and 1933 has left the United States with an excess of horses and mules over 10 years and not enough between 3 and 10 years of age. As a result, there will be a national shortage of about 175,000 horses and 325,000 mules when the 1937 work season opens according to information County Agricultural Agent J. W. Fant has just received from Wayne Dinsmore, Secretary of the horse and Mule Association of America.

Dinsmore's figures show that Alabama will have to import about 2,500 work horses and approximately 31,000 work mules, from other states, for replacement alone before the 1937 work seasons starts; that is, colts raised in Alabama in 1934 will fall short that number of equalling losses by death in 1936. This means that over $5,600,000 in cash will have to be paid out by Alabama farmers for work animals, many of which they might easily have raised.

Breeding is increasing and it is estimated there will be about one million horse and mule colts foaled and raised this year, but death losses in 1936 will be around 1,200,000; so there will be much need for good sires for some years to come.

Mazer's Store Is Being Renovated This Week

Mazer's Store is being completely renovated this week. Every department is receiving its share of attention. The walls have been refinished to afford a pleasing color combination and blending.

The front of this new and modernly arranged store is striking. Modern displays are everywhere—not gaudy and over-colored, but arranged with a beautiful simplicity that is at once attractive and impressive. Articles for the ladies are displayed on one side, with men's apparel on the other.

As we enter, the left side of the store is completely given over to ladies goods. Dresses, coats, and other wearing apparel line the wall, with new display facilities to afford customers the best chance to really appreciate the beauty and quality of the goods displayed. Over these racks is a display wall running the length of the store. In the rear of this department is a most modern and up-to-date millinery department, fully stocked, and complete with giant mirrors to aid customers in making their selections.

On the right side of the front part of the store we find everything in men's goods. Hats, suits, shirts, and other articles of apparel for men. The racks are arranged according to number and class, so that one may shop with a minimum of time and trouble.

In both the ladies and men's departments some of the best known lines of merchandise to be had are displayed—nationally advertised goods—goods that you have known for years, and which have established a name for themselves. Mazer's Store has established a reputation for handling "good goods", and according to the management, this policy will be carried out more and more in the future.

In the center we find row on row of piece goods for the discriminating buyers of this kind of goods. All of it is new-new patterns, the latest materials as well as staple goods.

In the rear we find the shoe department. Here, too, we find ladies shoes in one department, men's in another, children's in another, and still another of work shoes of all kinds. Seats for fittings are furnished for all departments.

In the center of this department we find a fine display of work clothes and notions. Again we find a stock of well established lines of merchandise, whose quality is well known to Chilton people.

All in all, the store is very attractively finished and arranged, and is really a show place for merchandise. Prices are reasonable, and new gods are arriving every day.

Mr. I. S. Levine, congenial manager of Mazer's store, is to be commended on the general appearance of his store, and the painstaking care he has gone to in his work. In the sales division he will be ably assisted by Miss Murrell Deloach and Miss Mildred Gore, who will assist buyers in making their selections of merchandise.

In short, Mazer's store is so arranged and stocked that the prospective buyers may be able to get any kind of dry goods and wearing apparel at real savings, with a minimum of trouble and worry due to arrangement, yet with a maximum of quality due to care in buying by the management.

KIWANIANS TO STAGE AMATEUR CONTEST SOON

An announcement was made this week by the Kiwanis Club of Clanton to the effect that the club will sponsor a Shirley Temple Pageant and an Amateur Contest for the people of Chilton.

This event, which is being looked forward to by those already familiar with it, will be one of the most novel and entertaining features ever brought to Clanton.

The event is set for September 11th, and further information will be given the newspapers at a later date. Any interested in entering the Amateur Contest, in dances, songs, music or what not, should get in touch with Mrs. T. H. Walker, Clanton.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Omar Reynolds Compliments Miss Sophia Mullins

One of the prettiest parties of the season was on last Friday afternoon when Mrs. Omar Reynolds entertained at a surprise anouncement party honoring Miss Sophia Mullins, whose marriage to Mr. Lawson Boone Nelson, of Chattanooga, Tenessee, took place on Wednesday, August 26. The Reynolds home was attractively decorated in a profusion of dahlias, gladiolas, hyacinths and zynias. Eight tables were arranged for bridge. The dainty tally score pads and place cards, which were cleverly designed and painted by Miss Mary Newell, each bore a miniature bride and groom.

At the conclusion of a series of bridge games, Mrs. J. C. Page held high score and was presented a lovely crystal vase. The honoree was presented daintd lingerie. Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Mrs. John Armstrong cut for second high score prize. A crystal sugar and cream set was awarded to Mrs. Armstrong. The cut prize, a dainty handkerchief, fell to Mrs. J. Lee Smith.

Mrs. Reynolds, assisted by Mrs. Julius Burnett, served a tempting salad plate to the following guests.

The invited guests included the following: Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. John Deramus, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. J. C. Page, Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. J. Lee Smith, Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mrs. W. E. Mrs. John Browder Hostess To Wednesday Contract Club

Members of the Wednesday Card Club were delightfully entertained on last Wednesday, when Mrs. John Browder entertained at a lovely luncheon at the Thomason Hotel. Bribge was enjoyed before and after the luncheon hour. After a series of games Mrs. Omar Reynolds held high score and was awarded the prize. The two prizes given each week by Mrs. W. C. Robinson, from the Modern Beauty Shop, fell to Mrs. Frank Callen and Mrs. H. M. Simpson.

All the members of the club were present. This included: Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. J. C. Burnett, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. John Deramus, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. Omar Reynolds, and Mrs Hugh Simpson. The invited guests to the luncheon were: Mrs. T. C. McSwain and Miss Helen Diefenderfer.

Miss Elmore Excels In Sports At Nakanawa

From The Birmingham News comes the following interesting item about Miss Olive Rainer Elmore, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Elmore, of Clanton:

"Teeming with activities during the last week of the season, Camp Nakanawa Sr., of Maryland, Tenn., is offering the girls of the state an opportunity to excel in land and water sports.

In the recent horse show, Olive Rainer Elmore won the red ribbon in the ring event for beginners. Miss Elmore was among those named Sunday as having been singled out for maintaining correct posture. Miss Elmore also excelled in the elaborate Al Fresco program of tap and interpretative dancing."

Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer and her daughter, Helen, spent last week end in Alexander City with friends.

Miss Mildred Pipes is visiting Miss Nell Nabors, in Goodwater, this week.

Miss Sarah Colley, of Troy, spent the week end here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Willis.

CALF CLUB VOTED TO POOL MONEY

The Chilton County Calf Club met last Saturday, August 22, at the Chilton County High School. The entire club voted in favor of pooling all money taken in from prizes, instead of each individual getting what he won. This was done so each member would get some benefit from the prizes. The club will buy equipment to be used by the club members only; whereas it would be much more expensive if each one had to buy everything he needed for the time he would use it.

After the business was taken care of, an interesting program was given by the following members of the club: "Fitting Dairy Cattle for the Show Ring and When should Fitting Start," by Virgil Robinson.

"Marketing the Blanket," Houston Lawrence; "The Fitting Ration," Earl Vinson Butler; "Washing, Brushing and Clipping," Buster Popwell; "The Horns and Hoofs—Training, Dressing," B. N. Ivey (substituted for Popwell); "Training the Animal," James Dennis.

Mr. Ivey urges all members to register their animals as soon as possible, as they will not be eligible for the Birmingham show in case they win in the local show in September, unless they are registered.

MARY ELIZABETH GLASS

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Glass, age 98, died at her home near Jemison last Monday, August 24th. She was the widow of a confederate veteran, Fayette Glass, who died several years ago.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Pleasant Hill, with Rev. Homer Carroll officiating. Interment was made in the Pleasant Hill cemetery, with Martin directing.

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

In the Biblical days when the Pharoah of Egypt had his troublesome dream of the kine and the corn his spirit was troubled and Holy Writ tells us that he sent and called for the magicians of Egypt and all the wise men thereof: Pharaoh told them his dream, but there was none that could interpret them unto Pharaoh. Pharoah's Brain Trust was modest.

Then the ruler sent for Joseph, who was a man of vision and of sound common sense. Joseph had learned that the time to prepare for famine is in the period of plenty. His philosophy embraced the rudiments of a more modern school which says "make hay while the sun shines" and "save for a rainy day."

For the Good Book tells us that Joseph said: "And let them gather all the food of these good years that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharoah and let them keep food in the cities."

Then, we are told: "And he gathered up all the food of the seven years, which were in the land of Egypt; and laid up the food in the cities; the food of the fields which was round about every city, he laid up the same* * *

"And the seven years of dearth began to come according as Joseph had said and the dearth was in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread."

It is impossible, of course, to find an exact parallel between the situation in ancient Egypt and in modern America. The United States was suffering in the midst of plenty. But our Pharoah sent for the magicians and the wise men; unfortunately, they qualified as real interpreters and leaders and evidently said:

"Our land is suffering from too much production, inspite of the fact there are millions who do not have enough to eat. We canot become prosperous through work and abundance. To achieve the end we desire we must throw all the old economic rules overboard and bring about an era of scarcity, because scarcity brings high prices."

Unfortunately there was no Joseph amidst them to make a correct interpretation of the situation, or, if one was present, his voice voice was unheard of in the den of the multitude of "wise men." And so, instead of raising more meat to feed the hungry, the pigs were slaughtered. Instead of gathering up the food of the field which was around every city, the grain was destroyed and the growers were advised and hired to let their fields lie in idleness. Wheat was burned or plowed under instead of being gathered and "kept in the cities."

Then came the inevitable reaction. Nature rebeled and the land was covered with drouth. Prices were high, but there was a scarcity of things to sell. And the people were troubled.

Genesis tells us "And all countries came into Egypt for to buy corn; because that famine was sore in all lands."

But what happened in America? The people of all countries came to America not to buy food—they came to sell it. There was food from Canada, from Argentina, from Poland, from Denmark and Sweden, and even from China. And Joseph has been vindicated and his principles of economy have again proved correct. It has been found impossible to stay the hand of nature, which is the hand of Divinity.

It has again been demonstrated that if we are to have real prosperity and real happiness we must see to it so far as possible that the fields of the earth are fruitful, that the beasts of the field shall multiply. In the years of plenty we must prepare for the years of "dearth". This rule is so old and so sound that it now seems, in our moment of awakening, difficult to believe that people ever foolishly accepted the doctrine of abundance through destruction, idleness and scarcity. The drought has come and we have found that violating nature is a disasterous business.

The magician and the "wise men" may cry in excuse that they did not cause the drouth. True enough. But they could have kept from tinkering with the inevitable laws of nature.

FIGURES ON RECOVERY

When any criticism is made of the unprecedented expenditures and the mounting national debt of the past three years, some one is sure to try counter by pointing to the figures on the stock market and the "boom" in many industries making and distributing consumer goods as proof that the New Deal policies are worth what they cost. Without speculating as to how much of the market recovery is relative, due to the fact that stocks are now measured in 59-cent dollars, it is just as well to look into world figures on recovery, to see how things are going on in other countries where there have been no mounting deficits and no boondoggling.

The monthly Bulletin or Statistics of the League of Nations for May contained a tabulation, according to the press, showing the average monthly industrial production in March, 1936, as measured by the annual production in the various nations for the year 1929, the latter being taken as 100. Here is the list as reproduced by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette:

Finland	130.0
Chile	125.1
Denmark	121.0
Estonia	120.3
Great Britian	112.2
Norway	111.4
Sweden	109.1
Germany	95.8
Austria	87.8
Spain	87.4
Italy	87.2
Canada	81.7
Belgium	80.6
United States	79.0
Czechoslovakia	73.6
France	71.7
Holland	69.8
Poland	67.8

Please note that the United States is fifth from the bottom of the list and there are fourteen nations ahead of us. As none of these new nations had a brain trust perhaps these figures can afford us some idea as to the value of the New Deal in the United States in bringing about such recovery as we have had.

Judging by the figures, if any nation was greatly benefitted by the American New Deal, it must have been some nation other than the United States. Certainly Secretary Wallace's program of scarcity helped alien agricultural nations, as the figures of agricultural imports to our country plainly show.

The economists tell us that recovery has been world-wide. Maybe the effects of the New Deal have been international, too. Who knows about this?

THE FIRST VOTERS

According to estimates by the United States Census Bureau the population of the country as of April 1, 1936, of those over 21 years of age was 79,660,000. Eliminating the unnaturalized aliens, inmates of public institutions, Etc., this was estimated to leave a voting total of 65,363,901. It is estimated further that fifteen per cent of those eligible will not cast their votes in the 1936 election, leaving approximately 46,750,000 who will likely exercise the right of suffrage.

The total vote in 1932 was 38,583,698. This would indicate that there may be something like 8,166,362 potential voters who were not old enough to exercise their right four years ago.

Eight million voters is a total not to be taken lightly by the political organizations, and it is evident that strenuous efforts should, and doubtless will, be made to line up these voters with one of the major political organizations.

It is always important that the youth who arrive at their majority should exercise their privilege of voting in the national and local elections. Never, perhaps, was the exercise of this right more important than it is in this year of 1936.

The total debt of the nation is mounting toward forty billions of dollars. It is a staggering total, one never even approximated before in the history of American administration. Now this great national debt will have to be paid sooner or later. It might be eliminated in a few short months, through inflation, which would spell ruin to all, except, perhaps, the gamblers in commodities, or the debt may be paid through higher taxations over a period of time covered by two or three generations. It is at least probable that, unless the deficit gets out of hand, the latter method of liquidation will be used. If this is true, then there will be a heavy tax burden on the backs of the American people for the next gneration at least.

Now this debt will not be paid by the men who are piling it up, but by a generation which is still in school or is about to cast its vote in a national election. It is therefore entirely proper and right that the eight millions of first voters should have something to say in this coming election about such questions as boondoggling, budget balancing and taxation. And it can only have a voice by exercising its right of suffrage to choose men for office who are pledged to carry out the principles of which these young voters may approve.

There is one good thing about the war in Spain. Up to this time neither side has approached Uncle Sam to borrow money.

MAN IN THE MOON

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE

Money

I know that you have often heard the saying: "Money makes the mare go." Not printing press money, issued without backing; not "emergency" money, thrown into the gap by an overzealous government; but money naturally placed in the channels of trade by investors who make more money, more jobs, more buying power, and creating a healthy economic status.

In this regard, it seems the president must have been thinking along lines which did not include the later wholesale governmental extravagance when on May 27, 1933, as he signed the Securities Act, said:

"If the country is to flourish, capital must be invested in ENTERPRISE."

Surely the president was not speaking of such agencies as the AAA, the CWA, the WPA and other extravagant projects when he spoke these words, for by no possible stretch of the imagination could these be classed as "enterprise." These were "pump priming" activities which the government was carrying out. Surely the president was speaking of new investments to create new wealth, new jobs, and new buying power, which would have most certainly caused the country to "flourish."

Now, let's check up and see how capital investments fared. New capital invested in the United States in 1932 amounted to $321,000,000, even in the worst of the depression, while that of Great Britain was $248,191,500; in 1933 it dropped to $177,000,000 in this country, while climbing to $296,856,500 in Great Britain; jumped up to $356,000,000; then fell again to $348,000,000 here in 1935, while England jumped to a new high with $666,719,500.

What was the cause of the fluctuation? Let us take the word of the head of one of the biggest Federal Reserve banks in the nation. He gave as the reason for this, along with the steady climb in England:

"American financiers became alarmed early in President Roosevelt's administration on account of his loose money policy. They shied off investments on account of restrictive measures, and a system of seemingly ever-changing money policies. Meanwhile English investors, quick to sense the radical change in American policies as advanced by the New Deal, especially the ever-changing money policy, took advantage of a chance to stabilize their currency and to enter into financial pacts with other European and Asiatic countries regarding their mutual exports and imports, all of this being aimed at our own elastic currency. European financiers had nothing to lose from this move, inasmuch as they were buying but little from America, but as we were buying several times as much European goods as before, with our cheapened money, our importers were forced to pay the money premium.

"If our money had not been cheapened, or if our national 'scarcity' program had not been in effect so that we were forced to buy abroad, all these pacts would not have hurt us. So we, with our cheap money, and our senseless production policy, paid through the nose for these errors of our national administrators."

Boiled down, it amounted to this—money powers in other parts of the world, realizing that we had nothing to sell and everything to buy, and were being forced to buy with our cheapened currency, struck while the iron was hot by stabilizing their own currency, and then demanding a premium in our money for goods priced in their money, and goods which we were forced to buy. The administration seemingly drew up their plans without taking into consideration that if we failed to raise certain products which we needed, we would have to buy them. Seeing that this would cost us heavily, they "stretched" our money, not taking into consideration that other nations would have sense enough to stretch theirs more than we did. However, this happened, as might have been expected, if our officials had taken the trouble to look two inches in front of their noses. However, our present "brain trust" was carrying out policies built on theories, not facts, and America has paid the bill.

Moreover, besides the absolute monetary loss, the average per cent of increase of unemployed, caused by our lack of production, between the year 1930 and that of 1936 increased 163 per cent, while that of Great Britain increased only 1.1 per cent. Perhaps Mr. Roosevelt will explain this in the coming campaign. That would be interesting.

Centralization of Government

As early as March 2, 1930, while still governor of New York, with an eye looking toward the presidency, Mr. Roosevelt said this in a radio address:

"The U. S. Constitution has proved itself the most marvelous elastic compilation of rules of government ever written. It was clear to the framers of the Constitution that the greatest possible liberty in self-government must be given to each state, and that ANY NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION ATTEMPTING TO MAKE ALL LAWS FOR THE WHOLE NATION WOULD INEVITABLY RESULT AT SOME FUTURE TIME IN A DISSOLUTION OF THE UNION ITSELF.

"Now, to bring about government by oligarchy, masquerading as democracy, it is fundamentally essential that practically all authority and control be CENTRALIZED in our national government."

These words came from President Roosevelt, himself. They are not misquoted, and undoubtedly express his true feeling on the subject. By the above it may be seen that he realized fully what centralized government must ultimately lead to—"a dissolution of the union itself." These words show also that the president realized that to make a monarchy of our democracy, our state's rights must be done away with in degree, and all this power given over into the hands of the national officials.

The president was, even then, fishing for a national following as a build-up for his presidential campaign. Now, let's take a look at his official acts, after he became president, after he had made the statements above.

The very first act of his was to ask for complete control of the government—that Congress abdicate all of its powers to him—and the puppet congress complied. Was not this proof that he dreamed of a monarchy with himself as its head, if he believed his words of 1930?

Next, laws, codes and restrictions were imposed, all coming from Washington, setting out penalties, severe penalties, for violation of these centralized laws. Can anyone contend that these were not the acts of a monarch, or at least a would-be monarch?

If Mr. Roosevelt had already set out the very procedure by which our democracy might be made into a monarchy, (which he did in those 1930 quotations given above), and then followed this very procedure to the letter when he became the nation's chief executive, (as is common knowledge that he did, and which no one will deny), is it not ample proof that the president was dreaming, in 1933, of this monarchy of which he spoke in 1930?

If, in 1930, Mr. Roosevelt had said that to wantonly shoot a man would constitute cold-blood murder, and then if he had walked out and met a man on the street whom he did not know, and had shot him down, is there anyone who would say that he had not committed murder, knowing it to be such? The comparison is a perfect parallel. The president had made himself quite clear as to what changes would have to be brought about to affect a monarchy, and then went about the work of effecting these very changes as soon as he became president.

If the president had committed murder soon after setting out just what would constitute murder, we would have called him a madman. If he carried out plans which only a few months before he set out would constitute an attempt at monarchy within our democracy, is there any doubt that it was his plan to become a monarch—that he was both a traitor and a mad-man? Let any defender of the president's acts step out and defend them, in the light of the above!

The Presidential Oath

When Franklin D. Roosevelt beame President of the United States, he took the following oath, even as all presidents do:

"I, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of the President of the United States, and will TO THE BEST OF MY ABILITY, PRESERVE, PROTECT AND DEFEND THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES."

Now, let's see just how much the president considered his solemn oath worth. No less than NINE of the president's "must" bills were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. Not possessing the grace to see his pet masures ruled against, even in the eyes of the highest law of the nation, he sulked, like a spoiled child, and took the attitude that the law should conform to the wishes of the president, rather than that the president should govern according to the national law.

In a press report given out after an interview with the president just after the NRA was killed, the president was quoted as follows:

"The country was in the horse and buggy days when the Constitution was written." And the president has never denied that statement.

Moreover, in a letter to Rep. Samuel B. Hill, regarding the Guffey Coal Act, (later declared unconstitutional), when the question of the bill's constitutionality arose, the president wrote:

"I hope your committee will not permit DOUBTS as to CONSTITUTIONALITY, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation." Are these the words of one who sincerely desired to carry out his solemn oath to DEFEND the Constitution, as he had sworn to do? You be the judge!

Conclusion

For the past several weeks this column has carried a true outline of the presidential promises as compared with the presidential performances, with the statement and the evidence set down side by side for the consideration of my readers. These statements, outside of a few comments, have not been my words—those promises were taken directly from the 1932 Democratic platform, upon which Mr. Roosevelt was elected, and from quotations of his, with the dates and places set forth on every occasion. The records of performance, for the most part, have been taken from government records; others from unimpeachable sources which the most partisan presidential supporter would not dare question..

I am sure no one holds personal animosity against the president or any of his helpers. But a fair and open statement of facts of record cannot be construed as animosity. This is what we have done—we have merely presented the facts. And we, without qualification, challenge anyone, great or small, to bring to our attention any statement in this series which is untrue, or any figure which is not as of record. If there be anyone who doubts any statement or figure we have presented, let him speak NOW!—Man in the Moon.

SPENDING US RICH

One of the pet theories of those who advocate the new dispensation of political economy seems to be that the way for Uncle Sam to get rich quickly is through spending. It is not that they deny, publicly at least, the old statement that thrift is the sure road to wealth and social security. They seem to have the impression that there is a short cut to prosperity through a lavish expenditure of public money.

For example, we know that the government has gone fifteen billions further into debt than it was in debt at the close of the Hoover adminsitration. Yet, despite this fact, there are as many unemployed in the country, as many depending on relief as there were when the new theories of lavish expenditure were put into practice.

Let us look a little closer into the theory of obtaining wealth and prosperity through expenditure. For every dollar that Uncle Sam is now putting out, he is taking back about 46 cents from the taxpayer. Take a personal and individual case for instance. Suppose you spent a dollar for every 46 cents that you earned. How long would it take you to get rich or even to become econoomically secure at thi srate? Of course, the answer is obvious. You would go into bankruptcy and join the breadline as soon as your resources were exhausted.

Now, the government is not far different from the individual. In fact, it is just the aggregate of all the individuals in this country. It is bound by the same ecanamic rules. It can only safely spend what it "takes in". If it continues extravagantly to put out more than twice as much as its income, then it can expect only bankruptcy in the end. It has no secret hoard, no magic way of pulling gold out of the air. Its wealth is only the wealth of all the people of the nation. Sooner or later it must reckon with economic laws. And the sooner it does this the better chance it will have of avoiding national bankruptcy and inflation.

Remember the good old days when every loyal partisan used to carry a flaming torch in the political parade? Now they must save all the oil for the lamps of China.

Rev. J. O. Hanes has just closed a most successful revival at the Clanton Methodist church.

The cherry sound of the gin whistles is a common thing in Clanton now. Cotton is coming in.

Phillip O. Barrett writes from Coopers that the cotton worm is causing some excitement in that part of the county.

B. F. Wyatt was buried at Providence last Wednesday, August 15. He was 76 years old and leaves one brother; for 57 years he had been a member of the church at Providence.

The first bale of cotton was brought in on August 22nd, by Arthur Mims, 5 miles east of Clanton. W. I. Mullins bought it at 12½c a pound.

Married this week—J. R. Jones and Miss Xyr E. Grant, J. W. Driver and Miss Sallie Belle Miner, B. M. Wells and Miss Lurla Giles.

B. F. Higgins, Sr., of Coosa County, died at the home of his son, B. F. Higgins, Jr, in Clanton last Friday. He was about 70 years old.

Mr. Emmett Powell, of The Banner, made a trip to Calera Sunday.

THEN AND NOW

In his verbal criticism of Governor Landon on the radio, Harold Ickes, the Secretary of the Interior in the New Deal cabinet, made the point that the Kansas executive talked and acted differently in 1933 and 1934 than he does today. People who have fairly sound memories will recall that when President Roosevelt took office, every American, regardless of politics, put his shoulder to the wheel, and tried to help the New Dealers pull the country out of its situation of unemployment and distress. Since he is a sincere and patriotic American, there is no doubt that Governor Landon was one of these who sought to cooperate with Washington. Indeed, we were informed by some blatant speakers at that time that failure to cooperate with such institutions as the NRA was treason.

It is equally true of course that we were promised that the measures passed in the New Deal Congress were only temporary. But it soon became evident that what the Brain Trusters wanted was not temporary reform but revolution. Fortunately, however, the Supreme Court took care of all unconstitutional legislation which came before it.

The charge of Mr. Ickes, however, that Governor Landon doesn't talk and act now as he did two or three years ago, exposes him to an obvious reply. The question naturally is suggested: "Just how nearly does Mr. Roosevelt talk and act as he did before the 1932 election?

For example: the 1932 Democratic platform advocated "an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidting departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government."

The 1932 Chicago platform also advocated "maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced," "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards," and condemned "the extravagance of the Farm Board and its disasterous action which made the government a speculator in farm products and the unsound policy of restricting agricultural production to the demands of domestic markets."

In commenting at that time President Roosevelt referred to "that admirable document, the platform, which you have adopted, is clear. I accept it 100 per cent."

Certainly Mr. Ickes' boss is neither talking nor acting as he did at that time. Maybe "we planned it that way" but "we" certainly kept the plans under our hats.

University News

University, Ala., Aug. 24. — Professor Frederick Archer, superintendent of Schools of Louisville, Ky., the South's second largest city, has been appointed professor of education in the Extension Division, University of Alabama, Dr. R. E. Tidwell, Director of extension, anounced Monday.

Prof. Archer will fill the vacancy recently created by the resignation of Dr. Clarence M. Danneley, who is now superintendent of Montgomery city and county schools.

PROF. FREDERICK ARCHER

Dr. Tidkell stated that Prof. Archer will be of great assistance in the work of curriculum study and that he will also spend a great portion of his time in assiting in the organization of adult study groups, forums, and a variety of education enterprises designed to serve the needs of men and women desiring to work together in pursuing intellectual goals. The ultimate objective of these goals, he pointed out, is greater vocational efficiency and the deepening of the meanings of our common culture both American and world wide in origin.

Professor Archer is a native of North Carolina, and is a graduate of the University of that state.

"The Public Road Situation"

AS VIEWED BY THE ROAD SUPERVISOR

Actual Cost of Opration Versus the Expenditures Indicated in the County Treasurer's Records of Costs Charged to the Public Roads

—PART TWO—

NOTE: In this article the author will give an analysis of costs and expenditures on the public roads and bridges for the month of June, 1936, as promised in last week's issue of this paper, and due to the fact that there will be no report from the Treasurer's Office for this period until the semi-annual report is made public in January 1937, the figures used are taken from the records of expenditures in the Treasurer's Office. The purpose of this statement, as I said before, is not to criticise, nor is it to be misconstrued as an intimation or insinuation of a criticism of former or present practices of good policy on the part of our local governmental agency or any member of its organization.—Thomas J. Arledge Supervisor.

TREASURER'S RECORDS:

According to the County Treasurer's records of expenditures in the month of July for obligations incurred during the month of June, 1936 and for other obligations made prior to that time, the following sums were paid out of the Road and Bridge Funds and the Gasoline Funds:

Total paid from Gasoline Fund	6,113.27
Total	$8,799.99

Of this amount the following items were for labor and materials earned or purchased prior to May 1, 1936, the effective date of this office, and therefore are not chargeable to road operations under the office of the Road Supervisor as part of the expenditures during his administration, viz:

Hampton Service Sta., March in.	$ 6.60
Sinclair Refining Co., Dec. in.	158.41
Miss. Oil Co., April in.	114.12
Maplesville Garage, April in.	2.10
D. A. Lubricant Co., Nov. in.	226.58
Galion Iron Works, Nov. in.	804.88
Maplesville Hdw. Co., April In.	4.10
Jerry Hardy, road work in April	2.00
David Wilson, road work in April	3.00
Chas. Allison, road work in April	1.00
Ernest Arant, road work in April	3.00
R. E. Arant, road work in April	1.50
J. C. Wilson, road work in April	1.50
Joe Hicks, road work in April	4.50
Clarence Wilson, road work Apr.	1.00
Norman Talley, road work, Apr.	1.00
C. H. Giles, road work, Apr.	1.00
Canthel Davis, road work, Ajr.	.50
Bartley Giles, road work, Apr.	1.00
Calvin Giles, road work, Apr.	1.00
Lonnie Hardy, road work, Apr.	13.50
Chester Hardy, road work, Apr.	4.50
Allen Smith, road work, Apr.	7.50
Talmadge Dunlap, road work, Apr.	6.75
Ben Hadnot, Jr., road work, Apr.	10.50
Lonza Wilson, road work, Apr.	4.00
Hezekiah Davis, road work, Apr.	4.00
Lovell Davis, road work, Apr.	2.50
Ben Talley, road work, Apr.	4.00
Math Wilson, road work, Apr.	2.25
John Wilson, road work, Apr.	2.00
Lowell Hardy, road work, Apr.	2.00
Shelly Wilson, road work, Apr.	6.00
John Ford, road work, Apr.	2.00
W. Wilson, for right-of-way in April	3.00
C. M. Foshee, for gravel in Dec.	25.00
Total	$1,438.29

In addition to this, and also included in the Treasurer's records of cost and expenditures paid from the Road and Bridge and Gasoline Funds, but which are not chargeable to the operation costs of the public roads were the following items:

AIRPORT PROJECT COSTS:

Wofford Oil Co., oil and gas for June	$ 5.60
Wofford Oil Co., gas for Mathews truck	22.60
T. E. Carlton, equip. repairs	8.00
980 gals. gas, at .142	139.16
41¼ gals. oil, at .50	20.63
135 lbs. grease, at .10	13.50
Total	$209.49

3-WAY SELMA ROAD PROJECT:

Wofford Oil Co., Diesel oil	$ 13.95
T.E. Carlton, equip. repairs	11.00
Ala. Culvert Co., pipe for sewer	102.96
W.S. Dickey Co., clay soil pipe	75.13
Auto Electric Co., equip. repairs	10.51
Big Four Hdw. Co., supplies	4.31
Cash contribution to project	2,000.00
82 gals. gas, at .142	11.64
7 gals. oil, at .50	3.50
369 gals. Diesel fuel at .10	36.90
35 lbs. grease, at .10	3.50
Total	$2,273.40

Summing up, we have a grand total in the amount of $3,711.69 which is not chargeable to the operation costs of the Public Roads for the month of June, 1936, and when subtracted from the Treasurer's record of expenditures paid from the gasoline and road and brige funds in the month of July, in the sum of $8,799.99, leaves a total of $5,088.30 as the actual amount paid for labor and supplies in connection with the operations of the public roads for the month of June, 1936.

ROAD SUPERVISOR'S REPORT:

The Road Supervisor's report of progress for the month of June, 1936, made to the Commissioners' Court as required by law, shows that the actual labor, materials, supplies and repairs to equipment incorporated in the work on the public roads and bridges cost a total of $5,942.99 divided and itemized as follows:

Superivsion and Transportation	$ 571.50
Clerical and warehouse	40.67
Skilled labor, 158.2 days	395.50
Common labor, 588.5 days	588.50
Road patrol opr., 82.3 days	267.50
Tractor-grader oprs., 104.8 days	838.13
Truck drivers, 125 days	250.00
Gas truck driver, 25 days	60.00
29,815 ft. BM lumber, at $20	556.28
51 lin. ft. iron culvert, at 1.61	82.11
1080 lbs. nails, at 3.25	35.08
7 bags cement, at .65	4.55
5,062 gals. gas., at .142	717.38
194.5 gals. motor oil, at .50	97.12
13.25 gals. 600 w oil, at 1.00	13.25
281.6 lbs. grease, at .10	28.16
Office supplies, lot	83.67
Blasting supplies, lot	19.15
New tools, lot	103.36
Repairs to equipment, invoice	1,341.80
Total	$6,093.71

Less materials charged in which were free of any charge to county.

1161 cu. yds. gravel, at .05	58.06
	150.72
Total costs for June	$5,942.99

It will be noted that a difference exists between the total paid out by the County Treasurer and the total cost actually incorporated in the operation costs of the public roads as indicated by the Road Supervisor. This is due to the fact that the Road Supervisor enters into his records every item used during the perid for all labor, materials, supplies and repair to equipment, while the Treasurer's records only indicate those items which were actually paid through that office. For instance, during this period, the month of June, the Road Supervisor's report shows that a total of $5,942.99 was the actual costs of labor, materials, supplies and repairs; while the Treasurer's records show that a total of $5,088.30 was paid for such things over the same period. Next month it is very likely that the Treasurer will show a greater sum actually paid out than the Road Supervisor will show in his report of things actually incorporated in the road operations for the same period.

It is the hope of the Road Supervisor that a time will come when the Treasurer's report or records will be identical with the Supervisor's report.

In next week's issue of this paper will appear a statement covering expenditures for the month of July.

AFTER THE FEAST

ALABAMA MUST FACE THE FACTS

Montgomery, Alabama. "Will Alabama acknowledge and meet its responsibility to enducate its childhood and youth?" This question is raised in a statement issued Monday by Mrs. James Fitts Hill.

"For five years this question has gone unanswered", she said. "It has been booted about in every conceivable direction in the charge and counter charge of political forces. At homes it has been kicked aside and lost to view while partisan groups brandished verbal shillalahs in combat over matters of secondary importance."

"The time has come to stand four-square in defense of education", she added, "and demand that citizens of Alabama face the facts."

"If anyone will come to grips with "and honestly weigh the facts relating to the present situation of public elementary and high schools and institutions of higher learning, he will be forced to admit that Alabama is able to supply the $4,000,000 additional revenue required to rescue education from its desperate financirl distress."

"Alabama is not only able to provide a more liberal support for education", Mrs. Hill continued, "but there is a condition peculiar to the state which makes it impreative that a greater per cent of the state's income be used for education. According to a study published by the American School Board Journal, in 1932, it is found that to each 100 adults, 21 years of age and over, in Alabama, there are 60 children to each 100 adults. When these ratios are reduced to percentages for the purpose of determining the load the adult population in Alabama must assume in educating its childhood in comparison with the load upon the entire adult population in the United States, it is found that Alabama has a 32 per cent greater responsibility than the average state in the nation. Is Alabama facing this responsibility? No, we are forced to admit that such is not the case. From figures on expenditures for education, supplied by the U. S. Office of Education, we find that Alabama in 1934 used 24 per cent less of its annual income for education than the average in the nation. Thus we see Alabama attempting to carry a 32 per cent greater educational burden than the average for the United States with an effort 24 per cent less. It is an impossible feat. It is futile for Alabama to attempt to prepare its childhood and youth for the strenuous competition of modern life so long as it applies for the support of public education a percentage of its income less than the average in the United States."

WPA FACTS

Governor Lehman's New York Commission on Unemployment recently reported strongly against adopting "work relief" as a permanent method of meeting unemployment. Twenty-six members of the 31-man commission so expressed themselves, after two years study of such schemes.

Reasons given were as follows:

1. "It costs more than home relief."
2. "It is less efficient as a means of doing work."
3. "It competes with public enterprise...and private."
4. "It is limited (in scope)."
5. "It fails (in) incentives for the workers (to work) as diligently as normally expected."
6. "It causes workers to fail to seek private employment."
7. "Its dual objectives ...(relief and government work) ...conflict."

HIGHLAND NEWS

We had a nice crowd out for Sunday school and preaching Sunday. We were indeed glad to have the visitors and invite them back at any and all times.

Brother Lockhart could not be with us last Saturday. He had to preach a funeral. Rev T. W. Billingsley delivered a good message for us in his absence. Brother Lockhart was back with us Sunday and delivered a wonderful message.

We decided we would call our pastor for another year next Sunday. We urge all members to be present promptly at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Alice Dobbs, of Shiloh community spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Ellen Wyatt.

Mrs. Willis Foshee spent last Friday night and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wyatt.

Miss Gladys Wyatt spent last Wednesday afternoon with Miss Ruth Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Billingsley spent last Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. E. Wyatt and daughter, Gladys.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hay spent last Saturday night and Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Lillie Weldon.

Miss Pauline Sisk was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Minnie Lee Lockhart.

Mrs. Alce Dobbs spent last Tuesday night with Mrs. Mollie Baker.

Mrs. Alice Dobbs spent last Thursday night with Mrs. Era Lockhart.

Everybody remember the old time singing to be held at this place the first Saturday and Sunday in September. We invite all who will to come and be with us.

Former Editor Of Union-Banner Endorses Jones For Re-Election

Montevallo, Ala., August 24.
Editor Union-Banner:

It is with much more than usual interest that I have read what has been said in your paper, both editorially and otherwise, about the candidacy of Mr. C. Fenn Jones for another term as Mayor of Clanton. I recall with much satisfaction that it was The Union-Banner that first spoke out publicly two years ago in advocacy of Mr. Jones for Mayor, and even then there was such confidence in his ability, that the paper ventured that it would be safe to make his election unanimous. I am indeed gratified to see, now, after two years of public service, that the demand for continuation of Mr. Jones's administration is even more universal.

If you will permit me, I would like to say that the unanimous re-election of Mr. Jones, without opposition, is deserved by him on the strength of his record of the past term; and that the same is also the best course of action from the standpoint of Clanton's future and the continuation of a progarm of progress and good government.

In my opinion, the administration of the affairs of Clanton by Mayor Jones has been the exemplification of a principle that guarantees the best government—that is putting business in government, to the elimination of politics and personal preferments. The lack of this kind of administration is what has caused many government agencies and many public officials to produce records of dissatisfaction and inefficiency, to the detriment of their constituencies.

I wish that the sound policies, the progressive and liberal ideals of Mr. Jones as Mayor of Clanton might continue uninterupted and largely encouraged; and I believe the people of Clanton will be wise enough to accept the opportunity to have them continued by re-electing him unanimously.

I would say further that I would like to see other government officials and public agencies take a leaf out of his book and thereby gain for themselves and those whom they serve that same kind of a record of fine service, sound progress and wide-spread satisfaction which will inevitably come out of such service, both to those who govern and to those who are governed.

Further, I want to say that the excellent record of Clanton's business of the past two years is creditable not alone to Mayor Jones, but also to the good able men who have served faithfully and honestly with him as members of the City Council. These men have aligned their own good business judgment impartially behind the leadership of a good Mayor, and the result has been a record of constructive progress and good feeling among the people of Clanton never before attained by any group in a given period of time.

Congratulations to the Mayor and Council upon the attainments they have made. I do not hesitate to say less, unusual in public affairs) that the that it is perfectly natural (neverthepeople of Clanton should universally demand that these gentlemen keep right of serving in their present capacities.

With kindest regards and best wishes to everybody in Clanton, I will conclude by thanking you, Mr. Editor, for allowing me space to make the foregoing expressions.—Sincerely yours, W. M. Wyatt.

MAYBE THEY HAD GONE FISHING

Another indication of how far the New Deal organization has travelled from regular Democratic paths is indicated by the fact that the first big radio address delivered by the New Dealers after Governor Landon's notification speech was made by Harold F. Ickes, United States Secretary of the Interior. Without going into the merits or demerits of Mr. Ickes' address, it may be stated in passing that Mr. Ickes has never been a member of the regular Democratic Party. On the other hand, he has always been known as a Republican of the insurgent variety until he entered the President's cabinet.

One may well pause to wonder then—where were John W. Davis, Al Smith and Jimmy Cox, the three living Democratic presidential candidates; where were Newton Baker and Carter Glass, and where was John Garner when Mr. Ickes was ordered to deliver this address?

TWO CLANTON YOUNG MEN ACCEPTED IN U. S. ARMY

Among those accepted since August 1st at Montgomery into the United States army were J. W. Driver, Jr., and Orbie G. Green, both of Clanton. They enlisted in the field artillery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Orr and son Bill, Jr., arrived in Clanton Wednesday from their home in Washington D. C., to spend some time with the former's mother, Mrs. M. R. Orr.

Miss Madlyn Heflin, of Moulton, is spending this week with the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Heflin. Mr. and Mrs. Heflin left Sunday for a week's vacation in North Carolina.

"STARS OF YESTERDAY AND TODAY"

—FROM NICKOLODEON TO TALKIE—

Twenty-five years ago, Florence Lawrence was known as the "Biograph Girl." She was as well known as Claudette Colbert and Marlene Dietrich are today.

Pictures of these forgotten favorites have been dug from the files of Photoplay on the silver anniversary of that publication.

MARIE ELINE, the first of a long line of child screen stars. Known as the "Thanhouser Kid", she led the way for the more modern Jackie Coogan's and Freddie Bartholomews that were to follow. Shirley Temple, the greatest box office draw in the history of motion pictures, has captivated the present-day fans as Marie Eline did twenty-five years ago.

MARY PICKFORD, America's sweetheart, then and now. In 1911 Mary was playing little-girl parts with ability that made her the favorite of those early movie houses. Today she does not act but still carries on in the motion picture industry, is a producer in her own rights.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

MEETING OF ALABAMA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION POSTPONED

The annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation which was scheduled to be held at Auburn on the 28 and 29 of August has been postponed, it was announced today by L. L. Edwards, Resident of the organization.

Mr. Edwards stated that the meeting would be held in the fall, the exact dates to be announced later. He said that, due to the fact that several prominent speakers invited to take part in the meeting, were unable to come to Alabama at this time, and to the further fact that farmers in many counties were busy harvesting their crops, it was thought wise to postpone the meeting until after the crops are harvested.

WINTER LEGUME

Hairy vetch is the outstanding winter legume for Alabama. It is adapted to practically every soil type, and withstands our winters. It is not difficult to succeed with this crop.

Austrian winter peas are popular particularly in the sand regions of the southern half of the state. This crop is not as popular now as of a few years ago through the Black Belt area and in the northern half of the state.

Hungarian vetch is a very satisfactory vetch on good land with abundance of phosphate. On the average Alabama soil it will not make satisfactory growth. Build up land with hairy vetch or Austrian peas before trying to grow Hungarian vetch.

These legumes should not be used because they are not sufficiently cold resistant.

Austrian winter peas in particular are sometimes injured by disease. It is advisable not to plant winter legumes on the same land two years in succession.

Winter legumes should be planted the last half of September or the first half of October. Planting in early September is preferred by many growers in the northern half of the state. Early planting enables the plants to establish a good root system before freezing weather begins. So important is early planting that many experienced growers plant the seed at planting time regardless of moisture conditions. Observation for several years shows growers following this practice to be the most successful. Late planting is responsible for many failures with winter legumes.

COTTON IMPROVEMENTS

The crossing of varieties in the field by insects, and mixing of seed in ginning are largely responsible for so called "runing out of cotton" and causing farmers to change seed often.

Ten to fifteen different varieties are frequently found it in one community and in some cases as high as 40 different varieties have been reported in a single community.

Crossing of varieties means that within a few years in a community growing several different varieties, no farmer in the community will have a pure variety but his cotton will be a mixture of all other varities in the community, including the good, bad and the undesirable varities.

Mixing of seed in ginning is the most serious to the farmer. Different varities are mixed in ginning and the next years these mixtures are again mixed in ginning.

The amount of mixing will depend somewhat on the type of gin machinery. In tests made as high as 26 per cent of the seed from one bale was mixed in the seed of the next bale following and mixing was found to occur in the fifth bale following.

In some types of gin machinery seed from a given bale may be lodged in the gin machinery and fall into the seed of a bale ginned several weeks later.

Farmers may avoid both field crossing by insects and gin mixing by all farmers in a community growing the same variety and furnishing the ginner a season's run of one kind of cotton.

STATE FARMERS TOLD GROW BIG OAT CROP

The importance of farmers doing this is emphasized by J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in pointing out that farmers of the United States this year are producing a small corn, oat, and hay crop and that prices on feed products are likely to be high next year.

Oats should be planted on good land in September and the first of October. They should be planted at the rate of 2 bushels per acre and the seed should be treated for smut.

TON-LITTER SHOW-SALE WILL BE HELD SEPT. 9-10

Auburn, Ala.—Farmers and 4-H club members are manifesting a great deal of interest in the ton-litter show and sale to be held at the Union Stock Yards in Montgomery, September 9-10, reports F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist.

Hogs on exhibit and weighing over 160 pounds each will be sold at Chicago prices. This is encouraging to a number of growers to prepare their hogs for the show and sale, Burns says.

MAMMOTH FLORIDA EXHIBIT FOR ALABAMA STATE FAIR

What promises to be one of the most interesting exhibits at the forthcoming Alabama State Fair is a Mammoth Florida State exhibit said to rival in attractiveness and interest the big Florida exhibit brought here last year from Chicago where it was for two years the outstanding exhibit at the Century of Progress, World's Fair and which was shipped here from Rockefeller Center, New York, for exhibition at the International building during the winter months before moving on to Cleveland, Ohio, where it is now the talk of the Great Lakes Exposition in that city.

P. T. Strieder, Secretary-Manager of the Alabama State Fair, said that arrangements have been completed with E. W. Brown, vice-president and manager of Florida National Exhibits for the construction and assembling of the entirely new Florida State Exhibit to have its debut at the Alabama Fair.

Following a meeting with his staff at his offices in Florida Manor House at the Great Lakes Exposition, Cleveland, Mr. Brown, with the assistance of Mr. J. E. Wallace, Superintendent of exhibits, and Foster L. Barnes, landscape engineer of Florida National Exhibits, checked on the available material for building the new exhibit and immediately started contacting the various state departments, organizations and firms and individuals throughout the State of Florida, with instructions to ship the necessary equipment and products for assembling of the new exhibit at the Alabama Fair.

Constructions of the exhibit at Birmingham will be in the hands of J. E. Wallace, who will come here to personally supervise the work.

LIVESTOCK SHOW TO BE HELD THIS FALL

Auburn, Ala.—Plans have been completed for a livestock show to be held at the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, Sept. 28-Oct. 3.

Dr. M. F. Jackson, Birmingham, will be in charge while F. W. Burns and Dr. R. S. Sugg, extension livestock specialists, will supervise the handling of the cattle while at the fair.

Two outstanding prizes will be given 4-H club and FFA members. The boy exhibiting the best dairy calf will be given a trip to the national dairy show at Dallas, Texas, or to the International Livestock show in Chicago, while the boy with a champion beef calf will be given a trip to the International Livestock show.

FARMERS ADVISED USE TESTED INOCULATIONS

Auburn, Ala.—Experience shows that it is advisable to use inoculated soil and commercial cultures in inoculating hairy vetch, Austrian winter peas and crimson clover, advises J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist. By using the two methods in combination inoculation is more certain.

It is very important, however, in buying commercial cultures, that materials be used which has demonstrated its effectiveness in inoculating the winter legumes under field conditions.

Farmers in several sections of Alabama have suffered heavy losses due to use of commercial inoculation material of uncertain quality. One community in east Alabama lost its cost of seed, inoculation, and expected increased crop yields more than 60,000 through use of inoculating material of uncertain quality.

Heavy losses were sustained in Dallas, Perry, Franklin, Cullman and other counties for the same reason, due to inferior commercial inoculation.

ALABAMA STATE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 19—A nine point legislative program to bring far-reaching reforms to Alabama's antiquated labor laws was advocated this week by Robret R. Moore. State Commissioner of Labor, in an address before the Southern Policy Association here.

"Untill the election of Govener Bibb Graves, Alabama practically had no labor legislation," he said. "It now stands at the bottom of the list of states in regard to law protecting the rights of the working man. With the creation of the Labor Department we started on the road to adequate labor protection, but we still have a long way to go."

"Most of the legislation we need could be enacted with little if any increased costs of government and without inconveniencing anyone except the unscrupulous persons who are now taking advantage of the pitiful lack of laws to further their own gain at the expense of the laborer."

Concord - Billingsley

The meeting at this place last week was well attended. The Rev. Waldon did some real good preaching. Several from here attended preaching at New Cedron Sunday ond Sunday night.

We are sorry to state that Rev. Horace Nabors failed to fill his appointment here Sunday. We do not know the cause, but we expect to hear from him within a few days.

ALABAMA FARM DEBT LOWER

A smaller number of American farms are under mortgage today than before the depression and in Alabama the total farm mortgage debt is smaller, according to figures released today by the Farm Credit Administration.

Although the Farm Credit Administration has loaned more than $14,730,000 on farm mortgages in Alabama since May, 1933, approximately 85 per cent of the money was used to refinance old debts so that very little new indebtedness was incurred.

The farm mortgage debt in the State which increased in 1910 to $83,760,000 in 1930, dropped to $78,460,000 on January 1, 1935. Figures for the earlier years are from the United States Department of Agriculture, while the 1935 figure is an estimate of the Farm Credit Administration.

On January 1, 1936, some 2,300,000 farms in the United States, or 34 per cent of the total number, were under mortgage, compared to 36 per cent in 1928.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 25—The Regional Office of the Social Security Board for the States of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee is now functioning at 1827 First Avenue North, Birmingham, Alabama, it is announced.

A staff of specialists on Unemployment Compensation, Public Assistance and Federal Old Age Benefits under supervision of B. F. Ashes, Regional Director, have taken up their respective duties. They will assist employers, employes, beneficiaries and the general public with advice regarding the aim of the Social Security Act and their rights and obligations under the Act.

Regional offices were established to decentralize as far as possible the administration of the social security program, it is pointed out.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT POPLAR SPRINGS SEPT. 7

A Sunday school convention of the Chilton Association will be held at Poplar Springs all day on the first Sunday in September, 1936. All schools are urged to send delegates. Everybody is invited to come, bring dinner and spend the day.—H. D. Durbin.

WHAT CHILTON FARMERS HAVE RECEIVED ON COTTON PROGRAM

Farmers of Chilton County received a total of $635,865.16 on rental and benefit payments, profit on cotton options and subsidy payments between the time the AAA program started in 1933, and July 25, 1936, reports County Agent, J. W. Fant, who has been responsible for distributing the checks to the farmers in this county.

The rental and benefit payments and profits on the cotton options amounted to $562,815.39 and the subsidy payment amounted to $73,040.77. There are approximately 300 applications for subsidy yet to be paid.

In releasing these figures, Mr. Fant stated that this increase in income has played an important part in increasing the business conditions in Chilton county.

WILL PREACH AT CLANTON PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUN. NIGHT

The Union-Banner has been asked to carry the announcement that Dr. P. H. Carmichael, of Atlanta, will preach at the Presbyterian church in Clanton Sunday night, August 30th, at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend and hear Dr. Carmichael.

Mrs. C. M. Berry's children have had the mumps.

PENSACOLANS FAIL TO UNSEAT MAYOR

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 20.—H. Clay Armstrong retained to his post as Mayor of Pensacola tonight when the city council, after two ballots, could not show a majority for any of three nominees to succeed Armstrong.

Council members said, however, balloting may be held at any subsequent meeting since Armstrong has not obtained a majority vote.

Opposition to Armstrong developed in Democratic ranks in the county recently because of his acknowledged activity in behalf of Gov. Alf. Landon, Republican nominee for president.

Several Democratic organiztions including the Young Democratic Club the West Side Club and the City Democratic Committee—recently requested the council to ask for Arm, strong's resignation because of his pro-Republican activities.

Each of tonight's ballots resulted in four votes for Armstrong, four for Will C. Moyer and one for Williams Tyler.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Where Is Prosperity

Two recent Washington stories contain a lot of food for American thought.

That there was a political motive behind their release at this time, of course, goes without saying. The purpose, no doubt, soon will become apparent.

The facts are, however, that 9,550,000 persons still are unemployed, according to the commerce department.

What an irony it must be to those people to hear the New Deal claim that prosperity is on the way or has been restored.

On almost the same day the WPA reported that more unemployed were receiving help from federal, state and local governments in March of this year than in the same period a year ago.

So, what we are having is a prosperity mirage financed by unprecedented government spending. There is something like a stock market boom, which naturally influences the thought of a lot of market manipulators and operators; but the "prosperity" reflected there is no more real than was the boom of 1929.

Let there be no mistaking the fact that not a little of the stock market value of today by fear—FEAR of inflation; fear of the economic disaster that lies ahead of the American people if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected.

There is one sure-footed road to recovery and normalicy. That is to elect a practial liberal, like Alf Landon, and to throw the spenders out. All spending means taxes, and the poor bear the brunt of the taxes in spite of the New Deal hoax on this subject.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jones and Charles desire to extend our sincere thanks to everyone who contributed in any way to the comfort and needs fo our son and brother, Joseph C., in his very recent illness and death. It would be impossible for us to definitely express our appreciation; however, we wish to offer this as a token of our thanks.

Also, since that time many have come to our financial assistance by whole-hearted contributions. For this we again express our sincere appreciation. Even though our trouble and grief has been all that heart can bear, yet we know that our loss and the splendid attitude of the people in all of our sorrows combined with the many many expressions of deep sorrow have drawn us closer to the dear Saviour. May God's blessings be showered upon every sympathized.—Sincerely, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jones.

PREACHING AT HOME OF UNCLE BILLY ADAMS

Will you please allow me space in your paper to report the services at the home of Uncle Billy Adams last Sunday afternoon. We were sorry that Brother W. E. Robinson was unable to get there on account of rain. But we had a good service just the same, with Brother Jesse Mitchell doing the preaching. The services were enjoyed by all present. We thank the people for coming here to sing and preach and pray for us.

We wish to announce that Brother Pete Baker will preach next Sunday afternoon, August 30, at 2:30. Everybody come. You are welcome.

TVA Stronghold Bolts New Deal

Knox County, Tenn., Elects All G. O. P. Ticket First Time In Eighteen Years

Chicago, Aug. 25.—"TVA workers must be anti-New Deal at heart, despite their pay envelopes," was the comment of Chairman Myers E. Hartman of the Knox county, Tennessee, Republican Committee during a visit to National Committee headquarters here. "Else how could we roll up the biggest Republican majority in the history of Knox county, with nearly 3,000 of the TVA headquarters employees at Knoxville voting in our local election?

"Folks in the north don't seem to have heard about what happened to the New Deal down our way. On August 6, we had an election for county officers in Knox county. The regular Republican nominee, J. Corroll Cate, received 16,061 votes. The Democratic nominee, J. D. Van Cripen, received 10,873. An independent Republican candidate received 2,658.

"On the eve of the election the Democratic candidate for governor, Gorden Browning, declared in a speech in Knoxville that President Roosevelt would be more interested in a Democratic victory in Knox county than in any other county in the whole United States. Mr. Browning said he would take pleasure in wiring Mr. Roosevelt as soon as the returns were tabulated. I don't know whether he did or not."

Mr. Hartman continued: "We elected every candidate for county office on the ticket, for the first time since 1918. But that vote for sheriff is the big punch. It was not only the biggest Republican majority in the history of the county, but the total vote was the biggest. So the New Dealers can't alibi by saying people just didn't go the polls. Incidentally, this is the regular time for our county elections.

"We have a better chance of carrying Tennessee than any Southern state, except Florida," said Mr. Hartman. Tennessee has gone Republican twice in recent presidential campaigns. We can do it this year.

Democrats in Tennessee are plenty fed up with Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal. They are old fashioned Democrats. They believe in states rights and Americanism. The Republican Party in this campaign stands for what they stand for. Tennessee is going for Governor Landon and Colonel Knox," Mr. Hartman declared.

STANTON FOLKS VISITED IN TEXAS

Mr. Byron Harris, of Stanton, was in Clanton Saturday, just fresh back from a trip to Texas. He and his daughter, Miss Callie Harris, made a two weeks visit to some relatives in Houston, and while in Texas visited Dallas, Austin and Galveston. Of Course, they took in the centennial, and report a fine time out there.

Mr. Harris reports that crops do not look so promising on the way after one leaves Alabama. The drouth and rust have almost gathered the cotton crop, he reports. The oil fields were most interesting to the visitors. The trip was made by buss.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION FIRST SUNDAY IN OCTOBER

The fall session of the Chilton county singing convention will be held the first Sunday in October, 4, according to announcement made recently by the chairmen, Prof. W. M. Devaughn.

Prof. Devaughn is working on the arrangements for the session, and hopes to perfect plans for the greatest singing ever held in Chilton county. It will be held at the courthouse. All singers of the county and adjoining counties are urged to begin planing now to attend.

Mr. H. Pinkerson and Mrs. Pinkerson have this week removed their store—The Dollar Store—into the building next door to Clanton Cash Store. They are displaying the newest things in fall goods, including wearing apparel for men and women, shoes, work clothing, and Etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinkerson extend the people of the county a cordial invitition to visit them in their new place. They are anxious to serve you.

R. L. HUFFMAN MOVES TO MONTGOMERY

R. L. Huffman is this week moving to Montgomery, where he will be more centrally located for evangelistic work. While away on a recent trip, he held meetings in Wilcox, Lowndes and Crenshaw Counties. While he is not altogether giving up preaching in this county, he expects to put more effort into his evangelistic work in other places.

PASTORS' CONFERENCE TO MEET MONDAY, SEPT. 7

The pastors' conference for the Chilton and Unity Baptist Associations will meet on Monday, September 7th, at the First Baptist Church of Clanton. All members are urged to be present. Opening hour has been set at 10:00 A. M.—S. J. Ezell, President; J. W. Jones, Secretary.

R. W. TAYLOR GAVE BARBECUE TO EMPLOYEES THURSDAY NIGHT

A most enjoyable occasion was held at R. W. Taylor's camp on Coosa river last Thudsday evening and night. The occasion was a barbecue given by Mr. R. W. Taylor to the employees of Clanton Wholesale Grocery Company and subsidiary stores, and a few friends of the organization. There were about 125 people present for the festivities.

The table was declared ready about 7:30 o'clock and the people were invited to gather around by Mr. Taylor. Introducted to the crowd was Mr. G. C. Armstrong, a newly added member of the organization, who spoke very fittingly and appropriately for a few minutes. Mr. Armstrong then graced the table, and every one stepped up and got them a plate. The thirty or forty minutes that followed was the height of the evening's arrangement. Camp stew, barbecued chicken, fish, goat, Etc, made up the menu, and to say the least of it, there was nothing lacking. The eats were prepared under the supervision of Mr. J. E. Gore, who is a past master at fixing up barbecues.

After the eating was over Mr. Armstrong again briefly addressed the gathering, paying the respects and thanks of the employees to Mr. Taylor for his fine hospitality extended them and friends, A renewed pledge for service was voiced in behalf of the employes by Mr. Armstrong, who urged all to pull together to make the organization stronger and more serviceable to communities which it serves.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

Postmaster Hosea F. Downs announces that in the future the Clanton post office will be open every Wednesday afternoon, but will be closed on Saturday afternoon.

During the summer months the office closed on Wednesday afternoons, along with the business houses, but now goes back to the regular schedu'e.

Rev. Harold L. Lundquist, Dean of Faculty of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, writes the Sunday School lesson published every week in The Union-Banner. We commend this feature of the paper to our readers.

VETCH PLANTERS DISPLAYED BY POLK'S

The planting of cover crops in cotton has led to the development of a Vetch attachment by the International Harvester Company for use in connection with their No. 160 series of one horse, one row cotton and corn planters.

These attachments are used for planting two rows of Vetch, Austrain peas or similar seeds between the cotton rows after cultivation is completed or after cotton is picked.

We might mention, in this connection, according to Mr. Geo. C. Polk, that there isn't a Vetch planter built in the world today that you can do as many things with as you can this late model McCormick-Deering planter. The various kinds of seeding it it is possible to do with slight changes makes it the most economical proposition offered by aryone.

OLD TIME SINGING TO BE HELD AT HIGHLAND

FEDERAL LOANS IN CHILTON

In Chilton, 218 loans were closed in the amount of $251,300 by the Federal Land Bank and the Land Bank Commissioner, from May 1, 1933 through June 30, 1936, according to information received by John D. Petree, National Emergency Council State Director for Alabama.

Of the loans closed in Chilton County 38 for $60,900 were made by the Federal Land Bank Commissioner.

Through the agency of the Farm Credit Administration in Alabama, $21,067,074 have been loaned during the same period. These loans included 2,166 Federal Land Bank and 9,842 Land Bank Commissioner loans in the ammount of $9,529,225, 13,483 Production Credit Association loans totaling $4,811,358, 27,114 emergency crop loans amounting to $1,399,391.

TUSKEGEE NEGRO MADE FIELD OFFICER FOR AAA

Washington, Aug. 27.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration anounced today appointment of Albon L. Holsey, Tuskegee, Ala., as a field officer to aid in the agricultural program.

Holsey, Secretary of the National Negro Business League, will headquarter at Tuskegee, where he has been associated with the Tuskegee Institute for 22 years.

WALLACE TO SPEAK IN TUSKEGEE VISIT

Tuskegee Institute, Ala. Aug., 31.—President F. D. Patterson of Tuskegee Institute today announced that Secretary Henry A. Wallace of the department of agriculture, will speak here September 10 during a regional conference on soil conservation.

Negro agricultural leaders and farmers from Mississippi, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and South Carolina will attend the conference, President Patterson said.

Governor Bibb Graves will present Secretary Wallace. Patterson also will speak. Wallace's address will be broadcast over a national radio network, Patterson said.

GRAND JURY CALLED

A Chilton County grand jury was called into session last Monday morning and given its charge by Judge Glover. Of the 23 men called for this body, five were released from duty on various pleas. The 18 left for grand jury duty included 14 farmers, two rural letter carriers, one barber and one merchant. These men were as follows:

Wm. O Daniel, Emmett E. Marler, W. Bryant Crowe, Ben J. Sessions, Zebedee McDowell, John D. Armstrong, Lester Jones, John E. Littlejohn, Ed Wagoner, John C. Mitchell, Lonnie Messer, Jr., Fred Oden, Henry Eiland, Tom A. Maddox, Luther L. Grant, Harvie Glasscock, Johnnie S. Kendrick, Thomas M. Powell.

Of the five released from duty, two were rural letter carriers, one merchant, one barber and one farmer. These were: Erasmus B. Langston, Archie H. Glasscock, Columbus C. Conway, Commodore D. Messer, and W. Frank Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tippett announce the arrival of a 10-pound son on last Monday morning. Mother and son are doing fine. "Grandpa" Dudley Tippett took off from his work Monday long enough to spread the glad tidings.

JUDGE J. LEE SMITH MAKES STATEMENT ABOUT ROADS

In answer to a suggestion in regard to the road situation which has developed since passage of the law providing a road supervisor for Chilton County, which suggestion was made by the editor of The Chilton County News last week, Judge J. Lee Smith this week publishes a letter to The News editor, in which he suggests a public meeting of the Commissioners Court, interested citizens of Chilton County, and the road supervisor, in which it is hoped some solution to the controversy can be worked out.

Judge Smith suggests that the meeting be held at the courthouse on Saturday, September 12, at 2:00 o'clock. At that time Judge Smith stated that he would set out the attitude of the Commissioner's Court as to give particulars concerning the ability of the county to provide money for road work. He said that the Supervisor would be given an opportunity to give full particulars in regard to his work; and that any suggestions by citizens would be welcomed and considered.

Following is a copy of the letter which Judge Smith addressed to the News Editor, which is self-explanatory. Definite anouncement will be made in next week's issue concerning the meeting.

Judge Smith's Letter

"Editor Chilton County News,
"Clanton, Alabama;
"Dear Sir:

"I wish to congratulate you on an article which appeared in the Chilton County News on August 27th, 1936. I agree with you that something should be done relative to the roads of Chilton County. I further concur with you that the citizens and officials should get together and see what can be done about this matter.

"The Commissioner's Court has appropriated every dollar available for the road program and this is the only function relative to roads authorized by our present road laws. I wish by this method to accept your suggestion of the public meeting of the citizens of the county with the Commissioner's Court and the Road Supervisor.

"I suggest that this meeting be held at the courthouse in Clanton, Alabama, September 12th, 1936, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., provided it is agreeable with the Road Supervisor.

"I believe that with the counsel of our people we may be guided to a more satisfactory solution of our road problem.—Yours very truly, J. Lee Smith, Judge of Probate."

Rev. M. Lockhart will preach at the home of Billy Adams on Sunday afternoon, September 6th, about 2:30 every body invited to come.

ROOSEVELT AND THE COMMUNIST PARTY

[AN EDITORIAL]

Action of the Communist International at Moscow in instructing the American Communist Party to support the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt will come as no surprise to thoughtful observers in this country. The Russian Communists know who their friends are. They are busy carrying on underhanded intrigues in every country in the world, trying to undermine existing governments and prepare the way for a world-wide "dictatorship of the proletariat". They are convinced that the reelection of Roosevelt will be a step forward in the world revolution which is the dream of the disciples of Lenin and Stalin. It is merely another case of "birds of a feather".

News of the action of the Communist headquarters at Moscow is given by the Kremlin's official journal, the "Kommunistieceski International". The instructions given by the Communist Party in America state: "We are going to work for the election of Roosevelt because we wish to strengthen our influence among America's many radical groups. We have a common aim. It is to defeat Landon, who represents the forces which oppose the development of class war and revolution in America."

Mr. Roosevelt and his associates have not yet transformed our government into a perfect imitation of that of their Russian friends, but they have made a good start in that direction. They have passed laws regulating the details of a man's business, another law telling the farmer how much cotton he could grow on his own land. They have preached class hatred, and have striven to stir up enmity against men whose only crime is that they have been successful. They have established in Washington a central bureaucracy which conducts itself with a high-handed arrogance savoring strongly of the Communist clique that rules Russia.

More than all this, Mr. Roosevelt's administration gave to the Russian Communist regime the long-desired and often denied official recognition that it craved. Other American administrations, from Woodrow Wilson to Herbert Hoover, had steadfastly refused to have anything to do with the Bolshevik gang in red Russia, with its avowed hostility to the home and to religion, and its treacherous efforts to undermine and overthrow the governments of other countries. Mr. Roosevelt extended the hand of fellowship to this bunch of anarchists, allowed them to open headquarters here, and held a veritable love feast with the Communist envoy to this country. Take all this into consideration, and it is small wonder that our president's Bolshevik friends should be grateful, and that they should want to show their gratitude by supporting him for another term.

It does not take even a close observer to see that Mr. Roosevelt and his associates have laid a broad foundation for a Communist state in America. The frank action of the Roosevelt regime in stirring up class hatred; the policy of the government heroes of bums and loafers, and in branding as public enemies men who have worked, saved and succeeded—all this is good Communist doctrine. No wonder the brethren in Moscow are rejoiced, and call on their fellow Reds in this country to back Mr. Roosevelt for a second term.

Before dismissing the Communist menace to America, it is well to remember how far Mr. Roosevelt has already gone. He was elected in 1932 on a conservative platform, calling for reduction in expenses of government, a sound currency, and without the slightest hint of the many radical innovations already put into effect. If he has dared to go this far on the strength of

LANDON LEADS IN WEEKLY NEWSPAPER NATIONAL POLL

First Report From Publishers and American Press Give Republican Candidate Substantial Lead.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Gov. Alfred M. Landon took a substantial lead in the first returns of the presidential straw poll being conducted by 3,000 weekly newspapers co-operating with Publishers Autocaster Service and the American Press, it was disclosed today.

Tabulation of 74,703 votes cast in 18 states gave Landon 37,937, and Roosevelt 31,665. Mr. Lemke received 3,845 of this number, the other three — Thomas, Colvin and Browder trailing with 720, 336, and 560, respectively.

The Union-Banner is participating in this nation-wide poll, and carried the ballot in last week's paper. This blank ballot is appearing again in this week's paper, and our tabulation will be made at an early date. So, if you want your vote to count in the first tabulation, better get it in to The Union-Banner at an early date. Either mail it in or leave it at our office when you are in town, or send it by a friend.

H. C. COLLINS PASSED THROUGH CLANTON

The Union-Banner had a very distinguished visitor last Friday afternoon in the person of Prof. H. C. Collins, from Cairo, Ga. Prof. Collins is a singer and a composer of scared music, a product of Coosa County but who lived and worked in Chilton county for a number of years.

Prof. Collins says that he is contemplating on returning to Chilton County to live in the near future. We hope that he finally reaches this conclusion.

Misss Evelyn Eloyse Jones, of Clanton, was united in marriage to the Rev. Maurice Hodgens, at Jemison Baptist church on last Sunday evening, August 30th, at 6:00 o'clock.

FARMER'S MEETING

With more interest than usual, we have organized a local of the Farmers Union at Mt. Pleasant schoolhouse. We urge every farmer in this vicinity to be with us on next Thursday night, September 3.—Gresham Smith, President; J. D. Price, Secretary-Treasurer.

MAINE WILL VOTE 2 TO 1 REPUBLICAN ON SEPTEMBER 14

"As Maine Goes so Goes the Nation," is said to be of little or no significance when the September elections in that northeastern State are close; but when it is overwhelmingly in favor of one party, the indication is also strong that the nation will go that way in November.

The Institute of Public Opinion poll this week gives Mr. Landon 67 per cent of the votes in Maine against Mr. Roosevelt's 33. This is better than two to one for the Republican candidate. Therefore, if there is anything to the above slogan, the Republicans are sitting pretty in the United States at this time. To say the least of it, the situation looks very encouraging.

TIFFIN FURNITURE CO. TO BEGIN SALE ON THURSDAY

Mr. J. B. Tiffin, of Tiffin Furniture Co., announces that on Thursday, September 10th, his firm will launch one of the biggest furniture sales ever seen in Clanton.

On a recent trip to Chicago Mr. Tiffin bought several car loads of different kinds of furniture for the fall season trade. These goods are arriving daily. According to Mr. Tiffin, about three car loads of this furniture has already arrived, and will be opened up for this sale.

This sale will present a number of specialties, as well as chairs, heaters, steel beds and springs, bed room suites, dining room suites, and living room suites.

The Tiffin Furniture Company has built for itself an enviable reputation in this territory, and Mr. Tiffin states that this sale will further carry out his reputation for values.

Next week's papers will carry an advertisement concerning this sale. Watch for it, and come in to look over the complete line that will be on display when this gigantic selling event gets under way.

Landon Smiles At Results In East

Kansan Becomes the Governor Again Before Taking Northern Trip

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 28.—Gov. Alf M. Landon got back to his gubernatorial job today "deeply gratified" with results of his first campaign swing through the farm belt and the industrial East. He was ready to join President Roosevelt in a drouth conference at Des Moines next week.

The cheers of crowds which welcomed him through Illinois and Missouri—climaxed by a crushing throng at a surprise home-coming at the Kansas City Union Station—had hardly died away before the Republican presidential nominee was tentatively planning his next campaign trip up the Mississippi Valley.

The second journey, starting probably the third week in September, will take him through Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconson and possibly other nearby states, according to present plans which are subject to change.

He expects to make three major speeches, at least one of them dealing with the farm problem. The cities mentioned tentatively for important stops include Des Moines, Milwaukee and either St. Paul or Minneapolis. It was not believed that he would go as far West as the Dakotas or as far East as Indiana.

Some of Landon's most enthusiastic railroad station meetings came as he swung through Missouri last evening and at Kansas City a crowd jammed almost every square foot of the big Union Station lobby to shout a riotous welcome at 11 p.m.

"I feel fine and I haven't felt a twinge of pleurisy since Sunday," he said later, dropping down into a corner seat in a reporter's compartment on the train and pulling out a crumpled package of cigarettes..

J. R. MULLINS HONORED BY STATE MERCHANTS ASSN.

Mr. J. Renfroe Mullins, of Clanton, was signally honored by the Alabama Merchants Association last week when he was elected president of that body at its annual session in Birmingham. Or rather we feel more like saying that the merchants as ociation honored itse'f when that body saw fit to elect this splendid man to its excutive post. They could not have elected a better one. Mr. Mullins succeeds Paul W. Stockton, of Guntersville, who served as head of the organization last year.

The Birmingham Post reported: "Mr. Mullins was elected by acclamation at the close of the association's two-days convention at Municipal Auditorium last night, also urged continued support of the New Deal and unbending opposition to the State sales tax."

The Union-Banner can't quite follow Mr. Mullins in his "support of the New Deal," but he has so many fine and commendable points of leadership and otherwise that we can possibly excuse him for this one "break." The Alabama Merchants Association will more than likely do great things under J. Renfroe Mullins.

FORMER CHILTON MAN ELECTED HEAD OF BIRMINGHAM VETERANS

Mr. Walter F. Broadhead, for several years in the furniture business in Birmingham, but originally from Chilton county, was last week elected commander of the newly consolidated post of World War veterans of Birmingham.

This successful business man of Birmingham is a son of Less Broadhead of southwest Chilton county. No doubt, the Birmingham post of veterans will make great strides under his able leadership as commander.

PATROLMEN WAITES AND HENLEY MADE FOURTEEN ARRESTS

These were as follows:

One for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Released in justice court on payments of fine and costs.

One for improper driver's license. Nolle prossed.

One for violation of the state flag and flare law. Nolle prossed.

One for no clearence lights. Released in justice court on payment of fine and costs.

One for hauling passengers for hire. Bond for $100.

Two for speeding. One was released in justice court on payment of fine and costs. The other released on bond for $100.

Three for public drunkenness. In two of these cases, release was allowed on payment of fine and costs in justice court. Bond for $100 in the other cases.

Three for driving a motor vehicle without driver's license. Bond for $100 in each of these cases.

SINGING AT JEMISON HI SCHOOL SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27

There will be an all day singing at the Jemison High School building on Sunday, September 27, the fourth Sunday. New books will be used. There will be plenty of good quartets. Come and bring your new book, and lunch. —J. E. Martin, Chm.

Mrs. J. C. Jones and Mrs. J. M. Shepherd Honor Miss Sophia Mullins With Lovely Tea

On last Tuesday afternoon, from 4:30 to 6:30, Mrs. J. C. Jones and Mrs. J. M. Shepherd entertained with a lovely tea honoring Miss Sophia Mullins, whose marriage to Mr. Lawson Boone Nelson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., took place on last Wednesday, August 26, at the home of her mother.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Jones was effectively decorated in a profusion of summer flowers. In the dining room, the bridal idea was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The table was covered in a dainty lace cloth and centered with a silver bowl of white asters and fern. From the chandelier a shower of white satin ribbon entwined with lace vine reached to the edge of the table. Tall white candles in silver holders were burning on the table, and the motif was completed by a miniature bride and groom. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. M. Shepherd.

In the receiving line stood the hostess, Mrs. J. C. Jones, wearing a becoming gown of navy chiffon. The bride-elect was lovely in aqua georgette. Mrs. P. D. Wilson, the mother of the bride, was in a frock of eggshell crepe. Mrs. E. C. Jolliffe , (Mary Sue Mullins), sister of the bride, was becomingly gowned in green flowered chiffon.

Refreshments were served by Miss Nell Ross Mullins, Mrs. Grady Heflin, Mrs. Reid Mullins, and Mrs. Joe Mullins. The bride's book was presided over by Mrs. Omar Reynolds. About 250 guests were invited.

Mrs. Eric Hart Compliments Miss Alice Brooks, Bride-Elect Of October

Mrs. Eric Hart entertained at a lovely shower on last Friday afternoon complimenting Miss Alice Brooks, of Andalusia, a bride-elect of October.

For this occasion the attractive home was decorated in a profusion of summer flowers. In the living room and music room a color scheme of pink was carried out in baskets and standards of pink dahlias, roses and crepe myrtle. The rooms were lighted with pink candles in crystal holders.

In the dining room a color scheme was carried out both in decorations of green and white. The dining table, covered with a pretty Maderia cloth, was centered with a crystal bowl of asters and gypsophila. On each side of this burned white tapers in crystal candelabra. Festoons of satin ribbon and gypsophila reached the four corners of the table and fell in a shower from the chandelier. Crystal plates of mints, cakes, and sandwiches in colors of green and white were placed at intervals about the table. Punch was served from a beautifully appointed table, by Miss Virginia Cook, dressed in organza.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. W. Hayes, wearing a dress of aqua lace. The receiving line was composed of the hostess, Mrs. Hart, wearing flowered chiffon with a corsage of pink rose buds.

Miss Brooks, bride-elect was gowned in lovely green moire. Mrs. A. S. Brooks, mother of the bride-elect, wore becoming blue lace. Mrs. J. P. Hayes' dress was of flowered chiffon. Miss Barbara Brooks was lovely in blue moire. Mrs. James Wade wore a pink chiffon dress with corsage of asters and rose buds.

The bride's book was presided over by Mrs. Grady Broadhead of Montgomery, who was lovely in blue velvet.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Varnell, Miss Nell Ross Mullins, Miss Sallye Mahan, Mrs. Joe Mullins and Miss Ova Lee McClutchin.

Mrs. Barney Roberts, Mrs. W. L. Longshore of Birmingham, Mrs. Henry Stanley, Mrs. Ed Glasscock, and Hayden Lanier, of Montgomery, gave beautiful music selections during the afternoon.

The useful linen gifts were displayed in the music room on card tables.

The guest list included about one hundred and twenty-five friends of the bride and the hostess.

Rasberry-Gray

A marriage that come as quite a surprise to their many friends was that of Miss Eloise Rasberry and Mr. Earl Gray, which took place Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farr, with Dr. S. J. Ezell officiating. The friends of this popular couple wish for them much happiness.

Messrs. Paul Cox and George Gilliland, of Daytona Beach, spent the week end here en route to the Texas Centennial.

Mr. and Mrs. Bostick, of Notasulga, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reid Mullins last week.

Mr. Dan Hogan, of Anniston, spent the week end in Clanton with his parents.

Miss Sophia Mullins becomes Bride Of Mr. Lawson Nelson, Of Chattanooga

On Wednesday afternoon, August 26, at four o'clock, the marriage of Miss Sophia Mullins and Mr. Lawson Boone Nelson, of Chattanooga, took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. P. D. Wilson, in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few close friends. In the living room an improvised altar was formed by southern smilax and fern. On either side of the altar white standards were filled with white digitalis. These were tied with white tulle, which reached to wrought iron candellabras holding burning white tapers. The candles were lighted by Mr. E. C. Jolliffee, brother-in-law of the bride. To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. J. B. Varnell, the bride entered with her brother, Mr. Joe Mullins, and was met at the altar by the groom, where the ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ellisor, of Verbena.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white net over taffeta, and a veil of tulle caught to her hair by a halo of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception took place. The lace covered table was adorned with a two-tiered wedding cake, and held four lighted tapers in crystal holders. Miniature crystal bowls were filled with brides room and fern and placed at intervals about the table. The cake was cut by the bride. A tempting ice course was served by Mrs. Omar Reynolds, Mrs. Joe Mullins and Mrs. Grady Heflin.

The bride is a graduate of Randolph Macon Prepatory School and University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Nelson is assistant engineer for the city of Chattanooga. The couple are spending their honeymoon in Texas.

Thursday Contract Club Entertained By Mrs. L. F. Gerald

Mrs. L. F. Gerald entertained members of the Thursday Contract Club at her home on Thursday of last week. Two tables were arranged for bridge in the spacious living room, which was attractively decorated with baskets of dahlias and other summer flowers.

After a series of bridge games, Mrs. James Wade was awarded club prize. Guest prize fell to Mrs. John Armstrong. At a late hour, Mrs. Gerald served her guests a tempting salad plate with ice tea.

The members present were: Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. J. Lee Smith, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Joe Mullins, Mrs. Dubb Huddlleston.

Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell and children have returned from a vacation to relatives in North Carolina.

Mrs. Curry Thomas has returned after spending several weeks at the Uinversity of Alabama.

Mrs. Joe Mullins and little son left Monday for a visit to Mrs. Mullins' parents in Louisiana.

Miss Lorena Guy, of Montgomery, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Reynolds Friday.

MR. LANDON SPOKE PLAIN AT CHAUTAUQUA

The Republican candidate for President has been criticized r dealing too much with generalities by some of the hard-iled Democratic papers. Of course, we did not expect these apers to like what he said. If he had not spoken too softly, it ould have been too harsh for the New Dealers.

But, if plain talking is what they wanted, then their wishes ust have been at least partly gratified by Mr. Landon at Chau-uqua, N. Y., Monday. He spoke on education and methods d practices of teaching, requirements of teachers, Etc., hich is a very live and pressing issue before the country at is time. In part he said: "I believe that a teacher has the ght to the same freedom of speech in expressing his political, cial and religious convictions as any other citizen. And I be-ve a teacher has the same right to work for the accomplish-ent of his political and social ideas as any other citizen. Ed-ation can usually be counted upon to encourage change when ange aids progress.

"The right to free inquiry is one of the essentials of free vernment. It is the very bedrock of democracy. Only rough ignorance or bigotry can we be destroyed.

There is much being said about teachers taking oaths. Mr. ndon very clearly meets this pressing issue in the statements made in his New York speech in which he said: "Letting ery man have his own way is the constitutional method of lving our problems. Why should we make teaching into a spect profession by making our teachers take a special oath?"

And at Buffalo the Republican nominee hit another high e when he scored the Democrats for their practices of im-sing "hidden taxes," and expressed his favor rather for all xes to be plainly represented so that all might know when ey are paying them.

And, by the way, both these principles enunciated by Mr. ndon are at variance with the wishes of William Randolph arst, who Mr. Ickes and others of the Democrats say dictates Landon's policies. Maybe these public assertions of the publican nominee will set these Democrats right about Mr. ndon's Hearst affiliations. What will Mr. Ickes manufacture rt?

THE NEW DEAL

(R. M. Hunter, D.D., In Alabama Baptist)

Some people talk because they have something to say—some because they must say something. Perhaps I am of the latter class. Be that as it may, the New Deal has brought us face to face with the worst conditions politically, financially, and religiously, our country has ever known—the religious conditions, the result of financial depression.

First, the New Deal attempts to control the long established laws of Almighty God—the laws of production and consumption. But instead we have gone back from Cosmos to Chaos—now darkness is again upon the face of the deep, and the Spirit of God has moved to other seas, where men have common sense. There was never a time since the morning stars sang together, i.e., in harmony, that there has been an over-production.

Too much in one place is destroyed by dust storms and floods—too little is supplied by the rains and the dews. God keeps the balance of power. A poor man's smoke house is worth more to him than an Armour Packing house. But when a farmer's pigs are destroyed he pays four times as much for his meat. Under the present regime, the great packing houses have become clearing houses, and have disgorged themselves of meat years old that could not be sold, and now the poor man is made to pay for the cornering of food stuffs.

The second thing about the New Deal's dealing is, that it would make people happy by idleness—give men something to do if you would create contentment. The devil's workshop in America is the largest in the world, and is growing larger. Why not expend some of the billions of dollars in giving homes and putting men to work, instead of paying them to do nothing—a system that is creating more criminals than any heretofore known. This affects our whole economic system, and religious as well. How can men give to the churches when they have no wages on which to live? Empty pews mean empty pulpits—and empty pulpits mean spiritual dearth.

CLANTON BAPTISTS TO CELEBRATE FOURTEENTH ANNIVERSARY OF DR. EZELL

A Special service celebrating the fourteenth anniversary of Dr. S. J. Ezell's pastorate of the Clanton Baptist Church will be observed next Sunday morning at the 11:00 o'clock hour. Several brief speeches and special music will feature the services . Dr. Ezell in speaking of his long stay said: "It is a long time, but a glorious and happy period of my life. Clanton is dear to our hearts. We have received 864 members into our fellowship, performed the marriage ceremony for 133 couples, officiated at more than 600 funerals, and tried to do thousands of other things to serve the town and county. The church, in a financial way, has raised for building purposes, local expenses, missions and benevolences near $100,000.00 dollars, and grown much every way."

Dr. Ezell expressed hopes that all members and friends would be present next Sunday to help in maing this a great and outstanding service.

CHILTON ORGANIZES TO BOOST FUNDS FOR HOSPITAL

County Lines Up To Aid In Movement For Paying Roosevelt And T. V. A. Tribute

The movement to honor President Roosevelt and the T. V. A. through building a hospital for treatment of children's diseases and the care of those crippled through the ravages of infantile paralysis spread through Central Alabama Monday with the announcement of an organization in Chilton County.

Billy Smith, publisher of The Chilton County News, at Clanton, and former postmaster here, will be chairman of the unit, with F. J. Callen, president of the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton, treasurer.

Other prominent Chilton County people will be vice chairmen and beat chairmen.

The movement, which originated in the Tennessee Valley, plans a great free hospital in La Grange Mountain, near the valley for the care of children with sufficient endowment to make these services free to children in Alabama, Tennessee, and Mississippi.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

A very delightful affair was the informal birthday party given in honor of Miss Nell Frances Scott, at the home of Mrs. N. L. Gardner, in Verbena. Mrs. Gardner was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Walker, of Birmingham, and Mrs. Kirby Williams.

Party colors, White and pink, were carried out in the favors and refreshments. The table in the dining room was lace covered and centered with a beautiful birthday cake and the bouquet was of dahlias.

The prizes were won in two contests by Miss Margaret Jenkins, Clarence Hardy and Dovard Jenkins.

Those present were: Nora Frances Johnson, Chester Messer, Agnes Bullard, Robert Jenkins, Lovurl Bullard, Clarence Hardy, Elizabeth Cathey, John Eiland, Jr., Nell Frances Scott, Douglas Robinson, Evelyn Caffey, Bill Eiland, Robbie Hardy, James Messer, Margurite Eiland, Don Bullard, Myrtle Belle Messer, Dovard Jenkins, Margaret Jenkins, Clyde Scott, Jr., Mary Warren Messer, Ed Bullard, Frances Scott, J. L. Messer, Deanie Robinson and Burnice Rutland, of Prattville, Ala.

WHEN you are suffering, you want relief—not tomorrow—not next week—but right away. DR. MILES ANTI-PAIN PILLS relieve in just a few minutes—less than half the time required for many other pain-relieving medicines to act.

Next time you have a Headache, or Neuralgia, or Muscular, Sciatic, Rheumatic, or Periodic Pains, just take an Anti-Pain Pill. Learn for yourself how prompt and effective these little pain relievers are. You will never again want to use slower, less effective, less palatable medicines, after you have used Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills.

I am much pleased with your Anti-Pain Pills. They sure are wonderful for a headache and for functional pains. I have tried every kind of pills for headache, but none satisfied me as your Anti-Pain Pills have.

Thompson Flew To Memphis Last Sunday

Leo Thompson, Clanton's flying globe-trotter, relates an interesting story of a fine trip which he enjoyed last Sunday, along with his father, Mr. J. W. Thompson.

Leo and his father took off from the Clanton airport at 6:30 Sunday morning, maintained an average speed of 98 miles per hour, and landed in Memphis at 9:15. The plane used 14 gallons of gasoline on this part of the trip. While in the city, the Thompsons visited Leo's brother, P. W. Ttompson, who makes his home there. Leo stated that his brother would not ride with him, but that his brothers' son did, and liked the experience very much.

On the return trip, they came by Tuscaloosa and Mapesville. Although he knew nothing about it before arriving at Memphis, Leo stated that the Ruth Chatterton Air Derby was scheduled to arrive at Memphis at noon Sunday, and he had the pleasure of watching this. There were 32 planes in the race, as well as several other attendant planes.

This dehby is an annual affair sponsored by Ruth Chatterton. In the group which visited Memphis were seven ladies, including Ruth Chatterton, herself, and Katherine Sui Fun Cheung, a 27-year-old Chinese woman flier.

Leo and his father also had the preasure of looking over the New American Airlines sleeper plane, the largest land transport plane in the world, carring 32 passengers, and powered with two 1,000-horsepower motors. Leo described it in one little phrase: "It's a rip."

Mr. J. W. Thompson enjoyed the trip very much, according to Leo.

He says his father likes flying, and is fast deloping into a flying fan.

DRY VALLEY

The Rev. Wells, of Shelby County preached a very interesting sermon at the 11:00 service Sunday, using as his subject, "Why Attend Church?" We were glad to have a number of visitors at church Sunday. We are always glad to have visitors.

Mrs. Fannie Armstrong, of Clanton, spent the past week end with her sisters, Mrs. Emma Waldrop and Mrs. Madge Latham.

Mrs. Emma Waldrop, Mrs. Fannie Armstrong, Mrs. Madge Latham, Misses Minerva and Allen Waldrop visited Mrs. S. B. Hicks Sunday and reported a grand time.

Mrs. Will Glass, of Oak Grove, has been visiting her son, Mr. Vollie Glass, and family. Mr. Glass comes home each week end from Ensley.

Misses Willie Mae Childress, Minerva and Allen Waldrop were highly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Hicks Wednesday afternoon by the Tenn. quartet. They all enjoyed a bountiful supper.

Mrs. Emma Waldrop had the pleasure of having all of her children home with her the past Sunday. Mrs. Madge Latham also enjoyed being with them through the day.

Mrs. Vollie Glass greatly enjoyed having as her guests Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Leonard Lenoir and children and Miss Alease Clements.

Mrs. Emma Waldrop had as her dinner guests Sunday Mr. Hyman Franklin and Mr. Morris Wright.

Game & Fish News

Montgomery, Ala.—Governor Bibb Graves has appointed John Glenn Stanley, editor of the Greenville Advocate, to a seven-year term on the State Conservation Board, Mr. Stanley suceeds John R. Swift of Atmore, whose one-year term expired on Aug. 15.

A Conservationist by inclination, a doodler by preference and a bum shot by admission, Mr. Stanley is intensely interested in building up Alabama's game and fish resources. His paper has been a staunch supporter of the State Conservation Department for years.

Next to editing a weekly newspaper which he describes as "the best and worst job in the world," he likes to apply the law of "wise use without waste" while fishing for blue-gill bream or participating in a dove shoot.

"Conserve practically all the game there is" will be his practice as well as his policy while serving on the State Conservation Board. He also intends to be a stern economist and save expenses for the State Conservation Department.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

ALABAMA NEWSPAPERS SERVING FARM PEOPLE

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama newspapers—both weeklies and dailies—are doing an outstanding job of keeping their readers informed on agricultural conditions and farming activities in their own county, state, and nation.

It has been determined also that the farm stories being sent to Alabama newspapers from Auburn are outstanding in the Nation. The Alafarm stories to weeklies the past year won the blue ribbon at the annual meeting of American Agricultural College Editors in Madison, Wisconsin, August 18-20.

VEGETABLES TO PLANT THIS MONTH AND NEXT

Auburn, Ala.—Vegetables Alabama farmers may plant in late summer and fall are turnips, mustard, kale spinach, tendergreens and onionc, advises Prof. L. M. Ware, head of horticulture department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Planting of these vegetables may continue in north Alabama until Sept. 20; and in south Alabama throughout October," he states.

County farm and home agents throughout the State are at present advising farmers and farm women the best varities to plant winter gardens.

BANKERS URGE FARMERS PLANT WINTER LEGUMES

Auburn, Ala.—The Agricultural Committee of Alabama Bankers Association has written bankers of the state urging that they encourage farmers to plant winter legumes to enrich their soil and to prevent soil erosion during the winter months.

"The planting of legumes taken in connection with the present program of farm terracing in Alabama should lead to a rapid increase in the productivity of our soil," says a letter written by the Agricultural Committee and signed by H. J. Whitfield, chairman.

"A study of the increased production of Alabama farms by counties will demonstrate that the use of winter legumes is bringing results."

BRIEF FARM NEWS

An increase of $3,587,000 in Alabama receipts for principal farm products is reported for the first half of this year, compared with the same period of 1935. The 1936 receipts amount to $36,194,000 compared with $32,607,000 last year.

Plans are being made for a series of farm meetings to be held in the Southeastern States to discuss recommendations of farmers concerning an agricultural conservation program for 1937.

Indications are that the State tonlitter contest at the Union Stock Yards in Montgomery, September 9-10, will be a great success. All hogs must be at the Stock Yard before, noon, Sept. 9.

Alabama farmers are being advised to save all pigs possible as "hogs should continue to bring a good price during 1937".

An Agricultural Luncheon Civic Club has been organized in Mobile County. Approximately 50 leading farmers, civic and business leaders are members.

FARMERS TOLD OBTAIN REAL ABRUZZI RYE SEED

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers should be certain that they obtain Abruzzi seed when they purchase that variety, warns J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in advisiting that Rosen and other rye seed are often substituted for Abruzzi.

"Because the seed of the different rye varieties is so similar in appearance, farmers should buy Abruzzi seed from a territory where Abruzzi is commonly grown, and refuse seed not completely labeled," he says. "It is generally acknowledged that when seed is offered at abnormally low prices it is well to make careful inquiry and keep records showing the representations made by the seller.

When seed is suspected of being misbranded it should be called to the attention of L. N. Allen, seed analyst of the State Department of Agriculture, Montgomery, who will report the case to the Divison of Seed Investigation, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., if the shipment appears to have violated the Federal Seed Act.

LIVESTOCK SHOW TO BE HELD THIS FALL

Auburn, Ala.—Plans have been completed for a livestock show to be held at the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, Sept. 28-Oct. 3.

Dr. M. F. Jackson, Birmingham, will be in charge while F. W. Burns and Dr. R. S. Sugg, extension livestock specialists, will supervise the handling of the cattle while at the fair.

Two outstanding prizes will be given 4-H club and FFA members. The boy exhibiting the best dairy calf will be given a trip to the national dairy show at Dallas, Texas, or to the International Livestock show in Chicago, while the boy with a champion beef calf will be given a trip to the International Livestock show.

SACRED HARP SINGING AT NEW HARMONY

The singing convention in the Sacred Harp will meet at New Harmony church, Lomax, on the third Sunday in September, September 20th. We give all lovers of sacred music a special invitation to come and be with us. Bring your Harp song books and a well filled basket and spend the day.—Myrtle Jackson, Secretary.

COTTON CARRY-OVER SMALLEST SINCE 1930

Auburn, Ala.—Total stock of all cotton in the United States at the close of the cotton season, ended July 31, was smaller than that of any comparable date since 1930, according to preliminary figures issued by the New York Cotton Exchange Service. It totaled approximately 5,477,000 bales, compared with 7,208,000 on the corresponding date last year and a maximum of 9,678,000 in 1932.

DAIRY PRODUCTS PRICES EXPECTED TO BE HIGHER

Auburn, Ala.—"Keep dairy heifers growing," advises F. W. Burns, extension dairyman in reporting that the demand for dairy products has improved and further improvements is in prospect.

Prices of dairy products will probably average higher during the next 12 months than a year earlier and the highest in about six years, he states.

"With this situation confronting us the demand for well-bred, well developed heifers is increasing rapidly. Regardless of how well-bred the heifers are, they must be kept growing to reach full size and to produce to their utmost when they become cows. An increase now of 100 pounds in the weight of dairy heifers, with greater feeding capacity, means 1000 pounds more milk later when they become cows.

When pastures begin to get short the heifers should be given all the legume hay they will clean up and enough grass to promote rapid growth. A grain mixture of equal parts of corn meal, ground oats, and wheat bran is excellent for this purpose.

GOOD RATION GIVEN FOR SOWS WITH PIGS

Auburn, Ala.—An excellent ration for sows with pigs sonsists of 60 pounds corn chops, 30 pounds wheat shorts, and 8 pounds of tankage, advises F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist. The sow should have 4 per cent of her weight of the mixture daily.

"Sows which will farrow in September should be placed in a field of cowpeas, soybeans, or similar green feed immediately," he advises.

"I am going to take the following subjects". That is what a seventeen year old high school graduate said to the Dean of a certain outstanding college some time ago. "All right," said the dean, "Whatever you say goes." Think of a person going into a physician's office and saying, "I am going to take certain things for my body." The physician is supposed to know what the boy needs. When the writer went to colledge he sat down and talked to the dean and the president and asked them what course he should take. The dean and the president patiently advised what subjects should be taken. The old system of required subjects may have had its defects, but it is the writer's opinion that these defects were not as serious as the defects in the modern elective system. What we need in our colleges and universities is not just a group of theoretical, educational experts, but we need teachers with old time Christian, practical common sense. Someone has said the most uncommon thing in the world is common sense. We need scientific laboratories and technical education but since we must live somewhere forever, young people need to contact practical common sense men and women who know something about life.

The biggest fool idea in our modern world is the idea that is floating around that everthing that is old is no good and everthing that is new is all right.

As a matter of fact, things that are old are usually right because they have been tried out. All fundamental principles of success are old. Take the business world. The men who have succeeded in a financial way at all stages of human history have followed the same general rules. No man ever built a great fortune who did not have the saving instinct. The writer recently talked to a wealthy, prominent business man. The man has accumulated a great fortune. "I learned how to get rich", he said, "from contacting and old farmer when I was a boy". He said, "Young man, if you ever have anything you will have to learn to save. You will have to venture when the time comes but don't sacrifice your saving instinct." There is nothing much more serious in our modern world than the wasteful, extravagant spirit of the American youth. Young people are developing a "learning complex". They are looking to the government or to somebody else to take care of them. This nation needs to get back to the old principles of economy, honesty, and common sense.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT POPLAR SPRINGS SEPT. 7

A Sunday school convention of the Chilton Association will be held at Poplar Springs all day on the first Sunday in September, 1936. All schools are urged to send delegates. Everybody is invited to come, bring dinner and spend the day.—H. D. Durbin.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe E. Edgar and little Sue Mullins returned this week from a vacation in Texas and Mexico. While in Texas they spent part of their time with Mr. and Mrs. Broadus Conatser.

WRITES TO MR. WALLACE

Mr. Henry Wallace,
Secretary of Agriculture,
Washington, D. D.
Dear Mr. Wallace:

My friend Boudreaux over in Terrapone Parish received a $1,000 check from the government this year for not raising some hogs.

So, we are planing on going into the non-raising hogs business next year. We are going to help Mr. N.R.A. because we naturally will need some men on our plantation to not help us not raise hogs.

What we want to know, Mr. Wallace, is: In your opinion, what is the best kind of farm not to raise hogs on and the best strain of hogs not to raise. We should prefer not to raise any razorbacks, but if that is not a good breed not to raise, we will just as gladly not raise any Berkshires or Durocs or Blue boys.

We will need a little money to finance this venture, and we also want to know if you could issue some non-hog-raising gold bonds

The hardest work in this business is going to be to keep an inventory of how many hogs we have not raised.

Bourdeaux is very joyful about the future of our business. He has been raising hogs for more than 20 years now, and the best he ever made was $400 in 1918. That was up until this year, when he got $1,000 for not raising any hogs.

If we can get $1,000 for not raising 50 hogs, then we will get $2,000 for not raising 100 hogs, Etc. We plan to operate on a small scale at first, holding ourselves down to about not raising 40,000 hogs; which means that we will have $80,000.00.

Now another thing, Mr. Wallace: These hogs that we will not raise will not eat more than 100,000 bushels of corn. We understand that you also pay farmers for not raising corn. So, will you pay us anything for not raising 100,000 bushels of corn not to feed the hogs we are not raising

We want to get started as soon as possible. This seems to be a good time of the year not to raise hogs.—Your obedient servant, OCTAVE BROUSSARD.

P. S. Mr. Wallace, can we raise 10 or 12 hogs on the side while we are in the not raising hog business? Just enough to get a few sides of bacon to eat.

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens and Brothers of Clanton Lodge No. 423:

We your committee appointed to draft and present suitable ressolutions on the death of Brother Jefferson Davis Blankenship, beg leave to submit the following:

Brother Blankenship was born in Coosa County, Alabama, Sept. 8, 1861. He moved to Chilton in 1907, where he lived until the time of his death.

He was married Sept. 20, 1878, to Miss Sarah Ann Bazemore. Five children were born to them, Four of whom, Jack Blankenship of Weogufka, Emmett Blankenship of Birmingham, Mrs. M. L. Evans of Clanton, and Mrs. Dollie Barrett of Thorsby, survive him.

He untied with the Baptist Church about 38 years ago. He was ever faithful to his church, being a member of New Salem Baptist Chruch at the time of his death.

Brother Blankenship took the degrees of Masonry in Clanton Lodge. He took the E. A. degree Jan. 8, F. C. degree Feb. 4, 1908, and the M. M. degree Apr. 4, 1908.

On the 29th day of July 1936, he heard the summons that carried him to the great beyond, from whose bourne no traveler returns. He was buried in the cemetery at New Salem Baptist Church, July 30, 1936, with full Masonic honors.

Now, whereas, the Supreme Grand Master of the Universe has seen fit to call Brother Blankenship from this life, and

Whereas, from his hands have dropped forever the working tools of life, and,

Whereas, Clanton Lodge has lost one of its most loyal and faithful members,

Therefore be it resolved:

First. That we bow in humble submission to our Heavenly Father's will.

Second. That we extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Third. That we emulate Brother Blankenship's spirit of loyalty and faithfulness to his lodge.

Fourth. That these preambles and resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our lodge, a copy sent the bereaved family, and a copy furnished each of the local papers for publication. Committee G. F. Harris, B. J. Sessions and W. H. Sartor.

For Big Fall Trading
The Leader Is Ready

Mr. M. Lande, of The Leader, is very jubilant over business conditions this fall, and he has made ample preparations to take care of the trade. The people of Chilton County know Mr. Lande, Mrs. Lande, and the array of clerks in that progressive establishment — that they enjoy waiting on you when you enter their store, and that they always have just about what you want when you want it.

Now, at this particular season of the year, when everyone begins to feel snappy from the autumn twinge in the atmosphere, this store is making special appeal to the trading public of Chilton county and central Alabama for a portion of their business. Mr. Lande recognizes the value of advertising. He says that advertising during his sixteen years of business experience in Clanton has meant much to the success of his business. The Leader consistently believes in the slogan, "Advertise what you do and do what you advertise."

Look up Mr. Lande's large adv. In this week's issue of the Union-Banner; read every word of it, and you will find many things of interest to you therein.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

DO OUR EYES BETRAY US?

PICTURE-TAKERS are often surprised to discover that, although the camera lens is just a piece of inanimate glass, it sees things the human eye does not.

Actually, in a given scene the same images reach the eye as the lens but while they all reach the camera film some of them do not register on the brain. Does the eye betray us? No, it is because the mind tends to select from the images received by the eye those in which it is most interested and to reject or disregard the rest.

This is something to remember when you get ready to take a picture. Neither the lens nor the film selects. Together they record everything the light transmits. Hence, the disconcerting things that often appear in a photograph because the mind disregarded them when the shutter was snapped—objects that in the print stand out with startling emphasis and which you would almost swear never could have been there.

For example, so many snapshots of landscapes are marred by the appearance of telegraph wires streaking across the sky, not to mention the telegraph poles, or by sign boards and unsightly buildings that went unnoticed when the picture was snapped, jarring a composition that would be otherwise appealing because of the natural beauty of the scene. Or, often in interior views of a home, objects in disorder that were not particularly noticeable when the picture was taken, will make themselves startlingly evident in the photograph. Such a thing as a table cover slightly awry, or a newspaper underneath a chair, or mantel-piece objects that may happen to be disarranged will attract unexpected attention in the print. And who has not seen a charming likeness of a person almost made ridiculous by the appearance of an incongruous object in the picture, such as a sign on a store window, some animal that has wandered into focus, unnoticed, or some grinning spectator in the background?

One of the things that often give us surprises in snapshots of persons is a strong shadow across the face, which in the print spoils a good likeness. In taking such a picture, our imagination fills in the dark area satisfactorily, but remember that the camera lens has no imagination.

Shadows will fool the eye, but not the camera lens. The photographer's own shadow did not seem important when he took this picture, but look at the result.

Again we often let our own shadow barge into the picture, as in the snapshot of the decorative lady above who appears to be standing on somebody's head.

The moral is that when you take a picture, first make your eye the camera lens and your brain the film; then you will know before you shoot exactly what is going to show in the picture.

UNIVERSALLY POPULAR

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

NEGROES IN CHARGE OF DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

Mr. Jim Farley, Roosevelt's campaign manager, said in a statement recently: "Negro voters have the balance of power in Pennsylvania and are very important in New York, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan and other States."

With this negro vote in view, Mr. Farley appointed Julian D. Rainey, Boston negro, to have charge of the campaign in the East. Arthur W. Mitchell, Democratic Representative, of Chicago, has been placed in charge of the Democraitc campaign in the West. "No western headquarters for the entire party will be set up," Mr. Farley added.

The above facts relative to the negro line-up among the national Democatic campaign committee was published in the Montgomery Advertiser in its issue of August 1, 1936.

By reading between the lines a little one can readily see that Mitchell, the Chicago negro Congressman, will be in charge of the Democratic campaign in the West—not only of the negro voters but of the white voters as well, since "There will be no western headquarters," except that in Mitchell's charge.

Since when has it become necessary that the white voters of our country be told how to vote by a Democratic negro campaign manager? Who is it that does not resent such political tactics? Could Jim Farley not find a white Democrat who suited him, to manage the campaign in the West, and if not, why not?

KANSAS GOES REPUBLICAN

New Deal hopes of finding grounds for embarassment for Governor Landon in the Kansas primary election were SNOWED UNDER by ballots of the Republican voters.

The proof that KANSAS IS GOING OVERWHELMINGLY REPUBLICAN in the Presidential election in November has been convincingly registered at the primary polls BY THE PEOPLE OF KANSAS.

The total vote for THREE Republican Senatorial candidates ran MORE THAN TWO TO ONE over the total vote cast for FOUR Democratic candidates.

VIOLA CAROLINE RHODES

Viola Caroline Rhodes, age 51, wife of W. J. Rhodes of Concord community, died at the family home about four miles east of Clanton on last Thursday, August 27th, after an illness of only a few hours.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters—Mrs. Enoch Plier, and Mrs. Wm. Rhodes, Jr., of Clanton Route 1; two brothers—Jesse Baker of Clanton Route 1, and Reese Baker of Clanton Route 5; five sisters—Mrs. J. Matt Johnson of Clanton, Mrs. J. H. Johnson of Clanton Route 1, Mrs. J. J. Johnson of Clanton Route 5, Mrs. Bill Coggins of Clanton Route 1, and Mrs. Weaver Wilson of Montevallo; and several grandchildren; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Clanton Route 1, also survive her.

Funeral services were held at Temple church at 2:30 p.m., on Saturday, August 29, with Rev. Hickman, of Birmingham and Rev. J. W. Enfinger officiating. Burial was in the Temple cemetery, with Martin directing.

Pallbearers were: Calvin Wilson and Ulmer Wilson, of Montevallo, Alvin and Archie Rhodes, of Bessemer, and Douglas Robinson and Curtis Easterling of Clanton.

Mrs. Viola Rhodes will be remembered as one of the finest women ever to grace our community. Displaying a sincere friendship toward all with whom she came in contact, she gained friends wherever she went. Since conversion early in life, she has been a devout Christian at all times. Several years ago her husband suffered a severe injury, and she has proved a devoted wife and life mate to him in his affliction, ever watchful for him, and careful to help in any way possible to ease his pain; no night was too dark nor cold for her to arise and minister to his needs.

As a neighbor, she was held in highest esteem by all. Truly a flower has faded from earth to bloom again in heaven, and a jewel has slipped away to gleam in that immortal home where there are no tears, no death and no partings.

MULBERRY NEWS

The Isabella Home Demonstration Club will meet on Friday, Sept. 18, 1936 at the home of Mrs. W. T. White, at 2:00 o'clock. We won't all members present.

There will be a singing at Mulberry Church the 1st Sunday afternoon in Sept. All lovers of good singing are invited to come and bring their new song books.

WATCH OUR "POLL-O-METER"

The Union-Banner has been provided with a "Poll-o-Meter" with which to keep exact figures on the returns from the poll to be reported for the next nine weeks before election day by the Literary Digest. This is a large sheet marked off into columns in which the figures are to be placed each week as they are given out by The Literary Digest and reported in a special broadcast sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio. At the end of the 9th week the total figures will be given, and will be forecast to The Digest in this particular election.

Along with this is another column showing the popular vote in 1932 between Roosevelt and Hoover, all set out in tabulated form by states. The next column shows the electoral vote strength of each state. The next column is a list of the 48 states, and is near the center of the page, so that it may be easy to read each way from the list of states.

Next is a column lined off in which to set down the total votes in The Digest's 1936 poll, by parties. And the next column is set out for space in which to set down the actual votes cast in the coming general election.

Digest polls of the past have been conspicuously accurate, and the Digest editors are confident that this one will prove likewise, as evidenced by their provision of space for clase checks of actual figures. The Digest has never missed a national election by as much as two per cent.

We will secure the figures each week and post them on our "Poll-O-Meter" so that all who wish to take a look may do so by calling at our office. We want you to help us watch the progress of the poll. We, of course, do not know at this time just which candidate will lead in the poll, but we are willing to agree that the Digest will be right, whether our side is ahead or not. Come in each week and look at the "Poll-O-Meter." Watch the election undold before election day.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Heflin entertains Honoring Miss Sophia Mullins

On last Monday, Mrs. Grady Heflin entetrained at a lovely luncheon honoring Miss Sophia Mullins, whose marriage to Mr. Lawson B. Nelson, took place on Wednesday, August 26th. The dining table was covered with a cloth of mandarin linen and was centered with a silver bowl of bride's roses and fern. Tall white candles burned in silver holders. Prof. and Mrs. Hicks, of Florala, have recently moved to Clanton, and will occupy the new home being built by Mr. Chester Wingard. Mr. Hicks is principal of the Chilton County High School.

Mrs. C. F. Brooks and her daughter, Alice, and Barbara Lane, of Andalusia, spent Friday and Friday night here where they attended the shower given by Mrs. Eric Hart honoring Miss Alice Brooks, bride-elect. They spent several days in Birmingham before returning to their home in Andalusia.

Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, of Montgomery, Alabama, spent Wednesday night in Clanton. She and Miss Mary Ellis left Thursday for a ten-days vacation in the mountains of North Carolina.

LAWRENCE ADDITION TO CLANTON BEING DEVELOPED

What promises to be another important adjunct to the city of Clanton is Lawrence Addition, out on the Selma Highway, beyond West End. Mr. Buford Lawrence, the owner of a nice tract of land out there has divided up several acres into building lots and has laid off streets all around between the blocks.

This constitutes a real fine section for residents, it being adjacent to the paved highway. Prof. Earle Thomas has purchased a large lot out there and will begin building a fine brick veneer bungalow in the near future.

...E-VARIETY GIN DAYS ANNOUNCED AT JEMISON & THORSBY

All farmers who planted Dixie Triumph Cotton, either foundation or one-year seed are requested to bring your cotton to Jemison gin on next Monday afternoon, September 7, or to Thorsby next Tuesday afternoon September 8. If you carry your cotton to Thorsby try to get to the gin at 3:30 P. M. or as near that time as possible for we want a continuous line of variety when they start ginning it. Thorsby gin will not start running Dixie Triumph until 3:30 P. M. We hope to have enough cotton planted to sell a few bales cooperatively next week.

At the meeting held recently at Union Grove and Collins Chapel, the farmers decided to sack their seed as soon as ginned and tag each sack, writing on the tag the name of the grower and the number of pounds of seed in the sack.

They also decided to sell their seed at twice oil mill prices or swap with their neighbors at the rate of one bushel for two bushels of other cotton seed. All expressed themselves as being well pleased with this variety of cotton so far.—H. H. Denson, Jemison Voc. Agri.

...MATEURS TO GET CHANCE OF LIFETIME

Contests To Be Held Here Sept. 11; Winner Go To State Finals

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton will on September 11th give amateur musicians and entertainers of Chilton County the chance of a lifetime, according to plans now well under way for a brilliant entertainment at the Chilton County High School on the night of the eleventh.

This entertainment is in the form of an Amateur's Contest and a "Shirley Temple Pageant." The little girl who is fortunate enough to win in the pageant will be presented with a real Shirley Temple dress by the All State Beauty show features of warm Springs, Ga. and Washington.

The winners of the Amateur contest will be sent to Birmingham right away and will compete there for the place of state winner, receiving a broadcast over Station WAPI.

All in all, this will really be a chance of a life time for amateurs of this county. For further information see, call, or wire Mrs. T. H. Walker, Clanton.

The big feature of the entertainment will be a Beauty Contest from which will be selected the young lady who will be sent to Birmingham to compete for the title of "Miss Alabama" in November. She will receive screen tests by the All State Features Beauty Show and a well known motion picture concern. The winner of the title "Miss Alabama" will go to Atlanta for the finals for the national title.

Each merchant of Clanton and other places in the county taking part in this big event will select a young lady as their contestant in the beauty contest and also one for the Shirley Temple Pageant. The amateur contest will be open to all. Don't forget the date—September 11th, at the Chilton County High School.

JONES-HODGENS WEDDING

On last Sunday evening at 6 o'clock Miss Evelyn Eloyse Jones was married to Rev. Maurice Hodgens at Jemison Baptist church.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Jones, of Clanton. The Rev. Hodgens, is a young ministerial student at Howard College, and is the pastor for several churches in the vicinity of Jemison.

Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. James Varnell, Mrs. Hugh Jones and Miss Mary Courtney Jones spent Wednesday in Birmingham.

N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR RISING FROM ANCIENT ASH HEAP

Excavation Task a Terrific Test of Men and Machines

by LATTIMER SHAW

A battle of 800 men and 150 gasoline driven machines against time to turn a 1,000 acre ash dump into a level site for hundreds of beautiful buildings has been begun as the start of the great World's Fair to be held at Flushing, Long Island, by the City of New York in 1939, which will bring millions of people to America's biggest city.

The battle of ashes will go on 24 hours a day until April 1, 1937. If the race against time is won it will constitute a record for this type of work. It will cost $2,200,000. The men and their $750,000 worth of modern automotive equipment must remove 6,000,000 square yards of dry material and 1,500,000 yards of mud. During the process hundred foot hills of ashes will be leveled and fifty foot gullies filled and a tidal river 16 feet deep will be eliminated and turned into a series of gleaming lagoons for motor boat races, swimming exhibitions and other aquatic events dear to the hearts of fair goers.

This tremendous grading job constitutes one of the most terrible ordeals to which gasoline motors have ever been subjected because for ten months summer and winter they must operate continuously, 24 hours a day. It will be equivalent to starting an automobile and not stopping it for 300 days. It was for this reason that there was selected for the job, and with no attempt to skimp on cost, only the most modern, rugged and scientific machinery, fuel, lubricating oil and greases. When the task is completed the gasoline shovels, self dumping trucks, graders and other machines will have passed through a trial almost unprecedented in motor history.

The long hours and the varying conditions of temperature under which the equipment must operate appeared to the engineers to be similar to those encountered by the two Byrd Antarctic Expeditions and the 900,000 mile service in six years of the Graf Zeppelin and now the new Hindenburg. Therefore the same oil and greases employed by Admiral Byrd on both his South Pole Expeditions and the German engineers in the Graf Zeppelin and Hindenburg were specified for the World's Fair job—Veedol motor oil and grease made by the Tide Water Oil Company. And the same company's Tydol gasoline, which drove Byrd's planes and tractors for 35,000 miles over the icy Antarctic wastes is operating all the motor equipment at Flushing. Storage facilities for 4,000 gallons of gasoline have been set up and half a dozen high speed pumps, served daily by tank trucks. To service the continuously operating machines in the field a fleet of smaller tank trucks is in use on carefully worked out schedules.

An indication of the speed with which New York's World's Fair is coming into being lies in the schedule on which the city's ancient ash dump is being excavated—33 yards per minute, day in and day out around the clock.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

We hear a great deal of comment as to the extent and ferocity of the revolution in Spain. Many people are wondering how such a thing should be in this Twentieth Century, when the greater part of Europe is supposed to be modernly civilized. One answer is that after all, human nature doesn't change much, and when the veneer of the civilization is rubbed off, man reverts again to the type of his stone age ancestors. Which may be true, but there is one reason why a revolution of the kind now existent in Spain is improbable in the United States under our present economic and social system.

The well edited Kansas City Times recently pointed out the fact that Spain has no middle class, but is divided into the extremes of aristocratic wealth and working class poverty. The fundamental trouble, so the Times correctly asserts, is that in Spain the people emerged from Middle Age feudalism, in which the common man was a serf, into a modern idustrial age in which some of the people are very rich and some of them so dismally poor that they are little better off, in an economic sense, than they were in their serfdom. The bulk of the purchasing power is in few hands, as indicated by the fact that advertising in the Spanish periodicals is designed to catch only the eye of the wealthy.

Here is something worth remembering: the United States was never a fuedal nation. Instead of evolving from the age of chivalry into industrial feudalism, it was born the first modern democracy. Its founders perfected a system of representative government in which the people, protected in their individual freedom, were given the right to govern their local affairs and to rule themselves nationally through a government balanced between the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches of the federal machinery. As a result, while some became very rich and others very poor, the sovereign authority rested with a great middle class, whom we like to term the typical Americans. They were the people whose ideal of life was to own a home, and rear and educate a family in the fear of the Lord and in obedience to law. It is from the children of these middle class families that our industrial and political leaders have come. They have been neither revolutionists nor class baiters. They have held the government on an even keel. That is why the radicals have hated them so—the Reds well know that this middle class is the great obstacle to revolution.

So long as the United States eschews class division and maintains this great middle class America, we shall be free of such troubles as now beset unhappy Spain. But once we permit the middle class to be destroyed by taxation or other form of confiscation, giving us only class consciousness instead, then we may expect bitterness and hatred, even revolution to take the place of the American ideals of free government.

Up to this time the American system has proved more successful than the kind in vogue in Russia, in Germany, in Italy and a score of the lesser Old World countries. It will cantinue to prove more successful unless we trade away our New World individualism for Old World paternalism and regimentation, and permit class baiters and class haters to take the place of old-fashioned Americanism.

Well, they are shooting a lot of bombs over in Spain just now, but if they are not better marksmen than they were in 1898, there is not much danger of blatting out the population.

GREEKS BEARING CORN

The American farmer—not the wheat or cotton or sugar king who got his "relief" dollars by the million—is beginning to understand that he has gotten the worst of it so far as curtailment of production and reduction of tariff is concerned. For example, he knows that in 1932 corn exports were 17 times as great as corn imports and that American wheat growers exported six times as much wheat as they imported. He knows also that in 1935 corn imports were 75 times the exports while incoming wheat exceeded outgoing by the ratio of 144 to 1. And he realizes that the end is not yet.

The American farmer is also aware that reduction of duties from Canada will cause a loss of a billion dollars to the livestock growers of the United States, and that eggs are pouring in from China, Japan and HongKong, while there is a speeding up of the imports of live chickens, geese, ducks, turkeys and dressed poultry from all countries, which have a most favored nation agreement with us, the condition coming about through our trade treaty with Canada.

All of the figures on these imports may sound theoretical and detached, but there was something decidedly concrete in the report the other day published in the Portland Oregonian to the effect that a Greek ship had just put into Portland bearing 6,500 long tons of Argentine corn.

Of course, 6,500 tons of corn isn't so much as compared with the American crop, but there are many hundreds more ships bearing agricultural products than this Greek ship, flying flags of all maritime nations, and Portland is only one port of the United States. The importation of farm products is only in its beginning.

The United States is no longer a self-supporting nation so far as agriculture is concerned. There was a time, not so long ago, when we raised enough food for ourselves and exported a great deal to other nations which were not so fortunate in their farming industry. Indeed was Mr. Cordell Hull, our theoretical Secretary of State, so cocksure of the situation that he immediately set about "broadening" our foreign farm market by reducing our tariff.

Then came two unfortunate circumstances. Mr. Wallace, our theoretical Secretary of Agriculture, conceived the idea that we could only get rich by producing less, and the great theory of prosperity through scarcity was born—something entirely new under the modern sun. Dame nature decided to assist Mr. Wallace and brought about a drouth which has made the United States anything but self-sufficient in agriculture. Then, again, Secretary Hull, in his tariff manipulation, reduced the tariff on so many farm products that the tide of agricultural imports was increased to the point where the foreign producer is dominating the situation in America.

The Greek boat loaded with Argentine corn is only one result of our New Deal policy. There are others too numerous to mention.

WHO PAYS THE BILL?

One of the commonest fallacies of popular economics is that which asserts it i sposible to take the taxes off the rich man and give the benefits to the poor. Since the time when Robin Hood gained popularity by "shaking down" the wealthy citizen and distributing some of the plunder to those who needed it, there have been statesmen of varying degrees of honesty and intellegence who have posed as great friends of the down-trodden masses proposing to take the wealth of the rich through taxation or by more direct methods, and to give it to their less fortunate brethren.

Yet the fact remains that after all, in every order of society, the cost of government must be borne, through taxation, by the consumer. This is inevitable and seems all the more true of federal as distinctive from local governments.

Let us for a moment look at our own modern record. Recently published statistics say that every dollar spent last year by the government at Washington represented something like the following in the way of taxes: seven cents from personal income taxes; eight cents from corporation taxes; six cents from liquor taxes; the same amount from tobacco taxes; seven cents from processing taxes; five cents from excise taxes; five cents from customs duties; three cents from estate and gift taxes; fou rcents from all other forms of taxes.

Now it is not difficult to run over this list and to figure up just how much of the total is borne by the "poor consumer." The proportion is both respectable and disconcerting in size. Even the eight cents from corporation taxes, come in great measure from the man who has to buy the goods produced by the corporation. Some more of the eight comes out of the dividends that ought to go to the stockholder, and be by him passed on into the chanels of trade.

Of course if all of the dollar unit spent by Washington was raised in taxes it wouudn't seem so bad as there would be a good chance of balancing the budget. Unfortunately all of the taxes listed above amount to only 51 cents out of the dollar. The other 49 cents are borrowed. And the more the government spends the more it must borrow and the greater becomes the amount which will have to be paid off by our present tax payers and their children.

The total debt at the end of the fiscal year, on July 30, was placed at $33,778,543,493. This is a new all time high and represents an obligation on the part of every citizen with a family of three, in the sum of $795. Before the World War, every family's liability was $36. The miscellaneous taxes which are included in the 51 cents out of each dollar, as listed above, continue to grow steadily and they are the ones which hit the poor man the hardest. From 14 cents out of every dollar in 1914, this form of taxation has now risen to 51 cents out of the dollar. Do the rich pay the taxes? Well, if you think so you have another think coming.

VICIOUS TAX LAW

Fortunately, in many things, President Roosevelt never was quite so lucky as in the fact the election of 1936 comes before the country begins to pay taxes under the amendment revenue act.

Some provisions of that law are reasonable, but some are so incredibly harsh that they will produce a state of mind just one step short of rebellion. Congress, we have no doubt, will be forced next January, to correct the worst injustices of the law. Many of the Congressmen who voted for that bill would not be in their seats then if their constituents realized before the November election, how cruelly the government punishes the corporation that impaired its capital during the depression and now seeks, as conditions improve, to restore the deficit.—Richmond, Va., News Leader.

MAN IN THE MOON

RUMORS

One of the most detestable characters on earth is the gossiper, rumorer, back-biter, the person who goes about with a mouthful of "I heard." I have yet to meet one of that stripe who was willing or able to give the source of their reports. You may find these kinds of people almost anywhere, especially in politics.

I am not a politician, have never posed as one, and never will. The professional politician, for the most part, is one who selfishly works toward his own best interests, rather than for his party or the people as a whole He puts all his time and energy into the work of building up his own political fences, and so long as the party with which he is aligned sustains him, his fight is their fight. Yet, once he loses that support, he usually turns out to be a fly-by-nighter. The common man who dips into politics for any reason, if defeated, generally takes his whipping in good spirits and goes right along with his party.

When I announced for the office of Treasurer last spring, I stated that in victory or defeat the Republican party would have all the support I could throw to it. I repeated the statement several times during the campaign.

I was defeated in the second primary. Now, I am told, there are unscrupulous and unprincipled politicians, would-be politicians, and political tools and stooges, who are passing the word around that they "heard" I was supporting Democratic candidates, J. Monroe Parrish and J. E. Easterling, to be specific.

These men are two of my very best personal friends. I would do either of them any personal favor I could, and would not be afraid to call on either of them for the same. But they are not members of my party, and I am sure that neither of them is even faintly expecting me to vote or work for them, politically.

I am not sure that I will ever venture out in politics again—I will cross that bridge when I come to it. But in the present campaign, for the benefit of anyone who may have "heard" rumors that I would turn traitor to my party and to those who voted for me in the past primaries, I have the following to say:

I became a legal voter in 1924. I believed in the principles of the Republican party at that time, and began voting for Republicans to fill the offices of my county, state and nation. In many instances my favorite candidates won, while in others they did not. In all the 12 years since I first began to vote, I have never had reason to change my political opinion, I have never failed to support the Republican ticket, and I never expect to.

The maner in which these political backbiters and rabble-rousers have gone to work is enough to discourage anyone who is trying to go fair and square. But when election day comes this fall, I shall go under the elephant, just as I have always done. In the meantime, I expect to keep up a steady and unrelenting fight for my party and its nominees, both personally and through the columns of The Union-Banner. To even consider doing otherwise would be treason, and I detest a traitor.

I am fully aware of the identity of those political gossipers. And I must add that I am not at all surprised at this late development and gossiping. They are good at that—it is part of their style of politics—and this is not the first time it has happened.

But if these seemingly righteous and party-conscious individuals will only go to work for their party with half the zeal and sincerity that I am doing, they will not have the time to gossip and spread rumors—or listen to them.

I have nothing but utter contempt for such people or their practices. If they are so anxious to see their party win, then let them put a shoulder to the wheel, instead of standing off trying to see if everyone else is pushing. Personally, I am too busy to try to find out how other people are standing. I have work to do, which I hope will help our Republican cause, and am doing that work as best I know. My critics might follow the example, if they are Republicans—instead of gadders, gossipers and rumor mongers.

LOADING OUR GUNS

With the series of articles "Promise and Performance" out of the way, as water over the dam, this column expects to really go to war in this political campaign. At times during the above-named series, I have wished that I had the space to answer certain articles that have occurred in certain Demicratic newspapers, including our own local opponent, The Chilton County News. But lacking this space, I have had to be content with filing those clippings away to be used at a future date. But don't think for a minute that they were not noticed. All of them were carefully saved, and will come in for their share of comment in due time.

In actual warfare, as the "zero-hour" approaches, all combatants keep their ears and eyes wide open, alert and watchful. Men group on the firing line, on the firing step, ready at any moment to go "over the top." When the signal is given, the enemy has all kinds of missiles thrown their way. The big guns roar, machine guns crackle, bombs thunder, hand grenades blast, and the ping and whistle of bullets fills the air.

In this campaign we expect to work in the same maner. For some time we have been waiting for the "zero-hour". We have carefully gathered ammunition of every calibre for use at the proper time. And now that time is here. From now until election day, we expect to do our bit in the scrap. Whether we will be able to man long range and powerful guns or rifles we do not know. But we are serving due notice to the Democrats that we will "give them the works." We have no doubt that we will be able to handle our own local opponents—we have never failed to. And in addition to this, we hope to help the national cause in some degree.

So, if you like a good scrap and a fair one, don't fail to read the editorial page of The Union-Banner from now until election. Hot stew is on tap, and we expect to pour on the gravy without mercy.

LET'S WEIGH RESULTS

At this time, and for several months past, there has been quite a hullabaloo about the road system. Whatever the merits claimed by each side in the squabble, the fact is apparent to everyone that the roads are going down—fast. The immediate cause for this, of course, is that they are not being worked. But as to placing the blame for this lack of road work—there is the big question.

About this time of the year it has been the custom of our road builders to be busy getting the roads into condition to withstand the winter season of rains, freezes and other natural hindrances to road building. Instead of this, according to Supervisor Arledge, the whole road working outfit closed down on August 20th until the first of September. No doubt the same will be true during the last few days of September, as the cause given was that the monthly appropriation was exhausted.

We are not concerned over who is right in this controversy. What we want to see is some road-building. At first the writer of this column, as well as the editor of The Union-Banner, looked upon the whole road scramble as a fight of the whole people against the autocratic intent of aur legislative representatives, and we said so. We helped to bring the question to a people's vote, and we were not surprised at the outcome. However, since that time, it seems that the whole affair has narrowed down to a scrap between two factions within the Democratic party in the county.

If Charlie Cox really wanted to make his road supervisor bill binding, he slipped a gear when he inserted that section giving the commissioners court the right to say how much the supervisor could spend. Now, Judge J. Lee Smith and the court come out with the statement that they are allowing Mr. Arledge as much money as was the custom to spend on the roads, and Mr. Arledge counters with the statement that the court is not allowing him enough money to work the roads.

If statements of various citizens of the county are any gauge of public opinion, our people are fast tiring of these two long-winded explanations of the two sides, through the columns of the county's papers. What our people want is action—not words.

After the referendum last spring, Mr. Cox said that the people of Chilton County had never had a chance to observe just how good the supervisor system could be, because they had never tried it. He said that once they had tried his system, they would favor it.

In an interview with Mr. Cox, I asked him to insert a provision in his bill giving the people the right to vote on the question after they had had time to try his new system and see how it works. He agreed that this was not a bad idea, but said that the bill had already been advertised, and that it would take too much time to re-advertise it. So the bill went through in its original form, and all voice of the people was excluded.

A few weeks ago The Chilton County News suggested that the question be put to the people in a referendum. We agree with The News that this would be a fine and fair procedure, and would give a clear picture of the desires of the people on the subject. But here is the trouble—it could do no good. No matter how many referendums might be held, the law is so worded that none of them would have any bearing, whatsoever, on the law or its execution. Provision for this is the very thing Mr. Cox declined to do, as explained above.

In these newspaper articles, Mr. Arledge sets forth a bunch of figures. He may be right in what he is contending, but as yet I have seen no one who could tell from the articles just what he was trying to prove. On the other hand, I am led to believe that the other individuals in the controversy are to have their figures published. It may be that they will be as hard to understand.

Why not do this? Let the two factions appoint one man each, these two to appoint another man, and these three gather all the figures from both sides, showing all allowances for roads, actual expenditures, and the like, and publish these findings impartially. Then the people would at least have a clear view of who is to blame in this squabble, and some solution might be worked out.

As things stand now, there is nothing but scrapping going on. Much digging is being done, but none of it is on the roads, where it belongs. You can't travel over a political road in any degree of comfort.—Man in the Moon.

NO HIGHER TAXES

Statements credited to President Roosevelt that it will not be necessary to increase taxes in the United States, because larger revenues are paving the way for a balanced budget are being greeted with enthusiasm or lack of enthusiasm in the degree in which the commenter approves or disapproves of the New Deal. The friends of the President are hailing the announcement with approval and satisfaction.

Critics of the New Deal, however, are stating that the promise of no increase in taxes is being made for political effect. They point out that the statement is being made at the opening of the 1936 presidential campaign, that there has been as yet no apparent effort to decrease governmental expenditures in spite of the fact that New Dealers say the depression is over. They call attention again to the mounting deficit which will soon be approaching forty billions and remind us that this debt must be paid and can only be paid out of taxes.

Whether or not the president's promise of no greater tax burdens can be carried out remains to be seen. We have frequently been told that the only way to judge the future is by the past. Mr. Roosevelt, in the 1932 campaign made some pledges about economics. They were not carried out. It remains now to be seen whether pledges made at the beginning of the 1936 campaign will be carried out, in event the President is re elected. Let us look at the record. At Sioux City, Iowa, on September 19, 1932, Candidate Roosevelt said:

"I shall use this position of high responsibility to discuss up and down the country at al lseasons, atal ltomes, the eduty of reducing taxes, of increasing efficiency of government, of cutting out the underbrush around our government structure, of getting the most public service for every dollar paid for taxation. Thus I pledge you and nothing I have said in the campaign transcends in importance this covenant with the tax payers of this country."

In the campaign of 1932 Mr. Roosevelt promised lower taxes and decreased expenditures. What happened is a matter of history. In the campaign of 1936 he does not promise reduced taxes, but says that taxes will go no higher. How will this pledge be carried out in view of the promise in 1932 and performance after the election? Your guess is as good as another's. But remember the old saying that "the proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof."

An aged Missourian estimates that he has saved $800 by not having had a shave in 52 years, but hasn't the $800. So much economy is like that.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

Quite true. A great deal of expenditure is of the same type. For instance it is possible to spend millions for projects like the Quoddy and the Florida ship canal, and then to find we have nothing to show for it.

Everybody is in favor of social security but the only kind you ever really enjoy is the security you can earn yourself.

HOW LANDON DID IT

"I was at an evening party and politics was very much talked. A gentleman (Democrat) from Massachusetts said that Governor Landon was able to balance the budget of the State of Kansas by borrowing the money from the federal government and that [illegible] other statement was only propoganda to defeat the New Deal. I took issue and told him he was wrong. If you can give me data it will be used in a good cause.—Mrs. Ada W. Mills, Cape Elizabeth, July 19."

We shall oblige by quoting a little history of Governor Landon's accomplishments from the New York Times, which at the hour of going to press is not supporting the Kansan for President. The Times said editorially Oct. 1, 1935:

He (Governor Landon) devoted himself to cutting down debt and expenditures. In spite of unemployment and the cort of a system of emergency relief tha twas a model to a number of other states, the budget was balanced, taxation reduced, the per capita cost of government lowered from $51 to $71.

"There was no sharp cut in salaries, but an all-round, practical business management. The legislature cooperated with him. The laws enacted in 1933 indicate the Landon-Kansas system. Taxing units were forbidden to spend more money than came into the till, a limit was set to taxation; every local taxing unit was made to issue a budget and not to live beyond it. * * * In the general spree of extravagance Alf Landon's administration, saving yet competent, is worth remembering. * * * A governor able to spare the tax payer without detriment to state institutions shines like a good deed in a naughty world."—New York Sun.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Heaith in this community is fair, at present. John Queen, Jr., has been very ill for the past four days, at the home of J. H. Mims. Glad to report that Preston Mims is improving from a fall, received from a wagon in which the young people were taking a hay ride, on last Thursday evening. Estelle Benson was ill Sunday and could not be at Sunday School and B. Y. P. U.

We had a large crowd at Sunday School. Following it we called Rev. Maurice Hodgens for our pastor for the coming year. Trusting that the people will attend the services regularley. We have one more day the 3rd, Sunday from our former pastor Bro. Homer Correll whom has rendered his best and most efficient service to us for the past three years.

Our B. Y. P. U. has been dragging but seems that our people are reviving some. We had a 45 minute, song service following the program. With Mrs. Clarence Murray at the piano. The young folks semmed to enjoy every minute of the time accompanied by a large crowd of fathers and mothers.

We invite everyone to come out and fill your hearts with these voices.

Sunday School at 10:00 o'clock A. M. B.Y.P.U. at 7:00 o'clock P. M. followed with 45 minutes, song service.

County Public Road Situation

(By T. J. Arledge)

Part Three

As promised in last week's issue of this paper, the author will give the analysis of costs and expenditures on the public roads and bridges for the month of July, 1936, and due to the fact that there will be no report for the Treasurer's office for this period until the printing of the Treasurer's report at the end of the year, the figures used in this article are taken from the Treasurer's records, and are certified true and correct as found therein by Thomas J. Arledge, Road Supervisor.

Treasurer's Records

According to the County Treasurer's records or expenditures in the month of August for all obligations made during the month of July, 1936, and for other obligations made prior to that time, the following sums were paid out of the Road and Bridge and the Gasoline Funds:

Total for the month	$8,197.37

Of this amount the following items were for labor and materials earned or purchased prior to May 1, 1936, the effective date of office of Road Supervisor, and therefore not chargeable to road operations under this office:

Clifford Manning, road work in April	$12.50
C. T. Walker, road work in April	6.50
Total	$19.00

In addition to this, and also included in the Treasurer's records of costs and expenditures paid from the Road and Bridge and Gasoline Funds, but which are not chargeable to the operation costs of the Public Roads were the following items:

Airport Costs

Wofford Oil Co., Oil and Gas	$8.20
T. E. Carlton, Equipment Repairs	26.25
Robinson Machine Shop, Equipment Repairs	20.65
Gasoline for M. L. Matthews	20.10
305 Gallons Gasoline at $.14	$42.70
20.5 Gallons Oil at 50c	10.25
25 pounds Grease at 10c	2.50
Total	$130.65

3-Way Selma Road Project Costs

Cash contribution to the County	$3,464.08
92 Gallons Gasoline at 14c	12.88
5.75 gallons oil at 50c	2.88
75 pounds of grease at 10c	7.50
219 gallons Diesel Fuel at 10c	21.90
Total	$3,509.24

Other Items

For use at Almshouse, 60 gallons gasoline at 14c	$8.20
5 gallons oil at 50c	2.50
Total	$10.90
Clerk of Commissioner's Court, Mrs. Delene Wyatt, salary For May, June and July at $60 a month	$180.00

Summing up, we have a grand total of $3,849.69 which is not chargeable to the operation costs of the public roads for the month of July, 1936, and when deducted from the Treasurer's record of expenditurs, as paid by the Road and Bridge and Gasoline Funds in the month of August, 1936, in the sum of $8,197.37, leaves a total of $4,347.68 as the actual amount paid for labor and supplies in connection with the operation of the public roads and bridges for the month of July, 1936.

Road Supervisor's Report

The Road Supervisor's report of progress for the month of July, 1936, made to the Commissioner's Court as required by law, shows that the actual labor, materials, supplies and repairs to equipment incorporated in the work of the public roads and bridges, cost a total of $4,232.15, divided as follows:

Supervision and Transportation	$578.00
Clerical and Warehouse man	60.00
Skilled labor-144 days	360.00
Unskilled labor-478¼ days	478.25
Road patrol and Opr. 64½ days	209.62
Tractor-grader operator 83.8 days	670.75
Truck drivers-108½ days	217.00
Teams and drivers-10 days	35.00
Tank wagon driver monthly	60.00
29,727 Ft. B. M. lumber at $20	594.54
35 linear ft. iron pipe at 1.61	56.35
2 joints cement pipe at 2.25	4.50
1175 pounds of nails at .325	38.04
4390 gallons gasoline at 14c	614.60
132½ gallons oils at 50c	66.25
127 pounds of grease at 10c	12.75
Blasting supplies, lot	20.15
Repairs to Equipment, lot	128.90
Purchase of Right-of-way	13.00
Wire fencing materials	4.20
New tools, lot	10.25
Total for month of July	$4,232.15

A summary of the whole for the period of three months, May, June and July shows that the County Treasurer has paid out the aggregate sum of $26,082.75 of which there was a part, in the sum of $11,840.39 which was not chargeable to the cost of road operations in this period of May, June and July, leaving a total paid out by the County Treasurer for bills in connection with the road operations in the sum of $14,242.36.

The Road Supervisor's reports for the same period show that the actual labor, materials, supplies and repair to equipment incorporated in such road operations to have been $15,237.99. This still leaves a difference of $995.63 above the amount as payed out by the Treasurer. Of course, the Treasurer's and Supervisor's report may never be the same, because of the fact that the Supervisor has to show every item charged out as he uses it in the operations of the roads, while the Treasurer shows only those items paid as claims and invoices are presented for actual payment.

The sole purpose of these statements has been to give to the people of the county the facts in connection with road operations under the direction of the Road Supervisor; and such figures as have been used in this and the former statements are to be found in the records of the Probate's office, the County Treasurer's office and the office of the Road Supervisor. This is the final analytical statement, connecting the reports of the Treasurer and the Supervisor. All futures statements will be confined to actual items of cost incorporated in the Supervisor's report to the Commissioner's Court, said report will show the actual expenditures to each Beat.

CHILTON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION WILL MEET SOON

The meeting of the Chilton County Annual Association is just a little over a month off. As your Moderator and member of the Baptist State Executive Board I wish to urge every church and pastor to do their best for our organized work during the remaining days. We hope that every church will give something to the co-operative work of our denomination and send it to the Baptist Executive Board, Montgomery Alabama.

Will our Association be 100 per cent in supporting the general work? It can be. Will you help

Futhermore, we hope that the committees will have their reports made and that each one will be ready to speak or have someone speak on the subject in hand. The following are to report:

Built Like an Automobile

You have never seen a mower like this

It is Really New and Different

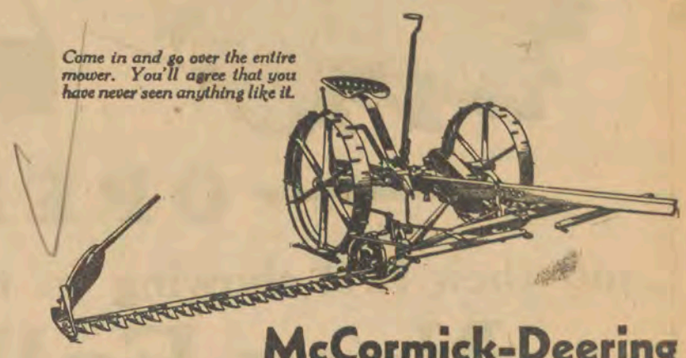
Come in and go over the entire mower. You'll agree that you have never seen anything like it.



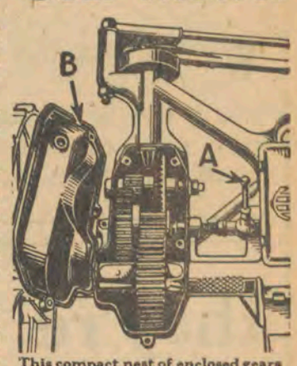
McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower

WE are anxious to have all of our friends see the New McCormick-Deering No. 7 Enclosed-Gear Mower. We think it is one of the finest pieces of farm equipment we have ever sold!

Everybody who has seen it says they never had any idea that a mower could be built as this one is.

For example: The entire operating mechanism; including drive gears, differential, and countershafts; is assembled compactly in an oil-tight gear housing and runs in a bath of oil. There are four high-grade roller bearings. Operation is so smooth and noiseless that you can scarcely hear the light hum of the sickle!

Special oil seals at the ends of the main axle and fly-wheel shaft, and the oil-tight gear box prevent leakage and protect all working parts against the entrance of dirt and other abrasive materials. Floating action of cutter bar provides ample play without disturbing knife registration.



This compact nest of enclosed gears runs in a bath of oil—a full gallon. The cover, B, makes the gear case dust-proof and oil-tight. Clutch is thrown in and out by lever, A.

Alf Landon And Commitment

The Birmingham News and Montgomery Advertiser are continually finding great mare's nests in Mr. Landon's campaign for president, in that he does not come out to suit them on various questions. These Democratic papers have recently attacked Mr. Landon as well as the Republican national platform for not saying any more than they have about foreign affairs. They even go so far as to express the fear that Mr. Landon does not know enough about foreign affairs to cope with the situation should he become president.

We presume that the ideal of these two Democratic papers is a candidate like their Franklin Delano, who subscribes one hundred per cent to a fine Democratic platform and then when he gets into office tears out down a Socialist platform and puts it into action nearly one hundred per cent.

In other words, it is all right with these papers for a man to make all kinds of promises and then repudiate the last one of them, but for one seeking office to be careful what he promises is nothing short of tragedy for the country.

Our opinion of Mr. Landon's commitment on some of these national questions is that he is cautious of what he says, because when he makes a promise he intends for it to be his bond. Mr. Landon is not going to promise everything from Hades to Utopia and then when he gets in do everything but what he promised, as did Mr. Franklin Delano; but Mr. Landon is going to know that he can do it before he says he will. Mr. Landon wants votes, but he does not want them bad enough to make false proimses to get them.

Timing--Yes, Two-Timing

President Roosevelt is making a series of what he is pleased to call "non-political" trips, but we wonder if he deceives anyone but himself with such a label. It is obvious to all that these trips reek to the rankest kind of politics, especially as it seems to be his purpose to "blanket" any part of the country which Governor Alf Landon plans to visit.

Our president professes to be greatly interested in the drought sufferers in the West, so he must go to look over the ravages of the weather. Instead of hastening there, however, to do as much good as possible, he times his trip west so it will coincide almost exactly with a speaking trip to the East by Governor Landon.

What elementary hypocrisy. Fortunately, in this country, the people have been able to see through such vain pretensions and there are signs that they again will read the signs aright on the next election day.

TURNING TO THE GENTILES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 14:8-13, 19, 20; Romans 10:8-15.

GOLDEN TEXT—I have set thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the uttermost part of the earth. Acts 13:47.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What Happened in Lystra.

JUNIOR TOPIC — When the Gospel Came to Lystra.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —Christianity Facing Other Religions.

The progress of the first missionary journey into gentile territory had brought Paul and Barnabas from Cyprus to Antioch of Pisidia in Asia Minor, where Paul preached with great power. Persecution by leading Jews then led them to go on to Iconium where they tarried for a long time preaching "the word of grace" in the face of many difficulties. Next they came to Lystra, in which city we consider first the experiences of

I. The Messengers (Acts 14:8-13, 19, 20).

They were immediately faced with the case of a man crippled from birth — outwardly hopeless, but having that inward faith which Paul at once recognized. He speaks, and God works in mighty

1. Power (vv. 8-10).

Faith releases the unlimited power of an infinite God. It did in Lystra almost nineteen hundred years ago. It does today wherever men believe God. The miracle of healing which took place created a sensation which resulted in great

2. Popularity (vv. 11-13).

The heathen people were looking for an incarnation of their gods. The supreme god in their mythology was Jupiter, and his chief attendant was Mercury. In Paul and Barnabas they thought they saw these two gods, and began to give them acclaim and honor.

The flesh loves popularity. Few temptations are so appealing and so treacherous to the Christian worker as a desire for popularity. Paul and Barnabas might have argued that such public esteem would help them in their later proclamation of the gospel. Or they might have fallen into the specious fallacy of those who say that the approach to the heathen is by way of an appreciation of their religions, and by an adaptation of gospel truth to their philosophies.

True servants of God like Paul and Barnabas were not to be misled into either of these pitfalls. They vehemently turn away the false popularity and earnestly urge the people to "turn from these vanities to the living God." Such faithful and self-denying witness to the gospel is greatly needed.

There followed at once a startling change in the attitude of the people. The fanatical Gentiles are joined and stirred up by equally fanatical Jews who had followed the missionaries, and we soon find them meeting

3. Persecution (vv. 19, 20).

Fickle and short-lived is popularity with men. Let us labor to please God rather than men.

Paul was stoned and left for dead. But God had not forgotten him. He never forsakes his own. It is believed by many that even while being stoned and near to death, Paul was having the experience which no other man ever had, and which he describes in II Cor. 12:2-5. Be that as it may, God miraculously brings him to life and full vigor at once, and the messengers go on their way to Derbe. As they continue their ministry we turn aside for a glimpse into one of Paul's epistles to consider

II. The Message (Rom. 10:8-15).

The carrier of a message is important, but of far greater import is the message that he carries. The word which Paul preached, and which you and I must teach and preach if we are faithful to our calling is "the word of faith." It is the glorious good news that "Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

Reader, have you called on his name? Have you admitted your need of salvation, and in your earnest desire to be saved have you abandoned every trust in self-righteousness or self-improvement and believed on him in your heart as your personal Saviour? If not, "Now is the day of salvation." If you have, it is your privilege and your duty to confess him "with the mouth," telling everywhere by faithful life and testimony that Jesus still saves.

The Getting of Wisdom

True wisdom is a thing very extraordinary. Happy are they that have it; and next to them, not those many that think they have it, but those few that are sensible of their own defects and imperfections, and know that they have it not.—Tillotson.

Money and Health

Money is the thing most envied, but the least enjoyed. Health is the thing most enjoyed, but the least envied.—Colton.

Mrs. Irby Deramus, of Verbena, was a business visitor to Clanton Saturday.

State Capitol News

Montgomery.—As Alabama's 600,000 public school children prepare to return to their class rooms this month for a school term that is sure to collapse unless sufficient revenue is provited to assure them a full term, education leaders throughout the state are working feverishly to solidify public sentiment in their demand for more funds.

Meanwhile Governor Graves has revealed nothing of his plans regarding another special session of the Legislature. Because the lawmakers muffed their chance to solve the school problem during the abortive 1936 extra session, the Little Colonel is unwilling to call them without definite assurance that they will do something.

Petty partisan differences and the blandishments and threats of lobbyist of vested interests are responsible for this fifth Annual School Crisis, in the opinion of competent observers.

High school students in Alabama will receive approximately $150,000 out of the National Youth Administration during the 1936-37 school term, according to anouncement of J. E. Bryan, state director.

Students between 16 and 25 years of age who are unable to continue their studies because of financial difficulties will receive allowances of from $3 to $6 a month.

A bill to enable Alabama to obtain approximately $60,000 a year from the Federal Government under the Social Security Act for the State's 700 indigent blind will be introduced if a special session of the Legislature is called, according to anouncement of A. H. Collins, commissioner of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Pledged to support William Lemke for President and Thomas O'Brien for Vice President of the United States, sixteen Union Party candidates have been certified to Secretary of State Turner, and their names will appear on the ballat for the general election in November.

Three new WPA construction projects for Alabama totalling $16,826 have been approved by the Comptroller General and will be started soon, according to Ray Crowe, State WPA Administrator.

The State Highway Department has advertised for bids to be opened September 17 on a grading, draining and paving project of one and three quarter miles on the Fayette-Townley road in Fayette county, and the construction of a steel and concrete bridge on the same road over the Sipsey River.

Though most of the activities of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's activities were declared unconstitutional last spring by the U. S. Supreme Court, Alabama farmers had received a total of $31,420,987.87 up to June 30.

"King Cotton" received the lion's share—$30,167,846.46; tobacco, $6,946,-.92; corn and hogs, $726,273.16; sugar, $33, 091.31, and $487,190.02 for peanuts.

U. C. Jenkins, of Faunsdale, was elected president of the newly organized Alabama Livestock Growers Association here last Friday. Allen E. Grubbs, Jr., Livingston, was chosen as vice president and K. G. Baker, Marion Junction, secretary-treasurer.

Gasoline tax collections for the month of August on sales made in July, indicate complete recovery from the depression in Alabama, especially the gasoline industry.

Each county's share of the road fund to be distributed on or before September 10 will be approximately $7,800.

PREACHING AT ALMS HOUSE

There will be preaching at the county Alms House Sunday afternoon, September 6th, by Rev. Henry Hart. The public is cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Patterson and children, of Wylam, visited relatives in Enterprise community last week end.

Mrs. R. G. Walker and sons, Gardner and Dovard, of Birmingham, Ala., are visiting Mrs. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Gardner, and other relatives of Verbena. She is also visiting her sister, Mrs. W. F. Irvin, of Clanton.

Mr. Cary Baker and family of Birmingham are visiting the family of P. C. Marcus and other relatives in Clanton and vicinity this week. Mr. Baker lived in this county, in Friendship community, up until two decades ago, when he moved to Birmingham. His many friends here are always glad to have him move back to see us.

PROVIDENCE
BEAT 13

We can say that the Lord was with the people of Providence Baptist church the third week in August, because the Christians people were there and ready to render any service that they could.

Brother Greene, the pastor, ran the revival with the assistance of two older ministers, Rev. R. M. Honeycutt of Jemison, and Rev. J. C. Thomas of Beatsville. We are thankful to say that there were 22 additions to the church by baptism and four by letter. We are sorry that we did not have seat room to accomodate all of our visitors. We extend to you an invitation to come to our Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock, and preaching every third Sunday at 1:00 o'clock.

HOW MANY?

Albert: "Ha! ha! How many wheels has the bally thing"

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE FIRST SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The singing society will meet at Enterprise schoolhouse on the first Sunday afternoon in September. Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his family quartet will be there and assist in the program. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Bess Thomas is at home after a delightful visit to friends in Texas.

Mrs. L. E. Duncan spent the week end here with his family.

Will They Pass "WITH HONORS"
(or just get by?)

Beginning of School Term is the Time to Think of How Your Child Will Progress

Many a child with the makings of an honor student just "gets by". He starts the school term out with a spurt -- then his grades begin to fall, and by the end of the semester he's "just passing".

There may be several reasons for this, but eyestrain is one proven reason. Doing lessons in poorly lighted classrooms and then having homework to do at home in insufficient light can dull the interest of the most enthusiastic boy or girl.

Now Is the Time to Do Something About It
EYESTRAIN PICKS ITS VICTIMS YOUNG!

BLACKETTERS ON VACATION

Mr. D. L. Blacketter, of Yellow Front Store, wife and daughter are taking their vacation this week. The first of the week they are visiting in Chattanooga and vidinity; they will return to Clanton Wednesday afternoon, and Mr. Blacketter intends to spend a few days near here fishing.

While Mr. Blacketter is away from the Yellow Front Store, that place is being operated by Mr. G. R. Oswalt, from Fayette, Ala. Mr. Iswalt is general relief man for Sumter Farm and Stock Co.

NO CITY ARRESTS

Mayor C. Fenn Jones gave out the information last Tuesday morning that no arrests were made by city officers during the past week. Mayor Jones smiled as he gave out this information, and seemed quite pleased about it. He said that the reason was not that the officers were slack on their jobs, but that Clanton's people are, day by day, in every way, getting better. All of which pleases us very much.

SHERIFF REPORTS FOUR ARRESTS

Sheriff J. R. Hardy reported four arrests by his force during the past week. The sheriff's force has been very busy, however, delivering hundreds of grand jury subpoenas. The four arrests were as follows:

One for non-support. Bond for $250.

One for robbery. In jail. In this case, a man was serving a federal sentence in the penitentiary at Atlanta; his sentence in that case being finished, Chilton county officers went to Atlanta and brought him back here to answer the robbery charge.

One for abusive, indecent and obscene language. In jail.

4-H Club Work

Chilton County 4-H Jersey Cattle Club is planning a cattle show at Clanton September 19th, 1936.

The 4-H Club leader reports that there are 26 members that have pure bred calves and cows that they will show.

Purpose of this show is to develop more interest in the breeding of more pure bred cattle in the county. In addition to the Jersey cattle there will be a few Gurnseys, Herefords and possibly some Angus.

the 1932 election, where will he stop if given a vote of confidence by the American people?

It is well to remember, also, that even though Mr. Roosevelt may not want to go all the Red way, he may find that he has started something he cannot stop, as more than one radical politician before him has done. At the outset of the Russian revolution, the control of affairs was in the hands of a bunch of "moderates" headed by Kerensky. The government of Russia, for a while, was like that of the United States today—not Red, but a pink shade verging on to Red—socialistic, but not yet Communistic. This did not suit the extreme radicals, who seized control, drove Kerensky and his friends into exile, and established the present Bolshevik regime, which loves Mr. Roosevelt so. The lesson is that when you start giving people something that belongs to somebody else, it is hard to stop. We have always had a radical element in this country which had rather take another man's earnings than to work, and with this element coddled and encouraged by the government, itself, there is no telling where we may wind up.

So we are not at all surprised that Roosevelt enters the campaign with Moscow's blessing, and that the same Bolshevik gang opposes Landon, "who represents the forces which oppose the development of class war and revolution in America." Our people, fortunately, will have a voice. They have their chance to say whether they want Roosevelt, regulation and regimentation, or Landon and the individual liberties which are the foundation of the American system. Whether they want the government to exercise a regulation and control over their personal affairs—in fact, whether a man is to be allowed to have such a thing as personal affairs any longer. Whether we are to continue as a land of freedom, respecting the rights of the individual, a land of opportunity, where ability and initiative are rewarded; or regulated and herded together like a bunch of sheep, or the miserable peasants under the heel of the Old World dictators.

We have enough faith in the American people to believe that when the returns are in on November 3rd, some very sad news will travel over the wires to Mr. Roosevelt's Red allies in Moscow.

Landon Leading 2 To 1 In Poll

Newspaper and Digest Polls Give Kansan Heavy Lead In Early Returns

New York, Sept. 3.—Sweeping ahead rapidly, Governor Landon led President Roosevelt by a vote of almost 2 to 1 in the second week's tabulation of the poll being conducted by 3,000 country newspapers in co-operation with the Publishers' Autocaster Service and the American Press.

To date the poll has tabulated the sentiments of 213,211 country newspaper readers scattered through 33 states. The recorded Landon vote thus far is 126,559 to 78,273 for President Roosevelt with the other Presidential candidates—Lemke, Thomas, Colvin, and Browder tailing far behind.

Governor Landon showed a gain of 3.55 per cent over the first tabulation. The votes cast for President Roosevelt in the same period dropped 8.41 per cent.

The results, as announced for the end of the second week, are:

	Votes	Percent
Landon	126,559	59.35
Roosevelt	73,273	33.89
Lemke	10,161	4.76
Thomas	1,794	.85
Colvin	724	.35
Browder	1,697	.80

Landon Leads Roosevelt, 2 To 1, In Digest Poll

Landon leads Roosevelt by over 2 to 1 in the first scattering returns from four Eastern states in The Literary Digest's nation-wide Presidential poll.

The combined vote in Maine, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, from which ballots are reported in a copyrighted article in the current issue of the magazine, shows 16,056 votes for Landon and 7,654 for Roosevelt.

LANDON GAINS IN FARM POLL

Governor Increases Lead In 24 Out Of 31 States Recorded

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Returns from the second week of the presidential poll being conducted by more than 3,000 country newspapers give Gov. Alf M. Landon a substantial and increasing lead over his New Deal opponent. This week, out of 213,211 votes cast in thirty-three states, the governor has 59.35 per cent, and President Roosevelt has 33.89 per cent. Last week, out of 74,703 votes polled, the Kansan was in the lead with a percentage of 50.8 to 42.3, a gain of 8.4 points to his opponent.

PREACHING AT COURTHOUSE SUNDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 13

Dr. T. C. Casaday, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church in Montgomery, will preach in the Court House in Clanton Sunday, Sept. 13, 3:00 P. M. Dr. Casaday is well known in Alabama from his daily radio programs conducted during the past six years over the WSFA Station in Montgomery. He recently held successful revivals at Walnut Creek church. This service is a closing service of the revival. All are invited to attend. Dr. Casaday's first ministry was in this county. He has held many revivals in different churches since his pastorate here closed. A male Quartette will accompany Dr. Casaday from Montgomery and will render several numbers in the Sunday service.

DR. CLYDE FOSHEE HERE

Dr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Foshee, of Madisonville, Ky., were in Clanton recently to spend a few days with the former's father, Mr. C. D. Foshee. Dr. Foshee is a practing surgeon in Madisonville, which is in the western part of the State. He took unto himself a wife only a few months ago.

F. E. & C. U. OF A. TO MEET

A meeting of the Chilton County chapter of the Farmer's Educational and Cooperative Union of America will be held at Mt. Pleasant on Thursday night, September 10, beginning at 7:00 o'clock.

Several speakers are expected to be present to address the gathering, among them, W. T. Bean, W. L. Sanders, and Mr. Wilson of Thorsby.

All members are urgently requested to be present, and any visitors who may wish to attend are cordially invited.

WHERE IS ROAD MACHINERY

Mr. C. R. Wells, of Beat 9, was in the Union-Banner office last Saturday, and said he wanted to have us insert an adv. in the classified column. He said he wanted it to read: lost, strayed or stolen—the road machinery that used to work in Beat 9. The person finding it and returning it to work will be rewarded with election to a responsible county office, maybe.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKING AT CLANTON SATURDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 19

There will be another big Republican rally at the courthouse in Clanton Saturday afternoon, September 19, at 2:00 o'clock. Hon. Paul G. Parsons, of Birmingham, will be the principal speaker; Judge J. Osmond Middleton will be there also. The voters of the county are invited to come to the courthouse and hear the issues of the campaign discussed by Mr. Parsons.

This rally is being sponsored by the Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County and the regular county organization. This will be the apening speech of the campaign in the county. Several more are scheduled later on toward the November election. Watch for other announcments later, but don't let anything keep you from hearing Mr. Parsons at the courthouse the 19th.

ROOSEVELT AND LANDON MEET ON DROUTH

Des Moines, Sept. 3.—Exactly two months to a day from the time when the electorate will decide which of them is to occupy the White House for the next four years, President Roosevelt and his Republican rival, Governor Alfred M. Landon, met here today under politically dramatic circumstances in the midst of a campaign that is beginning to get warm. They were here to discuss the drouth situation.

They met, not as political rivals for the presidency, but in their official capacities, Mr. Roosevelt as President of the United States, Mr. Landon as the Governor of Kansas, representing only his state.

Through crowded, flag-draped streets he motored to the capitol in an open car, hat in hand, waving to the thousands who lined the curbs.

It required almost 40 minutes for the presidential motorcade to traverse the circuitous route from the station to the capitol.

Mr. Roosevelt reached the capitol well in advance of Governor Landon. The governor, having motored in from Topeka, was perhaps 25 minutes later arriving than the President.

The half dozen governors of the drouth states gathered in Governor Herring's office at 1:15 p.m., and the President was brought in from a nearby chamber. He greeted them all in turn, Governor Herring acting as host.

"How do you do, Mr. President," said Mr. Landon.

"How do you do, Governor," responded Mr. Roosevelt.

Then, Mr. Roosevelt added as an afterthought:

"I understand you had a long hard drive, Governor."

"Yes", replied the Kansan, "but I got here on time."

That was the extent of the preliminary exchanges. Mr. Roosevelt was the President of the United States; Mr. Landon was the Governor of Kansas. They played the part.

SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP ON FRIDAY NIGHT THIS WEEK

There will be singing at Friendship church Friday night of this week, beginning about 7:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come and bring your new books.

WESTERN TIRE & SUPPLY CO. IS NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS

The Western Tire & Supply Company is now open for business, located in the new building of George McCain on the highway. The store here and one in Bessemer by the same name, are owned jointly by Messrs. R. H. Harding and J. J. Freeman, both of Bessemer. The Clanton store will be operated by Mr. Freeman, and the one in Bessemer by Mr. Harding.

The new store will handle Fisk tires, guaranteed batteries, and new parts for all popular makes of cars. They will also carry a large line of special accessories for automobiles, all kinds of ignition supplies, Etc.

COUNTY OFFICERS ARREST SEVEN

Sheriff J. R. Hardy reports that officers in his department made seven arrests during the past week. These were as follows:

One for Bigamy. Bond for $500.

One for grand larceny. In jail.

One for violating the prohibition law. Bond for $300.

One for reckless driving. In jail.

YOUNG REPUBLICAN SECRETARY NAMED

Miss Cleo Broadhead, of West End, Clanton, was named county secretary of the Young Republican Federation of Chilton County, to succeed Mrs. Gertrude P. Calloway, who resigned some weeks ago. Miss Broadhead now has charge of the work and has authority to transact business for the organization.

SOL'S BARGAIN HOUSE HAD CROWD SATURDAY

Mr. Sol Levine, proprietor of Sol's Bargain House, in the old Tom Kemp building, says that he had a fine start-off last Saturday. He has a very neatly arranged display of goods in his store, and has many attractive bargains. There will be more next Saturday, according to Sol, and the people are urged to get them.

Citizens and Taxpayers Meeting Called For Saturday, Sept. 12th

A citizens and taxpayers mass meeting has been called by Judge J. Lee Smith and the commissioners court for Saturday, September 12. Judge Smith states that members of the court, and Mr. Arledge, the road supervisor, have agreed to be at the meeting to talk over road matters with interested citizens and taxpayers of the county.

It is hoped that all interested citizens and taxpayers will be present and take part in the discussion, in hope that some plan can be arranged whereby the road situation can be settled. This meeting is scheduled for 2:00 o'clock on next Saturday, September 12.

Judge Smith's letter reads as follows:

"A citizens and taxpayers meeting will be held at the court house, Clanton, Ala., on Saturday, September 12, 1936, at 2:00 p.m. This meeting was suggested by the editor of the Chilton County News, which suggestion met with our approval.

"The meeting has been arranged, with our commissioners and Hon. T. J. Arledge, road supervisor, and they have agreed to meet with our citizens and taxpayers, and I, as your probate judge, urge every citizen and taxpayer who is interested in our roads and the finances of our county to be present at this meeting. I am, yours very truly,—J. LEE SMITH, Judge of Probate.

FOURTEEN YEARS IN CLANTON

Last Sunday the Ezells celebrated the closing of their fourteenth year in Clanton with special services at Clanton Baptist church. The regular routine was dispensed with and a strictly informal service was indulged in by the pastor, his family and members of the Baptist congregation and other friends of the Ezells. It was a great service, enjoyed by both the honorees and by those friends bestowing the honors.

But this service was inadequate of its purpose, just as this printed tribute to the Ezells is inadequate. Neither spoken nor printed words can begin to express what this family of people has meant to this community during the past one and four-tenths decades; and what The Union-Banner is saying, we hope, will not portray the idea of flattery. We mean every bit of it and it is not vanity.

The work done by Dr. S. J. Ezell and Mrs. Grace Hicks Ezell since they came here is unsurpassed by the service rendered Clanton by any two people ever before during this length of time. The reason they have been able to do this degree of good has depended much upon their technique in dealing with people who have different views, and maintaining harmony where naturally there would be friction and strife. Just to make it in plain language, the Ezells have been able to accomplish and maintain for fourteen years that which all other pastors have found extremely difficult in Clanton—namely, comparative harmony among and between the members of the church. This accomplishment alone has been worth their efforts.

But the work in Clanton Baptist church does not cover their activities. All of Chilton county has felt their influences. In the two Baptist associations of the county they have done appreciable work. They have lent helping hands to those in Clanton and outside of Clanton who had other church affiliations, and even to those who belong to no church. Visiting the sick—at home and in hospitals, consoling the bereaved in times of trouble, lending advice and help to those in need, have been only a few of the things they have done to endear themselves in the hearts and lives of many people not only in Clanton, but over the county.

We might sum it up in these few words: Clanton is a better place in which to live by the Ezells having worked here for fourteen years. Their influence for good here will live long after they have passed to their reward.

C. B. Cox Cites Figures Bearing On Road Situation In County

To the people of Chilton Couny:

There having come to my attention various statements relative to the commissioners court and the road supervisor and the present conditions of our roads and bridges, I feel that you people are entitled to know the facts as born out by the figures from the treasurer's report as to how your money has been spent by your officers and road supervisor.

The road supervisor, as you well know, took charge May 1, 1936.

I have no desire to protect anyone or criticize anyone unjustly for their practices, so I am giving you the figures which are born out as being correct from an auditor's audit of the treasurer's report, which are as follows:

In May, 1935, the Commissioners spent	$6,556.33
In May, 1936, the road supervisor spent	4,806.38
Difference	$1,749.95
In June, 1935, the Commissioners spent	$6,349.90
In June, 1936, the road supervisor spent	5,088.30
Difference	$1,261.60
In July, 1935, the commissioners spent	$8,380.07
In July, 1936, the road supervisor spent	4,247.68
Difference	$4,132.39
In August, 1935, the commissioners spent	$6,105.75
In August, 1936, the road supervisor spent	3,849.46
Difference	$2,256.29
In September, 1935, the commissioners spent	$8,200.85
Amt. appropriated supervisor for September, 1936,	4,000.00
Difference	$4,200.85
In October, 1935, the commissioners spent	$9,995.99
Amt. appropriated supervisor for October, 1936	4,000.00
Difference	$5,995.99

YOUNG REPUBLICANS OF BEAT 14 CALLED TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

For the purpose of organizing a unit of the Young Republican Federation in Beat 14, there will be a meeting at Freeman schoolhouse on Monday night, September 14, beginning at 7:00 o'clock. A beat chairman and secretary will be chosen, and other matters pertaining to the beginning of the unit will be attended to. Honorable Percy M. Pitts will speak, and probably others. The young citizens of the Beat, men and women, are urged to attend. Mr. Lloyd Howard, of Thorsby, will be present and render some pieces on his accordion. You will certainly want to hear this.—Clifford Manning, county chairman; Miss Cleo Broadhead, secretary.

Mr. W. F. Holcombe, of Birmingham and Ensley, was in Clanton Monday, and while here placed an adv. in The Banner offering his place in Thorsby for sale. He has a fine orchard and place up three, 20 acres, to dispose of.

SUSPECTED SLAYER OF AMOTT STOPPED IN CLANTON MONDAY

Without creating much excitement, Birmingham officers parked their car in Clanton Monday about noon, and they together with F. E. Greene, got out of the car and took dinner at one of the local cafes. Mr. Greene, handcuffed, was taken to a local barber shop, where he got a shave. These chores performed, the officers and the prisoner got back in the car and departed.

Greene is held in connection with the slaying Tuesday of Wesley D. Amott, whose body was found Saturday between Wetumpka and Prattville on a lonely road. Greene was arrested in Amott's car down near Demopolis last Thursday. He is now in jail in Wetumpka.

While in Clanton, Greene was in the custody of Officers James Norrell and Virgil Sandefer. Chief of Detectives, G. C. Giles, of Birmingham, was at the head of investigation in the alleged slaying.

LITERARY DIGEST BALLOTS MAILED TO PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

Individual ballots have been mailed to voters of Clanton and nearby communities in a new Literary Digest poll of over 10,000,000 persons to ascertain who will be next President of the United States. The votes should be distributed by the Post Office locally within a days, according to advice received to-day from the magazine's publishers.

Alabama's returns in this referendum will be tallied as a unit so they may be compared with the voting in other states, it is announced.

The voting of the post-card ballots is secret as no signature or other indentification is required and the return postage is paid by magazine. To guard against tampering and counterfeiting a specially manufactured cardboard is used for printing the ballot, according to the sponsors of the poll, and all spurious votes can be detected immediately and destroyed.

The ballot asks the voter's choice of the seven officially nominated candidates and for whom he or she voted in the 1932 election to reveal the general drift from one party to another.

This is announced as the fourth quadrennial national Presidential poll conducted by The Literary Digest. The three previous polls have forecast the Presidential winner with "uncanny accuracy."

Ballots are reported being mailed from the magazine's headquarters in New York at the rate of over 350,000 per day and will continue until every section of the country has been sent its proportionate share of the total being mailed.

A CORRECTION

The Union-Banner takes this occasion to correct an error in the article in last week's paper relative to the death of Mrs. Viola Caroline Rhodes. In that article, among the names of survivors should have appeared the name of an only son, Jesse James Rhodes, of Clanton Route 2. This name was ommitted through an oversight, which we regret very much.

OPEN HUNTING SEASONS FOR CHILTON COUNTY GAME

Mr. A. R. Lightsey, game warden, announces the new law on the hunting of game in Chilton county. The hunter can legally kill 10 squirrels a day, and the open season is November 20 through January 31st. The bag limit of quail is 12 a day, and the open season is November 20th through February 20th.

Turkey gobblers may be killed one a day, limit of five a season, and the dates are November 20th through December 31st, and March 15 through April 15th. Twenty doves a day may be taken, beginning November 20th and going through January 31st.

Mr. Lightsey urges all sportsmen to observe these laws in hunting the game of Chilton county. Game laws are intended as a protection to the game so that hunters next year and the next may have the same pleasure of taking game that we do this year. The laws are intended to help those who hunt rather than be a hinderance to hunters.

FARM UNION SECRETARY TO SPEAK AT NEWALA SUNDAY

Edward E. Kennedy, National Secretary - Treasurer of the Farmers Union will speak to the farmers and laborers of Shelby, Bibb and Chilton Counties at Newala schoolhouse, on the highway between Calera and Montevallo on Sunday, September 13, at 2:00 p.m. The public is invited.—M. R. Douglas, District Secretary.

NEW HOME AGENT FOR CHILTON COUNTY CHOSEN

Chosen as the new Home Demonstration Agent for Chilton County is Miss Meta Elizabeth Grace, from Jasper, Ala., who came here and took charge of the work this week. Miss Grace takes the place of Miss Ruth Pardue, former agent, who goes from here to Enterprise, Ala., to work for the Resettlement Atministration. Miss Partue will leave Clanton some time this week.

Dr. J. E. Gowan In Mayor's Race

Eleven Named On Ballot For Councilmen; Five To Be Elected

Dr. J. E. Gowan, prominent citizen of Clanton, last week made his public announcement through The Chilton County News of his intention to run for the office of Mayor of Clanton, opposing the present Mayor, Mr. C. Fenn Jones.

Dr. Gowan has been most instrumental in assisting Clanton in its phenominal growth during the past two or three decades, by contributing in various ways toward its advancement. One of his principal acts of generosity was when he donated the land for the County high school some years ago. He has always maintained a progressive spirit toward the entire community.

Concurring with Dr. Gowan in his promise to reduce the water rate, use every effort to have the city schools run full term, and other worthwhile ventures, are the following named gentlemen for councilmen: M. Z. Atchison, T. W. Kemp, R. W. Lowe, John D. Mullins, and Hugh Thompson.

In all there are eleven condidates for the council, from which five are to be elected. Besides those named above, they are: L. E. Diefenderfer, H. G. Heflin, J. Watts Moore, Wiley M. Bean, Willie A. Crowson, and H. S. Shaw.

The city election will be held Monday, September 21st.

MAKE YOUR OWN COMPARISON

Landon is no superman. Neither he nor those who know Landon best assert or conclude that the Republican candidate is a reconstructor of the world.

Landon is the plain American type, a product of American opportunity and individual advantage of of that opportunity. He doesn't plan on making a new world or a new United States but to retain the principles of government that have made this the greatest of all countries, the principles that not only the country but the same principles which operated to buy and pay for the farm the former hired man owns today.

Not a theorist destroying that which has proved itself in order to experiment on that which has failed over and over again. Just a sane, able, American type who found opportunity for himself and would preserve it for others. The very type of man this country desparately requires as an antidot that has made a bedlam out of American politics and American government.

This country needs Landon. It requires the common sense in government that Landon has shown as governor of Kansas.

LANDON SPEAKS TO YOUNG VOTERS ON SEPTEMBER 11TH

Governor Alfred M. Landon will broadcast a special address to the youth of the nation on the afternoon of September 11, at Topeka. The speech will be made at three o'clock, Central Standard Time, over the Red Network of the National broadcasting Company.

Many Young Republicans are organizing motor caravans to go to Topeka on the 11th; while others who are unable to make the trip are taking advantage of this occasion to hold local rallies and meetings,

All young citizens, and old ones too, are urged to tune in on your local radio station.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKING AT BETHSALEM CHURCH SEPT 25.

There will be a meeting and speaking in the interest of the Republican candidates and campaign in Chilton County at Bethsalem church on Friday night, September 25th, beginning at 7:00 o'clock. Judge J. O. Middleton will be among those to speak.

The public, both ladies and men, are cordially invited to attend this meeting. It is sponsored by the Young Republican unit of Beat 6, but the regular county campaign committee will have direct charge. Therefore, the meeting will be for old and young—women and men.—C. M. Billingsley, chairman; Sam Williams, secretary.

JOHN TEEL HERE

For the first time in eighteen years, Mr. John Teel, of Washington, D. C., was in Clanton last Saturday. He was accompanied by his brother, Ed, of Birmingham, and his father, Will F. Teel, also of Birmingham.

John is a stout, well developed young man, and has the earmarks of a real business man. He married a fine Arkansas girl and they have one son.

REV. GREEN REPORTS VERY SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL MEETING

Rev. J. N. Green, of Jemison, reports to The Union-Banner that he has just recently closed his sixth protracted meeting this summer, and in all of them there have been additions of sixty-six members.

Three of these meetings were held at churches in Chilton county which Rev. Green postors—Mars Hill, Oak Grove and Phovidence. Three of the meetings were held in Jefferson county. The largest list of additions was at Providence where the membership was increased by 22.

BILLINGSLEY SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 14th

The Billingsley school opens September 14th, at 9:00 o'clock. Rev. Chas. H. Childreth, of Plantersville, will conduct the devotional and speak to us. Everybody is cordially invited to attend the opening exercises.

Below is a list of the teachrs: Miss Mabel King, Miss Ruth Carter, Miss Mary Lou Gaines, Miss Ethel Ruth Gaines, Mrs. Ada Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nichols, Miss Eloise Clark, Mr. L. K. Paul, Mrs. Mittie Mason Woodward, and Prof. J. D. Griffin. We are negioating with an English teacher, and will have her ready by the 14th.

We sincerely hope that the parents realize the importance of education sufficiently to keep their children in school every day. If they will do their duty then there will be nothing for the attendance officer to worry about in this district.—J. D. Griffin, Principal.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their help and sympathy shown us during the illness, death and burial of our beloved wife and mother. May God's richest blessings rest on each and everyone is our prayer.—W. J. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhodes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Plier.

Notice is given that on next Sunday, September 13, the church body of New Salem Baptist church will call a pastor for the coming year. All members are urged to be present and help in this important work.—H. L. Mims.

LARGE AMOUNT LOANED BY FEDERAL LAND BANK

Federal land bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans made to Chilton County farmers from May, 1933, up to July 1st this year amounted to more than $251,300,000, according to Mr. Edward B. Green, President of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans.

Some 129 loans have been made in the county in the 3-year period since the Farm Credit Administration was organized. While farmers here and elsewhere in the state used most of the money to refinance their old debts into long-term loans, a large proportion of loans is now going to finance the purchase of farms.

The Federal Land Bank loaned the farmers of Chilton County $60,900.00 on first mortgages in the 3-year period, and loaned $190,400.00 from funds of the Land Bank Commissioner on first and second mortgage security.

The Commissioner loans, first authorized in 1933 and made in amounts up to 75 per cent of the appraised normal value of the property, were used almost altogether at first for emergency refinancing. The Farm Credit Act of 1935 authorizing them to finance farm purchases with the odea that this would give many farmers, particularly young men and tenants, a better chance to buy farms. Experience, equipment, and a reasonable down payment are required.

Since the act was passed. Alabama farmers have obtained over $314,856,325 from the land bank and Commissioner to assist in buying farms.

Miss Mary Nell Jones Compliments Miss Eloyse Jones With Shower

On last Wednesday, Miss Mary Nell Jones entertained with a miscelleanos shower complimenting Miss Eloyse Jones, whose marriage to Rev. Maurice Hodgens, of Jemison, took place August 30. The Jones home was effectively decorated in a profusion of summer flowers.

The guests were met at the door by the hostess's mother, Mrs. W. W. Jones. In the receiving line stood the hostess, Miss Mary Nell Jones, who wore a gown of pink organza with a corsage of pink carnations. The bride was lovely in black net with corsage of gladiolus. Miss Margie Nell Jones, sister of the bride, was gowned in orchid net, with shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

The bride's book was presided over by Miss Sallye Mahan. Several beautiful piano solos were rendered by Miss Mary Armstrong.

The gifts were displayed by Mrs. Jesse Jones. Dainty refreshments were served by Miss Harrietta Esco and Miss Mabel Harris.

Miss Eloyse Jones and Rev. Maurice Hodgens Married In Jemison

A wedding of much interest in Chilton County, was that of Miss Eloyse Jones, of Clanton, and Rev. Maurice Hodgens, of Jemison, on August 30.

The church was decorated in ferns and obelia. The alter was banked in ferns and interspersed with candlabras holding white tapers. On each side stood two white standards filled with pink dahlias and tied with pink tulle.

The Rev. Theo Harris, of Birmingham, assisted by Rev. S. J. Ezell, of Clanton, performed the ceremony.

The ushers were Floy Devaughn and Millard Cost. The bridesmaids were Miss Vivian Gray, dressed in a gown of blue satin, and Miss Mary Nell Jones, who wore peach satin. They both wore corsages of gladiolus. Miss Margie Nell Jones served her sister as maid of honor, and was lovely in pink satin with corsage of pink rosebuds.

The ringbearer was John A. Fant, dressed in white linen. John Ezell was best man and entered with the groom. Miss Mary Elizabeth Walker played the piano and Mr. Ralph Grant sang "O Promise Me" and "The Rosary". The wedding march was played by Miss Carrie Dell Gordon, of Deatsville.

Mrs. A. A. Conway entertained with a lovely reception following the ceremony. The bride and groom left immediately after the reception for a short honeymoon.

Mrs. Hodgens will resume her work at Alabama College this week and Mr. Hodgens will continue his work at the seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes Entertained Group At Hayes Camp

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes entertained last week end with a party at Hayes Camp on Coosa River honoring their guest, Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, of Montgomery, and Miss Ruth Pardue, who left Tuesday for Enterprise, Alabama, where she will be connected with the Resettlement Program.

The party consisted of Miss Pardue, Miss Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanley, Mr. Floyd Smith, Mr. Howard Mahaffey and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes and children.

Mr. Charlie Gulledge Entertains Party At Gulledge Camp

Mr. Charlie Gulledge was host to a number of his friends on last Friday evening when he entertained at a chicken barbecue at his camp on Coosa River. The party enjoyed dancing before and after the tempting dinner was served.

The following couples enjoyed the affair:

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Callen, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, of Montgomery.

Clanton Study Club Meets

One of ne most interesting and lovely affairs of the season was on last Friday afternoon when members of the Clanton Study Club and their guests were entertained by Mrs. N. S. Johnson at her home on second Avenue. Beautiful baskets of fall flowers were used to decorate the spacious living room. This was the first meeting of the Study Club for the year and each member brought a guest.

The interesting program was given by children of the Study Club members. Mrs. Mason F. Jones, president of the club, welcomed the club members and guests to the meeting, and also gave a short history of the club, which was organized 13 years ago.

The following program was enjoyed: Piano solo, Jane Roberts; piano solos, Thelma White; negro dialogue, Jean Mullins and Elizabeth Andrews; dance, Susan Powers, Ina Saxon McCraney; piano solo, James Duke Heflin; reading, Ann Ross; piano solo, Bess Hayes ;tap dance, Helen Hayes; piano solo, Mary Courtney Jones.

Following the program punch and dainty sandwiches were served by Misses Ruth Gowan, Helen Roberts, Helen Moore, Priscilla Johnson, Elizabeth McSwean and Elizabeth Hogan, also children of the club members.

The members present were: Mrs. J. E. Gowan, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. Omar Reynolds, Mrs. J. C. Burnett, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mrs J. T. Searcy, Jr., Mrs. M. L. White, Mrs. Dan Hogan, Mrs. Dan Waite, Mrs. Sam Powers of Lay Dam, Mrs. Joe Higgins, Mrs. Grover Walker, Miss Lurlene Harper, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Horsley White, Mrs. J. R. Mullins, Mrs. Henry C. Wilson, Mrs. Reed Mullins, Mrs. Wright of Deatsville, and Mrs. Hugh Jones.

Mrs. J. E. Gowan and Dr. Jesse Sam Gowan were recent visitors in Epps, La. They were accompanied home by Mr. Joe Earl Gowan, who has been visiting his grandmother in Koscisco, Mississippi for several weeks.

The friends of Callen Alred regret to know that he has been ill with malaria fever for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Downs and Mr. Reese Mullins spent Sunday in Eufaula with Mr. and Mrs. Burton Mullins.

Misses Jane and Ruth Gowan, of Koscisco, Mississippi, were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowan and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones last week. They returned to their home Sunday.

Miss Kittye Clyde Austin returned to her home in Selma Monday after spending several days here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes.

Miss Feryl Martin, of Pensacola, was the attractive house guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Wade last week.

Miss Frances Stanley, of Montgomery, reurned to her home Saturday after spending several days here with her brother, Mr. Henry Stanley and Mrs. Stanley.

Mr. Alex Hayes left Tuesday for the University of Alabama, where he will resume his studies.

Many Alabama farmers are planning to produce a number of turnips this fall to supply greens and turnips for human consumption and turnips for livestock.

Mrs. John Mullins and little daughter, Mary Elizabeth, returned Sunday from a visit to Mrs. Mullins' parents in Alicevelle, Alabama.

Miss Nita Grace, of Dadeville, arrived Tuesday to take up her duties as Home Demonstration Agent of Chilton County. Miss Grace takes the place of Miss Ruth Pardue, who goes to Enterprise as District Resettlement House Supervisor.

Miss Mary Ellis is at home after spending two weeks in North Carolina on her vacation. Miss Ellis will not resume her work as welfare worker of the Troy Orphanage in Troy.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Devaughn had as their guests this week and their son, Lincoln Devaughn, of Demopolis.

Miss Ruth Dobyne, of Auburn, Ala., and Miss Nita Grace, of Dadeville, spent Monday in Clanton.

Miss Ruth Gowan left Tuesday for Montevallo where she will enter Alabama College.

Miss Jessie Dorminey, who teaches at Lay Dam, was married Sunday to Mr. Ralph Grant, also a teacher at Enterprise.

NEW COURSE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Public speaking will be taught in Chilton County High School this year. Miss Alice Polk will offer a course in public speaking, platform reading and auditorium. The course will be offered in classroom form. Separate classes for Senior High and Junior High School pupils.

This is the first year this course has been offered in Chilton County High School, and this is especially important for Junior and Senior pupils who will be taking part in plays and graduating exercises. Miss Polk received her certificate in Dramatic Art from Athens College. Miss Polk enjoyed a very successful year in the grammer school last and will continue her classes this year in the Grammer School also.

The following Clanton girls left this week for Montevallo, where they will enter Alabama College: Miss Guy Lois Dickie, Miss Lois Thompson, Miss Elizabeth MsSwean and Mrs. Hilda Varnell.

Miss Lurlene Harper has returned from a month's visit to her sister, Mrs. Sam Johnson in California. Miss Harper will resume her work in the Birmingham schools on September 21.

THE MAINE ELECTION

Maine is anything but an infallable political barometer. But Maine is one of the Eastern States which the New Deal has tried to buy. This is why the Maine state election on September 14 is of unusual interest. If the unanimos reports of politicial observers and indications of all the straw polls are correct Maine will go Republican by the extraordinary ratio of more than two to one. This means that Mr. Landon will beat Mr. Roosevelt in Maine by as large a majority as that by which Mr. Hoover beat Mr. Smith in 1928—a record in papular uprisings in the state.

When Mr. Roosevelt advocated the utterly fantastic tide-harnessing scheme at Passamaquoddy, his political advisers believed it would determine the election. It now looks as if it would—but in the opposite sense to that which Mr. Roosevelt hoped. The people of Maine have correctly appraised that venture. And quite correctly, they are judging the New Deal by it. With Yankee common sense they reason that no man who was capable of pouring the taxpayers' millions into such a scheme is worthy of the confidence of the people.

Cynics of the Farley school doubtless may argue that the people of Maine have "gone back on" the New Deal because the money has ceased to pour into 'Quoddy. This is, of course, bunk. Furthermore, it is an insult to the intellegence and loyalty of the people of Maine. And yet the administration has the effrontery to pin its hopes to the assumption that, even if the voters in Maine are smart enough to accept government money, but refuse to sell their votes, the people of other parts of the country can be more easily fooled.

It is to be expected, of course, that if the Maine state election on September 14 goes as heavily against the Democrats as is now indicated, Mr. Farley will stress the instances when Maine was not a correct barometer—as, for example, in 1932. Then the Republicans won by the comparatively small margin of 38,000 votes while the rest of the country was going hell bent for Mr. Roosevelt. But it is a measure of popular approval—or disapproval—of the New Deal policy of extravagance that the Maine election will be a real test. If the voting on September 14 shows as large a Republican majority as is indicated in the polls, the New Dealers will have reason to be dismaled. The country does not always go as Maine goes—but the people of Maine know the New Deal in all of its folly. And in this case, to know the New Deal is to repudiate it. The only question is how much ahead of the rest of the country the State of Maine will be in appraising the New Deal for what it really is.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Sunday, September 6th, was enjoyed by many who assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bussie, near Lomax, to celebrate Mr. Bussie's 80th birthday.

At the noon hour lunch was spread out in the yard under the trees, and plenty of good things to eat was served to all. Mr. Bussie received many nice presents. The attendants at the celebration wish him many, many more happy birthdays.

Among those present were: his daughter, Mrs. Callie Parker and children, Hazel, Leonard, and Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Thompson and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thompson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Parker and Bobbie Earl, all of Sylacauga.

Mrs. Tula Busby and children, Ezra, Hudson, and Jewell, of Goodwater, Mrs. Robert Bean and children, Henrietta and Horace, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade, and Helen Louise, all of Thorsby, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peterson, of Jemison, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hall and little Shirley Elaine of Sylacauga, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Little of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bussie and children, Jay, Arthur, Floyd, Johnnie and Catherine, of Lomax, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bussie, of Sylacauga.

Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Duke and Frances, Mrs. Jacks, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jackson and grand daughter, Lois, all of near Lomax.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith of Thorsby, and Miss Nell Traywick of Collins Chapel.

The occasion was enjoyed by both young and old. The remark was made that Mr. and Mrs. Bussie had a large crowd of really good looking offspring.—A Friend.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mullins and son, Reese, spent the week end in Eufaula, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Mullins.

The L & N IS SENDING over 40,000 YOUNGSTERS TO SCHOOL

So you're sending Mary and Jimmy to school today?

Well, we, THE LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD, are also sending children to school—thousands of them in the states which we serve. We pay over $4,000,000 in taxes annually, and a large part of this money goes for the support of public schools and state universities, helping to modernize your school buildings, providing better equipment, employing more teachers.

But the school isn't the only thing we share with you as a tax-paying home-owner. We, too, maintain a home—a "Home Sweet Home on Rails" for thousands of travelers daily. We buy food and furniture, employ help, make repairs, fix electric lights, wash dishes—just as you do.

Running trains, hauling freight and passengers is an important part of our job. But we never forget that an equally important part of our job is our responsibility to the communities we serve—to be good neighbors in all that the word implies!

L & N RATES ARE NOW LOWEST IN HISTORY

Travel by train is the safest, most comfortable and most economical. Before you consider any means of travel, note these new low L & N passenger rates.

In coaches: 1½¢ per mile

In Pullman Cars: 2¢ per mile, round trip, limit 15 days. 2½¢ per mile, round trip, limit 6 months. 3¢ per mile, one way. These rates are exclusive of Pullman charges.

Air Conditioning: All cars of most through trains and sleeping and dining cars of other L & N trains are air-conditioned. You travel cool, quiet, and clean.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS ADVISED GROW FENCE POSTS

Auburn, Ala.—Due to the scarcity of fence post material in Alabama, the Soil Conservation Service is urging farmers in the erosion control project to grow trees for the production of posts needed on the farm.

"Black locust is used most for this purpose but some catalpa and red mulberry is planted," reports C. E. Newman, in charge of the project at Dadeville.

Black locust is generally favored chiefly because it grows rapidly when properly handled. A legume, locust is also very effective for an erosion control plant. The wood is very durable when used for fence posts. For example, the soil conservation service at Dadeville has a sound black locust fence post which was in the ground for 50 years.

The erosion-control program being carried on in Alabama by the Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service has resulted in the planting of 400,000 black locust seedlings in post patches.

Beds are prepared on the contour at intervals of 6 feet for the planting. The trees are planted 6 feet apart in the rows, are at the rate of 1,210 to the acre. They are fertilized with 400 pounds of high-grade fertilizer per-acre when planted, or soon thereafter. The trees are interplated with a row crop and cultivated for one year.

Brief Farm Notes

Alabama's Production Credit Associations are making loans to farmers to finance the purchase of winter legume seed. Those Associations are located at Anniston, Auburn, Bay Minette, Demopolis, Huntsville Montgomery, Ozark, and Russellville.

On Friday, Sept. 11, the State Board of Agriculture will pass rules and regulations designed to prevent livestock stealing in Alabama. They will become effective October 1 this year.

Alabama livestock producers have organized a state-wide livestock producer's association to encourage more livestock production in the state.

County farm and home demonstration agents, vocational teachers and the State Department of Agriculture in Montgomery are accepting applications from farmers and poultrymen to have their flocks tested and culled under the National Poultry Flock Improvement Plan.

A seasonal decline in prices this fall and early winter will be followed by high prices as supplies of hogs are reduced, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

FARMERS ADVISED TO REPAIR CORN CRIBS

This is very important as food and feed prices are high and insects threaten to do considerable damage," advises Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the zoology-entemology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The time to repair the cribs is before the new corn is harvested and stored, he states. The job is much more difficult after the bins are filled.

STATE WILL IMPORT MANY WORK ANIMALS

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama will have to import about 2,500 work horses and approximately 31,000 work mules, from other states, for replacements alone before the 1937 work season starts, reports J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandry department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"This means that over $5,600,000 in cash will have to be paid out by Alabama farmers for work animals, many of which they might easily have raised," he says.

Breeding is increasing, and it is estimated that there will be about one million horse and mule colts foaled and raised in the United States this year, but death losses in 1936 will be around 1,200,000; so there will be much need for more breeding stock for some years to come, he pointed out.

P. D. B. WILL CONTROL PEACH TREE BORERS

"In north Alabama this material should be applied between October 1 and 5; in central Alabama, October 10 and 15; and in South Alabama, between October 15 and 20," advises Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the zoologiy entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Paradichlorobenzene cannot be used in treating 1, 2 and 3 year-old trees," he advises. "These trees should be wormed by hand.

"For four and five-year old trees, use 3-4 ounce per tree; for 6-year old trees, and older, use 1 ounce per tree; for trees over 12 years old having very large trunks, 1 1-4 ounces may be used," he states.

"Grass, weeds and briars should be removed from around the base of the tree and the soil smoothed off with a shovel. Where gum is exuding from galleries above the soil surface, the soil level should be built up to those points with several shovelfuls of dirt. Apply the correct amount of the chemical in a continuous band 1½ to 2 inches from the trunk, being careful not to place the crystals against the tree, nor too far from it. The ring of crystals is then covered with several shovelfuls of dirt free of stones and trash and packed with the back of the shovel.

"Four weeks after the application the mounds should be torn away from the four and five year-old trees and six weeks later from the older trees."

URGE WAGE SCALE

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 3.—Enactment of a "fair" minimum wage and hour law in Alabama that would "adequately protect the laboring man against exploitation by unscrupulous employers" was urged today by Robert R. Moore, State Commissioner of Labor.

"In some few places within the state," he said, wages of workers, even this year of increasing prosperity, are so far below the bare subsistence level that people are starving to death.

"Those people do not lack for work. In fact, they work long hours, 12 to 14 hours a day—and we have records of instances where they received but three and four cents an hour for their work. They have regular jobs, so are not eligible for relief, and what can they do? Something should be done about it."

School work means Years of Hard use for your eyes. Backwardness in school is frequently the result of defective eyesight. Before children go to school make sure their eyes are fit for study.

Thorsby Scouts Visit Tennessee And Georgia

The Thorsby Troop of Boy Scouts is very fortunate in having Mr. Stanley as their Scoutmaster. Being an excellent woodsman and knowing the places we visited, Mr. Stanley made the trip much more interesting to us.

We left Thorsby at 3:00 o'clock Monday morning, August 23rd. We went through Birmingham, Gadsden, Ft. Payne and Trenton, Ga. Before arriving at Trenton, we saw a phantom mountain. Riding along the road we sudenly saw a mountain top that seemed to be floating in the air. Then we ran into a dense fog and the mountain disappeared. The dense bank of fog had covered all the mountain except the very top, giving the appearance of a mountain floating in the air.

From Trenton we went to Chattanooga, Tennessee. There we visited the old depot and saw an old railway steam engine. This engine was used in the Civil War and was exhibited at the Century of Progress at Chicago.

We rode on through Cleveland to Reliance, Tennesee. Here we left our truck and hiked about five miles up Lost Creek. This creek flows in a gorge between two high mountains. There are plenty of bass, trout and suckers in this stream. But it takes a real fisherman to catch them. It i salso the most deceptive stream of water that I have ever seen. Where the water looks like it is only a few inches deep it may be several feet deep. We found that out when we went swimming. The water is very clear because it flows over rocks. We had a good trail in which to hike. It was an old railroad bed used in haultimber many years ago.

On a trip like this boys are apt to do funny things. As we were cooking our evening meal, J. W. Sorrell was frying a panful of bacon. The grease caught fire in his frying pan. Mr. Stanley told him to turn it over. He meant for J. W. to turn the bacon over. In his excitement, J. W. turned his pan over emptying his bacon in the fire. We were sorry to see him lose his bacon but it was funny.

Being a good scout, J. W. laughed it off and cooked his meal without further accident.

The next morning we hiked back to Reliance and went over a mountain 3,000 feet up. On the top we could see many mountain ranges including some in North Carolina. We went on over the mountains into Ducktown and Copperhill. Here we saw a copper mine.

We ate lunch at Chickamauga battle field on Wednesday. It was very interesting with its guns and bullet scarred trees. That night we camped at Cave Springs, Georgia. While there we explored the caves.

Those who made the trip were: Mr. Stanley, Mr. Minor, Gobby Minor, Charles Robinson, Billy Wagoner, Thomas Kincaid, J. W. Sorrell, Richard Hicks, and Phares Raybon.

Thorsby Institute News

Thorsby Institute will begin its 32nd session on Wednesday, September 16. The opening exercises will be held in the auditorium at ten o'clock a.m. Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

Miss Lois Leech Morton of Thorsby Institute has returned to Thorsby after several week's vacation

Mr. Maddox will not be in the office on Friday of this week. Students who wish to register may see him any other day.

MISS LILLIAN PATTERSON DEAD

Miss Lillian Patterson, age 28, died at the home of her father, Alex Patterson, on Jemison Rte. 1, last Saturday night after midnight. The remains were buried at Cedar Grove Monday, Martin in Charge.

Alex Patterson, father of the deceased young lady, came to this county not long ago.

ROOSEVELT TRIP CALLED POLITICS BY CATTLEMEN

President Exploits Drought Tragedy, Charges Former Head Of Livestock Men

Chicago, August 31.—A flare up of wrath against President Roosevelt for "exploiting the drought tragedy for political purposes" is taking place among Western cattlemen, says a sharply worded message today to the headquarters of the Farmer's Independence Council of America.

Charles E. Collins, Kit Carson, Col., cattleman and former head of the American National Livestosk Association, declared in his message "a fire is being kindled by the head of this nation which might burn the pants off of some of the New Dealers."

Widely known both as a cattleman and a defender of constitutional government, Collins assailed the drought activities in characteristic style as "part and parcel of the scheme to sovietize American agriculture."

Sees Drought Being Capitalized

"First, Professor Tugwell and Secretary Wallace came out to see how the misery of the drought sufferers could be turned to political account," said Collins, who is vice president of the Farmer's Independence Council. "Now the big chief himself is putting on a 'non-political' show to express his deep concern for the victims of nature's scarcity program. Ire and indignation is everywhere expressed over this new bit of brazen political effrontery.

Cattlemen are not so dumb as the New Deal gang thinks. Any plan to relieve the drought situation will be promptly discredited as a sham and a humbug, just as all New Deal schemes have been discredited. Stockmen would trust Stalin or Mussolini as quickly as they would trust Tugwell and disciples of foreign dictators. To destroy our laberty they must first destroy the lives of every patriot of America—and the number is legion.

"Before they finish exploiting the drought tragedy for political purposes they will find a fire is being kindled by the head of the nation which may burn the pants off of some of these New Dealers."

FOUR BALES COTTON ON TWO AND ONE-HALF ACRES

Four bales of cotton on two and one-half acres of land seems to the Union-Banner a fine record for a Chilton county farmer. A bale to an acre is generally considered extra good; but this is nearly double that.

Mr. E. J. Vinson, of Friendship community, reports this raising on a patch on his farm. Or at least, three bales have been picked, and he says he believes he will get another full bale.

Mr. Vinson says that he feels safe in saying that the average for this two and one-half acres will be twenty-five bolls to the stalk. As many as eighty well matured bolls have been counted on one stalk. There are no weevils, Mr. Vinson says.

MAZER'S STORE OPENS BIG AUTUMN SALE

Mazer's Store is this week announcing the opening of their big autumn sale. The store has been completely remodeled, new goods are arriving every day, more sales people have been engaged to take care of the trade, and prices are right, according to Mr. Levine, manager of the store.

The store is packed full of bargains in all kinds of wearing apparel, hats, shoes, piece goods, and in fact anything in this line for any member of the family.

Turn to Mazer's full page advertisement in another part of this paper, and take a look at the specials listed there. Then visit Mazer's Store and look over the whole line.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor returned last night from a visit in Florida. They spent their vacation extending over a week at Pensacola and other near-by points in Florida.

MADDOX-ASTON

Of interest to friends in Clanton will be the marriage of Ruth Aylene Maddox of this city to Boyce Aston of Town Creek.

The two were married in a quiet ceremony at the Sixth Avenue Presbyterian church in Birmingham September 5th. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Weldon of Clanton, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Plier of Town Creek, and Marjorie Brown of Birmingham.

Mrs. Aston is a graduate of Chilton County High School, and Alabama College at Montevallo.

Mr. and Mrs. Aston will make their home at Leighton, in north Alabama.

MRS. FRANCES BUTLER

Mrs. Francis Butler, age 60, wife of R. M. Butler, died at their home on Clanton Route 4, Mt. Pleasant community, last Friday afternoon. The remains were buried at New Harmony, Lomax, Sunday afternoon, Martin in charge. Services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery, assisted by Rev. J. W. Jones. She is survived by her husband.

FATHER OF W. Z. HODGES BURIED

Mr. R. G. Hodges, father of our townsman, W. Z. Hodges, died at his home near Roanoke in Randolph county last Saturday morning. He was 86 years old. The remains were buried at the family burying lot Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges from here, with their son, Bill, attended the funeral of the elderly gentleman.

Mrs. Joe Ben Downs and children, Dorothy and Gus, are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs J. Wiley Foshee, who live near Lakeland, Florida.

Chilton-Shelby All-Star Series Won By Shelby Entry By Four Games To One

CHILTON-SHELBY TOURNEY WON BY SHELBY 4 TO 1

Arrangements were made last week for a series of baseball games to be played between picked teams representing Chilton and Shelby Counties. J. E. Easterling of Clanton and Mr. Walker of Maplesville were handling the Chilton end of the deal, while Harry Kendrick of Montevallo was taking care of the Shelby end. The schedule called for play until one team had won four games.

The first game was played at Clanton last Saturday afternoon, Chilton winning by a score of 3 to 2.

A double header was played at Maplesville Sunday with the Shelby team winning both ends. The first game 3 to 1, and the second 9 to 2.

On Monday another double bill was played. Shelby took both ends of this, also, 6 to 2 and 5 to 2, and the little central Alabama series was history.

CLANTON 3—SHELBY 2

On Saturday, Clanton took the first game of the series, 3 to 2, behind the 4-hit pitching of Jim Burnett. Only 16 Shelby batters faced Burnett during the first five innings. To begin the 6th, Eiland singled and Kendrick sacrificed him down to second; he went to third on Dement's infield out, and was caught off third a moment later on a rifle throw from Tatum to Jones.

Shelby scored in the 8th. Underwood and Little hit successive singles, and Underwood scored on a fielder's choice and an infield out. In the 9th, Dement was safe on Hayes' error; Lee walked for the 4th time in the game; Hartley hit into double killing, with Dement taking third; he scored on Henderson's double.

Chilton scored first in the third; Golson singled, stole second, and scored on a single by Hayes. Chilton scored again in the seventh; with one away, Reynolds singled, and when Eiland picked up Tatum's bunt and threw wild at first, Reynolds raced home.

In the ninth, after Shelby had tied the score 2-all, Cecil Jones was first man up; he hit the first pitched ball for what looked like a homer over the right field wall; Hartley backed against the fence to catch it, stepped into a hole near the fence, and Jones came around with the winning run, while Hartley was stunned by his fall.

Henderson led Shelby's attack with a double; all the other three hits were singles.

Cecil Jones led for Chilton with two safeties. Golson contributed a fielding gem in the third inning when he speared Kendrick's labeled triple.

SHELBY 3—CHILTON 1

In the first game of the twin bill at Maplesville Sunday, Wheeler, Shelby fire-ball artist led the Chilton team down with one lone hit. Wheeler had the boys eating out of his hand, cutting them down in one-two-three order for five innings.

In the sixth an error, a base on balls, and Reynolds' lone hit gave the Chilton team their only score. Wheeler struck out 9.

Golson gave up nine hits and his mates contributed five costly errors. Three successive singles in the second brought in the first run. The other two came in the sixth when the Chilton inner works exploded with a bang; C. Dement's single brought in the two markers. C. Dement and Wheeler led the attack on Golson with a pair of hits each.

Mrs. W. J. White has gone back to Birmingham, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White.

SHELBY 9—CHILTON 2

Chilton's defense blew up again in the last game of Sunday's twin bill, Shelby taking this game 9 to 2. Tucker gave the Shelby team only five hits, but a number of bases on balls, coupled with errors at inopportune moments spelled his downfall.

"Skillet" Bird, a portsider, allowed Chilton four hits. The Chilton batters were tuned up to Wheeler's smoke ball and Bird's floaters had the Chilton boys looking like armless wonders all through the fray.

Shelby scored 2 in the first inning, four in the fifth, and three in the sixth, while Williamson was safe on Underwood's error, Burnett singled and Monroe Hayes tripled.

Chilton bobbled four times and Shelby three times.

SHELBY 6—CHILTON 2

In the first game of Monday's bargain bill, Chilton lost again 6 to 2. "Red" Amos led the locals down with four hits, while Warren was allowing 10. Chilton erred five times while Shelby bobbled twice.

Shelby scored twice in the second when Jones and Hayes each booted the ball, and Eiland followed with a double. Three more came in the third and one in the fifth.

Chilton scored in the first when Jones lifted one of the Amosslants over the centerfield wall. The other came in the sixth as a result of two errors and a single by Jones.

SHELBY 5—CHILTON 2

Monday's nightcap also went to the Shelby team, this by a score of 5 to 2; this was a six inning affair.

Warren tried the iron man stunt and set out to pitch this game also, but retired in the fifth in favor of Golson. Shelby gathered only five hits off Warren and Golson, but one of them was C. Dement's home run clout in the fifth, with two mates aboard. Chilton scored twice in the fourth and called it a day.

This series was especially marked by the excellent pitching of Shelby's hurlers. Too, many of Shelby's players were from the same teaw, Montevallo, and had had quite a bit of playing togather. On the other hand, Chilton's team was picked from pretty nearly all over the county. Kendrick, Wheeler, Bird, Amos and Sherrod all gave a very good account of themselves; Wheeler was especially effective, with his one-hit performance in the first game Sunday. Burnett was the only Chilton pitcher to prove very effective; Tucker got a good game out of his system, but errors ruined his game for him.

At present Chilton and Shelby stand all square in year by year series. Last year Chilton took the series 4 to 3, and lost this year's set. We shall look forward to 1937, when we hope to see picked teams from the two neighboring teams resume the championship scrap.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days again, preaching Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Sunday school Sunday morning at 10:00 with preaching following. Our Sunday school continues to grow. There are 80 on roll now, though there are still some who are not attending Sunday school every Sunday. Won't you come and join us? You will always find a welcome here.

We were very glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Mims, from Birmingham, with us Sunday and we invite them back.

The Rev. Robinson, from Mitchell Dam, will preach here on the third Sunday morning after Sunday school, all are invited to come and hear Bro. Robinson.

Little Harold Wilson, baby of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Wilson, was burned very seriously on Monday of last week when pulling a pan of hot water from a table. It has been, and is yet, in a serious condition, though the doctor seems to think that it is improving some.

Mr. Alton Deloach spent a while Saturday night with Messrs. Ottis and Arnold Glenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudaugh McDowell and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Deloach spent a while Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis.

The Rev. W. H. Wilson made a trip to Birmingham last Saturday.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn spent a while Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Dora Kelley, of Coopers.

Mrs. Allen Gore was here visiting her brother, Mr. Bill Wilson and wife, Sunday.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL GIVES NOTICE TO STUDENTS

The high school principal, Patterson Hicks, will be in his office at the high school Thursday and Friday of this week and each day of next week for the purpose of conferring with any high school students who may have a question to ask about the work for this year. All students moving to Clanton during the summer from other schools are urged to see Mr. Hicks during the next week and arrange for proper classification before the opening day of school. If any of these pupils of last year have any questions about their courses of study for this year, now is a good time to settle these questions before the opening day of school. Mr. Hicks will be in his office 8:00 to 12:00 A.M., and 1:00 to 5:00 P. M., each day mentioned above.

SINGING AT JEMISON HI SCHOOL SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27

There will be an all day singing at the Jemison High School building on Sunday, September 27, the fourth Sunday. New books will be used. There will be plenty of good quartets. Come and bring your new book, and lunch. —J. E. Martin, Chm.

The fall session of the Chilton county singing convention will be held the first Sunday in October, 4, according to announcement made recently by the chairmen, Prof. W. M. Devaughn.

HIGH SCHOOL BEGINS FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Sixteen boys answered the call the first afternoon Coach Varnell of the local high school opened football practice for the 1936 season. The candidates for positions on the team showed up in good condition and appeared eager to get going. Varnell talked of the prospects of the season and some things that would have to be done to have a successful team. Mr. Hicks, the principal, told the boys present he was very much interested in their personal welfare and success and pointed out the things that would mean success in the class room and on the football field.

New uniforms have been bought for the team and when the boys are trained and in good condition they should be able to give a satisfactory account of themselves.

The prospects for a good team this year are encouraging, and barring accidents and bad luck, the C. C. H. S. should come through with several victories from their present schedule. Of course such players as Morgan Reynolds, Jack Gillespie, Frank Hogan, J. D. Jones and Emmett Parrish will be missed. Boys of their ability are always hard to replace. Captain Williamson, Littlejohn, Aldridge, Popwell, Wyre, Mims, Johnson, Thornton, Bean, Armstrong, Lawrence and others will be called upon to carry on where the boys of other days left off. It goes without saying that some of the above boys will develop into star players before the season is far gone.

The first game is with Selma High in Selma on September 25, and Capt. Williamson realizes that he and his boys are in for some hard work in preparation for this contest.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

In a recent issue of the Boston Transcript, in an article bearing on the Eastern European situation, Professor Theodore Smith, of the Massachusetts Institute or Technology, writes this pertinent paragraph:

"No nation which enjoys any standing in the international community can consider itself isolated. Even nations which seem to themselves cut off by geographical accident will be found on inspection to have ties which bind them very closely to the rest of the world. These ties may be economical, racial, linguistic, historical or cultural. In the modern world isolation breaks dow nunder close examination and, in fact, may be said to vary inversely with the degree of civilization attained by the state in question."

What Dr. Smith writes is undoubtedly true. in this modern age of the airplane, the wireless, and international exchange, it is impossible for any nation to attain isolation. The United States is fortunate in the fact that we have 3,000 miles of briny ocean on either side of us. We have determined, not to be isolated, but to remain independent and free from political commitments into affairs that do not concern us, by steadfastly refusing to join the League of Nations, and the League Court, or to entangle ourselves with political alliances. Because we have done so we have maintained our freedom of action, and isolated international political dangers so far as seem possible at this time.

But we must remember that there are international menaces other than foreign battleships and aircraft. We can, and should, develop a defensive to the greatest degree of perfection. Unfortunately, however, no navy, however strong, can protect the Western half from the Eastern political ideals, and especially from poisonous ones, which seem to spread all the more rapidly because of their virulence as do some of our contagious diseases.

Just now Europe is so occupied with its own affairs that each nation over there is too busy to attack the United States, even if it so desired. The danger is lessened by our disposition to attend to our own business so far as European politics are concerned. But Europe is now beset by the dire consquences of development of two extreme ideas—both leading to the common end of dictatorship, and these ideas are Fascism and Cmmunism. From Vladivostock to the Iberian peninsula democracy has given way to absolutism. The Fascist and Communist armies are not going to invade the United States, but their ideals are already here. If American democracy is destroyed, it will not be by autocratic forces from abroad, but by international poison from within.

That is why the American citizen should at this time weigh his public actions well in the light of American tradition and constitutional procedure. If we are to remain a free and individualistic nation, we must choose for office, men who will see to it that the greatest amount of individual liberty is preserved consistent with the public good. We need fear not only the radical soap box orator and the man parading in a black or brown shirt. What we must also be concerned about is a comparatively "mild effort" to regiment the individual and his enterprise, to substitute rapidly growing power at Washington for individual self-government and freedom of action. The clearest symptom of autocracy—whether it be Communism or Fascism, is its attempt to regiment the individual and to take authority from the community and the state and center it in one man, or set of men, in a federal capital. If we permit this to be done—even if it seems harmless at first—we shall find that we cannot isolate ourselves from internationalism, even though we never see a foreign battleship or an alien dirigible.

NATIONALIZING OUR SCHOOLS

No statement to be made during the present campaign by Governor Landon will meet with more general approval than the one enunciated not so long ago in his address at Chautauqua, New York:

"In Kansas, we believe that our schools—public, parochial and private—must be kept free from all control by the federal government."

This local control of the schools of the nation is one which is of vital concern to American democracy. To see that this is true we have only to turn to the situation in Europe where federal control of the educational systems has grown to the nth degree. In Russia the education is but a propagandizing arm of the Red government. Even in the primer grades, the state commences starting the youth in training as a puppet of the communist state. The child is permitted to think nothing good of society out of Russia and is led to believe that the millenium started in Russia with the coming into power of the communist regime.

Germany and Italy have taken a page from the book of the Soviets and have nationalized the schools in the two countries mentioned to the point where Fascism and its twin brother, Nazism, entirely dominate the educational system. The children learn only what the autocratic state would have them learn.

In America the arrangement of our public school system has been entirely different. Each state and community controls its own educational system, and the result has been the development of the greatest democracy of all times.

But in our own country there are men and women who are looking acrss the seas to autocratic Europe for their pattern in educational control as well as in other forms of regimentation. They wuld establish a nationalized system of education in the place of the ones now being operated by our forty-eight states. Standards of education would be controlled by the federal govenrment, the strings leading to the schoolhouses pulled at Washington, and sooner or later the child in Maine and the youngster in Texas would be using the sort of textbooks and learning the sort of educational propaganda that the regimentists at Washington wanted him to learn and use.

Those who want to regiment our educational system and its facilities make the specious plea that they seek to help the children of the nation in the "backward' states. Yet, when it comes to questions of sound democratic principle, there are about as many "backward" folks among the self-appointed school uplifters as there are in the back townships or anywhere else in the country.

Whenever you find a man or a woman anxious to nationalize our public school system and to run it from Washington, you have a first class budding autocrat of the communist, Nazi, or Fascist variety.

OUR MARKETS

One of the indices with which the proponets of the New Deal point with pride as showing a return of prosperity, is the daily stock market report. Because many securities have gone up in value, they tell us, normalcy has returned. The Wall Street Indicator, to them seems more convincing than any statistics of greater expenditures of relief, mounting deficits and millions of needy on relief.

Now the New Dealers themselves have been acustomed in times past to point the finger of scorn at Wall Street and they have tried, so far as possible, to bind in chains the "so-called gamblers" of the stock market. Yet, despite this antipathy they canot refrain from pointing with pride to the upward trend of stock prices.

These are indications, however, that the ticker tape does not truly paint the picture of the nation's economic affairs. In the first place the great mass of the people are in no condition to be benefitted by meteoric rises in Chrysler, or American Telephone and Telegraph. They are too busy paying for ham and flour which have gone up in price through the beneficience of artificial and natural scarcity.

Again there is the suspicion that all this increase in prices may not be real. There is the recollection that it is measured in 59-cent rather than 100-cent dollars.

One thing that should not be lost sight of is that foreign investors and speculators have gone into our market in a big way. Two things have accounted for this. First, because of dollar depreciation, investors in gold standard countries can buy our securities at 60 cents on the dollar. Second, political conditions in Europe are squally and the threat of war so impending that Europeans are anxious to transfer as much of their money as possible to lands which will have nothing to do with the League of nations or the World Court. Hence the demand for American securities.

There is, however, a disturbing note in the theme song. Many economists recall that the great Wall Street panic of 1929 was started by the dumping of securities on our markets of needy Europeans who held them. The market was already over extended and America was unable to absorb what Europe had sent us.

It is estimated that now, with a revival of European holdings in our securities, another serious situation arise should the Europeans, for some reason, suddenly start unloading their American securities again. There are said to be as many European owners of American stocks and bonds in 1936 as there were in 1929.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute, however, strikes a temporarily reassuring note when it says:

"So long as the present political situation in Europe remains unsettled and so long as the financial stability of a number of countries is threatened by large permanent expenditures, there canot be a return of confidence in Europe and, consquently, a repatriation on a large scale of foreign funds lodged in the American security markets."

Here's hoping.

Too often the fellow who has turned over a new leaf ends up by turning back to the first of the book to look at the pictures.

Remember the good days when a well dressed man wore a coat and vest in July and August?

Wouldn't it be nice if we could just yawn the depression out of existence.

A lot of fellows are in favor of free speech only when it is their speech.

A Tory is a fellow who thinks that Uncle Sam ought to live within his income.

MAN IN THE MOON

SEEING THE LIGHT

Politicians are funny people. They do some of the most curious things imaginable. When Mr. Landon made his acceptance speech at Topeka, the press of the nation took it apart much as a jeweler would a watch, just to see what it was made of. Most Democratic papers passed it off as a conglomeration of "glittering generalities", to quote one of them. Other Democratic papers saw solid principle in it and warned their party leaders that here was a man to be reckoned with—a man of sound reason and much forethought. Then there were some Republican papers who seemed disappointed with it, while others had high praise for it.

A few nights later, however, when Mr. Landon made his second speech, at Chautauqua, the press took an altogether different slant on it. The Republican press was delighted with it, and the most partisan Democratic papers had no stones, whatever, to toss at it. The Birmingham News says, editorially: "The News has seen no adverse criticism of that address; virtually all the Democratic papers have hailed it as an honest and sincere effort."

Again, his Buffalo, N. Y., speech has received quite a bit of praise from Democratic papers throughout the country for the sane and sensible passages it contained.

The reason for this quick change, we believe, is a result of an honest study of Mr. Landon, his ideas, methods, and style of delivery of his words.

Mr. Roosevelt is a fine orator, one who delights his listeners with fine passages and flowery words, with gem quotations thrown in for emphasis. During the three years of Mr. Roosevelt's administration, the country has listened to many talks of his; people had come to expect this kind of talk from high officials.

When Mr. Landon speaks, it is very much as if one of your close neighbors sits down to discuss matters with you. His words are plain and easily understood; his statements are to the point; he discusses matters plainly and bluntly; he impresses one as a man who is stating facts rather than one who is campaigning. Naturally, expecting high-sounding speech to which they were accustomed, people were a bit disappointed in this "plain talk." But since that first speech, the nation's people have had time to weigh Mr. Landon's solid and honest words; they recognize his sincerity; and his style is making him friends.

ROADS

As the days and weeks pass, our roads continue to go down, and nothing is being done about it. In last week's issue I had an article about this, and it seems that, to some degree, both sides thought they were being discriminated against. In matters of this kind, when an impartial view is stated, it is customary for both parties to see discrimination, when really there is none.

In writing this article, I want it distinctly understood that I favor neither side of the scrap. I am stating matters exactly as I see them, with no favor nor malice toward either. It is an entirely impartial view, and is published with the one hope that it may in some way, help to bring about a solution to our seemingly hopeless tangle of the public road situation.

In talking over the matter with Mr. Arledge, he stated that the reason he was outlining the expenditures from the Road and Bridge Fund and from the Gasoline Fund was because he thought that Chilton County's people MIGHT make the mistake of taking the view that all funds spent from these two were spent in his department. Really, I believe Mr. Arledge is underestimating the intelligence of our people in taking this view. It is my understanding that a certain sum was to be set aside for "maintenance of the roads", and I can see no good reason why he could think that people would believe that payments for other things than "maintenance of the roads" would be charged to his account.

Mr. Arledge has a certain sum for his work set aside for his use. Of course there are many payments made from the road funds for materials and services other than that under his control. It seems to me that no one would charge such payments against him, and I don't believe our people do. He tells me, however, that there is a widespread idea that anything paid out of the road funds is spent at his order. Yet, although I have talked to quite a number of citizens, I have not found the first one that harbored such an idea.

Therefore, in fairness to Mr. Arledge, it should be known that he is not responsible for all expenditures from the two road funds. One big item is unpaid warrants for goods and services which were due and payable before he took over the road system, but which, for one reason or another, had not been called for until after he began his work. Another is the payment of the salary of the clerk of the Commissioners Court, which comes out of one of the road funds. There are other expenditures of this nature which are paid from these funds. These, of course, Mr. Arledge has nothing to do with, and I believe no one would place against his account.

The bill authorizing position of road supervisor also states that the amounts set aside for the supervisor's use shall be for the building and maintenance of roads, and for expenditures "other than the payment of the salary and expenses of the supervisor." Yet, Mr. Arledge tells me that his salary and expenses are paid out of his own allowance. This should be corrected, of course, if the law is to be tracked to the letter.

Mr. Smith, the Probate Judge, states that Mr. Arledge has exceeded his allowance, already, and that the commissioners court cannot allow more for road work, because they are now giving him all the money they have for this purpose. He further says that when the allowance was made, Mr. Arledge told the commissioners court that the amount was more than he would need.

Mr. Arledge counters that he is below the amount allowed him, and that the report showing him above his allowance is incorrect, in that sums have been charged to his account which are not chargeable to it. He further charges that when he took office, the commissioners court transferred several thousands of dollars then in the road funds to a fund to be set aside to retire county bonds and warrants which will not be due for several years—that if this had not been done there would be plenty of money to carry on the road work.

And so it goes—charge and counter charge—claim and counter claim, with no one seeming to know just what to do about it. So far as the general public is concerned, I think no one has much interest in who is right or wrong—what Mr. Chilton Taxpayer wants is some action in the road tangle, and he isn't at all interested in who takes the action, just so someone does something.

On top of all this comes the report that Charlie Cox expects to put another bill into the legislative hopper to oust the commissioners court. And Mr. Arledge tells me that the reason he will do this is because the present court will not cooperate in the road program.

Again I can't say just who is right here, the court or Mr. Arledge. If Mr. Arledge is right in all he contends for, then the court should unbend. On the other hand, if the court is right, we see no reason why the legally elected representatives of Chilton's people be legislated out of office just because they are not in accord with the views of the road supervisor, in whose selection they had no choice, and whose position the people were antagonistic to in the first place.

In talking the matter over with Mr. Arledge, he stated that the only way for us to have roads is to get rid of the present commissioners court and get one which would cooperate. I reminded him that they were the people's choice to which he replied that "even the people make mistakes, sometimes." I asked him if he thought the Governor could pick better officials for our county, not knowing them, than the people could, knowing them personally as they do. His reply was: "I am not in politics."

Yet, with fairness to all, it is my firm belief that the whole mess is a political one. It is nothing more nor less than a Democratic fight between two factions of their party. Talk to one side and you will be convinced that it is the right side—talk to the other, and their argument is quite convincing. It is an old saying that "Democrats had rather fight than eat, and if they can't do any better, they will fight among themselves." Perhaps this is true. But we must all remember, that while these Democrats are fighting, our roads are going down, and all the people are being made to suffer.—Man in the Moon.

THE REAL SPANISH ISSUE

The rebellion in Spain is not war to establish or defend freedom in the land of Don. Granting that the original revolution which unseated King Alfonso, was led by men, some of whom had in mind the establishment of a constitutional republic, the situation has entirely changed.

The question now is whether Spain shall become a Communist or a Fascist country. All ideas of constitutional liberty have been lost sight of. The rebels, who are said to have enlisted three-fourths of the Spanish regulars, now seem to have in mind the destruction of Communism and the establishment of a Fascist state, while the reds and other extreme radicals have seized control of the so-called royalist government.

The line-up in Europe, outside unhappy Spain, proves what is going on. We see Mussolini and Hitler openly sympathizing with the rebels while Moscow is bending every effort to help the radicals in Madrid. France, with a strongly radical government, under Leon Blum is in sympathy with he Madrid leaders too, while Great Britain is apparently on the fence. If the Fascists win, they may give Italy a naval base in the Mediterranean which would threaten the British near route to India. If the reds win, at is very likely that Portugal will go red, too. And Portugal is a close friend of Great Britain, situated along the route to India, and capable of acting troublesome if Communists controlled.

At any time may come an explosion which will touch off a general European war. Only the quick victory or the sudden suppression of the rebels might lessen the tension. Who knows?

The United States is very wisely keeping out of the mess. There have been suggestions that Uncle Sam use his good offices by attempting to settle the fight. This would be a grave mistake. The war in Spain is one between two antagonistic principles, and it is being fought with savagery and violence little known in modern warfare. Any attempt on the part of Uncle Sam to intervene diplomatically, even with the best of intentions, would undoubtedly result in a whole set of burned fingers. Up to this time nobody has heard of any effort on he part of the much advertised League of nations to settle the Spanish conflict. And there is certainly no justifiable reason for interference on the part of the United States. To "butt in" might involve us in another world war.

THE FLOUR BARREL

Due to New Deal crop control and weather, the United States will be one billion bushels of wheat short for its family flour barrel. That will mean upwards of one hundred million dollars which the workers of this country will pay Canada and other countries for wheat which we should have raised and had in the bin. Canada has a surplus of about one hundred million bushels.

Of course that may not be half of the whole story. You can't tell how much wheat we are going to have until we find out how much drouth we are going to have.

That is one of the troubles of monkeying with the Lord's business. It was customary in this country always to carry sufficient wheat surpluses to take care of the dry years. And of course the farmer profited by it, because his surplus wheat in such times brought him more than would his wheat in a normal year. The New Deal faced a surplus of three hundred-ninety-five billion bushels when it started to wipe out surpluses, a thing that does not spell prudence. That three hundred-ninety-five million bushels would be a Godsend now.

RUDE AWAKENING

The rude awakening of a beautiful dream of federal resettlement and housing experiment continues apace. After three years of much publicized effort, the first housing project of the PWA is ready to receive its tenants. They are being selected now, Lawrence Sullivan points out in Forbes Magazine, from many applicants. The development is known at Techwood Homes; rents charged will average $7.00 per room per month, which includes heat, light and refrigeration. This makes a four-room apartment cost $29.56 per month. Wonderful, isn't it, what real "brain trusters" can do, after applying themselves to the job for three years? Four rooms, in a brand new apartment village, for $29.56. But the joker in the deck is the fact that the rent represents exactly 55 per cent of the total cost of providing these desirable features. The other 45 per cent of the cost is being charged off as a free grant from the government.

Where did the 45 per cent of the cost come from? Borrowed money, that taxpayers everywhere will be obliged to chip in in due time to pay back. The Techwood Homes project near Atlanta, Ga., in other words, is another white elephant that the government either must rent for less than cost, or see stand idle for lack of tenants who can't pay rent high enough to meet the real cost. Needless to say, private enterprise cannot compete with this sort of philanthropy; it would go broke in short order if it tried to. Housing developments, when handled through private channels; are figuring on a "profit on investment" basis, not to return interest on but 55 per cent of the invested capital.—New London Day

Road Supervisor Will Not Be At Mass Meeting Saturday P. M.

(By T. J. Arledge, Supervisor)

What is good citizenship? A good citizen might be defined as one who is consistently law abiding; one whose honesty and integrity are beyond question; one who exercises the duties and privileges of citizenship, including that of voting in city, county, state or national affairs, according to the dictates of his conscience, untrammeled and unfettered by questionable politics, personal influence, personal gain, or other selfish considerations; as one who at all times supports and works for good, sound, and constructive government. It should be his desire to support good government, whether or not national, to encourage a greater and more sincere effort toward law observance, order, and decency, and he should realize that good government should express such qualities as honesty, fairness, unselfishness, justice, and sincerity, its acts being intended to govern with equity toward all, and bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

If we expect such qualities to be manifested in government, and would expect to bring about this ideal state of affairs, we must first see that we ourselves continually express these very qualities. We cannot consistently demand fairness, honesty, unselfishness, justice, sincerity, and love in others while expressing greed, selfishness, dishonesty and hate ourselves.

Therefore, in the light of the above statement, and having former knowledge of mass meetings, I cannot see any real benefit to be gained by such a method. In the first place, for what purpose is the mass meeting called? There have been no charges of misconduct on the part of he various office holders; there have been no acts that might be construed as improper in the handling of the affairs of the county government. I am informed that the purpose of the mass meeting is to discuss the public road situation. But to what end? What can a mass meeting do with the problem? The commissioners court, through Judge Smith, say that they are giving every dollar of the road funds they have available, for use on the public roads. This is true. They appropriated $4,-00 per month for the months of August, Septmeber and October, and I understand that there is not sufficient funds on hand to cover the $3,900 we have actually expended on the roads during the month of August. Will a mass meeting help that situation?

I look upon the county the same as I do a corporation like the Alabama Power Company, or the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, who have thousands of stockholders. In case of trouble in finances or administration functions, do these corporations call a mass meeting of the stockholders to work things out for them? No! These stockholders have elected a board of directors, and they have given them full authority and power to administer and direct all operations; to employ effcient help when and where it is needed. It is up to the board of directors to properly manage and direct all the affairs in connection with their organization, and if they fail in this duty, they are promptly removed. The same thing applies to Chilton County. The people of Chilton County are the "stockholders"; they have legally and properly appointed, by going to the polls, nominating and electing their "board of directors" who in this case is the Judge of Probate as chairman, and the four commissioners. By your election, the voice of the people, authority was given these gentlemen to properly administer and direct all the affairs of the county; authority to hire the necessary skilled assistance to work out any problem which might endanger the welfare of or the rights of the people of the county as invested in them. They are the governmental unit most intimate with the people, and their duties are to serve the people of the county regardless of race, creed or color, regardless of social, civil or political preferences.

Discussing this in the commissioners court today, in an effort to arrive at a sane reason for the calling of a mass meeting, it developed that a matter of contention existed over my published cost records of things in connection with road operations, Judge Smith contending that my records of costs were incorrect; that he had evidence that I had overrun my appropriation "more than $2,000", to quote his words. He was asked, if that were true, why he had not made public the currect figures? Getting no sane answer to that, I suggested and recommended to the court that they appoint a person qualified to do the work, with another appointed by my office, and these two select another person, making a committee of three, for the purpose of making a complete check of the county records in order to fully establish for all time a true statement of costs in connection with the public road operations. After considerable and a very heated argument with Judge Smith it was finally agreed that my suggestion would be acted upon, and that the work would be started the first thing on the morning of September 8th.

So, in view of this statement, there is no necessity for any member of the road department being present at the mass meeting, a meeting which will only increase the bitter feeling which now seems so pointedly directed at the road supervisor so prevalent in persistent rumors now broadcast in a whispered campaign throughout the county.

Public Road Costs

As Found by Committee Appointed by Commissioners Court and the Road Supervisor.

(By Thomas J. Arledge)

At last we will have the truth on road costs! Will we?

The examining committee of three, approved by both the commissioners court and the county road supervisor, have completed their tabulation of costs in connection with the operations of the public roads, and here they are:

All items for the month of May, 1936, including oils, gasoline, grease, lumber, labor and supervision, as found in claims filed in the probate office, whether paid or not:

Total for May	$5,302.24
Less oil and gasoline used on Airport and 3-way Selma road project	261.23
Total	$5,041.01

All items for the month of June, 1936, including oil, gasoline, grease, lumber, labor, etc., as found in claims filed in the probate office, whether paid or not:

Total for June	$6,439.87
Total	$6,211.04
Less Pittman Co. invoice No. 2626 for parts for No. 66 grader on 3-way Selma road project	115.02
Total	$6,096.02
Less Pittman Co. invoice No. 2939 for repairs to District No. 4 road patrol, a repair bill which was incurred in the early part of April, and which is not justly charged to operations	280.97
Correct total for June	$5,815.05

(Judge Smith still contends that these latter two deductions belong in the road costs).

All items for the Month of July, 1936 including oil, gasoline, grease, lumber, labor, etc., as found in claims filed in the probate office, whether paid or not:

Total for July	$4,638.75
Minus oil and gas for alms house, airport, and 3-way project	106.74
Total for July	$4,532.21

Summing up, we have a total charged out to the road department by the commissioners court in the sum of $15,388.27, including the salary and expenses of the road supervisor in the sum of $837.50, which, according to the law establishing this office, is not considered a part of the appropriation made for the work in connection with the public roads. Therefore, the actual costs coming under the budget appropriated for the public roads is $14,550.77, of which 7,631 gallons of gasoline was carried over in August, at .082 per gallon, is $625.74, rightly belonging in the cost of operation for August. This leaves a correct total operaion cost in the sum of $13,925.03, according to the claims filed in the probate office. Of this amount, and as indicated in my report to the commissioners court dated September 7, 1936, there are unpaid bills in the sum of $914.19 which should have been paid out of my appropriation and which is very evident that I have left in my original appropriation after paying these bills the approximate sum of $1,075. This is very comparative with the county treasurer's record of expenditures, which shows that the road department has an unexpended balance of $1,135.46 in its first appropriated monies for the three months just mentioned.

Of course, as fully explained in former issues of this paper, the monthly progress reports submitted by the road supervisor to the commissioners court will perhaps never fully be reconciled with the probate's office and treasurer's office, because in his reports the road supervisor has to charge into his costs each item as it is used or incorporated in the work, regardless of when it was purchased or paid for. He cannot keep a cost record otherwise than he is doing. He cannot charge out a bill of lumber until it has been incorporated in the roads as part of the lumber may be used in several beats, and he is required by law to show actual costs for work in each beat.

The writer is very hopeful that the work of this committee will eliminate further contention and further allow him more time for constructive planning and direction of the road work for which he has been employed. Almost two-thirds of his time has been consumed in useless discussion of various charges and rumors; such charges and rumors have been very detrimental to harmonious operation in connection with his road work.

In next week's issue of this paper the writer will publish a copy of his report of expenditures to the commissioners court, which should be self-explanatory.

DIXIE CAFE CHANGES TO NEW MANAGEMENT AGAIN

Once again the Dixie Cafe, popular local eating place, is under new management. Last Saturday morning, September 5, the Dixie came under the management of DeWitt Easterling, as a result of a trade between Mr. Easterling and Adolphus Moatts with Mrs. Mattie Williams and her son, Terah Parrish, who have operated the cafe for the past several months.

The Dixie Cafe opened its doors for the first time on September 5, 1926. Since that time it has been under the management of several people, including Burns Goodgame, DeWitt Easterling, Leonard Easterling, Mrs. Mattie Williams, Rudolph Moatts, Terah Parrish, and Melvin Mims.

Strange to say, this recent change came on the 10th anniversary of the opening of the Dixie. During these past 10 years the Dixie Cafe has become known all over Alabama for its good meals and fine service. Traveling people speak a good word for it everywhere they go, and its fame is widespread.

Mr. Moatts and Mr. Easterling are to be congratulated upon their acquisition of this now famous eating place with its high reputation for quality and service.

Mr. Easterling will be in active management. He has secured the services of Miss Mildred Maddox, Mrs. Agnes Maddox, and Miss Henrietta Bean to carry on the fine service that partons of the Dixie Cafe have long since come to expect; he has also secured the services of one of the best and most experienced cooks to be had.

Mr. Easterling, himself, is an experienced man in this line of work, and no doubt will carry on the reputation that the Dixie has won for itself, that of "one of the best eating places in Alabama", to quote many local as well as out-of-town parons.

The new management plans extensive improvements in appiontments within the near future.

PENCE SUCCEEDS BRATTON AS HISTORY TEACHER AT C C H S

Mr. Luther E. Little, superintendent of schools, announces the appointment of Mr. James F. Pence of Leeds, Ala., as teacher of social studies in the Chilton County High School. Mr. Pence succeeds Mr. O. M. Bratton, who resigned recently to accept a position in the high school at Wetumpka.

Mr. Pence comes to Clanton highly recommended as an outstanding teacher with seven years experience. He holds both the AB and MA degrees. He is married, and will move to Clanton before the opening date of school.

Mr. Edward Duncan of Route 5, Birmingham, Alabama, has been appointed as director of physical education for boys in the Chilton County High School and as an instructor in Junior High School mathematics. Mr. Duncan is a graduate of the University of New Mexico with the degree of BS. He took special work in physical education and should be a valuable addition to the teaching force of the local high school. Mr. Duncan is a native of Alabama and did part of his college work at Howard College, Birmingham.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. A. E. Middlebrooks, Pastor

Were you at church last Sunday? The fall program is beginning. Vacation time is over. Begin your regular attendance next Sunday if you have been irregular during the summer.

The pastor will speak Sunday morning on the theme: "The Pagans of Clanton". Come and hear this topic discussed. At the evening hour, 7:00 o'clock, Dr. Slaughter of Selma will bring the message. The public is invited to all the services of the day.

The Board of Christian Education will meet Friday night. Officers and teachers for the new year will be elected. At a meeting of the quarterly conference next week, stewards for the new year will be elected.

The church bulletin last Sunday carried the following poem, which applies to a large number of church members over our land. Does it apply to you?

I forgot my Lord in the summer time,
Just the time I was needed most.
I was not away, but on each Lord's day
I just failed to be at my post.

I forgot my church in the summer time,
As I lazily lay in bed;
While the faithful few had my work to do,
I was spiritually dead.

I forgot my dues in the summer time,
When He needed them most of all.
While my cash was spent, I was pleasure bent;
Just off duty for God till fall.

I forgot my class in the summer time,
But the devil did not forget.
Working day and night, he kept up the fight;
He's a go-getter, you can bet.

I forgot my soul in the summer time,
Got along without spiritual food;
While God on high sent me blessings,
I showed Him naught but ingratitude.

If my Lord should come in the summer time,
When to duty to God I'm free,
Wonder what I'll do, when my life is through,
If by chance He should forget me?

ALFRED DOUGLAS MIMS

Alfred Douglas Mims, sometimes called "Jack", age 19, son of Ernest C. Mims, died at the Central Alabama Hospital early Tuesday morning. Burial was at Mt. Nebo Wednesday morning at 11:00 o'clock, Martin in charge. The funeral was preached by Dr. S. J. Ezell.

Typhoid fever and complications are attributed as the cause of the young man's death. Before coming to the hospital a week ago, the young man had lived with his brother, Ocie Mims, on the Monnie Baker place, two and a half miles west of Clanton.

TWO RECENT BRIDES HONORED

On last Tuesday evening at seven o'clock Miss Gertie Fiquette entertained the members of the Fidelis Class and Y. W. A. at her beautiful home on Fourth Avenue, at a "kitchen shower" honoring Mrs. Earl Gray (Eloise Rasberry) and Mrs. Maurice Hodgens (Eloyse Jones), two brides of recent date. A beautiful program was rendered by Miss Willie Maude Kelley, and the two brides' books were presided over by Miss Cleo Broadhead. There were two interesting contests, in which Mrs. James Roberts and Miss Mildred Mahan were winners.

The living room and dining room were decorated with beautiful summer flowers, dahlias, zenias, roses, and pot plants. Out under the pergola hung Japanese lanterns, and pot ferns surrounded a beautiful decorated table which held the punch bowl. Delicious sandwiches and cakes were served.

The guests were carried into the house and the many beautiful gifts were presented to the brides. The following guests were present: Mrs. James Roberts, Misses Cleo Broadhead, Vesta Glenn, Vivian Gray, Nell Ross Mullins, Ruth Gowan, Mildred Mahan, Mary Charles and June Cox, Willie Maude Kelley, Judy McDaniel, Mrs. Earl Gray, and others. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. R. Mullins, Miss Cleo Broadhead, and Mrs. James Roberts.

Our Sunday school attendance has increased greatly. We had a number of visitors last Sunday, and would be glad if they could be with us every Sunday.

Everyone who is interested in this church try to be with us on next Sunday and Sunday night, September 13. Bro. Nonly will preach for us on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and on Sunday night is the time set for calling a new preacher, so don't forget the date.

Miss Jessie Cleckler spent the past week end at home.

Miss Ella Ree Cost, of Siluria, and Miss Lillian Mims spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Central Cost.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Davis and son of Siluria, and Mr. Odis Davis were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cleckler.

We invite visitors to meet with us at all times at this place. You are always welcome.—Reporter.

NEW SALEM

There will be a special conference held at New Salem church next Sunday, September 13, for the purpose of calling a pastor for another year. Other important business will also be disposed of at this conference. All members of the church are requested to be present at both Sunday school and business session.—G. H. Carroll, pastor.

More Reductions In Long Distance Rates

For the seventh time in the past ten years, long distance rates have again been voluntarily reduced.

Effective September 1, the rates for both person-to-person and station-to-station inter-state long distance calls were reduced to points 235 miles or more distant. The amount of the saving on calls ranges from five cents to $1.50 depending upon the distance.

Also on inter-state person-to-person calls the charges for overtime after six minutes of conversation are reduced. (Overtime charges begin after three minutes conversation.)

It is estimated that these reductions will save Bell telephone users $7,350,000 annually.

Grand Jury In Session Here During Last Week

GRAND JURORS REPORT

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

To Hon. Arthur Glover as Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury, empanelled for the July term of the Circuit Court, after receiving your Honor's able and instructive charge, entered upon our investigation of the matters that came before us as Grand Jurors and herewith submit the following report:

During our investigation we have considered 55 cases, have examined 109 witnesses, and are returning herewith 45 true bills.

We have made a personal inspection of the County jail, and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners and find that the prisoners confined therein are being cared for with reasonable comfort.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge and find it neatly kept and correct insofar as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various County officials and find that they are ample for the protection of the public. And in our examination of the Sheriff's account with the State for feeding prisoners we find it being kept in accordance with the law. In our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education, we find that his books, records and papers are neatly kept, and insofar as we ascertained, were being kept in accordance with the law.

We have made a personal inspection of the alms house and find that there are 21 inmates, 13 of which are men and 8 are women. Three of the male inmates and one of the women are confined to the hospital and are unable to go to the dining hall for their meals. The rest of the inmates, from our observation, are getting along all right and all of them are being cared for and looked after as well as the present conditions will permit. We find that coal is used for heating purposes and at present there is no coal on hand, and, so far as we could tell, no fuel to cook with at present. We also found that the linoleum in the kitchen and dining room, which is combined, is badly worn and a new one is needed. We observed that the stove which is used to prepare the meals for the inmates is, in our opinion, wholly inadequate, being entirely too small to prepare the meals for the number of inmates that are now at the alms house. We reccommend that the authorities get a new stove that this condition may be remedied. The Grand Jury also had information, and our observation leads us to believe, that the water supply for the alms house in inadequate, that the well that is depended on to furnish a supply of water for the inmates does not furnish the needed supply of water. We feel that this condition should be remedied, and make such recommendation to the proper authorities of the County. In our inspection of the alms house we noticed that kerosene lamps were used and we were impressed with the inadequate light furnished by kerosene lamps for the inmates, most of whom are very old and decrepit. On inquiring into this matter we found that the community in the neighborhood of the alms house has a movement on foot to get the power line into the community and we take this occasion to request that the proper authorities lend their aid toward getting the power line extended to the alms house and back the movement of getting an extension of the power line to this community as we feel that in this way the inmates of the alms house could get the benefit of electric lights and eliminate the danger of kerosene lights. We reccommend this if those in authority feel that the present financial condition would permit such improvement. We found further that certain inmates who are up, able to go around, take upon themselves to leave the almshouse and the grounds, to visit in the community and do not get permission from the keeper and have no set time when they return on such visit. We feel that someone should have authority to make regulations for the inmates on where they go and when they go and that permission should be given by someone in charge before the inmates are allowd to wander off from the almshouse.

We, the Grand Jury, wish especially to thank your honor for the very able charge given us when we were first empanelled. It has been most helpful to us throughout all our investigations.

We wish to thank the Sheriff and his deputies and Mr. Easterling, the Grand Jury Bailiff, for the prompt manner which they secured witnesses that we needed to complete our labors, and for conveniences given us during our stay as Grand Jurors.

Now having complied to the best of our ability with your Honor's charge we respectfully ask that we be dismissed until such time as your Honor may see fit and think proper to have us again convene.

This September 3, 1936.

JOHN D. ARMSTRONG, Foreman.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Recently the writer bought ten gallons of gasoline and when he paid the bill it suddenly occurred to him that almost one dollar of the amount paid would go to the state and national government for taxes. The writer is not opposed to paying taxes, however, it seems to him that we are building a governmental machine that we cannot sustain. That is the tendency of human nature. It is the tendency of the individnal and it is also the tendency of groups of individuals. A young man starts out in life with a simple home and a small income. He saves a little money. Good fortune comes his way and he begins to accumulate wealth. Then he builds a home that becomes a burden. Groups of Christian people start out with a simple religious organization. The blessing of God rests upon the group and after a while the group builds an ecclesiastical machine so large it takes the entire group to hold up the machine so it will not fall down on them. Greece and Rome built governmental machinery so camplicated the average man could not live under it. They said, "Let's build us a simpler house," and they wrecked their complicated civilization. Just as certain as other governmental machines have come to ruin, so modern civilization is going to crumple. We have built a house which is costing too much to sustain. The people of all nations are groaning under a burden that they are sooner or later going to cast off. What this country needs is to get back to simple life. Simplicity in the home, simplicity in worship and simplicity in the business world

"Why live in the capital if you never see the king?" Someone raised that question. In other words, what good is an opporunity if one does not make the most of it? The writer has known many men who were used of Almighty God who never had a chance but he never met any man whom God ever used for a long period of time if the man refused to take advantage of his opportunity. Young people who waste their opportunities sacrifice their future. It does not take a prophet to know what is going to happen to young men and young women who could equip themselves for life but who refuse to do it. These young people who are saturating their bodies with nicotine and pouring cocktails down their throats and living wild, sensual lives are injuring themselves physically, mentally, and spiritually and they will have to pay for this youthful dissipation with a draft upon their old age. No young person can play the game loose and win.

They are talking now about moratorium on preaching. Some preachers are now saying, "Give the people a rest." As a matter of fact, people are not tired of real gospel preaching. They are tired of false preaching. Many people have the wrong idea about preaching. What is preaching? Preaching is telling a good news story. The good news story is this: "Jesus Christ died on the cross to save men." That is preaching. Anything else given from the pulpit is a substitute for the gospel. "It pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save people." There is no salvation without preaching. Of course, one may preach to another person or a preacher may stand in the pulpit and preach to the crowds, but remember it takes preaching to save people. The world never needed gospel preaching more than it needs it today. The trouble is so many ministers have quit preaching and that is the reason we are "in a mess." If this nation had fifty Jonathan Edwards properly distributed in the centers of population to preach the gospel for five years we would have the greatest revival the world ever saw. Last year the Bob Jones College matriculated four hundred students from thirty-eight states and from two or three foreign countries. One hundred of these students were young men preparing for the ministry. The writer tells these preacher boys that there is little real gospel in our modern world and if thay will go out and preach the real gospel the crowds will come to hear them. These ministerial students are preaching to packed houses everywhere. The people want the gospel. They do not want a substitute.

NATION BORROWING NEARLY A BILLION THIS MONTH SAYS THE TREASURER

Washington, Sept. 7.—At a press conference to discuss financing operations of the nation, Secretary Morgenthau today announced that the federal government's borrowing for the month of September would be $914,000,000. The Secretary of the Treasury announced that the Treasury would sell $400,000,800 of 20-23-year 2 3-4 per cent to provide new cash and exchange up to $514,066,000 of the long term securities for the 1.5 per cent notes maturing September 15th.

MODERN SHOPPE ADDS OPERATOR AND MORE EQUIPMENT

Increase in volume of business has necessitated the addition of another operator at Modern Beauty Shoppe, according to the proprietor, Mrs. W. C. Robinson. To fill this need Miss Alice Rhodes comes to Clanton from Dothan. Miss Rhodes is an experienced operator and began work with the Modern Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Robinson also announces that new equipment has been added to the large array already in the Modern shoppe, and that they will be able to turn out more and better work after this enlargement. The Modern always lives up to its name by keeping everything up to date.

BATES REUNION

Quite a few attended the reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bates last Sunday, September 16.

Among those who attended were their children and their families. There are seven boys and three girls and 26 grand children. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Dee Bates and children, Lucille, Forest, Audrey, Leonard and Earle; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bates and family, Vera, Tempy, Pearl, Agnes, Arlee, Floyd and Alice Frances; Mrs. Rex Nelson and family, Donnie, Sylvia, Homar, Carey, Gladys, Morris and Myrle, all of Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosie Bates and family, Mosie Earl Lola Mae and Katie Frances, of Marbury; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Bates and family, Roy and Frances Louise, of Denmark, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bates and family, Charlie and John Ed, of Jasper, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mims, of Jasper, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Toy Robinson and Messrs. Fonza and Lawrence Bates, of Clanton.

Among the guests for dinner were: Messes. Calvin Robinson, Marshall Mims, Willie Mims and Cornelius Caton, of Clanton.

Dinner was served on a long table in the yard. There were 50 there for dinner. Those who called in the afternoon were: Messrs. Tom, Elijah and Bud Bates, brothers of John Bates, all of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs Odie Caton and daughter, Betty Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wyatt and family, Morris and Vivian; Mrs. Alice Caton, Mrs. Mary Callaway, of Clanton; and Mrs. Fannie Powell, of Sylacauga, Alabama.

POLITICS IS WOMAN'S BUSINESS

Although she may not realize it politics is woman's business. It is more hers than man's when it comes to dollars and cents and the extremely important matter of looking out for the future, for herself and her children.

Fundamental changes in laws and in government mean more to her, by far, than they do to the male half of the species.

She has a greater claim on the present wealth of the nation than her brothers, while her potential fortunes are wrapped in the future—insurance policies and savings accounts—to such an extent that any untoward tampering with our financial system might pauperize both her and her offspring.

As matters stand now, her welfare is largely in the hands of the politicians and the less interest she takes in her government the more this is going to be the case.

The ballot box needs woman's patronage today as it has never needed it before. Why? Because her financial security is now jeopardized The administration has been too familiar with and too tolerant of the enemies of individual thrift.

So, it is quite clear that woman's help is needed at the polls, for without her in greater numbers than ever before, the battle may be lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones and children spent the week end in Kosciusko, Miss., with relatives.

Montgomery, Sept. 7.—Alabama's ... crop made splendid progress ... the past week, and other crops, ... in northern counties were ... to good" for this season, accord... to E. D. Emigh, U. S. Metere... here.

Excepting light to locally moderate rain fall on Friday, Aug. 28, followed by cool weather, the week was cool dry and temperatures were considerably above normal," he said. Sunshine was abundant and cotton made good to very good progress. It opened fast and is being picked and ginned rapidly, the staples being of good quality and the crop in mostly good to very good condition.

"Crops other than cotton need rain in northern counties, but over the state as a whole pastures are above average for the season, the sweet potato crop is good, and Irish potatoes and other recently planted vegetables doing well. Legumes and miscellaneous farm crops are growing nicely except in the dry area."

License fee and tax collection of the State Bureau of Insurance for the 9 months of this year were $918,046.25, exceeding the receipts for the entire 12 months of 1935 by almost 25 per cent, according to State Supt. of Insurance Frank N. Julian.

Total collections for 1935 were $755,436.06 and $691,810.60 for 1934, Julian stated. Escaped revenue by the Bureau this year far exceeds the entire operating expense of the department.

In addition to Alabama's $4,000,000 "three-way" highway construction program now in full swing, 15 regular State and Federal aid road and bridge building projects totaling $1,086,501.06 have been approved by the State Highway Department since Aug. 1, and contracts aggregating more than half that amount have already been awarded, according to announcement by Gaston Scott, chairman of the Highway Commission.

MAN HERE FROM CAMP CLANTON

The Union-Banner was pleased Monday evening to have a visitor—Mr. S. H. Rollins, from Camp Clanton, on Waxahatchie Creek. Mr. Rollins greeted The Banner on what we presume to be his first visit to our office, with a fine basket of tomatoes, which he raised on a patch near the river.

For two years Mr. Rollins has been operating this camp, five miles above Lay Dam, and engages in renting boats and cabins. He says he will be glad for anyone wanting to fish to come to see him.

Eyestrain, too,

PICKS ITS VICTIMS YOUNG!

When disease epidemics threaten with their ravishing after-effects, you do not hesitate to take every precaution to protect your child.

Not so spectacular in its damage, but frequently a life-wrecker just the same, is eyestrain.

NOW IS THE TIME TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT

Eyestrain Is Easily Preventable

Eyestrain usually is caused by one of three things (1) Defective eyes; (2) Using normal eyes in poor light; (3) Failure to rest the eyes when they are tired.

Only an eyesight specialist can correct defective vision, but even that will not eliminate eyestrain if the child must continue to try to see in poor or insufficient light. Enough light of the right kind is the ONLY thing which will avoid eyestrain for the child or adult with normal or corrected vision.

Lesson for September 13

THE COUNCIL IN JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:22-29; Galatians 2:1, 2, 9, 10.

GOLDEN TEXT — For ye, brethren, were called for freedom; only use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh, but through love be servants one to another.

PRIMARY TOPIC — How to Settle a Quarrel.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Settle a Dispute.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —How to Live as a Christian.

Although the first council at Jerusalem (Acts 11) had decided that "to the Gentiles also hath God granted repentance unto life, the question did not stay settled, for there were persistent Judaizing teachers who now contended that even though the Gentiles could be saved, they had to come into the church by way of Judaism and fulfill the Jewish rite of circumcision. This raised the vital and fundamental question of

I. Grace versus Law (Acts 15:1)

The entire future of the gospel ministry was in a sense dependent on the solution of this problem. Christianity is the only religious faith in the world that presents justification by grace, all others follow the path of works. The question now was, shall works of the law be mingled with grace — can Jesus Christ alone save men, or is salvation through Jesus Christ, plus something else. How was such a serious question to be settled? Should argument and strife be permitted to go on until the stronger party prevailed? Better judgment indicated the desirability of

II. Council Rather Than Controversy (vv. 2-21).

There may be times when it becomes the duty of the Christian worker to take an uncompromising stand for the truth of God and refuse to be moved, come what may. But certainly there should be no such spirit in dealing with differing interpretations of Scripture on the part of sincere and earnest Christian brethren.

The question was honestly and carefully considered by the second council at Jerusalem, with the result that there was a

III. Vindication of the Preachers of God's Grace (Acts 15:22-29; Gal. 2:1, 2, 9, 10).

After presenting a plain disavowal of those who had troubled them and subverted their souls (what a serious thing it is to teach error concerning God's Word!), the council being of one accord gave recognition to Paul and Barnabas as men who had "hazarded their lives for the name of the Lord Jesus."

No man should think more highly of himself than he ought. Humility is a Christian grace which well befits a sinner saved by grace. But the Bible abounds with admonitions to honor one another, to recognize the laborer as being worthy of his hire, to give recognition to those who are over us in the Lord. How long is it since you or your church comforted and encouraged some faithful teacher, preacher, missionary, or other Christian worker, by giving such recognition as the council at Jerusalem gave to Paul and Barnabas?

The final decision of the council is sent not only by Paul and Barnabas, but also by a committee from Jerusalem, a gracious gesture of fellowship. Courtesy is not out of place in dealing with even such difficult things as controversies on Christian doctrine — in fact it should be most in place in such a situation. But as a matter of record they also sent

IV. A Letter Which Brought Great Joy (Acts 15:23, 31).

After addressing the Gentiles as "brethren," this letter, which has been well called "the Magna Charta of Christian liberty," reviewed briefly the history of the matter, disposed of the subverters, commended Paul and Barnabas and then without mentioning circumcision at all puts upon the Gentiles "no greater burden than the necessary things." And what were these? Purity of life, as those who were enjoying Christian liberty. The law of Moses need not be kept as a ground of salvation. They were saved by grace. But grace can never be the cloak of careless living, nor can liberty in Christ be interpreted as license to live in sin. We are set free in Christ, not that we may sin, but that we may "go and sin no more."

STATE PATROLMEN NAB 17

State Highway Patrolmen, Henley and Waites nabbed 17 during the past week. These cases, with their disposition, are as follows:

One for reckless driving. Released in justice court on payment of fine and costs.

One for improper license plate. Bond for $100.

One for improper driver's license. Nolle prossed.

One for hauling passengers for hire. Pending.

Two for speeding. Two of these were released in justice court on payment of the fine and costs. The other case is pending.

Two for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. One was released in justice court on payment of fine and costs. The other is in jail.

Two for improper lights. One was released in justice court on paymnet of fine and costs. The other was nolle prossed.

Three for driving a motor vehicle without driver's license. Two of these cases were considered in justice court. The other was nolle prossed.

Four for public drunkenness. Three of these were released in justice court on payment of fine and costs. The other case is pending.

Mr. Ralph Jones, of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jones, of Montgomery, and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Danforth, of Lafayette, were the week end guests of Mrs. Willie Jones.

Mrs. J. W. Hayes and Miss Ruth Pardue spent Wednesday in Birmingham.

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Sept. 7.—State officials are interested in the showing in Montgomery this week of the government-produced film, "The Plow That Broke the Plains." R. J. Goode, commissioner of agriculture and industries, I. T. Quinn, commissoner of fish and game, and Dr. L. N. Duncan, president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute and head of the State Extension Service, are among several who have written to thank R. W. Hudgens, regional Resettlement Administration director, for bringing to South Alabama the picture that has been declared the best documentary film ever produced by a government.

In the first commercial showing in Alabama, this will open at the Paramount theatre in Montgomery Thursday evening this week for a three-day run Because of its length, 28 minutes, the picture cannot be shown in the regular schedule. It will be shown between the last afternoon show and the first evening show each night, beginning at 6:00 p.m.

FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE THIS FALL

Montgomery, Sept. 7.—A total of 1,111,181 tree seedlings will be available this fall for timber growing purposes in Alabama, says Col. Page S. Bunker, State Forester. On account of the very great demand this season for forest tree speices, only orders received prior to September 30 can be filled.

The greater portion of the seedlings are for restocking pine lands, there being on hand for distribution 524,965 long leaf pine, 289,373 slash pine, 70,732 loblolly pine, 3,843 shortleaf pine and 1,638 lowland spruce pine. Other species are 78,154 black locust, 35,889 willow oak, 32,202 cypress, 21,295 black walnut, 20,364 water oak, 12,754 yellow poplar, 5,573 red cedar, 5,551 holly, 2,688 white oak, 2,115 osage orange, 1,955 live oak and 1,890 laurel oak. Most of the trees are quite small, averaging less than 10 inches.

The seedling can be secured by Alabama tree planters at $2.50 per thousand for slash pine and $2.00 per thousand for all other species, f. o. b. Livingston, Alabama, rates being somewhat higher for orders sent out of the state.

C. B. COX LETTER

ers spent more than they would allow the road supervisor to spend, as shown above, total $19,597.07

Out of what the road supervisor spent during these three months the sum of $549.11 for gasoline used prior to May 1, 1936, should not come out of the supervisor's funds. It should also be stated that $3,176.96 was paid for invoices made by the commissioners court prior to May 1, 1936, and should not come out of the supervisor's road funds.

I will give you a further set of figures taken from the records of Chilton County, of the first six months of 1935, and render the totals as follows:

The commissioners spent from Road & Bridge fund ..$18,438.04
The commissioners spent from the Gasoline fund 31,304.14

Total for 6 months $49,742.18
Average per month .....$ 8,290.36

There is no consideration being given the fact that since we have had the road supervisor the commissioners have not seen fit to appropriate any monies for the maintenance of our roads and bridges from the General fund, and upon examination of the records I find that on December 2, 1935, while they were in charge of it all, they saw fit to appropriate and same was paid on January 3, 1936, out of the General fund to the J. D. Adams Company, $3,900.00.

In addition to all the above monies spent or otherwise disposed of by the commissioners court in the year 1935, and the last six months of the year's expenses not included in any total, I have a letter from the Alabama Relief Administration, signed by Mr. Morgan, chief accountant, in Montgomery, stating that he had sent to Chilton County for the calendar year 1935, the sum of $159,571.46.

As this money was spent in several different ways, there is no way for any of us to know how much was actually spent for roads, but I believe, and I will allow you the same right, that 50 per cent or more of this fund went for the maintaining and building of roads and bridges. Assuming the above to be a fair estimate, it will add $79,785.73 to the amount the commissioners spent in 1935.

Making a total that the commissioners spent in the year 1935, as follows: Road & Bridge and Gasoline fund .....$ 99,469.78
Federal donations (estimated) 79,785.73

Grand total $179,255.51

Is it reasonable to suppose that anyone could keep the roads and bridges of Chilton County in as good condition now with only $4,000.00 per month as he could have with approximately $15,000.00 per month, which the records show was spent per month last year?

We further find from the records that just a few days after the road supervisor started his work in this county, and with the fact being known by every one of the readers of this article, that due to the bad weather conditions of a hard winter and many washouts, the roads were in as bad or worse condition than they had been in five years. That perhaps, in order to defeat a progressive movement in the county, the commissioners court took $10,000.00 out of the Road and Bridge fund and bought two $5,000.00 time certificates bearing 2½ per cent interest from the Peoples Savings Bank.

I hope that the people of this county will investigate these figures and facts, and then you will know who and what authorities are responsible for the roads and bridges being in their present reported condition.

My actions in all these matters have been what I and many of my and your friends thought would protect and promote the best interest of the people as a whole in this county, and I feel sure that if the progressive movement had received the proper cooperation from the authorities in this county, that it woud have been a success, and you woud have been pleased with the results. Yours respectfully —C. B. COX.

SINGING AT CONCORD CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There will be singing at the courthouse next Sunday afternoon, Sep-

There will be singing at Concord church next Sunday afternoon, September 13th, beginning at 2 o'clock. This is the first afternoon singing to be held at this place in a number of months, and everybody is anxious to hear some good singing. Everybody is invited to attend and bring your new books, whatever kind you have.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Sunday school was held at 10 o'clock last Sunday with a small attendance, due to various causes, one of which was the illness of one of our girls in the young people's class, Miss Estelle Benson. She was carried to Birmingham Sunday by the family physician, Dr. H. G. Franklin. She underwent an operation for appendicitis. She has been in ill health for some time; we trust she will return soon much improved.

Mrs. John Caton has been ill for several days, also.

Ben Frank Robinson is in bed, suffering from a head trouble.

Bro. Homer Carroll and family visited mother Carroll this week end.

Mrs. Julius Smith and Miss Mildred Gore visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Gore, Sunday.

Gerald Hubbard and family visited relatives in Clanton this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Benson had as their Sunday dinner guests their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Hyles, and some of their brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Wallace Hill and Imogene of Woodlawn are visiting their parents this week.

Mrs. Tom Collins of Fairfield spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Conway visited Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Littleton Sunday.

Misses Antoinette Traywick and Jessie C. Littleton visited Clorine Simpson of Thorsby on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Jackson have moved into their new home.

Everyone remember to come to Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. Sunday.

MILT TOLBERT HERE ONE DAY, SEPT. 26

Mr. Billy Wagner, the advance man for the Milt Tolbert tent theatre, was in Clanton last Thursday making advanced arrangements for that show to be in Clanton soon. It will be here for one performance only, on Saturday, September 26th, at 8:00 o'closk P. M.

In talking to The Union-Banner about the show, Mr. Wagner said that their tent had been about doubled in size from what it was last year, and will seat all the people who wish to attend. He also says that there are more players this year and the show is better in every respect.

Watch for further announcements next week and the next. There will be something about the show in each of these issues of The Union-Banner.

DORMINEY-LECROY

Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Dorminey of Jemison announce the marriage of their daughter, Thomasine, to Herman LeCroy of Maplesville.

The wedding took place in the home with the Rev. Homer Carroll performing the ceremony, on September 5, 1936.

Rev. and Mrs. Odell Hester, of Birmingham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jones last Thursday night.

Republicans Win In Maine Vote Monday

Clean Sweep Made In Pine Tree State; Other States Lean To G. O. P.

Portland, Me., Sept. 15.— Republicans swept Maine offices today in a state election featured by a 5,000 vote victory of Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., for a second term over Governor Louis J. Brann.

The second balloting in the traditionally republican state also saw the party's candidates for governor and three U. S. representives win by much larger margins.

The republican victory, which observers studied for possible portents in the nation-wide November poll, ousted the democrats from four years of state control. Democrats had held two of the congressional posts besides the governorship.

Rural Vote Strong for White

Senator White, a republican veteran of 20 years service in Washington, piled up a sufficient lead in the rural districts and small towns to overturn Brann's margin in 12 of the state's municipalities.

Word From Landon

Alf M. Landon said today "the Maine election has proved that the people of this country are aroused to the dangers and determined to preserve their system of government and life."

REPUBLICANS CHEERED BY HEAVY PRIMARY MARGINS

Prominent Republican national figures were cheered over the returns of this week's voting in five very important states of the mid-west and east. In every state Republican totals were running ahead of the Democratic totals, which Republicans took to forecast a Republican victory on November 3rd.

Fresh from the decided victory in Maine, Republican leaders, as well as Democratic chiefs, turned a critical eye to comparative totals in Michigan, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and minor primaries in New York.

In Michigan, Republican Sen. James Couzens, who a few weeks ago declared himself in favor of the reelection of Preident Roosevelt,was beaten by Gov. Wilbur Brucker, a severe critic of the New Deal, for senator. In the race for governor, Frank D. Fitzgerald was leading.

In New Hampshire, Sen. George Moses, another New Deal advocate, although a Republican, was badly beaten by Gov. H. Styles Bridges, a New Deal critic, for the senatorial nomination. Sen. Moses had referred to Gov. Styles as "Little Boy Blue;" Styles is several years younger than Moses. Frank P. Murphy led the Republican field for governor.

In Massachusetts, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., was leading for senatorial nomination, and John W. Haigis for governor. Both had made the New Deal their campaign issues.

In Wisconsin, John B. Chapple was leading for the senate; no other important places were to be filled. Gov. Philip LaFollette was nominated for this position by the Progressives, and was leading all individual candidates. However, Republicans were piling up a decided margin in primary votes cast, with Democrats coming up with a poor third.

In New York, although but few important posts were to be filled at this time, Republican primary totals were leading all other parties.

Taken as a whole, and considering the lead in primary totals, Republican leaders were pointing to these as good reason to expect that all these states will be in the Republican column in the general election this fall.

Especial attention was called to the races of Couzens in Michigan, and Moses in New Hampshire, who had "jumped the fence" and declared for Roosevelt's reelection, and drew repudiation from Republican voters in the primaries.

LANDON VOICES VICTORY CLAIM

Aboard Landon train enroute to Maine, Sept. 11.—Expressing confidence of victory, Gov. Alf M. Landon sped eastward today on his second campaign drive for the great bloc of presidential electoral votes that lie between Illinois and Maine.

"I am very glad to be on my way to contribute to the notable campaign which I believe will end in the repudiation of the present national administration by the voters of Maine next Monday," the Republican nominee told newsmen.

Says Maine to Lead

"I am confident that Maine, as in the years past, will lead the way to a Republican victory in the nation and a restoration of good government at Washington."

After boarding his special train for Portland, Maine, where Saturday he will deliver his fifth major speech of the campaign, Landon walked into the press car ahead of his private coach and chatted with newsmen. His address at Portland will be on "government and business," a discussion he discussed briefly in his acceptance address at Topeka, July 23, in which he said:

"The time has come to unshackle initiative and free the spirit of American enterprise . . . We must be freed from excessive governmental intimidation and hostility."

SEND IN NEWS EARLY

There is lots of news that comes in to The Union-Banner Tuesday that could just as well be written and sent in Friday or Saturday of the previous week. Where such is possible, please help out the publishers by getting your copy in just as early as possible. If the article is of such nature that it can be written and turned in Friday or Saturday, then greatly oblige us by doing it then instead of waiting.

We will more than likely be in a rush for the next several weeks, and will need the cooperation of our friends. You can greatly facilitate the publishing of the paper by getting your copy in early. We are depending on you from now on.

COUNTY OFFICERS ARREST EIGHT

According to Sheriff J. R. Hardy, county officers made eight arrests during the past week. These were as follows:

One for manufacturing whiskey and possession of still. In jail.

One for assault to murder. Bond for $500.

Two for grand larceny. Bond for $500 in each case.

Two for assault and battery. Bond for $300 in each case.

Two for robbery (certified copy of bond). In jail.

In addition to these, county officers took into custody a crazy negro, who is being held in the county jail, pending arrangements for his removal to the negro asylum at Mt. Vernon.

PATROLMEN TAKE SEVEN

State highway potrolmen Henley and Waites had seven arrests to their credit during the past week. These were as follows:

One for violation of the 1932 carrier act of Alabama—hauling passengers for hire. Dismissed.

Two for public drunkenness. Bond for $100 in each case.

Three for reckless driving. One furnished bond for $100. The other two are in jail.

CITY OFFICERS ARREST TWO

City officers arrested only two during the past week. Both these were for public drunkenness. So far no disposition has been made of the cases; Mayor Jones is holding them under consideration before passing judgment on them.

SMALL FIRE LAST MONDAY

The city fire squad was called out shortly after noon last Monday to put out a small fire in back of Billingsley's Service Station. In some way a pile of shingles were set on fire, endangering both the Billingsley and the new station which is being built for Diefenderfer. The fire had not gained much headway when the fire department arrived, and quick work was made of the job. There was no damage.

LANDON SPEAKS TO YOUNG VOTERS ON SEPTEMBER 18TH

Governor Alfred M. Landon will broadcast a special address to the youth of the nation on the afternoon of September 18, at Topeka. The speech will be made at two o'clock, Central Standard Time, over the Red Network of the National broadcasting Company.

Many Young Republicans are organizing motor caravans to go to Topeka on the 18th; while others who are unable to make the trip are taking advantage of this occasion to hold local rallies and meetings.

All young citizens, and old ones too, are urged to tune in on your local radio station.

TO PREACH AT SHADY GROVE AND WALNUT CREEK

Dr. J. S. Eddings, of Birmingham, will preach at Shady Grove at 11 o'clock next Saturday, September 19th, and at Walnut Creek at 7:30 Saturday night. All are invited.—J. W. Enfinger, pastor.

CLANTON HAS A STREET CAR

Old heads used to predict how many years it would be until Clanton would have street cars. This was a coveted goal which we thought, when attained, would mean that Clanton had become a real model city. Well, that day has come at last. Clanton now has an honest-to-goodness street car. The only trouble is that we have no tracks nor trolley wires for it.

The street car was brought in from Montgomery Tuesday on a lage motor truck, and unloaded between Taylor Grocery and Market and the Tom Kemp building, lately Sol's Bargain House. We understand that George Smith is going to convert the old street car into a real commodious hot dog stand. It will take the place of the little house which George has been using for the past several years, at this same place.

There was one placed on the side of the highway on Mr. Jasper Dennis' place south of Clanton a few weeks ago, and a nice filling station has been put up in conjunction with it.

COTTON REPORT

There were 1,500 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Chilton County, from the crop of 1936 prior to September 1, 1936, as compared with 1,224 bales ginned to September 1, 1935.

Republican Speaking At Court House Next Saturday Afternoon

Hon. Paul G. Parsons, Birmingham Attorney, Will Address Voters of County At 2:00 P. M.

There will be another big Republican rally at the courthouse in Clanton Saturday afternoon, September 19, at 2:00 o'clock. Hon. Paul G. Parsons, of Birmingham, will be the principal speaker; Judge J. Osmond Middleton will be there also. The voters of the county are invited to come to the courthouse and hear the issues of the campaign discussed by Mr. Parsons.

This rally is being sponsored by the Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County and the regular county organization. This will be the opening speech of the campaign in the county. Several more are scheduled later on toward the November election. Watch for other announcments later, but don't let anything keep you from hearing Mr. Parsons at the courthouse the 19th.

ALABAMA HAS A FRANK D. R.

[AN EDITORIAL]

"I want that door (opportunity) to be kept open to every boy and girl in America." This statement by Al Smith, is now realized in Alf Landon. This pioneer western governor, starting from scratch as an independent oil operator, stands today the example of American equality of opportunity. His very life is typical American. Whether he will make a great president is yet to be seen. He has been successful in smaller things; he deserves to have an opportunity with larger things. He can't orate, but he can keep his promises. He can't rabble rouse, but he can balance a budget. He doesn't know how to inflame class hatred, but he can preserve the integrity of the judiciary. He can't make fireside chats, but he can fire a hundred thousand bureaucrats. He couldn't cast slurring remarks at the Constitution, because it helped hold the door of opportunity open to him. He doesn't know what an economic royalist looks like, unless it is someone who lives off the wealth and prestige of his ancestors, and the best example of this he ever saw was when he attended the drouth conference.

Alf Landon is the American way incarnate. He is as different from Franklin Roosevelt as Roosevelt is like Bibb Graves. We Alabamians appreciate his type. We have had them for Governor. We are also familiar with the Roosevelt type. We elected a typical Franklin D. Roosevelt Governor two years before New York elected the original F. D. R. We elected a man Governor in 1926 and again in 1934 whose life and actions are similar to that of F. D. R. Bibb Graves and Franklin D. Roosevelt are alike. Their administrations are alike. No one can consistently criticize one and defend the other. Bibb Graves stepped from college to the House of Representatives. Roosevelt went from college into the state senate. Graves became Adjutant General of Alabama; Roosevelt Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Graves was elected Governor of Alabama; Roosevelt Governor of New York. Both were educated extensively. Neither ever made a living at anything except holding political office. Both are lawyers. Neither was ever considered a very good lawyer. Neither ever met a payroll. Both inherited practically everything they own. Both are taxpayers' nightmare. Both are professional politicians. Both demagogue about making the big corporations and big boys pay the taxes. Graves smiled while his henchmen collected money from employees to buy him a car and cottage on the gulf. Franklin D. smiled while Jim Farley shook down government employees for campaign contributions. Both are ready promisers; neither keep their promises. Both talk economy; neither practice what they preach. They practically bankrupted their respective states. Both have successfully played the Republicans and Democrats to their own interests. The Constitution and United States laws forbid the shipping of liquor into dry states. Roosevelt refuses to enforce them. Alabama laws forbid the manufacture and sale of intoxicants. Graves refuses to enforce them. Both are extremely anxious to stop Alf Landon, and rightfully so, for he is the antithesis of both. Landon knows what it is to work for a living. He knows from personal experience that taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors. He, too, wants that door kept open to every boy and girl whose ambition is to be more than a WPA worker or a CCC soldier.

Commissioners Court Invite Suggestions

"ANYTHING REASONABLE FOR GOOD ROADS"—JUDGE SMITH

In an interview with a representative of The Union-Banner Tuesday afternoon, Judge J. Lee Smith, speaking for the Commissioners Court, stated that the Court was willing to agree to anything reasonable to bring about a solution to the road problem which now confronts authorities of the county and road officials.

This statement was made after Judge Smith had been informed that Rep. Charley Cox had a plan in mind that "might" clear up the problem. He further stated that so far Mr. Cox had not mentioned such a plan to him.

Said Judge Smith:

"I am reliably informed that Mr. Cox has stated what he thought would be a fair arrangement between the Commissioners Court and the Road Supervisor, as to money matters, and that he was willing to make some concessions in order to solve the road problem and get some action in the road department.

"I, together with the Commissioners, am always ready and willing to listen to any reasonable suggestion which might solve our road problem. As things stand now, I am not surprised that our people are becoming impatient.

"Therefore, we want to give Mr. Cox and Mr. Arledge time to come before the Court and offer any suggestion, or make any proposition they deem proper. We hope that a solution can be reached that will be agreeable to all—officials as well as people of the county. I welcome constructive criticism at all times.

"I have prepared an answer to the recent newspaper articles of Mr. Arledge and Mr. Cox, together with figures taken directly from the records on file in my office. A part of these figures we quoted at the mass meeting last Saturday, although not all were given. I want the people to have the whole story, and let them decide who is in the right.

"I am withholding this article, however, to allow these gentlemen ample time to offer any suggestion they may have in mind. Again, we say, we will welcome any reasonable agreement, so that some much needed repairs can be made on our roads.

"If Mr. Cox or Mr. Arledge have plans or ideas which they deem workable, the Commissioners Court would be glad to hear them. If, however, these are not forthcoming, I shall make a clear statement in next week's papers, quoting from the records, in answer to the letters written by Mr. Arledge and which appeared in the weekly papers during the past few weeks.

"In short, my motto is: 'Anything reasonable for a solution of our road problem'."

Judge Smith stated that the Court was now allowing Mr. Arledge all the monies available under the present set-up. He further stated that if there was anything Mr. Cox could do to provide further funds for road work, his department would cooperate fully.

WHERE YOUR COTTON GOES

Cotton farmers must set aside 7 out of every 30 bales of cotton they harvest to pay taxes to the government, according to Professor Elliot Jones of Stanford University. One bale goes for the direct support of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government. The second bale is needed for interest on the govermennt debt. Two more go for war purposes—one for defense and the other for a bonus to veterans of past wars. Another bale goes for the farmer's subsidy and the sixth is needed for relief. The seventh bale is taken to pay the cost of WPA and PWA and other public works relief agencies.

HEAVY TAX BURDEN REVEALED BY STUDY

Family of Four With Income of $2,500 Pays More Than $219

New York.—A family of four with an income of $2,500 pays $219 each year in traceable taxes, plus an unanalyzed amount of indirect taxes, the Guaranty Trust Company finds in a recent survey of tax burdens.

"Undoubtedly," the survey reports, "one of the leading reasons why individuals in the lower income brackets have not fully comprehended their part in financing government is that they have not had the facts presented to them in a readily understandable manner, a situation that is not surprising in view of the maze of intricate economic and financial channels through which their contributions to the government flow.

With few exceptions, the taxes on lawer incomes are indirect, such as excess or hidden levies; and the incidence of this latter type of tax offers practically unsurmountable resistance to analysis.

"On the basis of the taxes mentioned, the sum of $219 a year is a reasonable estimate of the traceable taxes paid by a family of four having an income of $2,500 (which is not subject to federal and many state income taxes) on the assumption that their budget has been arranged to permit the operation of a used car.

"It represents a deduction of $4.20 out of a weekly income of approximately $48, or a contribution to government of about 9 cents out of every dollar spent.

"The individual or individuals in the family who supply the $2,500 income must work a little more than one month out of every year to earn the money to meet these indirect tax levies.

"Certainly, it must be conceded that the tax burden on families in this income group is severe and may make the difference in many instances between painful frugality and a relatively comfortable existence."

RALPH GRANT NOT MARRIED

The report gathered momentum last week that Mr. Ralph Grant and Miss Jessie Dorminey were married; the report was so general that it got printed in the Union-Banner. Nevertheless, both he and Miss Dorminey contended that such report is totally erroneous.

Therefore, The Union-Banner begs pardon, and assures both Mr. Grant and Miss Dorminey that we are duly sorry that such report was carried in the paper.

"ISABELLA RACKETEERS"

"Isabella Racketeers" will stage show at Verbena, Friday night Sept. 18, at 8:00 o'clock, in the High School Auditorium.

This well known group of stage entertainers say they have a real show for you, so don't miss them; they are funny. If you want to laugh until your sides hurt, be there. Adm. 10 & 20 cents.

Circle No. 1, of Clanton Baptist church, will put on a cooking school in the basement of the church on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 29 and 30, and October 1.

This school will be conducted in co-operation with the Alabama Power Company, and prizes will be given away. It will be along the same general lines as the two schools that were conducted here before. The ladies are urged to co-operate.

DIEF'S SERVICE STATION NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS

The new Pan-Am station on the McSwain lot in the north edge of the city is now open and dispensing gasoline to automobile owners. The new place is operated by Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer and is known as Dief's Service Station.

According to Mr. Diefenderfer, the equipment is not complete, but it is coming in all along and will be installed upon arrival. Mr. Dief invites his friends to come to see him since he has got back in the old game again.

R. L. JONES HAS FINE APPLES

Some of the finest apples we have ever seen were being displayed by Mr. R. L. Jones last Saturday afternoon. One apple weighed three-fourths pound. His farm is seven miles west of Clanton on the Maplesville road. The apples are of the Delicious variety, double-red, and the trees were set out four years ago; they were one year old when set out. Mr. Jones has twelve trees of this variety.

County Schools To Open Next Tuesday

All Schools in County To Open On Same Date; Institute Monday

The institute program will consist of Chilton County will be held at the Chilton County High School building in Clanton, on Monday, September 21st. The program will begin promptly at 9 o'clock. Institute attendance is required of all teachers who are to teach in public schools for this year.

The institute progrma will consist of short discussions of the educational program and problems for 1936-37. Dr. J. M. Kimmey and Miss Irene Smitherman, of the County Health Department, will discuss the relationship of public health to the public school program. Mr. J. W. Fant and Miss Meta Grace will discuss the relationship of club work and the school program. Miss Nolan Meroney, director of the department of public welfare and Miss Bertha Dennis, Home Demonstration Supervisor of the Re-settlement Administration, will contribute to the program.

Dr. J. A. Keller, State Superintendent of education, will be the principal speaker for this institute. Dr. Keller is striving to present to the teachers and parents of the State of Alabama the exact status of the school situation in Alabama.

School work will begin on time Tuesday morning, September 22. On this date all the schools in the county, both white and colored, will begin the school program for the year. All children who did not attend private schools last spring or summer will be given an opportunity to do two months additional work in the same grades which they were in last year. At the expiration of two months time, promotions will be granted to all students who are at that time ready for promotion into the next grade.

At this time it is impossible to give assurance of a full term of school. Unless the State makes some provision to provide the additional funds required to maintain a normal school term we may expect approximately six months of school this year.

It is extremely important that all children enroll in school at the very beginning of the term in order to complete the necessary work in time to be promoted at the end of the second month.—Luther E. Little, County Superintendent of Education.

HOW THE TWO CANDIDATES SPENT SUNDAY

According to radio reports broadcast early this week, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt went fishing last Sunday, while Governor Alf M. Landon attended church up in the State of Maine.

FISHED IN SOUTH ALABAMA

Mr. Aubrey Taylor, of Clanton Wholesale Grocery Company, relates an interesting story about a fishing trip which he and a party enjoyed last week down in Baldwin county. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Thompson and Mrs. Barney Stewart of Prattville. Mr. Thompson is manager of the company's store in Prattville.

The party rented a cabin at Huggar's Landing on Bon Secour river, near Foley. Durng the four days there they caught from 75 to 100 fish of various varieties, sizes and color. Mr. Taylor says that one morning before breakfast they caught 35 fish. Among the freaks of the fishing, or the fish stories, as they are commonly called, was that Mrs. Taylor caught five fish in one small spot in the river and all were of different varieties. And another freak tale is that Aubrey caught a good size catfish, the hook snagging him in the tail.

The party also did some deep sea fishing out in the Gulf of Mexico, and visited Pensacola while down there. The first fish that was caught was a stingaree.

BALTIMORE SUN AGAINST F. D. R.

Baltimore, Sept. 11.—The Baltimore Sun, independently democratic newspaper for 99 years, announced this morning that "in this campaign it is unable to advocate the re-election of President Roosevelt."

The Sun, which has supported every democrat except Bryan in 1896 and 1908, said: "Within 60 days the people must make their choice in the presidential election. It is, therefore, incumbent upon those who undertake to address themselves to public opinion to give expression to their views. The Sun now states that in this campaign it is unable to advocate the re-election of President Roosevelt.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN TUESDAY, SEPT. 22

The Chilton County High School will open for the 1936-37 session on Tuesday morning, September 22nd, at 9:00 o'clock. A short, informal program will be given, to which the public is cordially invited. The principal of the high school is anxious to have the patrons visit the school at every opportunity. He will be especially glad to have them present Tuesday morning for the opening exercises.—Patterson Hicks, Principal.

SINGING AT JEMISON HI SCHOOL SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27

There will be an all day singing at the Jemison High School building on Sunday, September 27, the fourth Sunday. New books will be used. There will be plenty of good quartets. Come and bring your new book, and lunch.

The Lackey Quartet will be present, as well as Bill Cofer and son, and W. M. Devaughn and his family quartet. Prof. P. B. Shaw and his girl quartet will more than likely be present.

—J. E. Martin, Chm.

REFUGE

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely now.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. This being the last service of this associational year, we especially urge all members to be present, in order that we may round up our financial obligations, and have the letter read and adopted. We will also commune during these services.

Rev. Paul Oden will be here Friday night of this week with his stereopticon pistures, giving Bible scenes on the subject, "Life Test of Christianity". Be sure to come as these are the best pictures yet shown by Rev. Oden. Remeber the date, Friday night, September 18.

There will be a cemetery cleaning at this place on Friday morning of this week. Come and bring necessary tools to do this work.

We are counting on the members, one and all, and any others who may be interested in attending these services.

—Reporter.

SACRED HARP MUSIC

Lesson for September 20

CHRISTIAN LIVING

LESSON TEXT—Romans 12:1-3, 9-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Christ liveth in me —Galatians 2:20.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How Jesus Wants His Friends to Act.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Explains How to Act.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —How to Live as a Christian.

As a fitting conclusion to a three-month study of the Spread of Christianity to the gentile peoples of Western Asia, we consider the teaching of the great apostle to the Gentiles concerning "Christian-Living."

The early chapters of Paul's epistle to the Romans present the greatest exposition of profound Christian doctrine ever written. But even as it is true that the fruit of Christian living can grow only on the tree of Christian doctrine, it is equally true that the knowledge of Christian truth should result in Christian living. "Faith without works is dead."

Our lesson pointedly presents the true Christian life as being

I. A Life Yielded to God (Rom. 12:1-3).

A recognition and deep appreciation of the mercies of God leads to a yielding of body and mind in living sacrifice to God. If we are Christians our bodies are the temples of the Holy Spirit. We must not lend our bodies to activities which destroy their usefulness or hinder our service for God but rather yield the body with all its abilities to God!

But after all "it is the inside of a man that counts." The presenting of the body in living sacrifice is possible only when there has been the inner transformation by the renewing of the mind. One cannot live physically without being born; it is equally impossible to live a Christian life without having been born again.

The Christian life is yielded to God not only for its own peace and satisfaction, but it is to be

II. A Life of Service (vv. 9-15).

We are not saved by serving but we are saved to serve.

In the first place the Christian serves the Lord. He abhors evil, but his life is not merely negative, for he cleaves to that which is good. He is not lazy, but diligent. His spirit is aglow with zeal for God and his cause. He is full of joy and hope, patient under trials, a man of steadfastness in prayer.

Such a man will not fail to serve his fellow-man. He will really love the brethren, not merely make a hypocritical show of loving them. He will seek the honor of others rather than his own glory. He will be given to the almost lost art of hospitality. He will be ready to stand by his brother, in the day of joy or of sorrow. He will go even further, for he will bless those that persecute him.

The measure is not yet full for we note next that the Christian lives—

III. A Life of Humility (v. 16).

In these days when we are urged to assert ourselves, to demand our rights, to "succeed" at any cost, and when men are measured by their worldly achievements, it sounds rather old-fashioned to talk about humility, about condescending to lowly things, of not being "wise in our own conceits."

But humility is still the crowning grace of a truly Christian life. Those who follow the lowly Jesus, in fact as well as in profession, are still strongest when they are weak, and mightiest for God when they are humble.

Note also that we follow a victorious Christ who calls us to

IV. A Life of Victory (vv. 17-21).

It is possible to talk much about the victorious life—to discuss it at length as a theological question—and have little real victory.

Paul speaks plainly. The Christian is honorable in all things. He meets every obligation. He is a man of peace. He is not concerned with avenging himself upon one who has done him wrong Spite fences, boundary disputes, family quarrels, are not for him. Evil is not to overcome him. God gives the victory.

A great lesson, and one that we cannot study without some disquieting thought. Christian, how does your life and mine appear as they are held up to the mirror of God's Word? Let us make a covenant that by God's grace and power we shall go forward in real "Christian living."

A Human Being

There cannot be a more glorious object in creation than a human being, replete with benevolence, meditating in what manner he might render himself more acceptable to his Creator by doing most good to his creatures.—Fielding.

Visions of Better iLfe

It is well to have visions of a better life than that of every day, but it is the life of every day from which elements of a better life must come.—Maeterlinck.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Prince spent several days in Alexander City last week.

Apperson Says Sales Tax Political "Grab"

Montgomery, Ala.—Some idea of the "grab" politicians in Alabama would make if they can force a three per cent sales tax upon the people of Alabama is shown in the recent report of retail sales in the State by the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, B. C. Apperson, executive secetary of the Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association of Alabama, said in a statment issued here this week.

According to this report the retail sales for 1935 in the state totalled more than $335,000,000.

"Think of that! The politicians of the state want to take ten million dollars away from the people to distribute among themselves," Apperson said. "The startling thing about this repart is the fact that the total retail sales of food stores, general stores which deal in food and eating places totalled $135,817,000. In other words, a 3 per cent sales tax would mean that Alabamians would pay $4,074,510 taxes yearly on the very food they eat."

General merchandise stores and apparel stores in the state had retail sales of $62,388,000 last year, according to the census report, Apperson said. A 3 per cent sales tax on this amount would mean a total of $1,871,640.

"That means that the people of Alabama would pay almost six million dollars in sales tax on the food they eat and the clothes they wear," the executive secretary said. "In other words, more than half the sales tax would be on food and clothes, which indicates that the family with a low income, that would have to spend all they make for food and clothes would be paying more than half the sales tax."

Apperson said a movement was on foot "among the politicians to camouflige the sales tax into a gross receipts tax." He charges that this is a deliberate movement to fool the people.

Whatever kind of tax it is, the consumers will be called upon to foot the bill in the end.

Efforts are being made to pass a sales tax as an aid to the schools, but Alabamians should remember that they have a sales tax in Mississippi, and here is what the Vicksburg, (Miss.) Post has to say about Mississippi's school situation: "Apparently many public schools in Mississippi will not be financially able to run through a full term, and may be forced to close after a rather brief session in some counties "

That is not an item from an Alabama newspaper. That is from Mississippi, where for several years, the state has enjoyed the bountiful benefits of a 2 per cent sales tax, which brings into the state treasury between three and four million dollars annually," he added. According to the Bureau of Census, Chilton County's retail sales for 1935, amounted to $2,472,300, which means that a three per cent sales tax would cost the county approximately $74,169.00 annually.

TO SPEAK AT THORSBY

Mr. Chester Quarles, of Montgomery, a State B. T. U. worker will speak at Thorsby Baptjst church on September 30th, at 7:30 p.m. His subject will be "Faith is the Victory in our Training Union." Everyone is invited, but especially do we urge the Associational B. T. U. Officers to be present.

University News

University, Ala., September 11th—With the completion of registration the end of last week, the University of Alabama swung into its 106th session. Cdasses for both freshmen and upper classmen have already begun.

Although no actual estimates of the registration were available, one of the largest groups ever to attend the University is said to have registered. Dormitories and boarding houses were filled to capacity.

While most of the students were beginning a new year of scholarship laurels they gained last year in Interfratornity competition.

For the fourth successive year the ZBT's led the fraternities, this year with an average of 1.841. Second and third positions for the year were won by the Phi Sigma Delta and the Phi Delta Theta fraternities.

Applications for teaching certificates during the summer of 1936 were the largest ever registered at the University, according to Miss Eve Wilson, education registrar. Miss Wilson said that about a thousand applicatons were received— more than three times as many as in any other year.

Continuing optimistic surveys in regard to state business, the University Business News carried an artisle stating that substantial progress industrially and commercially has been made throughout the state during the past seven months.

High marks were set in gasoline sales, automobile sales, department sales, and employment totals.

Cotton Mill News

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely at the cotton mill village, even though our superintendent was absent last Sunday.

We give everyone a special invitation to come out next Sunday and hear Rev. A. E. Trice preach at the 11:00 o'clock hour and again at 7:30 p.m.

Come all that will and join our Sunday school, we need your presence and the Lord needs your service.—Lee A. Popwell.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Collins Chapel school will open Thursday, September 22. All parents and friends of the school are urged to be present. Pupils should bring the books they used last year as work will begin Thursday. It is essential that all pupils enter as soon as possible so that they may be promoted at the end of the second month.

Famous Radio Star Here In Person Soon With Milt Tolbert

Presenting, Ladies And Gentlemen Of Clanton, Lew Childre, The Boy From Alabam', and The Milt Tolbert Show

For one night only, the Milt Tolbert Show, veteran of the road and bigger and better this year than in its nearly 20 years of history, comes to Clanton, presenting Lew Childre, the radio star of WWL who has fans in every state presenting this notable entertainer in person, along with a continuous program of drama, comedy, burlesque, dancing, music, singing and ace entertainment under the giant tent comfortably seating 3,000 persons.

From the momnet the curtain rises at 8:00 o'clock until it falls on the last turn, you are guaranteed excellent entertainment and amusement, fast dancing, hot singing, hotter orchestra music, rib tickling burlesque, dizzy dancing, and above all, beautiful, eye filling, luscious, exotic, charming, entrancing, stunning beautiful grils—scads of 'em.

The company of 40 entertainers supporting Lew Childre, who sings in his own inmitable fashion, bringing his newest songs as well as the oldest favorites includes a stunning array of stage and night club talent, assembled to make this edition of the Milt Tolbert show the finest ever presented.

In the company are such noted performers as Carlotta, the Dancing Divine; Ken Honohins, "the drifting yodeler" who, besides making numerour recordings has been heard from virtually every radio station on the air; Harry (Slim) Williams, the famous burlesque black-face comedian; The Cannon Sisters, singers and dancers extraordinary along with Beth and Jeff, musical artists of uncanny skill and precision; the Rio Grande Trio, the lads with the electric singing guitars; Toby Eastman, the famous comedian with the Rhythm Makers, orchesera ornate, while scampering about the stage adding the titillating touch will be the bevy of beauties who make the Milt Tolbert ensemble just about the easiest on the eyes of any on the road.

The Milt Tolbert Show will play here one night only, the big tent located on Second Avenue, with the doors open at 7:30 o'clock, and the curtain rising promptly at 8:00 o'clock on the first travelling show ever presented here.

PREACHING AT BILLY ADAMS'

Rev. J. P. Littleton will preach at the home of W. S. (Billy) Adams next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Everybody invited to hear him.

HIGHLAND

Our Sunday school attendance was rather low last Sunday. We urge all members to be present next Sunday. We are going to elect officers and teachers for another six months.

Rev. Earnest Jones delivered a good sermon for us last Sunday.

Don't forget the W. M. U. and Sunbeam band meets next Saturday afternoon at 2:30, and we urge all members to be present.

SEASONS AND BAG LIMITS FOR ALABAMA

Recognizing insistent demands for later dove shooting season in South Alabama, the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey has eliminated the September open season on this migratory game bird this year.

The dove season in the southern two-thirds of the State, or of the northern boundaries of Sumpter, Green, Hale, Chilton, Coosa, Tallapoosa and Lamar counties, will be from November 20, to January 31. Elimination of September shooting, it is believed, will give the doves in this section of the State an opportunity to recover from heavy losses of past years.

North Alabama will have a split dove season and will continue to have September shooting. In all counties north of the southern boundries of Fayette, Tuscaloosa, Jefferson, Shelby, Talladega, Clay and Randolph counties the first half of the season will extend from Sept. 1 to Sept. 30 and the second half from Dec. 20 to Jan. 31. The bag limit remains at 20.

Another 30-day open season on migratory waterfowl has been authorized by the Biological Survey under regulations equally as stringent as those of last year. Ducks, geese, brant, rail and coot may be hunted from Nov. 26 through Dec. 25. Bag limits include: ducks, 10 a day in aggregate of all species; geese and brant, four a day in aggregate, snipe and coot, 25 a day each.

There will be no open season on wood ducks, ruddy ducks, buffle-head ducks, canvasbacks, read-heads, Ross' geese or swans.

MT. NEBO SINGING SOCIETY MET

The Mt. Nebo singing society met Sunday afternoon, September 13, and enjoyed an afternoon singing, with Mr. W. L. Jones in charge. The following people directed: Mr. Dual Jones, Miss Alee Culp, Mr. Sam Henley, Mr. Alton Culp, Mr. Alvin Cox, Miss Beth Williams, Miss Naomi D. Culp, Mr. Paul Popwell, Miss Clarice Culp, and Mrs. Lucille McCary. Mr. Alton Culp and Miss Clarice Culp rendered a duet.

Pianists for the afternoon were: Miss Gladys Popwell and Mrs. J. D. Williams. The society will meet again a 2:00 o'clock on Sepember 27th, the fourth Sunday. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.—Mrs. D. P. Culp, Secretary.

VERMONT SCHOOL TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

Vermont school will open on Tuesday, September 22, at 8:00 o'clock. Pupils bring your books and lunches as we will have a full day's work the first day. Remember that you will have just two months to finish your grade.—J. D. Hopper, Principal.

MT CARMEL

The attendance of our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. was quite small last Sunday. However, we urge everyone to come back next Sunday.

Last Sunday was our regular singing afternoon. We are glad to state that we had a good singing and we thank the visiting singers and pianists, as well as our home singers, for their help. We cordially invite all singers and lovers of music to our singings every second Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Leach were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Liveoak and baby visited Mr. S. J. Higgins and family Sunday.

Mrs. Tom Sims visited Mrs. Rittie Watley Sunday.

Miss Oleta Watley spent Saturday night with Miss Icey Blow.

Miss Gladys Oden and Miss Ruby Mae Higgins were the Sunday dinner guest of Misses Gladys and Lillian Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Mims visited Mr. and Mrs. Fill Childress Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Higgins spent Saturday night with Mr. W. B. Liveoak and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Liveoak, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Higgins and Miss Gladys Higgins spent a few hours with Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Higgins and family Sunday afternoon.

TO THE VOTERS OF CLANTON

As I find it impossible to see all of you personally, I am taking this method of asking your support of my candidacy as a member of the Council of the City of Clanton.

Although I have been a life long resident of Chilton County, I have never before sought any public office.

I invite you to look into my past record as a citizen and the manner in which I have conducted my business. And should I be elected as a member of the Council, I shall give your business the same consideration that I have given mine. I believe you will agree with me that honesty and economy should be applied in all business, whether it be private, State, County or Municipal. And if honored with the office I seek it shall be my purpose at all times to render the very best service possible to the citizens of Clanton.

In conclusion, I sincerely urge every voter of Clanton to consider my qualifications when you go to the polls on Monday September 21st, and vote for the best interest of our City.—Yours very truly, R. W. Lowe. (Paid pol. adv. by R. W. Lowe, Clanton, Ala.)

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Sunday, September 13th, was enjoyed by many who assembled at the home of Rev. T. W. Davis to celebrate Mrs. Davis' 63rd birthday. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread at the spring under the shade trees.

Mrs. Davis received many nice presents. Among those who enjoyed the day were: Rev. Nunnelly and wife and little son, from Helena, Mr. J. A. Cofer of Jemison, all her children and grand children were present. Her sons, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis and little daughter, Bernice, from Helena, Alabama, Mr. and Mrs. Aldon Davis and daughters, Laura Belle and Mermma Jean, of Jemison; Mr. and Mrs. John Jones and children, J. D., and Carlton, of Sylacauga, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brasher and sons, J. W., Harland, and little daughter Joyce, of Jemison, Mr. and Mrs. Howell Robinson and son Austin, of Dora, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Martin and sons Whitman, James Doris, Hoyt and little daughter, Myrtis, of Jemison; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Martin and Son, Doyle Dean, of Jemison. Lots of neighbors came in the afternoon. Each family had their picture taken.

Most of them went to church at Pleasant Hill and heard Rev. Nunelly preach a wonderful sermon, while the rest went to the spring and spread the good dinner. All left wishing her many more happy birthdays.

CULLMAN JUDGES CHARGE POLITICS

One Is Recommended For Impeachment, Another Arrested On Auto Count

Cullman, Ala., Sept. 12.—Charges of "politics" reverberated here tonight, following a grand jury's recommendation of impeachment against a probate judge, and the arrest of a circuit judge on charges of possessing a stolen automobile.

The grand jury, reporting today to Circuit Judge A. A. Griffith, a Democrat, recommended impeachment of Probate Judge Homer F. Mitchell, a Republican. A few hours later Judge Griffith posted $750 bond on the stolen car charge made by T. R. Hendrick, an individual, in Mitchell's court.

Court attaches said the grand jury returned six indictments in its investigation of "county affairs," but did not name those involved pending formal arrest.

Judge Griffith termed his arrest as an attempt to "intimidate the judiciary." He also branded the action as "absurd, utterly without foundation, and politics."

The impeachment recommendation which will be heard before the State Supreme Court if presented by Atty. General A. A. Carmichael, at Montgomery, included 30 counts. One charged Mitchell with purchasing from a firm in which he was interested financially.

U. S. YOUNG VOTERS WANT FACTS ONLY

Poll Reveals Sentiment Very Strong Against Federal Waste

Chicago, —Government waste, taxes, unemployment and relief are the four major issues upon which the American voter is demanding facts from the Roosevelt New Deal Party—not merely opinions and glorified phrases, according to a poll conducted by the Trumpeter, Young Republican magazine, among 3,000 of its readers.

Sixty-nine per cent of the "interviewed" voters emphasized government waste as the most important issue. Fifty-eight per cent thought taxes were most interested in unemployment. Forty-seven per cent placed relief at the top.

P. D. WILLIAMS BURIED AT MAPESVILLE TUESDAY

The remains of P. D. Williams were buried at Maplesville cemetery Tuesday of this week at 2:00 o'clock P. M. The funeral was conducted by Rev. A. S. Bentley, assisted Rev. S. J. Ezell. Spigener was in charge.

Mr. Williams, who was 72 years old, died at Selma Baptist Hospital Sunday at 1:40 P. M., following an illness of several weeks.

Besides his wife, nine children survive: J. W., of Clanton, Grady G., of Clanton, Kelly, of Denver, Colorado; Mrs. Mabel Woodward, of South China, Mrs. Ethel Daniel, of Herrin, Ill., Mrs. Lanie Stupar, of Williamsville, N. Y., Mrs. Lennis Davis, of Birmingham; Miss Sarah Frances Williams, of Lawley, and Phillip Williams, of Lawley. There is one sister, Mrs. Addie Sims, of Selma.

JUDSON LAWRENCE INJURED LAST TUESDAY MORNING

Tuesday morning, shortly before noon, Judson Lawrence, whose home is at Maplesville, was severely injured when hit by a Baggett truck driven by Tom Johnston.

Reports were that Lawrence was walking along the Selma highway on the right side of the road, when approached from the rear by the truck. Johnson said that he cleared Lawrence with his truck and that Lawrence stepped against the truck after the front had passed him.

Lawrence suffered severe lacerations of the head and shoulders. Martin's ambulance was called and the injured man was brought to Central Alabama Hospital, from where he was transferred to a Selma hospital, where he was reported to be in a serious condition.

So far as could be learned Wednesday morning, no charges had been lodged against Johnson. Highway patrolmen Waites and Henley were reported to have investigated the accident.

POULTRY DISEASE CURES DISCUSSED

Auburn, Ala.—Roup and pox are two of the most dreaded poultry diseases at this season of the year, says prof. D. F. King, poultryman at the Alabama Polytechinc Institute, in offering farmers and poultrymen a few suggestions about how to control them.

These diseases may be caused indirectly by any factor which tends to lower vitality or resistance of the fowl, such as chilling, worm infestations, and improper feeding, states Prof. King in urging that precaution be taken to prevent these disturbances.

"Sick birds should be killed and burned, because these diseases are transmitted from sick birds to healthy ones," he says.

"Clean and disinfect houses, yards hoopers, nests, and drinking vessels, and use a good antisptic for the eyes and nostrils. A 20 per cent solution argyrol is a good antiseptic for the eyes and nostrils."

Fowl pox should be prevented by vaccination of the pullets when young King says, but if this has not been done and pox appears, grease the combs and head parts with a paste made of equal parts of vaseline or iodine. Supply of green feed and milk. Feed a crumbly, moist mash once daily.

OATS MAY BRIDGE SHORT FEED CROP

Auburn, Ala.—Farm demonstration agents throughout the State and the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are urging the production of more oats on Alabama farms because of the small corn crop made this year.

By planting oats this fall the county agents say that good feed crops will be ready to harvest next May for use in making 1937 crops. If farmers will plant oats this fall they will have less feed to buy before another harvest season.

CROPS AFTER LEGUMES MAKING BIG YIELDS

Auburn, Ala.,—Despite a very unfavorable season, big yields of corn and cotton are being made after vetch, Austrin peas, and crimson clover, according to reports received here from county agents throughout the State. Many farmers are producing a bale or more of cotton per acre, and 30 to 40 bushels or more of corn per acre.

When these farmers made a study of their cost production they found that fertilizing land with vetch was very cheap and that the cost of production was very low.

OVER 300 ONE-VARIETY COMMUNITIES ORGANIZED

Auburn, Ala.—Reports from 11 cotton-growing states show that more that 300 one-variety cotton communities have been organized. Cooperating farmers in these communities have about 900,000 acres in cotton, and produced about 500,000 bales of cotton last year.

Brief Farm Notes

Thirty litters of pigs from 20 counties were exhibited by farmers and 4-H club boys at the ton-litter show and sale in Montgomery, Sept. 9-10.

To add beauty to their farmsteads, many Alabama farmers are at present planting Italian rye grass.

Many farmers have found that it pays to grade cotton seed for meal. Agricultural leaders state that it requires 171 to 206 pounds of cotton seed to equal 100 pounds of high-grade cotton seed meal in feeding value.

Talladega county farmers are making plans to grow 1,000 acres of crimson clover this fall.

Plans are being made for 4-H club boys of Madison and Limestone counties to increase their purebred livestock this winter.

Farm women and 4-H club girls of Blount County are being taught to cull and can chickens this month.

Three Lamar County gins are giving one-half day each week for three weeks to the ginning of pure Stoneville cotton.

Several Dallas County farm women have this year constructed cellars for storing their canned products.

SOWS NEED CLEAN FARROWING PLACES

Auburn, Ala.—The fall pig farrowing season is at hand, and Prof. W. E. Sewell, animal husbandman at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, is urging Alabama farmers to give their sows clean quarters for farrowing.

"Allow a pig to be born to a dirty sow in a dirty lot that has penned hogs for years and look at him six weeks later. Mange mites will have produced a gnarled head and ears and turned his soft skin into a leathery hide covered with knotty scabs. He will be covered with glutted lice which suck his skin; worms will have infested his lungs and liver; the pig will be a runt.

"Allow a pig to be born to a mother made clean by a good bath and in a clean house on green sod where other hogs have never tramped. He arrives in pink of health, grows on a well-fed mother's milk, and will prove a joy to the eye and a booster for the farmer's bank account, says Prof. Sewell.

PLANS FOR CURBING LIVESTOCK STEALING

Montgomery, Ala.—Rules and regulations to curb livestock rustling in Alabama and for licensing all those engaged in the buying, transporting and slaughtering of cattle, hogs, sheep and goats in the state have been adopted by the Alabama State Board of Agriculture.

After setting up the forms for livestock buyers, transporters and processors to use in applying for licenses under the Hare anti-rustling law, the regulations provide that "if one person shall engage in all the business described in said act, only one license shall be required."

Other regulations follow:

"Bills of sale required in said act shall give the name of the purchaser, the number of the animals, their breed, their approximate weight, their color, and the brands or marks; whether for transportation or for slaughter; the place and date of sale; and shall be witnessed.

"Such bills of sale may be transferred from person to person by endorsement on the back thereof, which shall bear the name of both transferee and the person so transferring."

IN MEMORY

It is again, for the second time this year, that God has called another one from our family circle, Mrs. Fannie Butler, age 60 years, 10 months and 4 days. Just four months ago He called Cora Mims Baker away from us and this time He called aunt Fannie. It seems so hard to give up our dear ones, but the Lord knows best.

Aunt Fannie had suffered some time with cancer, but God called her on to her Heavenly home.

She was married three times, first to Lemuel Thompson and to them was born one child, Ida. He died, then she married Jim Burnett. He died, then she married R. M. Butler, who is still living. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Ida Smith, of Montgomery; 2 half sisters, Mrs. P. C. Weldon and Mrs. Sarah Jane Mims, both of Clanton; three grand daughters, 7 step children and a host of other relatives and friends.

She was laid to rest in New Harmony grave yard Sunday afternoon, where she had picked her own place several years ago. Rev. W. P. Lowery and Rev. J. W. Jones conducted the funeral service, with the Clanton quartet doing the singing.

Weep not, dear ones, for she is only resting, waiting for you.—Her neice, Lillie Mae Weldon.

PLEASANT HILL

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place. The crowd last Sunday was larger than it usually is. We also had more visitors than usual. All who didn't come Sunday missed a good message which was delivered by Rev. Nunelly, of Alabaser. He also preached Sunday night. Everyone seemed to enjoy the messages.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cleckler and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Padgett, and family and Miss Central Cost spent a while Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Arledge.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cost and family spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cost.

Miss Dotha Cleckler spent last Thursday night with Miss Central Cost.

Misses Alta and Hazel Blow, Messrs. Houston Mims and Dewey Cleckler pent Sunday with Mr. Osmond and Misses Jesse and Dotha Cleckler.

The children and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Davis enjoyed a birthday dinner with them Sunday. We join in wishing them many more happy birthdays.

Miss Jessie Cleckler spent this week end at home.

The church called a pastor Sunday night after Brother Nunelly's sermon, and Brother Nunnelly will be our pastor.

Brother W. E. Robinson will be with us next Sunday and Sunday night. That is the regular preaching day, unless we change after next Sunday for Brother Nunnelly can't come on that day.—Reporter.

FARMERS ADVISED SAVE ALL ROUGHAGE POSSIBLE

Auburn., Ala.—Small supplies and high prices make it most important for Alabama farmers to save all kinds of hay, soybeans, cowpeas, sorghum, crab grass, and other forms of roughage.

"Stack grass hay in the fields if shed room is not available," advises J. C. Lowery, extension agrononist. "Dig trench silos, save sorghum silage, corn that has little promise and make it into silage," he says.

SELLECT SEED IN THE FIELD

Auburn, Ala.—Agronomists of the Alabama Experiment Station advise farmers that in the field is the place and early fall is a good time to select seed corn. By selecting in the field the farmer can see the stalk on which the ear grew, the quality of the ear, and how many ears are produced on the stalk.

"When you find a stalk from which you want to save the ears, mark the stalk by tying a string around it and leave it untouched until fully dry, but where this was not done, the seed may be selected from the dry stalks," they advise.

"The stalk should be strong, thrifty well shaped, and not unusually high. Do not select from a stalk that stands out by itself and has more fertilizer than the other stalk. Do not select from a stalk that has too many suckers."

"Choose ears at a convenient height from the ground. If you want to grow corn with two or more ears per stalk you must select from stalks that have two or more ears, and preferably with ears turning down. If a stalk has two ears select the better ear. The ear should be firm, heavy, and medium sized, with shucks entirely covering tips. Tips should be well filled out and the kernels well shaped. Stalks and ears should be free from disease and insct injury.

"Select many more ears than will be needed for planting for these should be re-selected after harvesting."

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

This edetorial is being dictated in the mist of the opening of the 1936-37 year at the Bob Jones College. The editor, as prsident of the institution feels keenly his responsibility. Students are in the college from practically all states in the union and from several foreign lands. Every student is precious to someone. Back of most of them are the prayers and love of Christian parents. It is a great responsibility to run a college. Every educational institution should, up to the limit of its ability, tage the place of father and mother in the protecting care which it throws about young people.

A few days ago, a father and mother came to the writer's office at the Bob Jones College to see about enrolling their baby son in the institution. "We have another boy", the mother said. "He is a settled man now." "We sent him off to a certain denominational school feeling that the institution was Christian. Our boy came home a drunkard." I happen to remember that the institution to which she referred is one of the schools to which, years ago, the writer, when he was a struggling young minister, made a contribution after being assured by the field representative that the college was Christian and would be true to the Bible and the fundamental of the Christian faith.

The writer is loyal to our religious denominations. He has put more people in the churches than anybody his age in America. It is a source of great regret to him to know from peasonal experience that there are denominational educational institutions which call themseives Christian which are not Christian in any real sense of the word. Of course, there are a number of outstanding, real Christian colleges. The Christian people of this nation should patronize these genuine Christian institutions and should not sacrifice the normal and spiritual welfare of their children on the alter of a false denominational loyalty.

Mrs. J. C. Jones spent Friday in Montgomery.

State Capitol News

Montgomery—Prediction by educational leaders and political observers that Governor Graves would break his silence about the anticipated special session of the Legislature this week as schools throughout the State opened their doors were knocked in a cocked hat. However the school heads are still hopeful that the lawmakers will be summoned by mid-November.

"Satisty the wolf and save the sheep." was the laconic reply of Representative Harry Hodges, of Fayette, when asked last week if he could offer a solution of the State's schools plight.

"I do not think a one per cent gross receipts tax would be felt by the people of Alabama," he explained. "Such a tax, coupled with a measure to legalize and tax alcoholic beverages would bring in sufficient additional revenue to keep the schools open and permit the Comptroller to pay 100-cents on the dollar on appropriations to other State deoartments."

PUBLIC HEALTH

Another vexious problem the Legislature must face, if and when it meets this year, is the Health Department's sorry financial condition. From a peak appropriation of $686,000 in 1930, the department was cut to $400,000 in 1933—a decrease of 42 per cent. Worse, the Fletcher budget act this year lopped off $150,000 from that amount, reducing the appropriation to $250,000.

However, no leffort will be made by the department to hike its appropriation, despite the heavy drain on its resources during the current infantile paralysis epidemic, declared Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer.

HIGHWAY PATROL

Collections from automobile drivers' licenses for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 will be approximately $240,000, through the Legislature anticipated receipts of only $180,000.

No department of the State has received more praise than the highway patrol which is supported entirely by fees from motorists licenses. Chief Walter K. McAdcry said his department has already paid for the fleet of new automobiles and motorcycles uniforms and other equipment, and indicated the force of 90 officers may be greatly increased next year.

FREEING BRIDGES

Its a safe bet that Alabama's 15 toll bridges will be freed about Oct. 1, despite desperate efforts by a small group of bondholders to thwart Governor Graves' refunding plan by which the Highway Department will "rent" the spans at $300,000 a year, the rental to be used to retire the bonds of the Bridge Corportion.

Alabama's state bonds have proved a rich investment even during the lean years of the depression, an examination of prices reveals.

Governor Bibb Graves last week received the resignation of Sheriff M. C. Waitts, of Coosa county, who explained that ill health prevented his continuance in office. L. D. Crew, chief deputy, has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

A total of $73,132,031 was allocated in Alabama under the emergency relief acts of 1935 and 1936, according to Ray Crowe, state administrator.

Of that amount, $65,859,232 has been obligated, and $51,205,536 actually spent. The HPA alone accounted for $21,205,536 of the total, of which $19,198,026 had been obligated and $16,478,826 expended.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Last Sunday the children, grandchildren and friends gathered at the home of Uncle Rush Baker to celebrate his seventy-first birthday. Gay voices and laughter could be heard throughout the day. At noon a bountiful dinner was served picnic style. In the center of the table was a huge birthday cake which held seventy-one candles.

Those enjoying this occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ward, Mrs. M. M. Cassell, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Baker and little daughter, Janice, Mrs. Jim Lockhart and children, Melvin, Coy, Willie Merle and Winston, all of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Baker and children, James Arthur, Willie Charles, Bobby and Frankie Nell, of Jemison; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ward, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Foshee, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Smith, Mrs. William Parker and little daughter, Wylma Jean, and Mrs. Adell Hancock, all of Clanton; and Mr. J. C. Hilyer, of Jemison.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

A birthday dinner was given as a surprise, honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White on Sunday, Sept. 13, at their home west of Jemison.

Among those who attended were the children and their families. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. White, and sons, Jimmy and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whie and son, Jerald Calvin, Mr. Archie and Aronld White all of Jemison.

The relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. White and children, Tommy, Willie and Dorothy Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Dennis and two daughetrs, Esther Lee and Lois, all of Clanton, Route 6, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Driver and children, Arthur, Orval, Ruby Lee and Vastine, of Thorsby, Mr. Walter Driver and daughters, Celie Ruth of Mountain Creek.

Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Popwell and little daughter Lois, all of Thorsby.

The dinner was served on a long table out in the grove. There were 35 dinner guests served. They reported a very enjoyable time.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bell and children, Edith, Gladys, George and Vernon, Mrs. Sorrell Norris and little daughter, Joyce all of Lomax, called. The afternoon was spent by discussing old times and hoping to attend many more happy birthday dinners.

Miss Dewey Branch spent Monday in Birmingham.

Concord-Billingsley

Next Sunday and Sunday night will be our regular preaching times. Everybody is invited.

Mr. P. H. Williams, of near Jones, was a business visitor here during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Moore spent the week end with Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brown had as their guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Devaughn and family of Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cox and family of New Cedron and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gray and family of Enterprise.

Mrs. T. L. Williams spent last Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moore.

Miss Julia Dickinson visited Miss Mary Evelyn Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Caldwell, of Pletcher, were callers in this community Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moates and family spent Sunday and Sunday night with Mr. Eli Moates of near Clanton.

Mr. Bill Higgins, of Clanton, was a pleasant caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams Thursday.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. VIOLA CAROLINE RHODES

On August 27th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. William R. Rhodes and carried away his wife, Mrs. Viola Caroline Rhodes. Mrs. Rhodes was a loving wife and mother and was a good neighbor. She was held in highest esteem by all.

Mrs. Viola has gone on home where there are no tears, no sorrow, no death and no parting. In Heaven all will be joy and peace.

Dear mother, we miss you since you have crossed the tide, but your noble record seems to cheer us while we are on the stormy side. Earth has lost many happy charms for us since you have gone away, but Heaven will be the brighter since you have gone there to stay.

She cannot come back to us, but we can live a christian life and be prepared to meet her when Jesus calls us to rest at His feet.

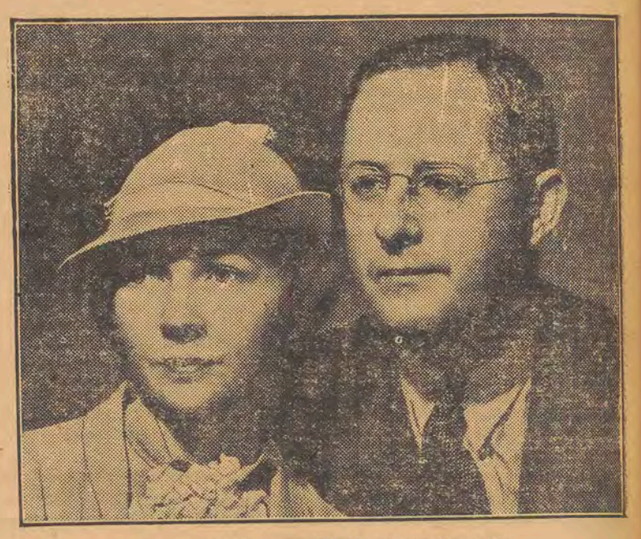
Southern Home Makers Honored



Mr. and Mrs. James M. Martin of Knoxville

AS a typical young Southern couple, with definite ideas about their home and children, the James M. Martins of Knoxville, Tenn., have been chosen as "reader-editors" of The Woman's Home Companion, which includes a fortnight's job as editorial advisers to the staff of the magazine in New York.

The "reader-editor" plan, which brings young home makers from different sections of the country to the Companion's headquarters each month, is designed to keep the editors closely in touch with its readers and what they are thinking and doing.

During editorial conferences, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will discuss their theories about raising children—they have two little girls—about house furnishings, clothes, cooking and all other matters allied with the home.

Mrs. Martin, the former Julia Russell, is a native of Knoxville, a graduate of the University of Tennessee, and is now chiefly preoccupied with her home and children. Mr. Martin is well known throughout the South, where he represents a large manufacturing concern.

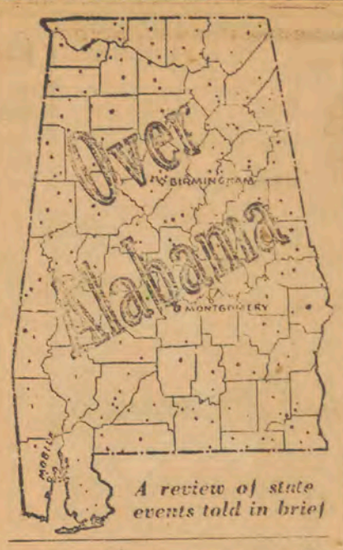
FARM NOTES!

The average chick starts off life weighing about one and a quarter ounces. Experiments at the Purina Research Farm bring out that on only two pounds of feed containing Purina tene, the chick can be made to weigh 16 to 20 ounces in six weeks.

Losses from lien mortality have increased at an alarming rate the last few years. In some parts of the country hen mortality runs as high as percent. No poultry raiser can probably stay in the chicken business very long with losses such as that.

Experimental work carried on at the Purina Research Farm show that the place to start remedying this unprofitable situation is in the growing of the pullets. They must be given the "built-in" vitality to 'stand the gaff' when they start laying. In addition Puratene to the growing ration for growing chicks, the research farm finds that the extra vitamin A it gives the chicks, steps up their vitality and reinforces them against disease.

Miss Tiny Hyman left Saturday for Livingston Normal school where she will begin her senior year.



A review of state events told in brief

New street lighting fixtures have been installed at Hurtsboro.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

A report, which up to this time has not been in any degree confirmed, either officially or unofficially, that President Roosevelt, in event of re-election, intends to call a peace conference of European leaders, dictatorial and otherwise, has caused a real sensation among students of international affairs. It is needless to say that Americans who frown upon any entangling connection with the united States in the affairs of Europe, would look forward to any such conference, no matter how noble its motives might be, with a great deal of trepidation.

A conference which embraced in its deliberations men like Edward the Eighth, Cordell Hull, Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler and the dictator of Spain, however that may turn out to be, certainly would not start out with any great probability of success. It is true that Europe wants peace, but the Europeans, especially those who are in charge in the various nations, want peace on their own terms. So if they agreed to any sort of peace in an internatonal conference they would do so, because they thought such agreement held better prospects of profit than the employment of the already over-extended armies and navies of the dark and bloody continent.

Now, it doesn't take any great amount of penetration to percieve that they would expect any such arrangements as were entered into in an international conference, called at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, to be underwritten and guaranteed by the United States. In this respect it is interesting to note the comment of Mr. Clarence K Streit, Geneva correnpondent of The New York Times, on the reaction of the Swiss city to the suggestion of an international peace conference. Mr. Streit says that one of the questions immediately asked by the diplomats at Geneva is whether the proposed conference is "one of making or considering concrete proposals in whose execution the United States would take its share of responsibility?" or would America's policy be one of "continuing to take no reponsibility, but of seeking to promote peace by improving the general atmosphere?'

Here is the kernel of the situation. Certainly in any peace conference of a general nature, called by himself, Uncle Sam would be expected by European nations to use his own influence, in money or man power, to enforce the decisions arrived at in the conference. And in case of a breach of the decisions he would be expected to do his bit toward waging another "war to end wars". And in this idea, European politicians would be ably seconded by our own international crackpots who think that it is the duty of Uncle Sam to put his nose in the political problems of Asia and Europe and use his Army and Navy to settle difficulties in which he had no part in the making.

Most of us can remember the results of the Versailles Treaty and the manufacture of the League of Nations. Even though the United States refused to adhere to either, the pressure to induce us to mix into European politics was terrific, and it took repudiation of the entangling alliance idea at the polls, and several battles in the United States Senate, to re-establish American intrnaional independence. A "peace" conference of European dicators, and other European diplomitic poker players to draft new rules for "enforcing the peace" would either make things worse for the world by accomplishing nothing, or make thing tougher for the United States by obligating us to underwrite with men and money the decisions arrived at in the conference. Now is a good time to walk carefully in the fear of the Lord.

THE FEDERALLY EMPLOYED

There have been many figures presented as to the number of people actually unemployed in the United States, and there has been considerable difference as to the total. The figures disagree as much as two or three million with some private statistical authorities diverging sharply from the figures put out by the government, both as to the number who could be classed as employed in 1933 and the number who are now without jobs.

One fact cannot be denied, however, and that is that unemployment and relief have been costing just as much in the past few months when we were supposed to be getting out of the situation as in the year or two previously.

Another point to be remembered with concern is that the number of people on the federal pay roll has been steadily increasing. Now the greatest increase is in those who are supposed to be curing the evil effects of the depression, in the various new socialized agencies. And the increase within itself by no means reassuring.

For example, at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1933, when the New Deal was just getting into operation, there were 572,091 federal employes, according to governmenet figures, while at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1936, the number had been increased to 824,259. If the rate of increase continues, it won't be long until the number has grown to over a million. Now it is true that the man who is working and who pays taxes directly to the state and national governments, or indirectly in higher costs of living, must support those who are on relief, and it is equally true that he must support the federal employes, many of whom are distributing relief in its various forms. So that the steady increase in the number of federal employes is by no means a comforting sight.

Furthermore, in the light of subsequent developments, it is interesting to note that the Democratic platform in 1932, which preceded the organization of the New Deal Administration, advocated:

"An immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing the useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government; and we call upon the Democratic Party in the States to make a zealous effort to achieve a proportionate result."

Instead of a reduction in the number of commissions and offices, there has been a constant increase in the number of board and commissions as noted above, many of the bureaucracies have created with the apparent power of writing legislative rules and regulations without the assistance of Congress. Until this matter of trimming the bureaucracies has really been taken care of, we cannot say with any degree of truth that we are getting back to old-fashioned sound American government. There is something about bureaucracies which seems to smell somewhat of socialism in one of its various forms.

One reporter got curious about assertions that the existing federal debt would be retired by children and grandchildren of present taxpayers Here is what he found:

The post-war federal debt reached its high of $25,234,000,000 in 1919. By 1930, it had been cut down to $16,185,000,000. That was a reductoin of $822,636,000 each year. The present federal debt is around $35,000,000,000. If times again became as good as they were on the average from 1919 to 1930—when the United States experienced the greatest prosperity of its history and when taxes were rolling in faster than ever before—it would take 41 years to pay the existing federal debt.

Another interesting fact developed in one of these "hot weather" stories is that the average cost of federal relief for every person in the country was $24.75. That is not how much was spent for each person on relief, but the average cost per citizen. In other words, each man, woman and child in the land, on average, contributed $24.75 for relief last year.

The cost to individual citizens—some of whom paid special state relief taxes and some of whom did not—ranged from $12.95 in Iowa to $97.32 in Nevada.

In case the President should, at any time, call a "peace conference" of the leading statesmen of the world, a poker game between Mussolini, Stalin, and Hitler would be worth going as far as Newfoundland to see. But somehow or other, we can't envision Cordell Hull as belonging to this game.

Out of an adult American population of 77,000,000 in 1932, there were 10,000,000 stockholders among the nation's factory employes, about one out of every seven owned stock in the company where he worked and one out of every three people in the country shared in the dividends from stock.

Jobs in America have grown faster than population, particularly since the development of the Machine Age, a recent study of the National Association of Manufactureres has revealed. While the population increased 218 per cent between 1870 and 1930, the number of gainfully employed increased 293 per cent.

MAN IN THE MOON

OUR G-MEN

Something over three years ago a special law enforcement squad came into being in our country, with national headquarters at Washington. Picked to head this new department was J. Edgar Hoover, a man whose courage and ability for this kind of work was unquestioned.

When Mr. Hoover went about his job of picking men for his work, he left no stone unturned. When a man applied for a place on the "squad" he was first subjected to a long line of questions. Then his nerves were put to severe tests to see if he could "take it." Then his life's history was rooted out from birth on down. If there was the slightest blemish that could be found on his record of respect for the law he was dropped. If, however, his record showed that he had never been suspected of any crime, even in boyhood; if his nerve test showed that he could "smell burning powder and hot lead" without flinching; and if his answers to a set of questions which were tests of quick thinking and intelligent action were satisfactory, then that man was tabbed.

Yet, although tabbed, he was sent out as if he had failed in his tests, but other men were put on his trail, to watch his every action, and, if possible, to hear his every word for several days, sometimes even weeks. He was watched as carefully as if he were a criminal suspect, all without his own knowledge. If he came through this test satisfactorily, he was called in and put on the job, receiving an assignment, generally with other men who knew more about the game than he.

Naturally, such a test system filled the department with officers made up of the "cream of the crop" of men. Their record, too, is one of the brightest pages in modern American history. When the department first began to function, the country was overrun by gangsters, gunmen, hijackers, confidence men, kidnappers and other kinds of "Public Enemies No. 1." Members of the special department were soon dubbed "G-men" by underworld members, and the name stuck. Man by man, gang by gang these menaces to society have been run down and destroyed by the G-men. Criminal rings, racketeers, kidnappers and the like have felt the sting of these fearless men. Of course, not all dangerous criminals are yet in their graves or behind prison bars, but the record is such that the leading criminals shudder at the name "G-men", and millions of Americans have cause to thank Heaven every night for "the coming of the G-men."

THE DIGEST POLL

The Literary Digest is now in the midst of another of its national polls, trying to sound out the wishes of the voters of the nation as to our next president. The poll has been going two weeks, and has seven more weeks to run. It's final figures will be given in the issue next preceding election day.

The Digest will send ten million of the ballots out, and they will go into every state in the union. It is expected that approximately two million of these will be filled out and returned and from these the Digest will forecast the winner in the forthcoming presidential election. So far, only 100,000 have been returned.

It is quite interesting to watch the trend of these "straws in the wind". Of the 100,000 already in, something over 94,000 are given to Roosevelt and Landon. Of these, something over 61,000, or about 64.7 per cent, go for Landon, while something over 33,000, or about 35.3 per cent, go for Roosevelt—almost 2 to 1 for the Kansan. These are the returns from nine states—Maine, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Texas, Ohio, Minnesota, and Indiana. Of course, as Democrats will no doubt point out, none of the votes from the Democratic South have been counted in yet. But it must also be remembered that it is not on these votes that the decision will be made on election day. The South is considered by the national Republican party as a cockle-burr patch and not worth cultivating, while the Democrats consider it a potato patch with the 'taters already dug. We all know how the South will go, so eyes of both parties are on the "switching" states, some of them in the east, and a lage group of them in the mid-West. The electoral vote, according to returns now in, stand 155 for Landon, and 34 for Roosevelt.

The votes already in are, of course, a mere handful as compared with what the total will be before this thing is over. But it will be quite interesting to watch the votes and percentages as they change and shift from week to week.

There is something uncanny about the accuracy of the Digest polls, too. Over a period of years the Digest has conducted a number of polls on various questions of interest, and have never missed the correct answer, as attested by later actual votes, by as much as two per cent. A poll between Hoover and Roosevelt in 1932 missed the exact official vote percentage only .4 of one per cent.

Something funny about these polls is the hullabaloo we hear, or do not hear, about them. Some time ago the Institute of Public Opinion began a poll on this question, using an altogether different manner of getting votes in than that used by the Digest. At first the poll showed Landon ahead, but we saw nothing about it in any of the Democratic papers of the country, especially these here in Alabama. Later the Institute poll showed Roosevelt ahead, and the Democratic papers emblazoned the fact on their front pages, wrote big editorials about it, and just burnt the woods generally.

When the newspapers of the nation got together to conduct a poll of their own, and this, too, showed Landon ahead, our Democratic papers lost all interest in it, and I bet you have not read one little teeny-weeny word about it in any of them.

And when The Literary Digest announced that it would conduct another poll, these same Democratic papers, realizing that the Digest polls in the past have been so reliable, and perhaps being a bit leary of what this poll would disclose, didn't shout the announcement to the house-tops. And, inasmuch as the first two reports in this poll have shown Landon ahead, they have not, as yet, found time to comment on it. No doubt if Roosevelt had showed up ahead, there would have been scare heads about it that would hit you in the eye like a ton of brick.

In 1932 The Montgomery Advertiser thought The Literary Digest was "doing the voters of the nation a great service, by letting people in one state know how people in another state felt," when the Digest poll showed Roosevelt ahead of Hoover, but two years ago, when The Digest conducted another poll on the president's popularity, and found that he had shrunk up by half his strength, "Grandma", this same Montgomery Advertiser, said something ought to be done about such polls, as the "band wagon riders might be effected by it." We wonder if there were no band wagon riders in 1932.

But just because these editors are not saying anything about this poll, don't you believe they are not watching it closely—perhaps more closely than they would if Roosevelt was in the lead. They are taking all those figures in, mulling over them, comparing them with the same poll four years ago, and trying to find something in them that will look like a silver lining to their cloud.

However, there doesn't seem to be anything for them to find solace in. States that showed big leads for Roosevelt at this stage of the poll four years ago, are showing as big or bigger leads for Landon in this one—no comfort there. Then the Democratic big-wigs began to get a big kick out of a report that New York and Pennsylvania, with 83 electoral votes between them would probably go Democratic, but when the second week's return showed a gain in these states for Landon over the week before, their feathers fell again.

And so it goes. And we must confess that we are right glad the Digest poll is on our side, in view of the accuracy in the past. We, of course, are not so optomistic as to believe that Landon will continue to hold the 2 to 1 advantage all through the poll. But if that poll closes showing him the winner by a few percentage points, you can safely bet your Sunday shirt and "britches" that Mr. Landon will take the oath of office for president next January. Watch this prediction.—Man in the Moon.

APING THE NEW DEAL

One of the chief criticisms of Governor Landon by the New Deal spokesmen is that in principle he has been following them; that, in the paring their stuff" Dealc. New the eol lance he has been "stealing the tife lance of the street, he has been "stealing their stuff." It is to be hoped, therefore, that some of the spokesmen read Mr. Landon's address at Buffalo and especially his enunciation of the four principles of sound finance. In enumerating these principles, the Kansas Governor said:

"Now, what are these principles? In broadest terms, there are four of them.

"The government must guard and preserve its source of income.

"The government must make sure that it gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends.

"The government must not get in the habit of spending more than it receives.

Certainly, in adopting these four principles, Governor Landon is not proposing to emulate the New Deal. Guarding and preserving the source of income surely does not mean the destruction and curtailment of agricultural wealth nor the throwing open to the competition of Europe and Asia markets which have hitherto been held by the American producer on the farm and in the factory.

Making sure that the government gets a dollar's worth for every dollar it spends certainly envisions neither the abandoned Quoddy, the Florida ship canal nor the 10,000 houses for the resettlement of indigent workers.

Seeing to it that the government does not spend more than it receives does not provide for spending two dollars for every one taken in, for pushing the balancing of the budget further and further into the future.

Preparing the government for a rainy day certainly does not take into consideration raising the national debt to an all time high of thirty-six billions.

Looking at the record of Kansas, with its reduced taxes and expenditures, and its balanced budget, it is a little difficult to make out whether Governor Landon has been aping the New Deal. Certainly the four financial principles outlined by him in his Buffalo speech as worthy of adoption have nothing in common with squandering this nation into prosperity.

W. H. Conway, Chilton County farm agent, is receiving the praise from state and national farm officials for his splendid work among the farmers. There is a "Conway acre" on about every farm in the county.

A scouting party from the Birmingham Ledger stopped over in Clanton and held a meeting at the courthouse last Tuesday. Senator Bankhead spoke to them.

Will Glass shot Jess Garner at Rocky Mount last Thursday. Garner is not expected to live.

Mr. Frank Callen returned to school in Springhill, Tennessee, last Sunday.

The automobile belonging to Judge Reynolds and occupied by himself and John Stanfield, collided with a street car in Birmingham Sunday afternoon.

A Phophecy Made By The Man On The Corner

In the issue of The Banner of September 11, 1911, The Man On The Corner undertook the job of foretelling what things would be like in Clanton a quarter of a century hence. Read this prophecy and see how much the writer, Mr. Frank Crichton, missed his guess.

'Twas the evening of the 12th of September, 1936, when a party of distinguished visitors came driving into Clanton, having made the trip from Birmingham in a little more than an hour on the splendid model highway that reaches from Tennesee to the Gulf.

The model highway is the fructification of a dream of 1911, but is now an actual fact, the delight of the vast number of automobile owners and the pride of the inhabitants through whose territory it passes and highly appreciated by the farmers who easily haul huge loads to the several markets.

The model highway is a beautiful level road, laid with asphalt all the way, a new process having been discovered that causes the asphalt to harden in the hot sun. Fine trees line each side of the roadway, affording a grateful shade and forming a beautiful boulevard. At night the entire road is lighted with electric lamps, making a splendid white way.

Thousands of citizens daily use this thoroughfare, making the run from Birmingham to Montgomery, both cities of a quarter million people, in a couple of hours, enjoying a delightful breeze all the way.

Overhead the regular traffic of the airship line goes steadily on, affording a quicker passage between the two cities, the entire distance being covered inside an hour. In the cities signs may be noticed posted up: "Ship your fast freight by the Birmingham & Montgomery Airship Line."

This means of transportation having superseded the old railway service which is now exclusively reserved for the heavy traffic—coal and iron especially being hauled in vast quantities to Mobile for transportation via the Panama Canal to the Far East. Traffic has increased enormously and there seems no limit to its further expansion.

The Express companies are nearly extinct, parcels are shipped in the most expeditious manner by the Birmingham and Montgomery Pneumatic Tube Co.—you can now phone in either city and a few minutes afterward your parcel is shot through a tube and delivered at a trifling expense.

HORN-ANGLED DOLLARS

According to reports from Cambridge, Mass., Prof. Edward Kasner, research professor of mathematics at Columbia University, announced before the meeting of the Mathematical Association of America at Harvard University the discovery of what may be a new system of geometry. Under this system, it is said, Professor Kasner has been able to show that the sum of the parts might be even greater than the whole. Up to this time it has been a generally accepted fact that when you added up the parts of any unit, the sum equaled the whole. But, it is said, under the new compensation this may not always be the case.

Professor Kasner, it is reported, has been able to establish the fact that the sum of the parts is sometimes greater than the whole by evolving a method of measuring horn angles. A horn angle, as we understand it, is one made by the intersection of two curved lines forming an angle in the shape of a horn, or something like a stream-lined vase.

According to newspaper accounts, Professor Kasner found that in bisecting a horn angle each half was as great as the whole angle. Now, while our geometrical training did not progress much higher than plane and solid geometry, because we couldn't spare enough time from the football field to go much farther than that, it would seem to the amateur that if Dr. Kasner can apply this horn angle theory to practical problems he has "something," to use the language of the street.

Now, if half a horn equals the whole, what not, instead of making them round, coin our dollars with horn angles. Most of us have found that a 59-cent dollar will not buy as much as the old 100-cent dollar did. If you don't believe this, just compare the prices in the meat market and grocery with what they were under the 100-cent dispensation. Now, if a horn angle dollar could be bisected and each part be the whole dollar we had before, then we would have something which could put it all over the 59-cent dollar idea. For example: To pay the national deficit we would only have to bisect one of these horn-angle dollars until we had forty billion of 'em, each as big as the original.

Of course, some one may say this is a crazy idea. Well, maybe it is. But how about getting rich through destroying wealth, prosperity through scarcity, saving by spending and so on through the night? Dr. Kasner has a brilliant mathematical record and we have not successfully dispute his contentions, even if we were so disposed. But some of our other theories are already under fire and people are already beginning to have doubts about their soundness. We dare you to disprove the horn-angle theory.

Members of the Homemakers Sunday school class are urged to meet with Mrs. J. Lee Smith as hostess on Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

This is the yearly business meeting and election of officers.

The friend of Mrs. Terry Marcus will regret to know that she is very ill at her home in South Clanton. Mrs. Marcus was bitten last week by a spider.

Mrs. John Deramus Entertains Wednesday Card Club

Mrs. John Deramus was hostess to members of the Wednesday Card Club last week, at 3:00 o'clock. The lovely home was made more attractive by baskets and vases of garden flowers. At the conclusion of a series of bridge games, Mrs. Hance Alred held high score and was awarded the club prize.

Tempting refreshments were served to the following members and guests:

Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. Omar Reynolds, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. J. C. Burnett, Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. John Browder, Mr. J. Watts Moore, Mrs. Frank Callen, and Mrs. Beverly Hester.

Mr. John Ezell left Saturday for Wakeforst, where he will resume his studies.

Mrs. Ruth Tillman, Mrs. Clarence Bougardener, Mrs Stoves, and their daughters, and Minnie Frances Owens, all of Bessemer, are spending this week at Tom Jones camp on Coosa River.

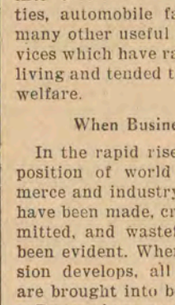
Mrs. P. I. Hopkins, of DeKalb, Ill., is the guest of her mother, Mrs. O. E. Latham.

Mrs. Joe Mullins and little son, Joe, Jr., will return from a visit to relatives in Louisiana Saturday.

Miss Annie Armstrong has returned to her home in Montgomery after having spent several weeks here with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Glasscock.

AMERICA AND ITS BUSINESS SYSTEM

By ROBERT V. FLEMING
President American Bankers Association



R. V. FLEMING

It is perhaps natural that when the American business system encounters a period of depression, agitators should pounce on it with great vigor and accuse it of almost every conceivable evil. During such times, business is charged with the responsibility for every wrong.

What is the American business system? It would be difficult to describe it in a word, but certainly its most outstanding characteristic is the element of freedom it offers to men to engage in commercial enterprise, with the idea of rendering a service in the hope of profit, and the fact that it has provided an opportunity for all classes of our citizens, through thrift, industry and integrity, to improve their station in life.

Deep in the heart of almost every American who has any interest in business is the hope that he may own or share in the ownership of some business enterprise which will render a useful service. Being human, he hopes for a profit in such an undertaking. No other country has ever permitted such freedom to the average man.

In most nations questions of tradition or ancestry or legal restrictions have set up barriers which the rank and file are unable to surmount. How different in America! The spirit of free enterprise has encouraged even the most humble of men to engage in business. As a result, there have been brought into existence stores, railroads, utilities, automobile factories, banks, and many other useful institutions and services which have raised our standard of living and tended to promote a common welfare.

When Business Is Assailed

In the rapid rise we have made to a position of world leadership in commerce and industry, mistakes of course have been made, crimes have been committed, and wastefulness has at times been evident. When a period of depression develops, all these shortcomings are brought into bold relief.

Depressions generally teach us lessons that we seem unable to learn in any other way. Such tuition is expensive, but there is value gained in the experience.

The time has come when business must speak for itself. The people of the nation should be made aware of the fact that the American business system, by giving encouragement to serviceable and profitable enterprise, has created a fund of wealth which has aided in building up university endowments, libraries, and hospitals and in establishing foundations for research through which we are constantly rebuilding and improving America.

Circle No. 2 of Baptist W. M. U. Meets Monday

Mrs. Henry T. Pipes was hostess to members of Circle No. 2, of the Baptist W. M. U. on Monday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock. For this occasion the home was effectively decorated in fall flowers. The devotional was given by Mrs. S. J. Ezell, after which she gave a most interesting talk on Christian Education. Tempting refreshments were served to the following members:

Mazer's Department Store Is One Of Most Attractive In This Section Of The State

Shown above is the exterior of Mazer's Department Store, with the corps of efficient employees who are on hand to take care of the wishes of the people of this section in the way of clothing and dry goods.

Local Concern Becomes Most Modern After Remodeling

The above photograph is proof that Mazer's Department Store of Clanton is rapidly becoming one of the most outstanding dry goods stores in this section of the state. Having undergone a recent and complete remodeling and redecorating program, the interior of this popular store persents a most pleasing sight.

I. S. Levine, the genial manager of Mazer's, has been receiving congratulations from his many friends on the improvements made inside and outside the store. Mazer's has recently been receiving large shipments of real high grade merchandise of first quality.

Mr. Levine stated that the people of this county and surroundings will find it a pleasure to shop at Mazer's for their fall clothing and other wearables. The entire store has been rearranged, making it much easier to shop and select the goods one wishes.

The sales force employed by this well known store is most efficient and caters to pleasing even the most discriminating customer.

PERSONAL LOAN PLAN IS URGED FOR BANKS

Would Take Care of Needs of Small Borrowers and Aid Bank Earnings

NEW YORK.—A survey of the personal loan business in banks, with recommendations for the operation of such departments, published by the Bank Management Commission, American Bankers Association, states that "personal loan departments are an outgrowth of the continued increase in installment financing, which apparently has come to occupy a permanent place in the national economy of the United States."

It is pointed out that for many persons who are not making use of available bank credit facilities, the personal loan department extends a valuable service which at the same time is profitable to the bank. The personal loan department simply serves to organize what is at present a large mass of unorganized credit and place it upon an orderly basis, it says, adding:

Caring for Small Borrowers

"It is the duty of the banks to educate the public to come to the bank for all financial services. Small borrowers in a community should be informed that the local bank is ready and willing to take care of their needs.

"The average man today turns, during the period of emergency, to the personal loan plan as the best opportunity to take care of pressing family needs or for saving or strengthening his small business."

Personal loan departments are being operated by banks advantageously and profitably, the bulletin points out, but warns that, "they cannot be offered as a panacea for low earnings in banks or provide a plan for investing all, or even a major portion, of the banks' excess reserves."

OPEN HUNTING SEASONS FOR CHILTON COUNTY GAME

Mr. A. R. Lightsey, game warden, announces the new law on the hunting of game in Chilton county. The hunter can legally kill 10 squirrels a day, and the open season is November 20 through January 31st. The bag limit of quail is 12 a day, and the open season is November 20th through February 20th.

Turkey gobblers may be killed one a day, limit of five a season, and the dates are November 20th through December 31st, and March 15 through April 15th. Twenty doves a day may be taken, beginning November 20th and going through January 31st.

Mr. Lightsey urges all sportsmen to observe these laws in hunting the game of Chilton county. Game laws are intended as a protection to the game so that hunters next year and the next may have the same pleasure of taking game that we do this year. The laws are intended to help those who hunt rather than be a hinderance to hunters.

Home Agent

TO THE CLUB PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY

Dear Club Members.

I am anxious to meet each of you and your Club and to get acquainted with your section of the County. I am planning to meet the Clubs as scheduled by Miss Pardue which is the regular Club meeting date.

The month of September will be spent in re-organizing; getting new officers; new leaders; discussing the new program of work; making year books; and discussing plans for the year's work which will be carried out in community.

I think we have before us an opportunity for great developements among the Club people. I am well pleased with your section and the people that I have met have shown a beautiful cooperation which gives one the right sort of feeling in getting the new program of work under way. Won't you, when in Clanton, drop by and visit me? Let us understand each other and help to start the new year's work off with a "bang."

I am looking forward to meeting you and trust that the new year has much in store for each of us.

Meta E. Grace, Home Dem. Agent.

Thorsby Institute News

Miss Anna Crawford of Huntsville, Alabama, who holds a master's degree from Peabody College at Nashville, Tennessee and who is an experienced teacher, has been secured to teach history at Thorsby Institute this year.

Thorsby has on its faculty four who hold Master's degrees, from first class colleges and univerities.

Though most of the public schools of the state have not been able to run every year for nine months, and it is prophesied that the majority of the schools in Alabama will be able to run only five and three-fourths months this year because of lack of funds, Thorsby Institute has always run nine months since it started in 1906.

Friday afternoon of this week, the Pushmataha and the Philamathics will hold a meeting of the old members of the clubs to appoint a committee to choose the newly enrolled students as members of the clubs.

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, of Birmingham, spent from Wednesday to Thursday night with Mrs. N. Laurell.

Mrs. V. H. Sutlive and children returned home Sunday after spending the week in Birmingham.

Miss Bernice Robinson returned home after spending the summer at Mitchell Dam with her sister, Mrs. Paul Marcus.

Miss Elizabeth Stanley and Mrs. Clyde Mims, of Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Marie Peterson and Mrs. N. Laurell were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Merchant and children have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Strock, of Tuscumbia, Alabama. While away, they visited Shiloh National Military Park, in Tennessee.

Messrs. Jack Peterson and Bernard Adams spent the week end in Birmingham.

Miss Lois Bazemore, of Columbiana, is spending the week end with Mrs. B. G. Flournoy.

Mrs. E. N. Bentley and daughter, Marjorie, motored to Bangor Thursday.

Mrs. B. G. Flournoy and children visited in Wilsonville Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ralph Pate and little son, George Walter, returned Sunday night after a week's visit with her father, Mr. Walter Longcrier, of Flarence, Alabama.

Mr. Lance Franklin left Saturday to attend school in Campsville, Kentucky.

Mrs. S. M. Pate and Miss Conradine Pate and Mrs. J. E. Smith spent Sunday afternoon in Birmingham visiting Miss Estelle Benson who is in the hospital there.

Mr. K. C. Eastburn, who is in Clanton hospital has been reported to be improving slowly.

4-H JERSEY CATTLE CLUB VISITS MR. SHAW'S FARM

The Calf Club boys, along with some farmers as visitors, visited Mr. H. S. Shaw's farm last Saturday. The object of this trip was to show the bays and farmers how old fields and woodland could be converted into good pasture.

Just as we crossed the Coosa River we entered Mr. Shaw's pasture which was planted this spring. The only preparation he made on the land was to clear it off and sow the seed on top of the ground. The following seed maxtures was used: Dallas grass, 15 pounds. White Dutch clover 2 pounds. Common Lespedeza, 15 pounds. Hop clover, 1 pound.

A total of 3 pounds per acre was broadcast on top of the ground along in April.

Mr. Shaw pointed out the fact that the grass showed up or caught much better on fresh land, that is, new ground just cleared, than it did on old fields. This was very noticeable when you cross the line from old fields to the new ground.

Mr. Shaw's old pasture, which is five years old, has the same mixture of grasses in it except 50 per cent of it was substituted with carpet grass Since then he found that it pays to leave the carpet grass out all together.

The hillside pastures which were on further were very interesting. This pasture was two years old and it was real dry when it was planted a year ago this last spring. However it is catching a hold now and is doing fine. A pasture on a hillside helps control erosion and makes the land productive.

The main point is to have some cows, clear some land and sow a few seed. It will soon be time to start on this if anyone is interested, and the County Agent's office will be glad to help anyone who wants to start a pasture.

The fall session of the Chilton county singing convention will be held the first Sunday in October, 4, according to announcement made recently by the chairmen, Prof. W. M. Devaughn.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burnett, of Montevallo, and Miss Ada Holcombe, of Calera, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Foshee.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKING AT BETHSALEM CHURCH SEPT

There will be a meeting and speaking in the interest of the Republican candidates and campaign in Chilton County at Bethsalem church on Friday night, September 25th, beginning at 7:00 o'clock. Judge J. O. Middleton will be among those to speak.

The public, both ladies and men, are cordially invited to attend this meeting. It is sponsored by the Young Republican unit of Beat 6, but the regular county campaign committee will have direct charge. Therefore, the meeting will be for old and young—women and men.—C. M. Billingsley, chairman; Sam Williams, secretary.

LAY DAM TO PLAY KILBY PRISON TEAM THURSDAY

The Lay Dam "Kilowatts" will play the crack baseball team from Kilby prison here on the high school park today (Thursday) at 1:00 p.m.

Lay Dam went to Kilby last week and lost to the Kilby team by a close score. This time the Lay Dam boys will be out for revenge.

This may be the last game of the season on the local field, so, if you are a baseball fan, you will want to attend. These two teams are among the best in ameteur circles in central Alabama.

Remember the place, the date, and the time—the high school park, Thursday, September 17, at 1:30 P. M. Don't miss it!

SINGING AT COOPERS

Sunday afternoon, September 20, there will be singing at Coopers, beginning at 2:00 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.—L. D. Hughes.

"WHAT BIG TEETH YOU HAVE, GRAN'MA!"

MARTIN FAVORS RURAL SCHOOLS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I wish to make a few statements regarding my belief on certain issues. I hear that it is being said that I am oposed to rural schools, and that if I am elected, will try to abolish them. I wish to say that this is a falsehood, without any foundation whatsoever. I have always been, and still am, in favor of rural schools. I believe there should be a church and a school in every community.

If I am elected to the County Board of Education, and am ever called on to vote on whether or not a rural school shall be moved from a community, my vote shall be for the school to remain in the community, unless the majority of the people of that community vote for it to be moved.

I am a firm believer in the majority ruling. I have seen the result of a servant of the people taking upon himself the dictatorship, and I am opposed to it.

If you see fit to elect me in November, I assure you that you will elect a servant that is always willing to abide by your decision, and not a dictator who knows more than the whole country. If you have any question to ask, I would be more than glad to answer it to the best of my ability. I will appreciate your vote and influence. —Respectfully yours. P. M. Martin.

CAN WE AFFORD FULL-TERM SCHOOLS IN ALABAMA?

Next week the school bells will begin to ring again in Chilton county after having been silenced for seven months waiting on the Legislature to do its duty. As yet, nothing has been accomplished to issure full term of school this year. The teachers and students have had a 7 month vacation which leaves only five months for work and training during the calendar year of 1936. This places the teachers and students in a deplorable situation indeed in this progressive age, the teachers not being able to buy very much more than bare necessities of life from the meachant, and having little left to pay the preacher, or doctor. However the saddest picture is the child who is trying to secure an education not being able to make a grade a year. As a result, some students are leaving the rural schools and going to private or city schools and going to dents will pay a higher tuition, Some students are disheartened and will never enter the school doors again; and others will seek an early marriage and enter into life with chances of making a success than if they had finished school. This strange situation becomes appalling when we realize our children are not getting as long a term of school as did their fathers and mothers. Their grandfathers were willing to pay the price for education.

Can Alabama afford full terms of school, or does she wish to be the "laughing stock" of the nation, by doing the least for her youth? Last year Alabama spent $16,000,000 for her schools, approximately $17,000,000 for tobacco, $40,000,000 for amusements. She spent $7,000,000 less last year for schools than she spent in 1929, and had a 11 per cent increase in enrollment. This loss in revenue is due mainly to decrease in property evaluation. One can see clearly why we are having short terms of school—having more children in school and less revenue to operate them. If anyone should doubt Alabama being able to support full-term schools, just let him stand beside the Birmingham and Montgomery highway sixty minutes any day of the week and count the beautiful, high-powered cars that go whizzing by. The count is convincing, and remember, they are and have been burning 23 cent gasoline for months.

Alabama surely doesn't want to be embarrassed by having to go outside of the State for her future leaders; engineers, lawyers, doctors, ect. to run her affairs or to discover her untold wealth. If we make leaders of our children, who are our greatest asset, we must educate them. We need not train them if we desire them to roll the wheel-barrow or to mix mortar, as they will surely fall into these positions if not instructed in some vocation.

If the citizens of Chilton county and Alabama would take time to study and know the facts of the above situation, they would not be alarmed over our highways but over our schools. They would not rest until their school system was adequately provided for. Futhermore, this would be great economy our relief rolls would gradually fall in numbers to a minimum; our citizenry would become more enlightend and enjoy a richer and happier life.

If you are in favor of schools, let the Governor and members of the Legislature know about it. These youths of ours are growing larger and getting older each day as precious time passes. They must receive guidance today, for tomorrow will be to late.—J. A. Peterson principal Jemison High school.

Bill Hodges returned home Tuesday from Atlanta, where he has spent ten days with his uncle, Dr. W. A. Hodges.

"KILOWATTS" NOSE OUT SHELBY STARS 6 TO 5

Lay Dam's fighting "Kilowatts" came from behind in last Sunday's 10-inning thriller at Lay Dam to nose out the strong Shelby County All-Stars team by the count of 6 to 5.

Shelby got 10 hits off the offerings of Warren, but the "Kilowatts" picked on "Red" Amos and Harry Kendrick for 13, climaxed by Warren's long run in the 9th inning to tie the count a 5-all. Shelby's 10 hits were good for 14 bases, while Lay Dam's 13 went for 20 bases. Six miscues by Lay Dam put Warren in several tight spots, and aided materially in Shelby's scoring. The Shelbians gave their hurlers jam-up support except in the 8th frame, when two errors were registered.

Shelby got away to a 2-run lead in the first inning. With one away, Rutherford dropped C. Dement's spinning pop-fly; three singles followed in succession to score two runs. Two more came in the 6th. Underwood singled, Henderson tripled, and an error by Cecil Jones accounted for these. The last Shelby run came in the 8th. Cecil Jones got another error out of his system to start the inning, and Henderson took second; Eiland sacrificed him to third, and a single by Lee brought him in.

Bad base running cost Lay Dam at least two runs early in the game, and they did not score until the 7th. With two gone, Armstrong tripled and Tatum singled to score one run. In the 8th, Baker opened with a single, Reynolds popped out to short, but Golson was safe on an error at first, Jones singled, Cobb hit one into the ground in front of the plate but Amos couldn't find the handle on the ball, all hands going safe; this was followed by Armstrong's single; when the smoke had cleared away from this rally three runs had crossed the plate, but Tatum left the home boys trailing on the short end of a 5 to 4 count by striking out.

Warren, first man up in the home half of the 9th, hit the first ball to the wide open spaces in left field for a home run. Manager Kendrick contended it was foul, but umpire Glass, behind the plate, ruled it fair, and the old ball game was all tied up.

At this time, Amos, who had begun to show a weakening, was replaced by Kendrick, who bottled up the rally.

After Shelby had failed to score in the 10th inning, Jones opened Lay Dam's half by walking on four wide ones. On his steal of second the play was close, and Kendrick contested umpire John Armstrong's "safe" decision, but in the end it stood. Cobb sent Jones to third with a sacrifice; Armstrong walked, but Tatum spanked his fourth hit of the afternoon to right to bring in Jones with the winning run.

J. Dement, C. Dement, Underwood, and Henderson led the batting attack for the visitors with a pair each, with Eiland and Lee contributing one each.

"Dusty" Tatum led both clubs at bat with four out of five for the day; Baker, Armstrong and Warren had a pair each, and Cobb, Jones and Reynolds kicked in with one each.

Shirley Temple and Amateur Contests Were Big Success

The Shirley Temple, pageant, beauty and amateur contests presented by the Kiwanis Club at the Chilton County High School Friday night was one of the most successful entertainments of the year.

To a crowded house, the little ladies representing Shirley Temple paraded across the stage. Judges were Miss Meta Grace, Mr. S. W. Goldman of Chicago, and Mr. C. W. Wright of Mobile.

The little ladies in the Shirley Temple pageant were: Misses Ann Callen, Jerry Alred, Suan Powers, Helen Hayes, Betty Lou Leonard, Elizabeth Wade, Ann Glasscock, Barbara Burnett, Peggy Wade, Mary Ann Sanders, Lois Rockett, Patty Jean Broadhead, Mary Elizabeth Mullines, Dorthy Powell, Elizabeth Ann Easterling, Annett Broadhead, Polly Webb, May Lee Gray, Virginia Duncan, Peggy McCarey, Ina Saxon McCrary, Sara Nell Wyatt, Trubanell Roberts, Geraldine Goodman, Mynell Taylor, Mary Ann Cox, Betty Jean Popwell, Louise Higgins.

Seven of these were chosen in the first vote. They were: Barbara Burnett, Helen Hayes, Suan Powers, Betty Lou Leonard, Elizabeth Wade, and Ann Glasscock. In the run-off, little Miss Betty Lou Leonard was chosen Shirley Temple, and awarded a Shirley Temple dress.

The beauty contestants were Misses Mary Frances Atkinson, Mildred Maddox, Evelyn Wyatt, Mr. Tom Ventress, Dureene Eubanks, Inez Bishop, Mary Charles Cox, Myrtle Pitts, Elizabeth Hogan, Pauline Hogan, Alice Rhodes, Elizabeth Lawrence, Mary Nell Jones, Nell Rockett, Judy McDaniel, Edith Parrish, Joe Barrett, Peggy Page, Mary Armstrong, Nell Ross Mullins, Virginia Cook, Helen Newell, Mary Newell, Mary Nell Pate, Margaret McCain, Mary Robinson, Ella Ruth Vinson, Clara Mae Rogers, Vester Glenn, Mildred Gore, Dorthy Sessions, Sara Lawrence, Grace Plyler, Nell Klinner, Mae Anice Walton, Thelma White.

Mrs. Tom Ventress was chosen, "Miss Clanton" and will compete with other contestants in Birmingham in October for the title of "Miss Alabama."

In the amateus contest, Miss Suan Powers and Miss Ina Saxon McCrary were in the run-off. The judges chase Miss Suan Powers, who will have all expenses paid to the State competition in Birmingham in October.

PROTECTING CHICK LIFE

Disease is often spread from chick to chick through dirty watering and feeding equipment and contaminated drinking water, warns Grafton Lothrop manager of the Sanitation Product Department of Purina Mills. For easy economical protection against such infection Lothrop recommends the disinfecting of drinking fountains and feeding troughs at least once a week with a solution of 2 teaspoonfuls of Chlorena Powder to three gallons of water. Drinking water should be changed every day, according to Lothrop, and one spoonful of Chlorena Powder dissolved in each five gallons of water to help prevent the spread of infection from that source.

Chlorena Powder may be obtained wherever checkerboard feeds are sold

CARING FOR THE DOG

Many words have been spoken on the care of the dog, but none wiser or easier to put into practice than those from A. H. Leonard, head of the dog department of the Purina Mills. He says, "Keep things about your dog clean, see that he gets regular exercise, treat him kindly, give him a balanced food, and you'll go a long ways toward keeping his tail wagging and his eyes glistening."

FOR SALE—Pears, at 40c per bushel at my place. Also one goat at 3 and one half cents a pound.—Judson Strock Verbena, 1tch.

Federal Aid For Labor

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 15.—Plans to establish a permanent state agency, financed entirely by federal funds, with the objective of reducing the toll of occupational diseases and improving factory sanitary conditions in Alabama were announced today by Robert R. Moore, State Commissioner of Labor.

Under the proposal, a division of Industrial Hygiene would be set up in the labor department, composed of Chemists, a physician and Hygenic experts. The personnel of the division would be named by the State Health Department, which would work in close cooperation with the Labor Department in studying and rectifying factory sanitary conditions.

It would be financed entirely by an annual federal grant, amounting to $35,000.00 for the remainder of 1936, out of funds set aside by the United States Department of Labor to carry an industrial hygenic work into the various states."

LANDON STILL LEADING IN DIGEST POLL VOTE

At the end of the third week of the Literary Digest straw vote on the presidency, Governor Alf M. Landon was still leading Franklin D. Roosevelt two to one. Returns were registered from 13 states. Of these Landon was leading by wide margins in eight states, with Roosevelt leading heavily in four, and Oklahoma almost equally divided, although this state was in the Roosevelt column.

Landon was leading in Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. The combined electoral vote of these eight states is 166, leaving the Kansan 100 electoral votes to gain from the remaining 35 to report in the poll.

Roosevelt was leading in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas, with a combined electoral vote of 62. This leaves the President with the job of gathering 204 of the remaining 303 to be reported by the 35 states.

The figures still give Landon a popular vote precentage of 63.3 percent and an electoral vote of 72.4 per cent. Roosevelt has a popular vote of 36.7 per cent, and an electoral vote of 27.6 per cent.

MONEY

The United States mints have been working during 1935 at twice the rate of 1934, which, in turn, was the most active year since 1919. The output has consisted mostly of dimes, nickels and pennies, and the increased demand explained by sales taxes and increased retail buying—Banking.

Man Died Monday From Knife Wound

Stabbed In Brawl At Fishing Camp; Oakes Enters Self Defense Claim.

Russel Dobbs, 39, was fatally stabbed in a brawl at Ed Mims' fishing camp about 11:00 o'clock last Saturday night. According to reports the stabbing was done by Jasper Oakes.

Reports are that several people were at the fishing camp attending a dance. Trouble arose between the two men, and a scuffle followed in which Dobbs was stabbed once in the left side in the region of the heart; besides the stab wound there was a short slash near the left shoulder, and another deep slash on the right side just about the waist line.

Dobbs was brought to Central Alabama Hospital, and died at 4:00 o'clock Monday morning. A warrant for murder was sworn out by the widow of the slain man, and Oakes was taken into custody at his home by Sheriff Hardy Monday morning, and at this writing is still in jail pending a preliminary hearing.

According to reports, Oakes claims self defense, stating that Dobbs was on top of him. The two men lived in the same community. Dobbs leaves his widow and four children, three girls and one boy, the oldest of which is 10 years of age.

Dobbs was buried at Samaria church Tuesday afternoon.

County Institute Held At C. C. H. S. Monday

The annual institute for Chilton County school teachers was held at the Chilton County High School building last Monday, when all teachers were required by law to be present.

The principal speaker of the day was Dr. J. A. Keller, state superintendent of education. Other talks were made by Supt. Little and officials of the extension department.

General discussions were held during the day as to teaching plans, and special instructions given out by the office of the county superintendent.

Due to the illness of Supt. Luther Little, a detailed account of the proceedings at the institute could not be obtained. However, he has promised to give us this information for next week.

MISS LEORA MIMS IMPROVING

The many friends of Miss Leora Mims, daughter of Aunt Mat Mims, will be pleased to learn that she is improving from her crippled condition.

She went to a Birmigham hospital several weeks ago to undergo an operation, but attending doctors have concluded that an operation is not necessary. Instead her leg has been placed in a metal cast, and it is hoped that complete recovery will be effected before long. The young lady writes The Union-Banner and asgs us to publish for her: "I appreciate what everyone has done for me; words fail me to express my deep gratitude to my many friends. I won't have to be operated on, for which I am very thankful, but I will have to wear a brace on my leg. Two of the best bone specialists in the South have charge of my case."

GRADY BATES WITH TEEL SERVICE STATION

Beginning Monday of this week, Grady Bates began work at Teel Service Station, as general service man. He will do any kind of work that comes to hand around the station, which will include washing, changing oil, and attending to the pumps. The experience which Grady has had in this kind of work extends over a period of several years, and he knows what he is doing when it comes to servicing automobiles. He invites his friends to call to see him at his new job when they need anything along that line.

LAUGHING AT ROOSEVELT

Americans like to laugh and joke and it is damaging to Roosevelt to have his pet theories bear the butt of this hilarity.

A circus this year with its many clowns gets its best laugh from a WPA project. Between acts a huge truck deposits about twenty clowns in the roadway in front of the reserved seats. They laboriously and groaningly place two bricks on the ground and drive off, leaving a single clown to stick a "WPA" Project sign in the earth. With his foot the lone clown lazily and lakadaisically digs up sufficient dirt to bury the bricks. Then he covers them with a twinkle of his toes, meanwhile leaning on his shovel. Half an hour later the truck and clowns return, only to unearth the brick and repeat the performance elsewhere.

REPRESENTATIVE EXTENDS THANKS

To the people of Chilton County:

It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to thank you for your every kindness shown me at the time of my injury in an automobile accident on July 31st, near Clanton. I deeply appreciate every friendship shown me and I assure you that I shall treasure this in my heart. I am now recovering and sincerely trust that I can be out soon and see you personally.—Dr. R. L. Hill, Winfield, Alabama.

SEND IN NEWS EARLY

There is lots of news that comes in to The Union-Banner Tuesday that could just as well be written and sent in Friday or Saturday of the previous week. Where such is possible, please help out the publishers by getting your copy in just as early as possible. If the article is of such nature that it can be written and turned in Friday or Saturday, then greatly oblige us by doing it then instead of waiting.

We will more than likely be in a rush for the next several weeks, and will need the cooperation of our friends. You can greatly facilitate the publishing of the paper by getting your copy in early. We are depending on you from now on.

Spoke To Republicans Here Last Saturday PM

As per announcement, Hon. Paul G. Parsons, attorney of Birmingham, spoke in the interest of the Republican campaign here last Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by T. E. Wyatt, who, after a few remarks introduced Judge J. O. Middleton, who made a brief address and in turn introduced the speaker for the afternoon.

Mr. Parsons made a master ul ap; eal to the voters of Chilton county to elect Republican officials to the county offices, by citing figures and facts of the county's accomplishments in the past under Republican rule. It was also pointed out that the county in previous elections had voted three to one in favor of Republican candidates and stated that the same could be done again.

Figures bearing on the injustices and detrimental tendencies of the New Deal in the nation during the past three years were referred to by Mr. Parsons. Especial emphasis was placed on the loss of foreign markets to our American farmers and the shift of cotton raising to South America and other countries. Imports on farm products into this country, according to Mr. Parsons, are astounding, and result in unemployment to many people who should be raising these things on our farms.

Mr. Parsons closed his address with a masterful appeal to the voters of the county to stay by the Republican ticket from president on down through the county offices. He pointed this out as the only sane way to restoration of sound government and individual liberty.

The gathering was not large, but was thoroughly representative of the citizens of the county, and they manifested a profound interest in many fine points brought out by the speakers.

At the close of the speaking Mr. Lloyd Howard and his jug band, from Thorsby, made some fine music, to the delight of the listeners.

Accompanying Mr. Parsons from Birmingham was his father, and a young Mr. Todd, and there were two visitors from Montgomery—Judge Wallace M. Sloane and Mr. Ralph Kennamer. We were glad to have these gentlemen attend the meeting here.

MEETING OF RED CROSS OFFICIALS HERE FRIDAY

A meeting of the Red Cross officials of Chilton county is called by Dr. C. O. Lawrence, county chairman, for Friday afternoon, September 25th, at 4 o'clock. The meeting is to be held at the office of Mr. J. Mell Martin, and all officials of the Red Cross over the county are urged to be present.

Pensacola Is Left Without A Mayor

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 19.—Pensacola was mayorless today after a surprise ouster of its pro-Landon executive and the swift death of his "strong democratic" successor. Meeting in a unheralded special session last night, the city counsil voted to replace Mayor H. Clay Armstrong, whose announced decision to support the Republican National candidates, aroused democratic leaders here.

"I assure you gentlemen you have elected a good, strong democrat." Will L. Moyers said when his council colleagues voted him into the $25 a week office. He was striken by a fatal heart attack a few minutes later. Moyers, about 70, was a wholesale merchant.

Max Bear, who cast the one vote against ousting Armstrong, became mayor pro tem. No plans were announced by council for election of a mayor.

Councilmen said the special meeting was called because Armstrong attended a meeting of republican leaders at the party's New York headquarters and reiterated his intention to support Governor Alf M. Landon and Col. Frank Knox.

COFFEE GROWING IN CHILTON COUNTY

We always knew that almost anything would grow in Chilton county, but it was only recently that we knew that Coffee could be raised here; but it can. As evidence of the fact, Mrs. Maylene Blackmon, of Jemison Route 2, sent in to The Union-Banner last week a stalk of real "Java." The lady's father, Mr. C. C. Boles, stated that she had a row of the coffee plants several feet long, and that all the stalks were full of fine-looking pods. Some of the pods are already dried and they have the odor of coffee, all right.

Republican Speaking Friday Night At Enterprise School

Speaking By Judge Middleton, And Quartette Singing Will Be On Program. Old And Young Voters Invited To Attend.

On account of better accommodations, it has been decided that the political speaking for Beat 6, which was to have been held at Bethsalem church, will be held at Enterprise schoolhouse on Friday night of this week, September 25, beginning 7:30 o'clock. Judge J. O. Middleton will be the principal speaker, and Hon. Percy M. Pitts has been invited to speak also.

There will be some quartet singing too. The White City quartet has agreed to render two or three numbers, and Prof. W. M. Devaughn will be there with his family quartet. These are both good bunches of singers, and those in attendance will enjoy their numbers.

This speaking is held under the auspices of the Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton county and the Young Republican unit of Beat 6; the latter will be in charge.

All voters, young and old, men and women, are invited to attend this speaking. You know the speakers, and you know that they will have something good for you; so, you are urged to come out and hear them.

There will be trucks from Bethsalem and other communities of the Beat to provide a way for those without conveyance. Everbody arrange to attend this meeting.—Clarence Billingsley, Chairman; Sam Williams, Secretary, Young Republicans of Beat 6.

THE COUNTY ROAD SUPERVISOR

[AN EDITORIAL]

The question that one hears most generally discussed nowadays among the citizens of the county is road work, the Road Supervisor and the Commissioners Court. One can hear all sides and angles of the situation touched upon and most everything pointed out with the probable exception of a correct, workable, sensible solution to the whole thing.

The Union-Banner believes that the magnitude of the road business in Chilton County has grown to such an extent that a county road engineer is very probably necessary, and such a man could be very successfully used by the Commissioners to work with and advise with them in various phases of their work. This has probably been needed for some years.

What is wrong with the present supervisor law is that the framers of the local bill attributed too much power to the individual on the job and made an improper provision for the selection of road supervisor. When this law was made to overstep the authority of the Probate Judge and the Commissioners Court and, in lots of instances, make the Court subject to the road supervisor, there is where the pinch was made to be felt, and there is where the first gross mistake was made. The local bill should have given the Commissioners Court the right to create the office of county road engineer, if they saw the need of one, and should have permitted the court to lay out the plans for him to work by, and at all times let the court retain full control over the engineer. The people of Chilton County, in a legitimate election named the members of the court which was to administer the business of the county, including the road work, and until the electorate saw fit to take this right away from the Commissioners Court, no individual should have stepped in ahead of the hounds, so to speak, and dictate to the people and the officials what ought to be done. People are not generally of the nature to be driven around like so many sheep and never open their mouths when they are made to do something they do not like. There are always more or less of goats in the flock that register a protest now and then. Folks don't like to be forced into anything even if that thing is good for them, and you can't blame them, for we are all more or less that way. Folks don't like to be driven.

That is where the road supervisor business got started off on the wrong foot to begin with. If it could not have been done without much friction to the people, then it should not have been done at all. That is where our Representative and Senator overstepped their authority when they forced the law onto the Commissioners court and onto the people of the county, when both the court and the people did not like the idea of being told just when they could step and when they could not.

The road supervisor may be a good thing, and The Union-Banner believes that it is likely that we do need a county engineer, as stated in the outset; but as long as we have such officer and he is continually at loggerheads with the Commissioners court and the probate judge, or either of them, he cannot be of any service to the county. We would be better off without him, two to one, unless he can work in harmony with the Court.

Much has been said about the finances, expenses, Etc., under the old system and under the new. It may be that the old system cost the most, but it is a fact evident on every hand that we got more work on the roads under the old system than under the new. This may be "managed economy," but if it is it came as a result of this friction which never should have been created in the first place.

Therefore, The Union-Banner says now as it said before, that we need to repair our roads now while the weather will permit, because winter is coming when no work can be done on the roads; and they are going to get bad.

However, in the humble opinion of The Union-Banner, there is one and only one solution to this as well as many other matters affecting the welfare of Chilton County, and that is a return of the financial management of the county's affairs into the hands of the people of the county. The Democrats have never been able to make anything of the affairs of the county but a superb mess, and it has proven nothing different this time. When they get hold of the bone they can do nothing but fight amongst themselves over it while the interest of the people of the county goes to the dogs.

The people of the county have had it again demonstrated to them that the Republican party is the only party that they can trust with the management of our governmental affairs. Therefore, let's get back to solid ground just as quickly as possible. This Democratic folly is costing the taxpayers plenty, and it should be checked as hastily as possible. We cannot accomplish it all this year, but we can make a start. The Republicans have out as fine a bunch of men for office as the county affords. They are honorable, clean, upright, capable and efficient—every one of them—and there is no just reason why either should be scratched.

Yes, we can attend to part of it this year, on November 3rd. Then in 1938 we can make still more progress, and in 1940 the job can be completed. The only thing needed is for the Republicans to lay aside petty prejudices, nominate their best and most capable men and then stay behind them until they are elected. Let us set out now, Republicans of Chilton County with this goal in view, and let's keep an eye singled to it until completely accomplished. This is to the everlasting interest of the taxpayers of Chilton County.

SHERIFF REPORTS 17 ARRESTS

Sheriff Hardy reported 17 arrests during the past week. Some of these came as results from true bills from the recent grand jury. These 17 cases, with their disposition, were as follows:

One for trespass after warning. Turned over to circuit court for trial.

One for reckless driving. Released in justice court on payment of fine and costs.

One for burglary and grand larceny. In jail.

One for abusive, indecent and obscene language, and for insulting a woman. In jail.

One for murder. In jail.

Five for violating prohibition law. One was tried and convicted, but posted a $500 appeal bond; the other, arrested on certified copy of bond, is in jail.

Two for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Both are in jail.

One for disposing of mortgaged property. Appeal bond for $500.

NEGRO JAILED ON TWO INSULT COMPLAINTS

John Hawkins, alias John Harkins, was placed in jail last Monday morning on two warrants sworn out by two white women, both charging that the negro came to their homes, made threatening gestures, cursed, and made insulting remarks to them. He was not allowed bond, officers stating that due to bad feelings against the negro in the Jemison community, where the trouble occurred, they did not believe it advisable to allow him to return to that community.

TRAIN KILLED BILLINGSLEY MAN NEAR MONTGOMERY ON MONDAY

J. D. Jones, of near Billingsley, was fatally injured late Monday when his lumber truck was struck by a Mobile and Ohio gasoline-propelled passenger train at a crossing near Hunter Station on the Montgomery highway near Maxwell Field.

State Highway Patrolmen Moody and Armstrong, who investigated, said the cause of the accident had not been determined. Jones's truck was demolished and the locomotive was thrown from the tracks by the impact. Passengers were transferred to Montgomery by automobile.

Jones was reported by patrolmen to have turned off the highway toward a lumber mill across the tracks from the highway when the train struck his truck. The view was unobstructed in both directions. The injured man was carried to a Montgomery hospital, but died shortly after he arrived. Diffly Undertaking company turned the body over to Martin's Funeral Home Tuesday for funeral services and burial.

Burial is being today, Thursday, at Indian Grave at 11:00 o'clock. Besides his wife, Mr. Jones is survived by six children—Mrs. Ruby Williams, Miss Lottie Jones, Johnnie Jones, Doris Jones, J. D. Jones and Sarah Jones. There are two brothers—Joe Jones and Wilson Jones, both of Indian Grave community. Two sisters, Mrs. Mary Boles and Mrs. Alice Turner.

LANDON IS STILL LEADING IN LITERARY DIGEST POLL

At the end of the fourth week of the Literary Digest nation-wide poll we find Landon leading Roosevelt in 13 out of 21 states, by a plurality of 108,477 out of a total of 479,467 ballots already turned in for these two candidates. Lemke is trailing a bad third with 19,632.

This gives Landon a popular vote of 61.3 per cent, and Roosevelt 38.7 per cent. The electoral vote is divided: Landon 69.93 per cent, and Roosevelt 30.07 per cent.

The eight states which show so far for Roosevelt are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas.

The 13 states showing for Landon are California, Colorado, Indiana, Kansas, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Landon's electoral vote so far is 214, while that of Roosevelt is 92; a total of 266 is required to elect. From this we find that Landon must hold what he now has and collect enough out of the remaining 27 not yet entered in the poll, to give him 52 more electoral votes. Mr. Roosevelt must hold his 92 and gain 174 out of the remaining 225 yet to be heard from. In short, Mr. Roosevelt must take 174 of these 225, while Landon can win if he gets only 52 of them.

Famous Writer Says U. S. Needs Landon

Walter Lippmann, Long New Deal Friend, Declares For Kansas Entry.

New York, Sept. 20.—Walter Lippmann, outstanding political commentator and long a friend of Roosevelt and New Deal, has come out in his newspaper column squarely for Governor Landon and announced he will vote for him in November. Mr. Lippmann's support of the Kansan for President is based on his belief the nation needs representative government in Washington and that the Kansas governor is best qualified by personality and experience to weld America into a united whole.

After declaring that Mr. Roosevelt "has conducted his administration as a personal, factional and partisan enterprise," and voicing the belief that national problems are insoluble by these methods, Mr. Lippmann says, "I am going to vote for Landon. I am going to put my faith in the combined wisdom of a representative government rather than in the personal brilliance and daring of an individual leader."

"The record of his (Roosevelt's) administration," he continues, "seems to me to prove that his disposition is to govern by personal and factional method and that the effect of these methods is to create unreal and unnecessary visions in the nation at or the utmost importance. I think that is the most imporant thing to be gotten out of this election. And because I am convinced that Governor Landon is in a political situation where he must conduct a government of national union, because I believe that temperament and by his views he is disposed to such government, I hall vote for him."

Mr. Lippmann concluded:

"It is certainly of no consequence whatever that Governor Landon is not an entertaining orator, that he is more persuasive face to face than he is over the radio or in print. If the world could be saved by fluent oratory, this earth would be a paradise today.

The fact that Mr. Landon has neither the instinct nor the art of the demagogue but has, on the other hand, the gift of personal persuasion in private conference is to be counted in his favor. If the world is ever to be quiet again it will have to be governed by reasonability quiet men."

Uncle Sam Has Spent $8,879,798,257 In Year

All Time High For Peace Period, Says Treasury Report

RECEIPTS INCREASE

Record Breaking Deficit Of $4,763,841,542 Is Shown, However.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Expenditure of $8,879,798,257 by the Federal Government in the fiscal year ended July 1, established an all time high for peace time disbursement, the treasury reported today in its year end statement.

This outlay resulted in a record breaking peace time of $4,763,841,542, for a 12-month period although receipts of $4,115,956,615 were the largest since 1929.

The statement showed the expenditures in the first three full years of the present administration totaled $23,360,673,605. This exceeded by $12,328,695,640 the tax and other receipts, aggregating $11,031,977,865.

The $4,115,000,000 revenue receipts for the past fiscal year were about the $3,991,000,000 budget estimate but were short of the President's revised estimate of $4,400,000,000 a year ago.

The outstanding feature of the year-end statement were figures showing that cost of operating the regular Government departments increased to $5,588,870,388 in the fiscal year 1936, against $3,719,295,494 last year.

Relief Costs Lower

Relief expenditures amounted to $3,290,927,869, a slight decline from the $3,656,529,670 in the 1935 year, and $700,000,000 under the relief outlay of $4,002,000,000 in the first full year of the present administration.

Because the late Congress approved the soldiers' bonus over President Roosevelts veto, the cash payment of $1,773,000,000 was changed to the fiscal year 1936.

As a result of this bookkeeping transaction, the public debt, which shot across the $34,000,000,000, mark in June through treasury borrowing to pay the bonus, has been cut down to $33,384,000,000.

BATTERY REPAIRING BUSINESS STARTING UP IN CLANTON SOON

A business of repairing automobile and radio wet batteries will be started up in Clanton within the next few days. The location of the new business will be in the building next to Erby Popwell's Gulf Station, and the operator will be Mr. Enoch Plier Jr., of Concord community.

Mr. Plier has had seven years experience in the battery rebuilding business, and claims to know the trade from A to Z. He has an adv. in another place in this paper. Read what he has to say.

Miss Willie Popwell was operated on at a Birmingham hospital one day last week. She is recovering nicely, late reports say.

State Capitol News

Montgomery—Highways in six counties are being "half-soled" for winter traffic, H. H. Houk, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, said.

"We are smoothing roads roughened by heavy traffic during the summer where roads have been softened by heat," he explained.

The "half-soling" treatment with bituminous material is being carried on in Shelby, St. Clair, Etowah, Marshall and DeKalb counties.

Formal freeing of the state's 15 toll bridges will become effective at noon on Tuesday, Sept. 29, marked by special ceremonies at each of the bridges when thousands of Alabamian's will hear the voice of Gov. Bibb Graves over a radio hookup from has executive chambers in the capitol.

J. Monroe Black, Ft Deposit business man, was named probate judge of Lowndes county by Gov. Bibb Graves last Thursday, Succeeding the late Judge D. C Leatherwood, who died several days ago.

Black is serving his third term as a member of the Lowndes county board of commissioners.

A colony of Minnesota and Dakota families whose farms have been destroyed by drouth, will soon move into Baldwin county to make their new homes on small farms they have purchased there, according to announcement last week by Rep. A. B. McPhaul, of Seminole.

A large number of the colonists are said to be Mennonites, a thrifty, industrious and intensley religious sect.

Each farm consists of about 40 acres is to be cultivated intensely by the new comers who will devote their energies to truck farming. The land will be purchased on long-term payment plans from the Baldwin Land Company, McPhaul explained.

Rainfall over the state improved pasturage and vegetables, but hindered cotton picking in mid-eastern counties during the past week, according to E. D. Emigh, U. S. Metereologist, in charge of the Weather Bureau here.

"The temperature averaged somewhat above normal, but was not excessive. Light to moderate showers fell in all portions of the state, with beneficial effects on all crops except that cotton picking was slowed up considerably in middle eastern counties. Elsewhere picking made steady progress, while ginning advanced rapidly.

"Pastures and vegetables continued to improve steadily and are in good condition except in the middle eastern area. The harvesting of corn cane, sweet potatoes and other farm products is advancing satisfactorily.

RURAL LINES AHEAD OF TIME

Birmingham, Sept. 21.—Officials of Alabama Power Company stated today that since it began a program for a year of rural line construction on September 4, 1935, it had built 882 miles of line and had under construction 232 miles. This runs ahead of the planned schedule of 849 miles within that period.

A twelve months summary, on September 16, of the company's rural line construction shows that the company has completed the construction of 220 rural lines, a total of 882 miles to serve 4,280 rural costomers in 52 counties of the State. In the construction of those lines, labor of the local communities has been employed to dig the holes, clear the rights-of-way, and for such other labor as dose not require skilled workmen. Local electricans in the communities have found employment in wiring the homes and dealers in the towns near those communities have sold the materials for wiring, fixtures and appliances.

The materials for constructing the lines have been purchased from dealers and manufacturers of the State, increasing business for the creosote rural plants and manufacturers of line materials.

At the present time the company has under construction 4 additional rural lines with a total of 232 miles to serve 963 rural customers. Thus, the company is continuing its policy and offort to expand its electric system to serve additional customers throughout the enire area served by the Company.

COOSA CITIZENS ASK GRAVES FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Mass Meeting of 300 At Rockford Seeks Action Now To Help Schools

ALARMED BY KELLER

Group Adopts Resolution Calling On Legislature To Find New Revenue

Rockford, Ala., Aug. 14.— More than 300 Coosa County citizens, including farmers, farm women and business men and women of all communities in the county, today adopted a resodution urging Gov. Graves immediately to call a special session of the Legislature and petitioning the Legislators to provide sufficient revenue for schools, health, and public welfare, and to match federal funds so that Alabama farmers may reap full benefits under the national agricultural conservation program.

The resolution was passed without a dissenting vote following an address by Dr. J. A. Keller, State Superintendent of Education, in which he said that "Alabama children are facing the shortest terms in the nation" unless something is done for education. "On the basis of the present revenue in sight, the elementary schools in a big majority of Alabama counties will run in 1936-37 only 5 3-4 months and the high schools will run only 7 3-4 moths", he said "Consequently, a majority of Alabama school children will not be promoted from one grade to another in 1936-37 unless additional funds are raised for operation of the schools."

POULTRY AND FEEDS CLANTON, ALABAMA

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant. County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

Brief Farm Notes

The Alabama livestock law, designed to prevent livestock stealing, will become operative on October 1, with the State Department of Agriculture administraing the Act.

Planting of almost 500,000 kudzu crowns has brought under control approximately 475 acres of badly eroded land in the Soil Conservation Demonstration project near Anniston.

The Foresty Department in Montgomery is growing 1,111,181 tree seedlings for distribution this fall. The Department will receive orders September 30.

John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, is advising Alabama farmers to grow oats, rye, rape, or Austrian winter peas for their chickens. "Green feed is a vital necessity in the poultry ration," he says.

The total enrollment of 4-H club members reached a new high point of almost 1,000,000 in 1935. The enrollment in Alabama is slightly over 60,000.

Tallapoosa County farmers now lead the State in planting winter legumes—hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas.

FACTS ARE GIVEN ABOUT HOW TRANSPLANT SHRUBS

Auburn, Ala.—Shrubs and trees should be transplated during the fall, the winter, and the early spring seasons, advises Homer Fisher, extension landcape gardener.

"With few exceptions they can be planted successfully during either of the seasons. However, early fall and late spring seasons are considered best for transplanting evergreens," he states.

In digging the holes the good top soil should be saved for placing over and immediately around the roots. The soil should be in a moist condition at transplanting time.

The holes should be at least 12 inches wider and 6 inches deeper than the roots of the plants and should be at least as wide at the top as at he bottom.

Broken branches and roots should be cut off smoothly with a sharp knife. After the shrubs and trees have been set properly the tops should be pruned by cuttinf off side branches and the removing of entire branches should be avoided.

Two to four-year-old schrubs and trees with compact root system and with stocky branch growth will be easist to transplant success fully.

It is sometimes advisable to shade the plants for sometime after they have been transplanted.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS OF BEAT 14 CALLED TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

For the purpose of organizing a unit of the Young Republican Federation in Beat 14, there will be a meeting at Freeman schoolhouse on Monday night, September 28, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A beat chairman and secretary will be chosen, and other matters pertaining to the beginning of the unit will be attended to. Honorable Hercy M. Pitts will speak, and probably others. The young citizens of the Beat, men and women, are urged to attend. Mr. Lloyd Howard, of Thorsby, will be present and render some pieces on his accordion. You will certainly want to hear this.—Clifford Manning, county chairman; Miss Cleo Broadhead, Secretary.

MUSICAL CONCERT BY COBB SISTERS QUARTET

On Friday evening, September 25, at the Calera High School, the Cobb Sisters Quartette will be heard in concert. Besides their singing, these girls have a variety of other amusements equally as good, namely, acrobatics, folk and tap dancing, comic readings, blackface skits, and even an amusing playlet and dialogue, all in interesting and varied costumes. Vocal, piano, horn, and pipe are also included in this variety program.

Don't miss this! There is not a dull moment. The whole program is full of fun and action. Sponsored by P.-T. A.

FFA BOYS WILL MEET IN AUBURN ON OCT. 5

Auburn, Ala.—About 300 high school boys of the State will attend the annual meeting of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America here on Saturday, Oct. 3, anounces A. C. Allen, Holtville, State FFA President.

Attendance this year will be limited to two members of each of the 140 FFA chapters in the state, teachers of vocational agriculture and outstanding young farmers from various chapters who have been designated as State candidates for state farmer degrees.

Adoption of a State program of work for the year, election of new officers and awarding degrees will be the chief businesses transacted during the meeting.

BEE AND HONEY EXHIBIT WILL BE BEST EVER HELD

Montgomery, Ala.—"We have planned one of the largest and best bee and honey exhibits at the Alabama State Fair in Birmingham, Sept. 28-Oct. 3, we have ever had in the State," reports Thomas Atchison, State Apairist, in advising that the American honey Institute "will hold demonstratons in connection with the exhibit."

Alabama beekeepers putting on the exhibit are J. M. Cutts and Sons, Montgomery; H. C. Short, Fitzpatrick; W. E. Harrell, Hayneville; and H. M. Norwood, Birmingham. Mrs. M. F. Jensen, Madison, Wis., will give the honey demonstrations and show the many uses of honey in cooking.

4-H CLUB GIRLS WILL ENTER DRESS CONTEST

Auburn, Ala.—Seven Alabama 4-H club girls will compete in the State style revue to be held in Montgomery on Saturday, October 10, announces Elizabeth DeLony, State girls 4-H club leader. The winner will be given a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress this fall.

Girls to compete in the dress revue are Mildred McCurdy, DeKalb County; Louise Clark, Dallas County, Louise Towery, Talladega County; Floris Copeland, Macon County; Ellen Virginia Moncrief, Autauga County; Edna Smart, Chambers County; and Jane Louise Gerhart, Monroe County.

4-H JUDGING CONTEST SLATED AT STATE FAIR

Auburn, Ala.—A 4-H club judging contest will be held at the State Fair in Birmingham on Monday, Sept. 28, F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist. Judging teams of three 4-H members from various counties will compete. The winning team will be awarded a $25 prize. The best judge of dairy cattle and the best judge of beef cattle will each be given a loving cup.

On Tuesday, Sept. 29, calves, dairy cows, and beef cattle of all breeds and classes will be judged.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination, backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Under the mommath tent, with a seating capacity of 3,000, this splendid show will bring to you Lew Childre—not just his voice from the air, but that popular radio entertaier in person, singing his newest songs and your favorites in his inimitable fashion. Supporting him will be such notable artists as Carlotta, the dancer divine; Ken Honchins, The Yodeling Drifter" who has bene on the air from virtually every radio station in the country as well as having made numbers of recordings; Harry (Slim) Williams, celebrated burlesque blackface comedian; the Cannon Sisters, singers and dancers of big time calibre; Beth and Jeff, musical artists; the Rio Grande Trio, the boys with the electric singing guitars; Toby Eastman, world famous comedian, and the Rhythm Makers Orchestra.

And then—the girls—dozens of 'em, pretty talented, charming, luscious, fetching, exotic, stately, dashing, chic, all descriptions and all shades from beautious blonde to exotic brunette. All under the Milt Tolbert tent.

Doors open at 7:30; curtain rises at 8:00 o'clock sharp.

ISABELLA RACKETEERS AT ENTERPRISE

The Isabella Racketeers will stage a show at Enterrise Junior High school on Saturday night, September 26th, at 8:00 o'clock.

These "Racketeers" say they will not disappoint you people down there this time. They postponed their show at that place a short while back on account of the death of their good friend, J. C. Jones. So, don't miss them. They're funny. Admission 10c and 20c.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The writer has learned from the school of life many valuable lessons. Here are just a few of them. Never worry. If there is a thing you can not help then you are not to blame about it. Go to bed at night and sleep in peace. A man who has no emenies is no good.

You cannot move without producing friction. Cristicism cannot harm a person who is doing God's will. God makes the wrath of men to praise Him. If the early church had not been persecuted it would have stayed in Jerusalem. The only service that brings reward is the service of love. Temporal things cannot satisfy. Jesus said "Life not in the abundance of things which one possesses." Next to the most valuable thing of the earth is the love of family and Christian friends. The most prescious and important thing on earth is Christian faith.

In many of our educational institutions, the teachers put the educational food on the table and the students can eat it or leave it. It is important to have the right kind of educational food, but it is also important to teach young people to love truth. There is more to education than laboratories, libraries, and classrooms. Jesus was the master teacher of all ages. Some lessons He taught His pupils would not learn until after He went back to heaven. They got their inspiration from His personality. They were turning the earth upside down before they knew what He meant by certain things He said. After He went to heaven, they would ask each other, "Don't you remember He told us this?" It takes a great teacher to build charactor. Instead of going to institutions, young people should go to teachers. I had rather a child of mine would have a good teacher and poor equpment in all the world and a poor teacher. "What university did you go to?" somebody asked Paul. I went to Gamaliel, he said. Students used to go to teachers, but now they go to institutions.

University News

University, Ala. September 19.—An estimate released this week by Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, reveals that for the first time enrollment of the University of Alabama may surpass 5000. Official figures will be available when registration is completed

Class elections at the University of Alabama are set for September 24. At that time all undergraduate classes will elect a president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer.

The University of Alabama has attraced co-eds from opposite ends of the American continent this year. Hester Sidorfsky claims Sao Paulo, Brazil, for her birthplace, while Louise Skinner was born in Juneau, Alaska.

Word has just been received at the University of Alabama that Harry Towns, Hutsville, a former student at the University, is now acting on the legitimate stage. Townes, former president of Blackfriars at the University, is now touring the country in "Tobacco Road".

Dr. Stuart Graves, Dean of the Medical School here, has announced a reorganized University Health Service. Two Tuscaloosa physicians, Dr. James P. Collier and Dr. Robert H. Cochrane, will replace Dr. J. J. Kennedy, who is away because of ill health.

Alabama's famous "Million Dollar Band" began pratice this week. The band, brilliantly attired in new crimson and white uniforms, will have three drum majors and a good sponsor.

Tickets to the Crimson Tide's opening encounter of the 1936 football season are selling at a fast clip. Alabama meets Howard at Tuscaloosa on September 26. Last year the Howard Bulldogs upset the dope bucket by holding Alabama to a 7 to 7 tie, and another hot fight is in prospect, with Alabama out for vengeance.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKING HEAD IS NAMED

Montgomery, Ala., Sept 22.—Judge James S. Parrish, noted Montgomery attorney, has been named chairman of a speaker's bureau to cooperate with county Democratic campaign committees in counties where Democrats are opposed to Republican or Independent candidates, it was announced this week.

The appointment was made by John D. McQeen, chairman of the state Democratic Committee, who declared that "there was no doubt about President Roosevelt sweeping the state, but that the Democrats not only wanted to make it 100 per cent Roosevelt this eleceion, they wanted also to carry every county and district office."

BETHSALEM

There will be a singing at Bethsalem church, on Sunday afternoon, September 27, at 2:00 o'clock. Come on folks and let's make this singing the best yet. Come and bring someone with you. We need your help.

Member Of School Board Wants Schools On Parity

Schools and education have occupied a prominent place in the minds and conversations of those interested in the youth of our State, during the past several weeks, or even months. The question of the shortage of school money has been discussed freely.

Along the line of expedient measures, Mr. W. G. Harrison, of the State Department, wrote Mr. S. J. M. Webb, member of our County Board of Education regarding the possibility and advisibility of any economy measures that might be instituted in the educational system of the county, and the elimination of any useless expense of the department. To this letter from Mr. Harrison, Mr. Webb replied:

"I very graciously appreciate your deep interest here manifested in the schools of Alabama and trust that you, together with others, will be able to enact some legislation that is helpful to our schools.

I wish to say as to the economy practiced in this county that we go to the limit in that we get a full dollar's worth for every dollar that we receive. No money is spent unnecessarily from any angle. Also all money is well distributed. With reference to suitable legislation, my idea is that education, first of all, be placed on a parity with all other departments, that it be sure to get its part of the funds, then a small tax be placed on some luxury will solve the problem if properly carried out.

With special emphasis, I wish to say, let's not have legalized or taxed liquor. We Chilton County citizens are against liquor first, last, and always, for we love our boys and girls with a strong love, and we love God supreme.

"Yours for the best interests for schools.—S. J. M. Webb, Chairman County Board of Education."

It is the opinion of this paper that especial emphasis should be placed on that part of Mr. Webb's letter relative to placing education on a parity with other departments of the State. This is the first and foremost necessity in getting adequate schooling facilities for our children; and there is no just reason why other departments should draw their's first and let the schools have what is left, if any. If any difference in the departments, surely education should come first, but those most interested will be satisfied with a parity as to other departments. We commend the stand which Mr. Webb takes on the matter as expressed in his letter to Mr. Harrison.

NOTICE

HALF RED AND HALF WHITE CORN

Mr. Simuel Mims, of Thorsby Route 1, brought to The Union-Banner last week an ear of corn, half of which is red and the other half white. The different colored grains are not mixed up, but the red is all solid on one end and the white on the other. There are a few grains scattered around that are half white and half red. Mr. Mims stated that this ear was gathered from amoug just regular corn of no particular variety. Only a few ears of this kind are reported to have been seen before.

Miss Helen Lowery visited friends in Birmingham during the week end.

NEW COURSE BEING OFFERED AT C. C. H. S.

Teach The Rich Man's Son To Do Poor Man's Work

Some parents object to their children taking any vocational training courses. They are educating their children so they will not have to work as hard as they did. Most parents who make this statement do not undertand vocational training.

To teach the rich man's son to do the poor man's job would better society by creating greater respect for the working man among the wealthy class.

If the banker's son were to take a period of vocational training similar to that of the youth who expected to labor all his life, there would be less friction about such things as social security, wages and working and living conditions.

As advantages of a vocational training course in which all students, rich and poor, would be taught to work in shops, stores, plants, Etc. are:

Greater respect for the worker.

Development of a desire to work.

Impression of the principle that men should be advanced according to their training and ability.

Growth of habits and character traits of industry, initiative, perseverence, cooperation and helpfulness.

The vocational training course being offered at the high school will give the students experience on actual jobs with actual working conditions. These jobs are in the various shops and stores in town. The business men are cooperating with the County Board of Education, the superintendent and coordinator one hundred per cent. We expect to help the high school boys and girls of this community to be capable of earning a living when they finish their high school course.

SACRED HARP MUSIC

It is announced by J. B. Veal of Montgomery, Alabama, that there will be an all day singing at the court house in Montgomery on the first Sunday in October, using the sacred harp books.

All sacred harp singers are invited to attend and all visitors will be furnished with a nice dinner.

Come on everybody and let's fill up this big old court house.

Chilton County Calf Club a Big Success

B. N. Ivey, assistant County Agent, reports that the calf club show which was held last Saturday, September 19th in Clanton was a success. A total of 33 purebred animals were brought in, of which, 24 were jerseys, 4 were guernseys and 5 were herefords.

A short meeting was held in the court house, at which time Mr. T. A. Sims, State 4-H club leader, made an interesting talk to the boys on how to save money while they are young. At one o'clock the meeting shifted to Mr. George McCain's barn, where the cattle were shown.

Mr. F. W. Burns and Mr. A. A. Lauderdale were the judges and after placing the animals, they gave their reasons, so the spectators could see the points where one was better than the other. There was a cow and a heifer that the judges talked at length about, which belonged to Buster Popwell. They were both well built and had been taken care of. The heifer won first place in her class and junior champion over all the junior classes. The cow also won first place in her class and senior champion over all senior classes. This made the cow and heifer compete for grand champion. The judges gave it to the cow as she was more developed.

Mr. J. W. Mims has the outstanding bull which won first place over four other Jerseys and two Guernseys. There was lots of other good animals present. Some had been taken better care of than others and the boys realized this. However, this will make them strive to have their animals in better shape next time.

Eleven cows and calves are being kept in Mr. McCain's barn all this week where they are being given special attention. They are to be taken to Birmingham next Monday to the State Fair. The club is able to bear part of the feeding expenses and all of the transportation to Birmingham as the club agreed to put all prize money in the Club fund until it had enough to operate.

Junior heifer class—Ed Minor, Jr., 1st, $5.00 and ribbon; Johnnie Mims, 2nd, $4.00 and ribbon; George Moore, 3rd, ribbon.

J. N. SCOTT WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

I went to Coosa County last Sunday and attended the reunion and homecoming celebration of the Richard Hamilton family. I carried along with me Rev. J. C. Thomas, J. D. Cooper, and W. H. Robinson.

We had a good day. Met with a lot of good people, and there was a wonderful supply of something good to eat. There was good singing, and a good sermon, delivered by the Rev. Thomas. There were several other good talks.

It was a great trip. We stopped at Talladega Springs going and coming and took on a supply of that good old mineral water, and brought some of the soil from four counties back on our car. I never saw such dusty roads in my life. When we passed another car it would be some time before we could see the road ahead of us.

Well, people can say what they will about Coosa County, but I found some good people over there, and hope to get to go back there some time.—J. N. Scott.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENS DOORS FOR NEW SESSION

The Chilton County High School opened Tuesday morning with an informal program. Dr. S. J. Ezell, of the Baptist church, conducted the devotional exercises. Prof. Luther E. Little, superintendent of schools, spoke briefly of the progress of the Chilton County schools during the past fifteen years. He then introduced Prof. Patterson Hicks, principal of the high school. Mr. Hicks made some routine announcements, and then introduced the faculty of the high school.

Mrs. Hugh Jones spoke in behalf of the Parent-Teachers Association, in which she urged the parents of the high school children to know their school and to meet the teachers of their children.

The first meeting of the Association will be held on Tuesday afternoon, October 13. All patrons and friends of the high school are cordially invited to attend this first meeting.

The enrollment by classes for the first day was as follows:

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One question which is apt to loom large in the next Congress, providing the tendency to socialization is continued after the November election is that of public ownership of railroads. Government ownership bills will doubtless make their appearance in both houses, and there will be other proposed legislation which would, by rigid intensive legislation, or the saddling of greater expense on the carriers, be a move in the direction of public ownership, because such enactment would make operation of railroads by private enterprise too expensive to survive.

In fact, public ownership of railroads is one of the pet schemes of the radicals who want to substitute regimented government for American democracy. There are, of course, several reasons why public ownership of railroads would be inadvisable in a representative democracy like the United States. One would think that those who remember the unsatisfactory and expensive experience of the government in railway control during the period of the World War should be entirely convinced that government ownership is inadvisable. It is true that the war experience was so unsatisfactory that the socialistic proposal for taking over the railways went into the discard for almost a generation. But now that the people are forgetting, having had many old memories erased by the great depression, the proponents of socialized railroads are becoming active again.

From the standpoint of efficiency, economy and public policy, public ownership of railways is to be condemned for the United States. On the question of efficiency we have only to remember the war experiment of Uncle Sam with the railroads. On the standpoint of economy, we can say without fear of successful contradiction that government operation of business is always more expensive than private operation. The taking over of the railroads would be a pretty expensive business. Then there is to be taken into consideration the tremendous loss of revenue, in the way of taxes, which would be sustained in the event of public ownership, by the states, the counties and municipalities. Anyone who has lived in a rural county which has lost for some reason, a railroad or interurban line from the tax duplicate, can tell you just what this means.

But perhaps most important of all the objections to public ownership is that such ownership is againt public policy in democracy. Government ownerhip and real representative democracy do not mix. The federal process is one pointing toward Socialism, Communism and a brand of pure autocracy, which inevitably follows, as has been the case in Europe. Government ownership of railroads would mean an extension of bureaucracy, one of the principal causes of a breakdown in free government. It would increase the dangers of political favoritism in the way of manipulating rates and enchance the grip of political bosses through the increased patronage.

The question of public ownership of railroads, however, is one which seems in a fair way toward coming to the front again in the next few months. The questnon will be vehemently supported by its proponents. But it cannot be successfully maintained against its critics if the people, who are the final judges themselves, take a calm and analytical view of the situation.

The Republican National Committee has offered prizes in the sum of $1,000 for the best letters on the subject "Why I am for Roosevelt." We hope this will not be considered another form of boondoggling.

THE NEW DEAL IS GETTING ITS STRIDE IN THE CAMPAIGN

When the returns from Maine on September 14th sent a ringing message to the nation that the Roosevelt New Deal is on its way out in November, the Captain Generals of the New Deal became addled and foolish. Those two angels of pure politics, Jim Farley and Senator Joe Guffey, immediately began to squawk that the New Dealers had sold out in Maine. The defeated Democratic candidate for Senator in that State, chimed in that he would have been able to have elected a Chinaman Governor of the State if he could just have had as much money as the Republicans. This same present Governor made his campaign for the Senatorship as a Democrat by pointing out how much of the nations tax payer's money he had been successful in having squandered in Maine, and how, if he was elected United States Senator, he would be able to reach deeper into the National Treasury than his Republican opponent. In other words, he tried to show the people of Maine they should sell out our form of government for money out of the National Treasury, and since he failed in that high calling, he now squawks about the New Dealers in Maine being bought with Republican money.

Another spasm thrown by the New Dealers was the peanut politics the President and his advisers tried to play with the Vice Presidential candidate Knox's exposure of what New Deal printing press money inflation was doing, and will do to the savings accounts and insurance policies held by more than sixty million people. The president, in a vain effort to meet Frank Knox's clear exposure of the New Deal's printing press inflation program, and its inevitable effect on all values, called the Insurance executives together and a statement is issued that everything is well and that every policy will be paid. But paid in what? This is the vital question raised by the Knox speech. Will they be paid in sound money at all hazards, or will they be paid in comparatively worthless pieces of paper? That is the questions for Mr. Roosevelt to answer, and in which we are all so vitally interested. Mr. Roosevelt, in answering this question, is greatly embarassed by the fact that his promises and declarations about the character of our money are badly discredited in the fact that heretofore he has, with reckless abandon and scruples, broken his promises on this very vital question. He is in the attitude one would be in who promised to deliver one thousand yards of a fabric measured with a thirty-six-inch yard stick, who has insisted on making delivery of the half thousand yards measured with a yard stick he (Roosevelt) has already cut more than sixteen inches off, and now has the power and authority to cut as much more of the remaining twenty inches off, as he may deem expedient in his second term, if he should be given a second term, before he makes further delivery.

In this simple illustration is found the lesson Frank Knox is trying to put over to the American people that so agitated Mr. Roosevelt. Let Mr. Roosevelt, if he can, in the light of the record he has made, assure the Life Insurance policy holders of the Nation, those who have savings accounts, the wage earners, and those who work for salaries, in the years to come, what kind of money values are they to be paid in? Applying the yardstick illustration, will it be thirty six inch yards, twenty-inch yards, two-inch yards, one-inch yards, or one tenth of an inch yards.

These are the implications so pertinently raised by the Republican candidate for Vice President in his discussion of the effect of Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal debasement of the money and all present and future values, including life insurance.

Mr. Roosevelt is in no position to make any statement or promise on the subject that will be convincing or satisfactory to people who are familiar with the record and who think for themselves.

Notice in the papers where Vice President Garner has come out in support of Franklin D. Roosevelt for President. Now, that is news, isn't it?

Judge Jas. Parrish, Montgomery, issues the statement that the Democratic campaign committee is going to hit hard in the counties of Alabama where there is a Republican ticket. Of this class of counties, we presume Chilton will be among the chiefest; at least we expect the Democrats of the State to do their best to burn the woods up here. But we Republicans have our "flit" guns all primed and ready for their bombardment. Send 'em on up here, Jim.

Chairman Hamilton says the West is the key to the campaign. Neither he nor Mr. Farley, however, will be caught leaving the West under the door mat.—Worcester, Mass., Gazette

MAN IN THE MOON

THINK THIS OVER

Suppose we take our politics in a little lighter vein this week. I know the campaigns are getting hotter and hotter, and for this very reason, I believe it will do us all good to take off and cool down a bit. Here's my contribution to the cause—an anagram clipped from a newspaper recently.

With your pencil write the followng two lines:

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT
VOTE FOR LANDON ERE ALL SINK

Now, take the letters as they come in the top line and cross them out, each time crossing out a like letter in the lower line. For instance, cross out the F in the top line and an F in the lower line; next cross out an R in the upper line and an R in the lower line, and so on like that. When you have finished crossing out all the letters in the president's name in the upper line, you will find that you have likewise crossed out all the letters in the lower line.

Try it. It's lots of fun. And while you're about it, take a second look at the lower line—there's more truth than poetry in it. And here's another thing you might remember—that top line is something we all need to forget, while the bottom one is something good to remember—until November 3rd, at least.

I don't know who is the author of the above. Perhaps it was a zealous Republican, and then again maybe it was a converted Democrat.

BIRMINGHAM'S RIPLEY

Believe it or not, Birmingham has a Ripley—and a Robert Ripley, too—just like the genuine Robert L. Hipley of "Believe It Or Not" fame. Officers of Birmingham first came to know this a few weeks ago when they stopped a curious looking negro. When asked for his name, the negro answered: "Robert L. Ripley." The coppers told him to cut the funny stuff and tell them his real name, but the turbaned gentleman replied: "Believe it or not, cap, I'se Robert L. Ripley. Co'se I ain't dat feller whut draws all dem pitchers, but I'se Robert L. Ripley jest de same."

Officers took the negro in, Turkish turban and all, and still he clung to his story about his name. He was booked for investigation as to his home and the nature of his vocation, but no charges could be placed against him. Now Birmingham officers are wondering if this strange coinincidence isn't good enough to make the real Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" strip, or if he will sit around and let his nearest competitor scoop him by putting it in the "Strange As It Seems" strip. That WOULD be gall and wormwood for Mr. Ripley (the real one).

QUODDY—MAINE—AND THE REST OF US

Much has been said and written of "Quoddy", the government's giant Passamaquoddy tidal basin power project in Maine. In fact, so much has been promised on it, so much has been written about it, and so little done in connection with it, until, considering the enormous amount of money that has already been spent on it, the whole thing has turned out to be one colossal but pitiful joke.

Eastport, Maine was all agog some months ago when it was announced that the big project would be put through. Then came the slow months of waiting for work to begin. Real estate prices boomed in that town, for everyone believed that the government would, in a way, rebuild Eastport. People who had saved up a little money put it into real estate—and lost it all.

When government engineers finally came to take up the work at Quoddy, they decided they would have to forget Eastport, and build a little city of their own to house the workers and generalissimos of the big job. Eastport's feathers fell, for Eastport was being treated like some sort of red-headed step child.

The next thing wrong about Quoddy was that instead of using the local workers and turning the horn of plenty on Maine, workers were imported from everywhere. The government explained this to the people of Maine by saying that enough "skilled" labor could not be found locally. But Maine's people really became irritated when the work got far enough to use common labor, and even these were imported. Maine seemed to be furnishing the scenery—nothing else.

Quoddy City was built—with Maine looking on like the rest of us. Then work began on the dam itself. "Now", thought the people of Maine, "we will come in for some of the work." But alas!—just about the time the work got going good, word came to close down the whole job, and Maine still didn't have anything but a model city built at the water's edge—and the people of Maine were not at all interested in model cities. Appeals were made for more funds to carry on Quoddy, but they fell on deaf ears.

And then the people of Maine began to see light. They began to realize that so long as Quoddy held hopes of being politically advantageous to President Roosevelt he managed to feed money to the project. But the minute he felt it was no longer any good to his political aspirations, he dropped it like a hot brick, and laid the stoppage at the door of Congress, telling Maine's people that Congress would not allow more money for Quoddy.

But the people of Maine were not so easily fooled. They understood why Quoddy was ever started in the first place, and understood fully as well why it was stopped. Then Quoddy attracted more attention from Maine's people than ever before. They came by the hundreds to view the work—a model city, a few mounds of dirt and rock—a monument to political intrigue. And Maine's folks were not the only ones who came; vacationists took the time to look over the giant monument of governmental waste. They saw what Maine's folks saw—political disregard for expense to the American taxpayer. They saw political extravagance at its worst, and they took the lesson home with them, and today these travellers are telling their neighbors and friends of the extravagance evidenced in Quoddy.

A few days ago Maine held an election, and Maine's voters mirrored their disgust of such political chicanery and gigantic extravagance in their righteous repudiation of the Democratic organization. They had seen—firsthand—just what the Democrats wanted out of Maine—votes—and nothing else. But Maine's people had taken the administration's promise to heart, honestly and sincerely, and it nauseated them to have the mighty governmental cold shoulder turned on them. Therefore they took a lesson in "cold shouldering" and went the administration one better by defeating EVERY Democrat in the races. That's how the people of Maine—the scene of one of the government's biggest experiments feel about Roosevelt and the New Deal.

And now, for the rest of us. We have our own Quoddy in all sections of the country. As Quoddy was stopped just as it was started, after millions of dollars were tossed away in buildings that will now be left to fall into ruins, just so have numbers of other experimental projects been held up, after frightful extravagance. Let's draw a parallel.

Suppose you are a farmer. In the spring you break your land, prepare and plant it, using quite a bit of fertilizer, then, just about the time the sun comes beaming down, and "Uncle Ned" begins dancing before your eyes, you lay your plow in the shade, put "Old Beck" in the stall, and go off and forget the whole thing. Would that be a sensible proceeding? Would you expect to gather a crop in the fall? You know you wouldn't. You would have lost your work and the cost of the fertilizer you used.

Just so the governmental projects. A great hullabaloo was kicked up about what big things would be done. Men were put to work and great sums were expended for lumber, steel, lime, cement, and other building materials. And just as the projects were beginning to take form—to look like buildings, dams, and like projects—the whole thing fell through. Nothing left but a pile of junk—useful if finished, but worse than useless in the condition left by the New Deal vote hunters.

Don't be fooled. All the big talk about helping the forgotten man is politics—pure and simple—a subtle appeal for votes. Quoddy was an appeal for votes in Maine, but the New Dealers slipped up in stopping the project too soon, and the votes went the other way. You may have had a few days work—made work—under the New Deal, but deep down in every man's heart and mind he KNOWS the whole scheme is but a passing whim of a fantastic vote-building machine.

I have heard Democrats talk loftily in public about "the great heart that beats for the common man," and that very same day confide to close friends that "Roosevelt is one of the smartest politicians in the game. He knows how to get votes!"

Maine had its Quoddy. In one way or another, every section of the country has had practically the same experience. Maine's people have realized that their Quoddy was a gigantic hoax, and have repudiated the perpetrators of it. We believe America's people all over the nation have had their fill—like Maine—of false economy and of exravagance. And, we believe America will follow Maine's example.—Man in the Moon.

LATIN-AMERICAN BEEF

Under the caption "Something is Wrong", the editor of the Unionville (Mo.) Republican tells of a recent visit to his office of a Unionville citizen and the resultant discussion of the farmer and the tariff. The visitor started off with the remark that "it is a shame that things we should produce right here at home are now being shipped from foreign lands and sold to us.

The editor exressed some doubt that the import flood had gone so far as to penetrate agricultural Missouri, where things are produced right on the farm.

His friend, according to the story, stepped around the corner to the nearest grocery and returned in less than five minutes carrying a small can which contained corned beef, the label furnishing the information that the meat had been packed in some town down in Brazil. After being packed, it was crated and shipped to the United States, not for consumption in some great industrial center, but right in Northern Missouri, which, the editor avers, is the home of corn and beef cattle.

The editor wisely adds:

"There seems to be something wrong with a system under which this may be done. It is well understood that the standard of living in our nation is higher than in any other nation, and this ought to be preserved, in our opinion. When a people living in a standard of living are able to exist on an income of 12 cents per day, a thing like this means, if it is continued, that finally our own standard of living must be dragged down to approximately the level of the foreign producer. The only difference is the cost of transportation from there to here.

"Here is a case of corn and beef raised in a country by people whose labor costs about 12 cents per day competing with corn and beef raised in our own country at a labor cost of not less than $1 per day, and probably considerably more, as it should be. But that is not the entire story. Not only are our farmers being supplanted in their very own industry right under their very noses, but the labor which prepared the corned beef was Brazilian labor. For every day's work done in that respect in Brazil, a day's work was taken away from some American laborer.

"As a result of such a policy which permits this, we not only undermine the foundations of our farmers, but we are contributing to the unemployment which exists today in the country among our laboring men."

What is true in Unionville, Mo., is true of every city and hamlet in the United States. Most Americans get so much bunk from free trade sources to the effect that the tariff does not help the farmer because we are an agricultural exporting nation that he doesn't take the trouble to look about him. If he did he would soon find out how much truth there is in this "baloney" about the failure of the protective tariff to help the farmer. The free trader always singles out wheat when he begins to talk to the farmer about protection and infers that, because when there is a wheat surplus it must be sold in the world market, the protective tariff is no account to the farmer. He fails to recognize the fact that wheat is only one American crop and that there are dozens of others, many of which need real protection if they are to survive foreign competition. If you don't believe the Department of Commerce statistics about how the alien farmers have invaded our markets, just go into the corner grocery and take a look. If you live in the corn and beef cattle belt, what you see will be especially enlightening. And, thanks to Cordell Hull and his tariff bargains, the worst is yet to come.

It is said that if they remain in power until 1940, the New Dealers are going into the olympics to try to win a gold medal as the world's champion debt up raisers.

The newspapers say that the tallest man in the world wears number 39 shoes which leads us to wonder how tall he would be if so much of him were not turned under?

In throwing bombs at the American warship Kane, and missing it, the Spaniards are continuing the record they started in 1898.

It is said that late suppers are not good for one and this is espesially true for the one who is paying the bill.

When a big local bully was accusing one of our timid friends of hiding behind his wife's skirts, the timid soul very properly asked: "what skirts?"

ALL IS CHANGE

Those who remember the good old days when the shining cart with its red running gears was pulled over the road by a proud horse will be interested to note that, according to a statistical report, fewer than 1,000 carriages, buggies, sulkies and 2-wheel carts are manufactured in the United States each year. The passing of the horse and buggy, of course, made a decided change in our industries. The making of harness, as well as vehicles, was curtailed. Less feed was required on the American farms. The old-fashioned blacksmith shop, where the small boy used to watch the sparks fly and revel in the odor of a frying hoof, has given away to the proud, often gaudy, filling station, where you can get a dozen different brands of fuel made by a dozen different companies, each fuel costing you exactly the same.

The man with the shiny new automobile is apt to feel a sort of pitying smile for the plodding old horse which he passes at rare intervals when he is touring out in the country.

But he ought to feel proud. The grandfather of that old horse was once as shiny and self satisfied as that purring straight eight motor car is today. Then came the change and Old Dobbin went off the roads, perhaps forever, becoming a sacafice to the inevitable machine age.

But this machine age has a way of changing itself much faster than did the era when it first began. From the time of Julius Cesar down to the time of William McKinley the mutability of our transportation system, so far as individual conveyance is concerned, was much less than the development we have undergone since the days of McKinley down to the era of Tugwell and Wallace. It is very that in another decade the sleek purring auto likely, therefore, that transportation will continue to change and it is not at all unlikely or car of the present day may have become a mechanized turtle. For the arcraft is developing rapidly and nobody knows what else may be next.

The Horse and Buggy age has been succeeded by the motor car era, and this in turn may give way to the air era or even something new. Indeed, the era of air in politics and economics seems to be already with us. We will probably never return to the horse and buggy age so far as our mechanics are concerned. But if we do not apply some sound horse sense in our political, economic and social principles it is very likely that everything will be up in the air by the time another ten years has rolled around.

REASONS FOR FEAR

An individual has borrowed money to build himself a house. Although heavily in debt he can still borrow money in spite of the fact that for a long time he has been known to be spending a great deal more than his income. One of his workers set 42 stones in a wall. The setting of each stone cost $3.27. A cathedral worth $2,000 cost our citizen $14,000. A shoemaker house cost over $5,000 and was without a roof or floor.

Our citizen paid $6 a cubic yard for crushed stone which his neighbors could get for 50 cents. Everything he did was on this scale. When he was asked why he did such strange things he said that he had figured out that this is the way to more abundant life. He was growing prosperous. He was providing social security for himself. He expected to be the envy of the community. He would show a lot of people that they had been stuck in the mud. He was never short of funds. There was plenty more where he got it. He was showing the proper spirit in the way he used it.

Some people would say that there was a good deal wrong with our citizen's ideas. They wouldn't be astonished if they turned out to be wrong and if something very disagreeable happened. The SNAPSHOT GUILD

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH TAKING YOUR OWN PICTURE ONCE IN A WHILE?

How to prove, when there is no witness, that you were telling the truth. You snapshoot yourself and the fish with a self-timer right on the spot.

HOW often have you opened your snapshot album to view, once more, treasured pictures you have taken of groups of friends or of the family, and closed it with a feeling of regret that you did not appear in these pictures yourself? Or, how often, when you are showing somebody snapshots you took on a memorable occasion, do you hear the remark, "Where were you all this time?" Modestly you reply, "Why, I was just the man behind the camera. Somebody had to take the pictures." But really wouldn't you like to have been in those pictures? Of course, you would.

Obviously, one solution of this difficulty is to let some one else use your camera on these occasions and take some pictures with you in them. Good enough except that that somebody else—Dad or whoever it may be—is missing from them just as you were missing from the others.

There is another answer to this problem and a perfect one. Get a self-timer, which is the name for an attachment which permits most cameras other than the box type to take pictures unattended. It is an inexpensive accessory that fits on the metal button at the end of the cable release which operates the shutter. In the manner of an alarm clock, the mechanism of this gadget may be set to "go off" after a time interval, whereupon it presses the button and releases the shutter. Meantime, you have taken your place in the picture and are looking your prettiest awaiting the snap.

Some cameras have a self-timer incorporated in the shutter. Of course, you must have the camera on a firm support. In the picture to the left above, the camera is fastened with a clamp having a tripod socket. You prepare for the picture by focusing in the usual way and using the same stop opening and shutter speed you would use ordinarily. If you have placed your subjects quite close to the camera, see that there is a particular space in the group for you to enter and don't fail to occupy precisely that space, else you will blanket somebody or, if the space is at the side, you may find in the print that you have lost an arm or so.

Nothing prevents you from taking a picture of yourself alone if you feel that way—which suggests one very important use for the self-timer. Ever go fishing alone and wish there were somebody to take your picture holding up that whopper at the actual scene of the catch? Or, do you always buy one at the fish store?

Facts And Figures About Roads Of Chilton County

Judge J. Lee Smith Gives Comparative Figures To Show Errors

Judge J. Lee Smith is this week releasing an article in which he sets out figures which tend to prove the contention of the Commissioners Court that the court is now furnishing all money possible for maintenance of the roads; also other figures to show discrepancies in figures furnished by Mr. Arledge, road supervisor, to the court, compared with figures published in his recent newspaper articles. Mr. Smith's figures further show discrepancies between the stated figures of Mr. Arledge and Mr. Cox.

Following is Mr. Smith's letter in full:

Judge Smith's Letter

To the People of Chilton County:

I have noticed several articles written in the local papers by Mr. T. J. Arledge, road supervisor. I have also noticed a letter written by Hon. C. B. Cox, our representative, which appeared in the county papers on September 10, 1936. Both of these gentlemen have cited figures regarding the cost and maintenance of our roads.

The law requires the road supervisor to file an itemized statement with Commissioners Court, showing the amount of funds expended for each month. For your information I will take his statement filed with the Commissioners Court for the month of May, 1936, which the law requires him to file, and which I believe is about correct. Along with this I will give the figure he published in his newspaper article, and show a comparison.

Statement Filed with Commissioners Court	$5,882.77
Statement published in local papers for May	5,062.85
Difference in statements for the month of May	$ 819.92

In Mr. Cox's letter he stated that the supervisor spent for the month of May, 1936, the sum of $4,806.38. You will note that there is a difference here of $1,076.39 between the statements rendered by Mr. Arledge and Mr. Cox, although both were given out as true statements of the road supervisor for the same month—May 36.

I would be glad to show anyone the official records now on file in the probate office. I am not at all interested in newspaper articles and controversies, neither do I desire to mislead the people, but I am very much interested in the roads and finances of the county. I have tried to work and cooperate with all officials to the best interest of the county.

I note from an article published in The Chilton County News that Mr. F. C. Gibson misunderstood what I said about the supervisor purchasing $27,775.00 worth of road machinery. I stated that the supervisor had "requested" the Commissioners Court to buy machinery and equipment as follows:

3 pull type power control graders at $2,167	$ 6,501.00
1 50-hp tractor (gas preferred)	4,500.00
3 1½-ton trucks hydraulic dumper, at $928	2,784.00
One 12 blade grader, hand control, District 3	1,745.00
One 12 blade grader, hand control, District 2	1,745.00
One Diesel RDT tractor	5,300.00
One Diesel No. 50 tractor	5,200.00
TOTAL	$27,775.00

I understand that Mr. T. J. Arledge, road supervisor, was very much disappointed because the Commissioners Court would not permit him to purchase the above equipment. The supervisor has full charge of the roads, and the Commissioners Court has appropriated every dollar available for road work.

I understand that the road supervisor and Mr. Cox are telling the people that your probate judge is not working with them, and that the Commissioners Court has cut the appropriation. I deny this charge. The Commissioners Court has had nothing to do with the cutting of the appropriation. Mr. Cox, through local bills enacted into law by the legislature, cut the appropriation, and he did this over the protest of the officials and citizens of our county; this has effected the finances of our county as follows:

Bill transferring from General Fund to Fine and Forfeiture Fund	$ 5,000
Extra Deputy Sheriff	1,080
Additional cost in publishing Treasurer's report	1,037.08
Tax on Gasoline, about	3,000
Permanent type of paved road, about	25,000
Health Unit	3,000
County agent's office	4,300
Road supervisor's salary	2,400
Road supervisor's travel expense	1,200
TOTAL	$46,017.08

We can solve our road problem by repealing some of our local bills passed by Mr. Cox, and which cut into our county's finaces so deeply. I would be willing to submit to a referendum of the voters of Chilton County, if it is agreeable with Mr. Cox, and if he will publicly make statement that he will abide by the result. Or of he will not agree to this, I believe that our people would be willing to leave it to 15 or 20 of our largest taxpayers of the county; I would give Mr. Cox the privilege of selecting all Democrats or all Republicans or both. I would be willing to leave it to all the officials who were elected to office by the people.

If Mr. Cox or any official or citizen can offer any solution to the road problem, I would be glad to hear from them. I shall always be glad to cooperate with the officials and citizens of Chilton County. My promise to our people still stands good—I will never cast my vote in the Commissioners Court to throw our county into debt.

Yours very truly,
J. LEE SMITH,
Probate Judge, Chilton County, Ala.

CENTER HILL

It has been some time since you have had anything from here. Everybody has been busy picking cotton and doing other kinds of field work, while they had the children to help them.

Everything is moving along nicely. We have chose for our pastor for another year, Rev. J. P. Littleton of Clanton.

Our Sunday school is going nicely with Mr. Golden Gothard as Superintendent. We have put in new windows and are going to paint the house on the inside just as soon as everybody gets through the rush of gathering their crops.

We would have been glad for everyone around here and adjoining communities to have been here Sunday night.

The people of Union Grove came over and put on their B. Y. P. U. program for us, and believe me, it was fine. It was a wonderful program and well rendered. We extend to them a standing welcome and an invitation to come back any time they will.

We have re-elected our singing society officials. They are: B. L. Cobb, president; Lonnie Cobb, vice president, and Mrs. John W. Collum, secretary. Our singing society meets on the fourth Sunday afternoon. But it is called off next Sunday on account of the all day singing at Jemison.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Golden Gothard is still crippled with a sore ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cobb have returned to Troy, Alabama, where Alton will take up his school work for another term.

Mr. Jimmie Sims and mother, Mrs. Kizzie Sims, of Sylacauga were visitors here Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Mabel Cobb was the dinner guest of Miss Barney Dean Cobb Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gentry, of Phoenix, Arizona, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collum Sunday night. They are planning on leaving Wednesday morning for Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb and Misses Mabel and Berney Dean Cobb attended the singing at Mars Hill Sunday afternoon.

VISITED IN CRENSHAW COUNTY LAST SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Mims and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Downs were visitors in Crenshaw County last Sunday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Julius C. Beall of Route 1, Luverne.

They reported that farmers in that section were about through picking cotton. Much more land "lay out" down there than in our own county. The farmers of south Montgomery County and Crenshaw all seem to have big crops of peanuts and peas.

Where there are peanuts and peas, there you will find partridges and doves, and where there are birds you may find hunters. And Crenshaw County looks like a bird hunter's paradise.

HOWARD MIMS AND LOAD OF LIQUOR CAPTURED

Last Friday night deputies Velpo Mims and Herbert Wright reported the capture of Howard Mims, a chevrolet coupe, and 40 gallons of liquor, The capture was made on what is known as Power Line Hill, near the steel bridge, about 11:00 o'clock Friday night.

According to the report given by the deputies, they parked their car on top of the long hill, and not long after, heard a car pulling up. As the car neared the top of the hill, the deputies turned on their lights, whereupon the driver of the other car shifted into reverse and started backing down the hill again. Examination revealed 40 gallons of whiskey.

In the meantime several other cars had arrived, and while the deputies were dividing their attention between these new arrivals and the captured car, Howard Mims started his car and attempted to get away. Herbert wright said he hung on the car, but the driver attempted to scrape him off against a tree, and he was forced to jump off. By this time Velpo Mims had hung on the other side, and succeeded in choking the motor down by pulling the choker rod.

Howard Mims was brought to Clanton, along with the car and the whiskey. Mims was placed in jail, on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

Robinson Springs

We, the people of Robinson Springs, wish to announce that Brother Bryant is going to preach at Robinson Springs on Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Everyone is invited to come. Be on time, as Brother Bryant starts promptly at 6:30.—Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Taylor spent last week end in Birmingham visiting Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Black.

PLEASANT HILL

We enjoyed the messages delivered by Rev. W. E. Robinson Sunday and Sunday night. We don't say a farewell sermon because we hope he will be with us again.

We don't know just when Brother Nunelly, our new pastor, will be with us.

We are still trying to improve our Sunday school. We hope the ones who are not coming will come and help us.

It seems that it is hard to even keep our B. Y. P. U. going. We have missed two or three lessons.

Miss Hazel Blow is working in Clanton this week.

Miss Central Cost spent the week with her sister, Mrs. Virgie Robinson, of Collins Chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmond Sammons of Thorsby spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Annie Noah.

Miss Willie Mae Davis was the Sunday dinner guest of Misses Daisy, Lizzie and Pearlene Martin.

Miss Learlene Blow was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Inez Griffin.

Misses Dotha and Jessie Cleckler were the Sunday dinner guests of Miss Lillian Mims.

MONEY FOR RELIEF

From the Emergency Relief Act of 1935 the allocations by the President to Alabama were $65,820,000, of which $49,8033,000 has been expended on the basis of checks issued as of August 31, 1936, according to figues compiled by Judge John D. Petree, State Director of the National Emergency Council for Alabama.

Of these expenditures, $4,696,000 went for roads and grade crossing eliminations; $9,843,000 for Emergency Conservation Work; $10,236,000 to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration; $2,588,000 to the P. W. A. for various public improvements; $4,128,000 to the Resettlement Administration; $15,225,000 to W. P. A.

HOARDING AND HELPING

The autumn tinge now coming on gives us relief. It brings a healthy sense of "there's something just around the corner." The colors change, too, helps to change our daily ways and so we feel our strength returned. Our vision changes into bright hues and the golden rod changes our every mood. It is fall changing its dress, it's "hoarding" time. The cotton and corn, the nut and the pears and peaches are gathering theirs. Everywhere you go the barns are filling up, the pigs are getting fatter, the cupboards are filling fuller and fuller and the world is getting better and better. So let us be up and doing for we know not what winter may bring. "Live at home" is our motto, and let's contiune to make it ring.

Interesting Findings

Over to Mt. Creek to meet the old and ladies after which the "Haven of Rest" of our forefathers was visited. The Old Soldier's Home and how well they were cared for and the remaining widows. God bless them and their memories and also their efficient works. One is filled with an admirational awe reviewing their past, and then—methinks—what good use could be had of an Industrial School there, or State camps for all organizations to be shared.

The Howard Brothers Greenhouse

After a lovely meet of the Thorsby club where I fell in love with Thorsby and its people, Mrs. Howard and Ella let me into the Greenhouse, and what a good time I had. What a blessing to be surrounded by beauty and rare fragance and at the same time with solitude and plenty of birds humming and singing. The many thousands of plants will soon be ready for your enjoyment. When leaving, I was given a lovely bouquet of roses and carnations which has filled both my office and room and, most of all, my soul has been filled with their beauty.

Conferences Have Been Many

Among the conferences there came my good school friend, Bertha Dennis, and what a surprise to have them keep dropping in. Bertha is now the Co. Resettlemnet Supervisor and she plans to assist me with my Leadership school which is to be held at the Methodist church. Another visit and conference came with Margaret Hodo, District Supervisor of Recreational Activities for the Social Securities Commission, (my what a huge title for such a little girl). We planned a cooperative Recreation program with some of the communities for the county.

Home Conferences Begun

Among the home conferences have been Mrs. Earle Thomas, (too, I met the fine healthy children of theirs and decided right away to adopt Billie). Mrs. Horace Popwell and her fine daughter and there I found her asking a new club for Clanton. Mrs. Jewell Sutley and her spic and span home and self, who another day accompanied me to her club at Fairview, and I found her a natural good president. Another time came Mrs. Martin Peterson, of whom I will tell you much more later, who took me on the nicest trip over to Denmark and Sweden. We did have a good time, and I wanted to live with her but compromised by saying that I would come to see her lots in the future.

Mrs. F. I. Popwell, and discovered there's no end to people, and their determination to learn along with their children—that's their opportunity now. Mrs. G. W. Chandler and friends, and now I know there's no end to leadership abilities and community services. They have already planned the outstanding community entertainment for the time being, inviting Alpine community to join them. As I understand it, they will "Eat be merry and plan their new year's activities". Look out the rest of you. I like the way they have started out. The Shoults and neighbors were there when I called and soon we found we had much in common. The singing of "Shortening Bread" is what brought us together, and who wouldn't shortening bread bring together. It not only makes us hungry but it reminds us of our dear old grandmothers, and our mothers, and reminds us that we will soon have good old shortening bread. Thanks for the breaking of the pone. May I have one more glass of fresh butter milk?

Then came Mrs. J. H. Goddard, the dear with the spotless house again (how do they do it), and ever so many more kind ladies so pleasant to meet. On the way home methinks it is so sad to give up the old, but so interesting to learn the new, and so from time to time, we shall go calling again here and there exchanging ideas, freshening our spirits, and learning how to help each other wherever possible. This begins the dawn of a new year. Won't you help to make it worthwhile and enjoyable?

FINE SINGING HELD AT NEW HARMONY, SEPT. 20

A large crowd enjoyed a splendid singing last Sunday at New Harmony church, Lomax. This event was the fall session of the Sacred Harp convention, which was a success throughout the day, with Mr. T. J. Miller, of Jemison as chairman.

The opening song was sung by the chairman, followed with prayer by Mr. Z. J. Jones, after which a program committee was appointed as follows: M. C. Jackson, Franklin Miller, M. W. Brown and J. A. Spearman, of Wilsonville.

Those taking leading parts in the morning session were: Mr. E. Vick of Wilsonville, Mr. Joe Jackson and Mr. J. A. Spearman of Wilsonville, Mr. W. L. Sanders, Mr. A. A. Jackson, Mr. John Willeby, Mr. Virgil Crocker, of Perry County, and Mr. M. W. Brown.

One hour was given for lunch and there was plenty for all, for which we must give thanks to our neighbors and friends.

The afternoon session was called to order by the chairman, who sang the opening song, after which the following directed: Mr. Ellie Shirley, Miss Alice Archie, of Columbiana, Miss Ada Archie of Columbiana, Mr. John Hays, Mr. J. P. Ratliff of Perry County, Mr. M. C. Jackson, Mrs. Flora Oaks, Mr. Marlow Williams and Mr. Thomas Jackson, Jr., sang two songs each.

Closed with prayer by Z. J. Jones.—Mrs. Myrtle Jackson, Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Jackson, of Jemison, Alabama, had as their week end guests, Misses Alice and Ada Archie, of Columbiana, Alabama, and Mr. Arnold Jackson, of Weighman, Ga.

Lesson for September 27

REVIEW: THE SPREAD OF CHRISTIANITY IN WESTERN ASIA

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 13:24-33.

GOLDEN TEXT — They rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.—Acts 14:27.

PRIMARY TOPIC — How the Good News Spread.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How the Good News Spread.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christianity Reaching Out.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —The Spread of Christianity in Western Asia.

Review Sunday provides a needed opportunity to determine not only whether the class members have learned and retained the truth taught, but, what is of equal importance, whether the teacher has accomplished the purpose in mind at the beginning of the series.

What was the aim set before us for the three months? "To lead the student to an understanding of New Testament Christianity, and to beget in him the desire and purpose to live the Christian life and to win others to faith in the Lord Jesus."

The test which we apply as the twelve lessons of the past quarter pass in review is

As a student, have I seen in the spread of Christianity the operation of a gospel of salvation which is the power of God for my salvation? Or, if I am saved, have I been stirred to a more earnest Christian life and a real passion for the salvation of others?

As a teacher, have I really used my opportunity to win the members of my class to faith in the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ? Have I brought to bear on the lives of those in my class who are Christians the Word of God, stirring them to holiness of life and zeal for God's cause on earth?

If we cannot reply in the affirmative, should we not ask whether our efforts to teach have been largely fruitless? But let us not be discouraged, for even as we now review the lessons we have studied together the Holy Spirit is ready to do His work and apply the truth to hearts and lives.

To many teachers the preparation and presentation of the review lesson is the most difficult of any during the quarter. To the student who has given little or nothing to the preparation of weekly lessons it is often a rather disconnected and uninteresting recapitulation of twelve lessons.

A suggested method of gathering up the essential teachings of these lessons is to group them around the following seven points:

The spread of Christianity after our Lord's departure into the glory was distinguished by the fact that

1. It was by the preaching of a faith that began and continued in the power and demonstration of the Holy Spirit. God honors such preaching and teaching in our day.

2. It was a spiritual movement that demonstrated its God-given power by thriving on persecution. One wonders whether much of the activity of the church in our day has not fallen into the doldrums of pious respectability. Perhaps we need a little persecution.

3. It was not the propagation of theological theory or of a religious sect or party. It was a movement of the Spirit of God which saved men, and saved them to win and serve their fellow-men. True Christian service is nobler and more sacrificial than any non-Christian social service.

4. It was a movement in which laymen as well as religious workers had a place. Philip the layman served with Paul the apostle. Lay men and women let us be awake to our responsibilities and privileges.

5. Difference of opinion was not permitted to hinder God's work. Do we know enough to let God work among us, even if he does not work just as we think he should?

6. The missionary spirit of the preacher was carried over to the convert. This is a succession which God has continued to our day. Are we co-operating and helping it forward?

7. The gospel is for all men, Gentile as well as Jew, whether yellow, red, black, or white. The great commission is still our command and our authority to pray, give, and go, that all men may hear the gospel of the Grace of God.

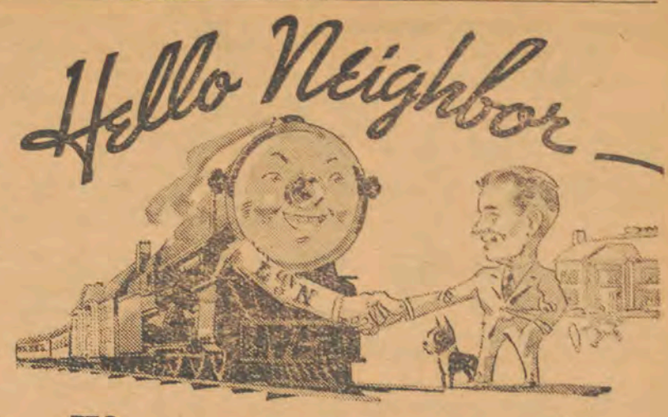
Power of Little Rivers

Little rivers seem to have the indefinable quality that belongs to certain people in the world—the power of drawing attention without counting it, the faculty of exciting interest by their very presence and way of doing things.—Van Dyke.

On Being Just

Whatever is unjust is contrary to the divine will; and from this it follows that no true and abiding happiness can be gained by those who are unjust.—Stretch.

Mr. E. P. Lakeman, of Haleyville, was in Clanton this week, visiting his brother, W. P. Lakeman, of Lay Dam.



Why shouldn't you, and we—THE LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD—call each other Neighbor? Isn't your town, our town? Your problems and your welfare identical with ours?

Our family is a large one—26,000 of us spending over $40,000,000 in wages annually among you. Perhaps some of us live near you. Perhaps you or your friends sell us supplies, the equipment and other materials for which we spend additional millions of dollars yearly.

Like you, we pay taxes—taxes that help support your schools, your institutions and other functions of government. Coal? We buy hundreds of thousands of tons every year. Furniture? Food? Household gadgets? We buy all of these, so that we can give service and make our guests feel fully at home.

You strive for a good home. So do we—a "Home Sweet Home on the Rails"—a cool, clean, comfortable, courteous, safe home, to which thousands of travelers turn every day.

We aren't just buildings and steel and trains. We aren't just the roaring locomotive sounding its kindly whistle to make you careful at dangerous crossings. We aren't just the most comfortable and safest means of travel. We are home folk, spending our money with you...for your products, in your community...furnishing a necessary service and asking your patronage only if we merit it. We are your Neighbor . . . Let's be better friends.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD

She's TRAVELING ON THE Safest CARRIER IN THE WORLD

Perhaps you saw in front-page headlines, last year's record of railroad safety. Yet this was only the peak record of many years' like achievement.

The American railroads have been the safest form of transportation, public or private, for many years; insurance statistics prove that you are actually far less likely to suffer harm on a modern railroad train than even in your own home.

This doesn't just happen. The railroads are safe because they pioneered and have practiced Safety First for thirty years. They are safe even at their present stepped-up speeds, because they are modern.

KILOWATTS LOSE TO KILBIANS IN CLOSE GAME, 4 TO 2

The Lay Dam Kilowatts closed out the 1936 local baseball season on the high school field last Thursday afternoon, losing to Kilby Prison team in a hotly contested game, 4 to 2.

Lefty Dennis, on the mound for Lay Dam, allowed the Kilbians only five hits, scattered over 4 innings, and struck out six batters, but five bases on balls, three hit batters, and five miscues afield proved his undoing.

Lay Dam got to Martis and Carter for nine safeties, but Kilby was giving these pitchers faultless support, and they were turning on the heat in the pinches.

Kilby scored in the fourth on two doubles, the only inning when Dennis gave up more than one hit. Two more runs came in the sixth on two bases on balls, a single and an erros. The last run came in the 9th when Dennis hit two batters, and these were followed by two infield outs

Lay Dam's first run came in the 5th. Tatum Walked, Greene sent him to second on a sacrifice; he scored on Baker's single. The other came in the 8th when Reynolds and Golson doubled in succession.

Hudson and Hollyfield led the Kilbians with two hits apiece, and Pruett getting the other one for their total of five. Greene and Baker had a pair each for Lay Dam, with Reynolds Jones, Golson, Warren and Dennis coming in for one each.

ALVIN WAYNE HARDY

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Kinard A. Hardy, of Clanton Route 5, at Lay Dam, a son, whom they have named Alvin Wayne. The husky 9-pound future Republican first saw the light of day last Tuesday morning, September 22, at 6:14 o'clock.

The youngster arrived on the first school day of the year, but "proud papa" Hardy has decided to let him grow a bit more accustomed to his new surroundings before starting him in to school.

The mother, before her marriage, was Miss Delia Bice, of Clanton Rt. 1. Both mother and son are reported to be doing fine.

Miss Bonnie Vee Sharit of Birmingham spent the week end with Mrs. W. M. Southworth of Clanton. They spent Sunday at Log Cabin Beach on the Coosa River. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baker and little daughter, Janice, Mrs. Adelle Hancock, Mrs. W. S. Southworth, Mr. W. M. Southworth, and Mr. Evelio Rendules Ropay, all of Clanton.

OUR DUMB ANIMALS

Editor Union-Banner:

Humanitarians are agreed that the suffering of food animals in transportation and slaughter is one of the gravest matters. Animals arrive at stock yards miserable from thirst, hunger, fatigue and extremes of weather. Thousands are injured by abusive treatment, and damaging shipping conditions. Long distance shipments with their attendant distress, might be obviated by the establishment of municipal abattoirs.

The majority probably do not concern themselves with tortures inflicted upon animals sacrificed for their food, inasmuch as the suffering, for the most part, does not occur before their eyes. The subject has, however, been a cause of anxiety to some thoughtful people for many years. It has been stated that Benjamin Franklin, in 1773, suggested that animals required for food might be humanely killed by means of electricity. In a letter written in 1881 to Mr. Gladstone, Queen Victoria expressed the opinion that cruelty in the killing of animals for food ought to be made illegal.

Electricity has been used in abattoirs in Germany, France, England and Ireland and it is claimed that difficulties encountered by early experimenters have been surmounted by the apparatus of Professor Muller, of Germany, and that of M. Guichard, of Paris.

If human beings are to continue to make use of animals for food, it is mere justice to find means of reducing to a minimum suffering in connection with their transportation and slaughter. The experiment of erecting a model abattoir has been tried in England, by the Animal Defense Society. This had as its aim the demonstration of humane slaughter of animals and hygienic treatment of meat. Is not a similar project worth support in the United States?

PROTRACTED MEETING AT SHIOH CHURCH SOON

The regular protracted meeting at Shiloh church will begin the first Sunday in October, and continue for one week. Rev. J. L. Hand, of Climax, Ga., will do the preaching. The people of the community, and all others, are cordially invited to attend the services.—W. P. Lowery, pastor.

C. Fenn Jones Reelected Mayor Of Clanton For Second Term

Four Of Present Council To Remain Tie Registered For Fifth Place

In Clanton's municipal election last Monday, Mayor C. Fenn Jones was given his job for another term. Mayor Jones received 428 votes, and his opponent, Dr. J. E. Gowan, received 232.

During the day there was much speculation as to the outcome, ad the whole affair gained heat as the day passed by. However, during the closing hours things cooled off a bit.

Four of the present councilmen were re-elected. These were H. G. Heflin, with 466 votes; L. E. Diefenderfer, 441; J. Watts Moore, 328; H. S. Shaw, 315.

The race for the fifth place on the council developed into a tie between Tom Kemp and Wiley M. Bean, with 297 votes each. W. L. Popwell the fifth councilman at present had declined to enter the race. At the time of this writing it had not been decided how this tie would be broken.

Five other candidates for councilman ran as follows: R. W. Lowe, 267; Hugh Thompson, 233; John D. Mullins, 213; W. A. Crowson, 206; and M. J. Atchison, 192.

Please permit me to express my appreciation to all those who supported me in the election Monday, and for these who saw fit to cast their ballot forf Dr. Gowan, I want to state to you that I have no ill feeling, as it was your privilege to vote for whomever you saw fit.

I would like to especially state to all the citizens, voters and taxpayers in the new territory that I want you to feel that you are now a part of our city and my attitude and feeling toward you is nothing but kindly and I shall strive to see that you receive as much benifit from being in the corporate limits as any other part of the city, and I want to here state that I have made no statement whatever that would in any wise reflect on any of the citizens of the new territory in any way whatever, and we all know that sometimes in a heated campaign rumors and statements get afloat that are wholly untrue,

The election is now over and I feel that the council you have elected and the mayor you have elected are the officials of all the citizens, and of all parts of the city. The interest of one of us is the interest of all. My only desire now is to make you a good official, and I can better do this with the assistance of every citizen.

Let's all forget any hard feelings that might have been engendered, and as a solid city strive to better and greater things for Clanton in a religious, educational and material way, and I want to invite every citizen and taxpayer to feel free to discuss with me at any time any condition that you might think needs remedying or attention, and I invite your friendly criticism on all matters pertaining to the best interest of our city, and I sincerely believe that at the end of four years, if I am spared that much more time on this earth, that we will have a better and bigger city of which we will all feel proud. — C. FENN JONES.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL HAD ENTHUSIASTIC OPENING

According to Prof. U. H. Abrams, principal at the Clanton Grammar school, that institution had an enthusiastic opening last Tuesday morning. Prof. Abrams stated that as a general rule the children are better dressed, better equipped as to books and other necessities for school work, and that a better all round outlook prevails at his school.

On opening day, 355 pupils were enrolled, as follows, by grades:

1st—76; 2nd—69; 3rd—46; 4th—70; 5th, 4; 6th 45; a total of 355. Prof. Abrams expects others to come in a little later on.

Teachers for this term are as follows:

1st—Miss Lucille Sherwood and Miss Margaret Floyd.

2nd—Miss Thera Martin and Miss Ruth Sessions.

3rd—Miss Dorothy Manning, and Mrs. Hortense Glasscock.

4th—Mrs. J. T. Searcy, and Mrs. Claud Billingsley.

The work in the 5th and 6th grades will be divided between Mrs. Wallace Cox, Mrs. Curry Thomas and Prof. U. H. Aabrams.

Prof. Abrams urges all patrons to cooperate with the faculty, by getting their children to school on time, and by keeping them in school every day possible.

BRENT MAN BURIED AT ASHBY

Zeb Burnett, age 66, died at the home of his brother, J. L. Burnett, at Stanton, Friday, September 18th. The body was brought here and prepared by Martin, and burial was at Ashby, Ala. Sunday at 3:00. Funeral was by Rev. G. G. Williams. Survivals are his wife and seven children.

His brother, J. L. Burnett, of Stanton, is a former commissioner of this county and a prominent citizen.

Landon Attacks New Deal Pension Plans

Republican Nominee Says The Social Security Act Is 'Cruel Hoax' On Aged

'GET ONLY I-O-U'

Milwaukee, Sept. 26.—A "common" plan was proposed by Gov. Alf M. Landon tonight in an address assailing the New Deal's social security program as a "cruel hoax" on workers and wasteful "bungling."

"It endangers the whole cause of social security in this country," the presidential nominee said of the present security act. "In my own judgement—and I have examined it carefully—this law is unjust, unworkable, stupidly drafted, and wastefully financed."

"To these our old people, our workkers struggling for better conditions, our infirm—I will not promise the moon, I promise only what I know can be performed—economy, a living pension, and such security as can be provided by a generous people."

Tax On Employment

The Republican candidate divided the security law "broadly" into three parts—compulsory old age insurance, unemployment insurance and non-compulsory old age pension.

After demanding outright repeal of old age insurance and terming its pay roll tax "a tax on employment," Landon said that for the Federal Government to use its taxing power "to compel all states immediately to enact unemployment insurance statutes" was "something unheard of" and "most unwise".

"The Republican platform," the Kansan said, "proposes to encourage adoption by the state trying out different plans and watching the results, we can work out a much better system than could possibly be imposed at this time from Washington."

Taking up the third phase, the Governor emphasized:

"I believe that as a nation we can afford old age pension—that in a highly industrialized country they are necessary. I believe in them as a matter of social justice."

BAPTIST RALLY DAY CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday is the beginning of a new Associational year for our church. At the eleven o'clock hour all the new officers for the church and Sunday School will be installed for the new year. The pastor is asking every Deacon, every church officer, Every Sunday School officer and teacher, and every assistant teacher to be present if possible. Not only do we want the presence of every officer and teacher in the church, but we ask the presence of every member at this special service. We expect to look some of the problems of our church life SQUARE IN THE FACE, and we want every member to make your plans to be present next Sunday morning without fail.

Help us reach that 300 we are waiting to see in Sunday school. The only way we can get them is for YOU to come to be one of them, and you to help others, be one of them. Invite your friends. Dont fail us Sunday morning. Looking for YOU. --S. J. Ezell, pastor.

UNITY ASSOCIATION MEETS NEXT WEEK AT BETHEL CHURCH

The Unity Baptist Association meets at Bethel church, in Autauga County, on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, October 6 and 7. All churches of the Association are asked to take note of the dates and place and have delegates present. Do not fail to get your church letters properly filled out and have them there. — J. Z. Mims, Moderator; Grady F. Harris, Clerk.

BIG CROWD ATTENDED POLITICAL SPEAKING AT ENTERPRISE SCHOOL

At Enterprise school house last Friday night, about three hundred people attended the most enthusiastic political meeting to be held in rural Chilton county for the past decade.

The large auditorium was almost filled, and evereyone took a profound interest in the speaking.

Judge J. O. Middleton, the speaker for the evening, was in a fine spirit and imparted the same to his hearers with rare aptitude. His address dealt principally with national questions, but he rounded it up at the last by paying his respects to the New Deal in Chilton county, laying especial emphasis on the road situation. Judge Middleton made a wonderful speech, and the appreciative audience listened to it with rapt attention.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Clarence Billingsly, local chairman of the Young Republicans of Beat 6. T. E. Wyatt spoke briefly at the beginning, and introduced the speaker for the evening. Percy M. Pitts and Mrs. Gertrude Calloway spoke briefly at the close of the meeting.

Both the Devaughn quartet and the White City Quartet were present and rendered several musical numbers, which everyone enjoyed.

Several present stated that this was the best political meeting they had attended in Chilton county in several years.

SEND IN NEWS EARLY

There is lots of news that comes in to The Union-Banner Tuesday that could just as well be written and sent in Friday or Saturday of the previous week. Where such is possible, please help out the publishers by getting your copy in just as early as possible. If the article is of such nature that it can be written and turned in Friday or Saturday, then greatly oblige us by doing it then instead of waiting.

We will more than likely be in a rush for the next several weeks, and will need the cooperation of our friends. You can greatly facilitate the publishing of the paper by getting your copy in early. We are depending on you from now on.

BOB CONNELL HAS ANOTHER GRAND CHILD

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew N. Mims, of Refuge community, an 11-pound boy Tuesday night. This is the eighth child of Mr. and Mrs. Mims, and increased the number of grand children of Bob Connell to nine, his son, Jodie, having one child. Bob is just a little prouder at each addition.

W. M. U. MEETING OCTOBER 3

The Chilton Associational Executive Committee of the W. M. U. will meet at the Clanton Baptist church annex on October 3rd, at 2:00 o'clock. All officers and nominating committee are urged to be present.—Mrs. Lee J. Grant, Superintendent.

TO SPEAK TO REPUBLICANS

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg will address the Young Republicans of Ohio at Cleveland on the night of October 3. This speech will be carried by the National Broadcasting Company over the Red Network from 8:15 to 9:00 P. M., Eastern Standard Time (7:15 to 9:00 Clanton time).

This forty-five minute address will prove vitally interesting to all Republicans throughout the country, and you and your friends are urged to tune in.

CLANTON MOTORS WON ANOTHER TRIP; TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers, make a habit of winning awards for exceptional sales records. They have won another trip award for leading the field in sales of new cars, commercial cars and trucks during the period from July 1 to September 20.

Some time ago the local firm won a like award, a trip to California, with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Burnett taking the trip. This award is a trip to the Texas Centennial at Dallas, with all expenses paid. Mr. and Mrs. Burnett will make this trip, also, planning to leave October 6.

The Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company divided its territory into four groups, according to sizes of the towns. Group 4, including towns of 5,000 and under, included Clanton.

Clanton Motors, with Tom Littlejohn as manager, and Julius Burnett as assistant manager, is a wide-awake concern, and a valued asset to our community. We are justly proud of this firm as one of Clanton's best, and congratulate them upon this second award for business ability and perseverance.

SCHOOL BUS LICENSE PLATES READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

Supt. Luther Little asks that notice be given that the license plates for school buses are at his office, ready for distribution on October 1, and thereafter.

These tags correspond with the regular auto and truck tags, except that they bear the words "School Bus". Supt. Little asks that all school bus drivers call by his office and get their tags as soon as possible after October 1.

LEGION MEETING AT COURT HOUSE ON MONDAY NIGHT

All ex-service men are extended an invitation to attend this meeting. We have several important matters to be taken up for the new year.—Chilton County Post No. 6, V. C. McKee, Commander.

Co. Singing Convention To be Held Here Oct. 4th

FALL SESSION MEETS AT COURT HOUSE FIRST SUNDAY

The fall session of the Chilton county singing convention will be held the first Sunday in October, 4, according to announcement made recently by the chairmen, Prof. W. M. Devaughn.

Prof. Devaughn is working on the arrangements for the session, and hopes to perfect plans for the greatest singing ever held in Chilton county. It will be held at the courthouse. All singers of the county and adjoining counties are urged to begin planing now to attend.

Night Sesson Saturday Night

There will be a night session of the convention Saturday night of this week. Singing will begin at 7 o'clock, and continue for about two hours. The business matter of the convention will be attended to at this session of theconvention. All singers are urged to attend.

SCHEDULE OF REPUBLICAN SPEAKINGS IN COUNTY IS ANNOUNCED

The Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County announces dates for Republican speakings over the county prior to the election on November 3rd. The dates and places follow:

Maplesville Schoolhouse	Tuesday night, October 13
Vermont Schoolhouse	Friday night, October 16
Cooper Schoolhouse	Tuesday night, October 20
Providence Schoolhouse, Beat 16	Friday night, October 23
Union Grove Schoolhouse,	Tuesday night, October 27
Oak Grove Schoolhouse	Friday night, October 30
Thorsby, Public school building,	Monday night, November 2

The hour for all the above speakings will be seven o'clock.

The speaking at Thorsby will be the closing speaking before the election, and will be a county-wide affair. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, will deliver the principal address at Thorsby, followed by Judge J. O. Middleton.

Speaking at the other places listed above will be done by Judge Middleton and Percy M. Pitts, and probably others. And through special arrangement, Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his quartet will appear at each meeting and sing several numbers. You will certainly want to hear this quartet singing, even if you are not so interested in the speaking. Hear them sing—You will enjoy it.

The campaign committee regrets that it will be impossible to have speakings in every community in the county, however well it would like to do this. So, in view of this fact, all communities and Beats adjoining the communities listed are urged to have as many representatives present as possible. It will not be many miles to the nearest speaking, so all citizens of the county are invited and urged to attend at least one of these speakings.

We are publishing the dates well in advance, so that all may have plenty of time to arrange to attend. The ladies are especially invited, as well as the young voters.

Special emphasis is placed on the meeting at Thorsby, when Mr. Vardaman will deliver the principal address. The voters of the county have heard him twice at the courthouse, and know that he is a forceful and interesting speaker. The committee expects every single Beat in the county to be represented at this Thorsby meeting.

THE ABSENTEE BALLOT BUSINESS

As the general election approaches, one hears more and more about the abuse of the absentee ballot law and the corruption of the election through certain manipulations of this lax law upon the statutes of our State.

Various and sundry reports are rife on the streets of Clanton and over Chilton County as to the proposed manipulations of absentee ballots prior to the general election on November 3rd. Some say that even more crookedness and corruption will be permitted to seep through this year than there was two years ago, which reports may be true and may not be. The Union-Banner sincerely hopes that such reports are without foundation.

However, it will not be amiss for our people to be on their guard during the next few weeks and try to keep this abuse down to the minimum. Our officers can do much toward controling the situation---in fact, if all officers of the county, including notaries and all others with authority to administer oaths will do their duty by strictly complying with the law, there will be no corruption and no room for criticism; otherwise we may have a recurrence of the same things that we had two years ago. This we do not want.

The Republican organization and the Republican candidates ask only for a fair and square deal in this election. No good citizen wants more and no good citizen will be satisfied with less.

Therefore, let's all---Republicans and Democrats---pull together to the end of keeping corruption down to the minimum in this coming election.

ALONZA ASKINS WITH CLANTON CASH STORE

The latest addition to the array of clerks at Clanton Cash Store is Mr. Alonza Askins, who went to work there a few days ago. Mr. Askins will cut meat and wait on customers all over the store.

He has had eight years experience in this kind of business, and during that time has made the acquaintance of lots of people in this section. Before coming to Clanton, Mr. Askins worked in a store in Billingsley four years.

The many friends of this popular salesman are invited to visit him when in Clanton.

SIXTEEN BOLLS IN A CLUSTER

Mr. Leander Baker of Route 5 sent in to the Union-Banner last Saturday a cotton stalk with a cluster of bolls right in the top consisting of sixteen open bolls. One other boll had been picked from the cluster. They were all normal, well developed bolls.

THE OLDEST SHOE IN CHILTON COUNTY

The Union-Banner has what we expect is the oldest shoe in the county. It was taken from between the ceiling and weathar boarding of the old Thornton Hotel while it was being razed a few days ago. Mrs. Martin, former owner of the old building stated that it was very likely a shoe worn by Dock Thornton fifty-two years ago. It is a brass-toed shoe, the kind that many of our older people remember wearing.

The shoe was brought to the Banner office by Armond Wagoner, who discovered it while tearing down the old building.

PASTOR'S CONFERENCE

The pastor's conference of the Chilton-Unity Associations, will meet at the Clanton Baptist church next Monday, October 5, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. Subject for discussion: "How to build a Missionary Spirit Among Our Churches."—J. W. Jones, Secretary.

TALKING PICTURE OF GOV. LANDON WILL BE SHOWN IN CLANTON AT EARLY DATE

Through the Republican committee for Chilton county, arrangements are being made whereby a talking picture film portraying the life of Gov Alf M. Landon will be shown in Clanton. It is not possible as yet to state the exact date, but it will be put on the screen at the Wadesonian Theatre.

Watch out and listen for the word announcing the picture, and then make definite arrangement to see it. It is said to be most enlightening and entertaining. It will be free; so watch for the date and don't let the opportunity to see and hear it slip by you.

Mrs. Amzi Gowan, of Brewton, Ala., spent last week here as the guest of her mother, Mrs. W. I. Mullins.

COTTON REPORT

There were 7,612 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Chilton County, from the crop of 1936 prior to September 16, 1936, as compared with 5,324 bales ginned to September 16, 1935.

FORMER NEW DEALER WILL SUPPORT LANDON

Washington, Sept. 28.—Attributing broken promises to President Roosevelt, George N. Peek—former head of the AAA and of the Export-Import banks—announced tonight his support of Governor Landon of Kansas for the presidency.

"The Republican party and its candidate," he said in a broadcast, "have met squarely the issue of these broken promises by picking up the promises dishonored by Mr. Roosevelt and his administration and by pledging themselves to their honest fulfillment."

Turning to the administration's tariff-trading policy, Peek said it had "prevented important sales of farm products" abroad and the State and Agriculture Departments had ruled against farmer's interests "in every instance."

CLANTON MOTORS GIVING WORLD SERIES SHOWS

Again this year the Ford Motor Company is broadcasting the World Series baseball games on a nation-wide hook-up. Baseball fans all over the nation are intensely interested in these games and now the Ford Motor Company brings this interesting broadcast to them in thanks for past patronage, and to impress upon them the interest the Company takes in the every-day American.

Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers, join with all other Ford dealers of the nation in helping the Ford Company to carry out this program. Just as the Ford Company has gone to considerable trouble and expense to furnish this service, just so has Clanton Motors done the same to furnish Clanton fans every convenience to enjoy it to the fullest extent.

A larger scoreboard has been provided, in which will be posted the results, inning by inning, as the radio brings the play by play description of the game.

Several loudspeakers have been provided, and evrething has been done to bring you this service in grand style. Score cards will be provided, on which you may keep your own individual score if you wish.

The series, between the two New York teams, the Giants and the Yankees, was scheduled to get under way Wednesday afternoon. Clanton Motors want you to come in and be their guest at every game. They say this is a convention of champions—the Yankees and Giants, and the new Ford V-8. They will give you the "dope" on the first named two, and "show" you the latter. You are invited!

PREACHING AT TEMPLE CHURCH

REV. O. M. MONTGOMERY

Rev. Montgomery, with Mrs. Montgomery assisting at the piano, is conducting services this week at Temple church, three miles east of Clanton. The services will close Sunday night, when the pastor, Rev. A. L. Hickmon, of Birmingham, will be present and assist in the services. Good crowds have been attending every night this week.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF HOLINESS CHURCH MEETS

The annual convention of the Pentecostal Fire-Baptized Holiness church of Alabama meets with Sunshine Holiness church, 5 miles east of Clanton, Friday, October 2, and runs through the 4th. There will be a number of delegates and preachers from all over the state, and visiting members from other states are expected. Rev. A. C. Craft of Toccoa, Ga., the General Moderator, and Rev. A. O. Hood, of Jefferson, Ga., the General Secretary, have already arrived to conduct services until the convention begins. — E. J. Orange, pastor.

MARRIED IN TROY SUNDAY

A marriage of interest to many people in Clanton and Chilton county occurred last Sunday afternoon at Troy, at 7 P. M., the contracting parties being Dr. Wm. Jackson Barger and Miss Celia Fitzpatrick Baldwin. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank McElory at his residence in Troy, in the presence of a few close friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

Dr. Barger is the pharmacist at Alred Drug Company in Clanton, where he has been working for a little over a year. The bride's home is at Mt. Creek, she being a member of an old and respected family in Central Alabama.

They will make their home with Mrs. Arthur Johnson in Clanton. The Union-Banner extends congratulations and best wishes.

G. O. P. Button Gets W P A Man Fired

Forest County Man Is Fired For Having Sunflower.

LAST THREE DAYS

No Secret Of Politics In Area; Projects Known As 'Roosevelt Jobs.'

Tionesta, Sept. 10.—No WPA worker in Forest County dare wear a Republican campaign button. He may not even wear a replica of a sunflower even though it bears no picture and no lettering.

If he does, he is summarily fired from his job.

O'Neil C. Cook, a rank and file WPA worker, transferred from relief rolls to Works Progress Administration payroll, didn't believe he should be fired merely for wearing a sunflower. So he appeared at work one morning with a sunflower on his suspender. He lasted exactly three days. Then he was fired.

WPA officials in Forest County didn't bother to use the regular forms provided for WPA dismissals in other parts of the state. They merely gave Cook a scrawled, unsigned note reading, "Your services no longer required" and ordered him not to come back.

MAN "KIDNAPPED" AND BEATEN NEAR HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Defense League Representative In Clanton Hospital

A man by the name of J. Gelders, Birmingham representative of the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, was in a hospital here a week suferingg from injures he told authorities he received at the hands of three men between Maplesville and Stanton last Wednesday night.

Walter K. McAdory, chief of the State Highway Patrol, said he had been informed be a Mr. Steely that Steely had found Gelders on the highway the next morning between Stanton and Maplesville, naked and badly beaten.

Patrolman Waites, of the State Highway Patrol, said Gelders told him he had been kidnaped in Birmingham Wednesday night.

Gelders said he was investigating the case of Jack Barton at Bessemer.

Waites said that Gelders, about 37 or 38, was badly beaten about the face and body, but was not seriously injured.

He said that Gelders was preparing a full statement of the kidnaping and attack.

In a preliminary statement, Gelders said that when he dismounted from his bus at Birmingham last night, three men seized him and placed him in their car.

He said, Waites reported, that the men beat him up, took away all his cloths and dumped him out on the highway between Stanton and Maplesville.

JOINS CHAMBLESS AGENCY IN MONTGOMERY RECENTLY

Arthur A. Beaird, for 11 years a director of rental collections, has become affiliated with the Chambless Agency and will be in charge of colored rentals. Mr. Beaird is the second man to be added to this department in recent months. Jack Chambless, in announcing Mr. Beaird's connection with his organization, said he believed himself fortunate in obtaining a man of his ability. The increased personnel, according to Mr. Chambless, is to insure clients prompt collections.

Mr. Beaird is a former Chilton County man, having spent his early days in the southern part of this county.

A NEW COMER

On last Saturday morning, Sept. 19, a new comer, by the name of John Adsol, to the home of Mr. and and Mrs. John Schmith, of Clanton.

REV. TOY WILLIAMS WRITES

Some weeks ago it was my pleasure to be in your office for a few minutes. You very kindly sent the Union-Banner to me at Ridgecrest. Very much enjoyed it. I shall be very glad to have it come to me here in Dallas while I am here.

We have located in Dallas for a while because we have our daughter under a very fine surgeon here. Hope to come back through Alabama now and then and stop off at Clanton.

Spent one afternoon at the Centennial and think I shall take another look or two at it before it closes. They have some very interesting things on display there. The people in this town are very friendly and I think we shall enjoy living here. It is very hot here now. Guess it will cool up sometime soon. Some of these days when I get a little rested and have a little more time I hope to write a few lines for The Union-Banner. J. T. Williams

LICENSE DELINQUENTS

Mr. Howard Roper, license inspector of Chilton County, gives out the following information regarding licenses in Chilton county: All business licenses become delinquent November 15th.

The probate office gives out the information that drivers licenses become delinquent the same time automobile licenses do.

October 1st is the beginning of the new year on all licenses. They can be bought on that day and on up until the delinquent date.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARM BOYS FIND WOOD LOT A NEW SOURACE OF PROFIT

An awakening interest in farm foresty inin dicated by the increasing number of 4-H boys who have forest projects on their own farms. says E. W. Tinker, assistant chief forester of the United States Forest Service. At the national 4-H camp in Washington this summer, nine of the young men had farm forestry as a project—nearly double the usual number.

Census figures show that the products from farm woods rank among the first 10 crops in total farm income in the United States. By careful appraisal of land and tree the farmer and his sons often find new possibilties of profit.

LESPEDEZA KEEPS SOILS OF SOUTHEAST AT HOME

In the Southeastern states lespedeza has proved a good soil holder It also fits into a rotation cycle with small grains and produce good hay and seed.

At Woodruff, S. C., the soil Conservation Service—in cooperation with the state experiment station—has experimental plot with about a 7 per cent slope on a sandy clay soil. From a 3.85 inch rain the percentage of run-off was 15 a second year lespedeza plot, 48 for a corn plot, 62 for a cotton plot and 88 percent for bare soil. The loss of soil per acre was 800 pounds for lespedeza, 17,400 for corn, 31,400 for cotton, and 39,000 for the bare plot.

Last year the average yield of seed cotton following lespedeza was 939 pounds an acre, but only 583 pounds following cotton. "As a result of these demonstrations", says H. H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service. "many farmers in this area now grow lespedeza and harvest their own seed".

BLACK LOCUST IDEAL FOR ERODED, RUNDOWN FARMS

A black-locust fence post on the Jarrell Jarrett farm in Jackson County, Ga., has been in use more than 75 years. Before the Civil War, the post was cut and set. A gate hung on it for years. Still well preserved, the post is now being used in a woven wire fence.

Black Locust, one of the fastest growing hard wood trees, is used extensively by farmers cooperating with the Department of Agriculture in the control of erosion. Planted in gullied areas or on unproductive land where the topsoil has been removed, the trees retard damage from washing.

Under favorable conditions, the locust grows rapidly and yields durabl fence posts in 10 or 12 years. Trees 30 feet high and 5 inches in diameter are often grown in 15 years.

A legume, black locust draws upon the unlimited nitrogen in the air and fixes it well in the soil, thereby increasing fertility. The wood of the black locust is heavy, hard, and very durable. Its lasting qualities as fence posts are greater than those of many other woods.

Locust reproduces freely from root suckers, stump sprouts, and seeds which nearly always are fertile. Spring is the best time to plant locust but seedling may be planted in the fall.

CASH FARM INCOME CONTINUES TO CLIMB

Auburn, Ala.—Cash income from farm products marketed in 1936 and Government payments will reach a total of approximately $7,850,000,000, predicts the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics in a report to Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

"This compares with $7,090,000,000 for the calender year 1935, including government payments, and $4,328,000,000 in 1932, the low point in farm income during the depression," says the bureau.

Dr. Duncan has also received a report from Washington stating that "the gross farm income of $8,508,000,000 in 1935 was the highest since 1930. It was 17 per cent greater than the estimate of gross income for 1934 of $7,276,000,000, and 59 per cent greater than for 1932, the low point of the depression when gross farm income was $5,337,000,000," says the report.

Brief Farm Notes

Cotton harvesting is almost finished in South Alabama, about three-fourths completed in Central Alabama, and about one-half done in North Alabama. The crop is estimated at 1,093,000 bales.

Milk prices to farmers have advanced in about 75 cities in the United States during the past two months.

Dairymen and poultrymen stand a chance of losing more money this winter than last on low-producing cows and hens because of higher feed prices.

The average farm real estate tax for Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Kentucky decreased from 45 cents an acre in 1929 to 34 cents in 1934, reports the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Indications are that the Beauregard FFA Chapter will be the first group of farm boys in Alabama to obtain a club loan with which to finance their general livestock and crop projects under the new provision of the Production Credit Administration.

CALVES SHOULD BE FED FIRST MILK FROM COWS

Auburn, Ala.—New-born calves should receive the colostrum or first milk that the cow gives after dropping the calf, advises Prof. W. H. Eaton of the Dairy Department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute

"Experiments show that it is almost impossible to raise a calf that has not received any colostrum," he says in advising that "ordinarily this milk should be fed for the first three or four days."

"Most dairymen prefer to leave the calf with the cow for several days or until the milk becomes normal," he states in warning that "the longer the calf is nursed by the mother the harder it is to teach it to drink."

Generally speaking: The County of Chilton is to be organized into Clubs for women and girls. Meeting once each month and clubs to have both major and minor projects. For the year of 1936-37, the major projects shall be food. The minor project shall be Home Improvement, Gardening, Poultry and Dairying.

1—Diets for feeding the fimilies.

2—To teach more knowledge of foods, method of serving and the special occasions for various menus.

3—To give special diets for diseases and convalescing people.

4—To make improvements in and around the home which will make the same more comfortable, convenient, and a better place in which to live.

5—To practice better habits of "Living At Home" and making the best of life.

6—To grow year-around gardens. To have cows to furnish sufficient milk, butter and cheese for home uses and poultry to furnish both chickens and eggs and yet have a surplus for marketing needs.

7—To have wholesome community recreational activities and to raise standards for better living.

It is to be hoped that we may get as many people in the clubs so that the services of the Extension Department of Agriculture may serve and reach as many as possible. May we have the cooperation of the husbands in assisting the wives in their future undertaking, especially in arranging to get them to and from meetings.

COTTON DETERIORATES IF IMPROPERLY STORED

Auburn, Ala.—Actual tests show that it will pay farmers to store cotton in a good building if possible or at least to place the bales on timber and cover them from as much exposure as possible.

It has been found that almost half of the bales of cotton stored first on the ground in the open had to be picked off before the manufacturer could use it, reports G. S. Melony of the cotton marketing division of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"The average loss of cotton from the bales left flat on the ground in the open was 273 pounds a bale," he says.

Cotton stored on timber and covered with tarpaulins lost only 10 pounds a bale while bales stored in properly constructed warehouses lost only 4 pounds.

FARMERS ADVISED SAVE ALL CROTALARIA SEED

Auburn, Ala.—Possible shortage and high prices of legume seed next spring make it most important for Alabama farmers to save their crotalaria seed this fall to plant for soil improvement next year.

This advice comes from J. C. Lowear, extension agronomist, in advising that the seed can be stripped by hand, in which case a man can usually harvest 40 to 50 pounds of seed per day. He also states that the plant may be cut wth a knife or pruning shears and the seed threshed or flailed out.

The seed should be cleaned and carefully stored so that they will get plenty of air to prevent molding.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Elijah Thomas, who was convicted in the circuit court of Chilton County in April, 1935, for burglary and grand larceny, and sentenced to a term of 2 to 2½ years, will make application to the State Board of Pardons for pardon or parole. Eight months of the sentence has been served.—Elijah Thomas.

SWEET POTATOES NEED DIGGING BEFORE FROST

Auburn, Ala.—It is most important that farmers dig their sweet potatoes before the first frost this fall, advise extension horticulturists.

"When potatoes are bruised or roughly handled when being harvested they will decay," they say in warning farmers to handle the crop carefully.

Before potatoes can be successfully stored for any length of time it is necessary that they be cured or dried, they point out. This is best accomplished by keeping them at a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees and giving plenty of ventilation for ten days to two weeks. Farmers who do not have sweet potato curing houses may use their brooder houses for the process.

Circus Coming To Clanton

Monday, October 5, Clanton will play play host to its first circus of the season when Barnett Bros, big three-ring aggregation will be here for a one-day engagement.

The city and Chilton County have been decked out in typical circus colors by the advertising crew of the circus, which has "plastered" billboards, buildings, store-windows, Etc., with gaudy colored posters announcing the coming of the circus.

Advance notices indicate that the performance being presented by Barnett Bros. this season is one of the most elaborate that this show has attempted in the number of years that it has been on tour in the United States.

Clowns, acrobats, tumblers, trapeze artists, bare-back riders, aerialists, gymnasts, equestriennes, tight-wire walkers, cowboys and cowgirls, besides the many trained animals will perform in the three rings under the circus tent in an almost unending procession of thrills and feats of daring.

Texas Ted Lewis, noted rodeo cowboy, will be seen in Clanton with the circus. He will be accompanied by his congress of cowboys and cowgirls who will depict the sports and pastimes of the old west as part of the circus program.

Miss Vivian White, daring young aerialist, is another headliner Barnett Bros. will bring to Clanton. This young lady completes from 75 to 100 one-armed revolutions while suspended from the top of a big circus tent.

Two performances will be presented in Clanton. The matinee will start at 3:00 o'clock, and the night show at 8:00 o'clock. Doors will open an hour previous to the showing time.

MINOOKA HOME DEM. CLUB MET

The Minooka Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. C. L. Ellison on Thursday, September 24th. The program was in charge of the president, Mrs. W. E. Broadhead, after the singing of several club songs.

Roll call was in order, with 8 members present, and two visitors, Mrs. Welch and Miss Hester.

Minutes were read and approved. There was no old business. New business, the election of officers. Those elected were: Mrs. C. B. Martin, president; Mrs. Roy Roberts, vice president; Mrs. A. T. Ryan, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. P. J. Brady, counseler; Mrs. H. F. Virgin, reporter; Mrs. Harry Anderson and Mrs. A. T. Ryan, community leaders; Mrs. W. E. Broadhead and Mrs. M. E. Ellison, substitute leaders; Mrs. Harry Anderson and Miss Elva Barefield, program committee.

The next meeting will be Oct. 22, with Mrs. W. E. Broadhead. The program for October will be on "Table Service."

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. C. L. Ellison.—Reporter.

SAND MOUNTAIN MAN IN CHARGE OF A & P HERE

Taking charge of the A & P store in Clanton this week is Mr. W. P. Locklear, who comes here from Albertville, Ala. That place is Mr. Locklear's home, and he has been working for the A & P of that city for some time.

Mr. Locklear is married, and he will move his dwelling place here as soon as his wife closes a school she is teaching up in Marshall county. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Locklear to our fair city, and hope for them much success and happiness while in our midst.

5,219 GRAVES MOVED TO CLEAR DAM BED

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 28.—The Tennessee Valley Authority revealed today that 5,219 graves in 226 cemeteries in and near the 34,000-acre Norris Dam reservoir have been reburbed.

Of the 5,219 disinterments, 340 were handled by private undertakers and the remainder by Authority.

Twenty-two graves were left at the bottom of the huge lake, relatives requested that they not be disturb them.

Ninety-five per cent of all reinterments, the Authority announced, were made in four new cemeteries near the reservoir—the New Nakers Forge Memorial Cemetery, New Indian Creek Memorial Cemetery, Big Barren Memorial Cemetery, and the New Loyston Memorial Cemetery. The others were made in small cemeteries within six miles of the area.

Record of all graves, several of which contained the remains of pioneer settlers, and veterans of the Revolutionary War, have been turned over to Miss Mary E. Baker, University of Tennessee librarian, for preservation.

FFA BOYS WILL MEET IN AUBURN ON OCT. 5

Auburn, Ala.—About 300 high school boys of the State will attend the annual meeting of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America here on Saturday, Oct. 3, anounces A. C. Allen, Holtville, State FFA President.

Attendance this year will be limited to two members of each of the 140 FFA chapters in the state, teachers of vocational agriculture and outstanding young farmers from various chapters who have been designated as State candidates for state farmer degrees.

Adoption of a State program of work for the year, election of new officers and awarding degrees will be the chief businesses transacted during the meeting.

FARMERS UNION MEETING TO BE HELD AT PATES CHAPEL

Chilton, Shelby and Bibb counties will hold a meeting at Pates Chapel Saturday, October 3. State president Sartain and state secretary Gravlee will be present. A splendid program has been prepared that will be educational and entertaining. Dinner on the grounds for everyone. Public invited and urged to attend the morning session.—Chester Maddox, Secy.

Mother: "Do you know what happens to little girls who don't tell the truth?"

Baby: "Yes. They grow up and tell their little girls that they will get curly hair if they eat the bread crusts."

GELDERS RETURNS TO BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 28.—Joseph Gelders, representative of the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, was recuperating at his home here today as State and county officials pursued their investigation of his kidnaping and beating last week.

Chief of Detectives, G. C. Giles here said that there were "no new developments." Abraham Isserman, Newark attorney, was here today to confer with Giles on the Gelders case.

He conferred with Walter K. McAdory, chief of the State Highway Patrol, yesterday. Isserman commended the attitude of Governor Graves and of Alabama newspapers in the case, and said he hoped for an early solution.

Gelders blamed his activity in behalf of Jack Barton, held in jail at Bessemer, Ala., following his conviction on charges of possessing Communistic literature, for his beating.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Petty, announces the arrival of a 9 and 1-2 pound son, Sunday, Sept. 20, whom they have named Kenneth Michael. Now the Alabama Power Company has something to look forward to about 1956, another expert electrician since "Shorty" by then will be retiring. The mother and baby both are doing fine.

Dr. J. P. Hayes, Mr. James Wade, Mr. Dubb Huddleston and Mr. J. W. Hayes left Tuesday for Chicago where they will spend several days to witness the City Series between the Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Cubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jones, of Montgomery, spent the week end here with his mother, Mrs. Willie Jones.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Schmith, a son. The young man has been named John, Jr.

Miss Celia Gerald, a student at the University of Alabama, spent last week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Gerald.

Miss Mary Ellis has accepted a position with the Child Welfare Department, of Montgomery, and left Saturday to begin her duties there.

Miss Celia Gerald was pledged Delta Zeta by that sorority at the University of Alabama, where she is a freshman this year.

Mr. Thermon Keltner, of Birmingham, has been visiting relatives, Miss Cleo Broadhead and others, in West End this week. He has returned to his work after a week's vacation.

Azile Malone, of Selma, who has been in a wreck, is improving nicely. Miss Malone is a niece of Miss Cleo Broadhead, of West End.

Miss Helen Nix, daughter of Dr. H. M. Nix, of Maplesville, was elected President of the Freshman Class at the University.

Miss Helen Roberts of Clanton, a freshman at the University of Alabama, pledged Chi Omega during the rush season of the sororities of the college.

Miss Ruth Pardue of Enterprise, Ala. spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes.

Miss Mary Allison, of Washington D. C., was the attractive house guest of Miss Ruth Shepherd last week.

Dr. E. E. Uchurch has returned to his home after spending several weeks in Duke University. Dr. Upchurch was confined to the hospital there where his son, Sam, is instructing physician.

Mr. Bill Lanier and little daughter, Haden, are the guests of Mrs. J. C. Jones for some time before leaving to make their home in Tennessee where Mr. Lanier has accepted a position with the T. V. A. Mr. and Mrs. Lanier have spent the last few years in Montgomery. Mr. Lanier left several weeks ago for Tennessee.

Mr. Steve Hughes, of Jemison, yill preach at the home of Uncle Billy Adams, in Beat 16, next Sunday at 3 o'clock P. M., according to Walter Andernson. The public is cordially invite to attend and hear this young preacher.

Pud Walker spent last week end in Montgomery, and attended the Auburn-Southern football game last Friday night. Pud is a pretty keen observer in sports, in spite of the fact that he is a mute. He came back home with a glowing story of the Auburn team, stating that it was his opinion that the Plainsmen will be stepping high, wide and handsome before the season is over.

Mr. Bob Reynolds, of Birmingham, and Jemison, was a visitor in Clanton Thursday.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE HELD LAST WEEK AT C. C. H. S.

The teachers institute of Chilton County was held at the county high school in Clanton on Monday, Sept. 21. After a most inspirational service of devotion by Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby, Supt. Little called the roll of the 172 teachers of the county. Only one teacher was absent, and this was due to illness.

Dr. J. M. Kimmey, county health officer, gave a short talk and flashed on the screen some interesting pictures relative to the disease of tuberculosis.

Mr. J. W. Fant, county agent, Miss Nolen Meroney, director of the department of public welfare, Miss Meta Grace, home demonstration agent, and Miss Bertha Dennis, home supervisor for the Resettlement Administration, gave short, interesting talks on the correlation of their work to that of the teachers.

The principal address was given by Dr. J. A. Keller, state superintendent of education. In the talk made by Mr. Keller facts were revealed which show that the people of Alabama are spending more money for tobacco than they spend for education. Furthermore, the people of Alabama are spending approximately three times for gasoline what they spend for education in the state. Among the many things which Dr. Keller emphasized and which we wish to call to your attention is the following:

"Education is not something that we can drop out of our program today and incorporate again when times are better. If denied today, it can never be regained, and the effect will be disastrous for ages to come. When schools close short of full terms, we permanently handicap hundreds of thousands of children for the future."

SACRED HARP MUSIC

It is announced by J. B. Veal of Montgomery, Alabama, that there will be an all day singing at the court house in Montgomery on the first Sunday in October, using the sacred harp books.

All sacred harp singers are invited to attend and all visitors will be furnished with a nice dinner.

Come on everybody and let's fill up this big old court house.

CHARLES FOSHEE TROUBLED WITH VERY BAD EYE CONDITION

A letter from Mr. Charles Foshee, who has been away in school at Knoxville, Tennessee, for some time, reveals the sad fact that the young man's eyes are in a very bad condition which will force him to drop his school work. It seems that the eye trouble has been a handicap to him ever since he had measles and that disease settled in his eyes some years ago. A letter says that he will be forced to return home at an early date, upon advice from Dr. Mayo and several leading eye specialists. It is feared that the young man will lose his sight entirely within a short while, doctors say.

Charles is the youngest son of Mr. C. D. Foshee of Clanton, and is a smart young man with a promising future before him. His many friends will regret so much to hear of this misfortune.

4-H CLUB GIRLS WILL ENTER DRESS CONTEST

Auburn, Ala.—Seven Alabama 4-H club girls will compete in the State style revue to be held in Montgomery on Saturday, October 10, announces Elizabeth DeLony, State girls 4-H club leader. The winner will be given a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress this fall.

Girls to compete in the dress revue are Mildred McCurdy, DeKalb County; Louise Clark, Dallas County, Louise Towery, Talladega County; Floris Copeland, Macon County; Ellen Virginia Moncrief, Autauga County; Edna Smart, Chambers County; and Jane Louise Gerhart, Monroe County.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanley attended the Auburn-Southern football game in Montgomery Friday night and spent the week end in Montgomery as the guest of Mr. Stanley's mother.

AUTAUGA MAN IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING

Augaugaville, Ala., Sept. 28.—Sheriff Allan Stewart reported here today the death of J. E. Snider, of a gun shot wound under the heart.

Before Snider died at his farm home in the Joffre community, he told Stewart that the wound was accidental, the sheriff said, and no coroner's jury was called.

J. W. TIPPETT

J. W. Tippett, age 63, died at the home of a son, J. H. Tippett of Clanton Route 6, last Saturday morning at 10:05, after an illness of about three weeks.

Funeral services were held at Samaria Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. J. S. Holland officiating. Burial in the cemetery there, with Spigener directing.

He is survived by: his wife; eight sons—J. D., J. H., G. T., W. A., Z. A., R. L., W. L., and V. A. Tippett; two daughters—Mrs. Ola Bridges of Rockford, and Mrs. Annie Mae Vinson of Clanton Route 2.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Wade have returned from a recent trip to points in Fla.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors who aided us during the illness and death of our dear husband and father. We especially thank Drs. Johnson and Hayes, also Mr. Cope for his efficient service.

We are thankful to our friends for their many floral offerings. Mrs. J. W. Tippett and children.

SHILOH NEWS

The revival meeting will begin at this place the first Sunday in October. All have an invitation to attend.

We will meet on Friday, October 2nd, to clean off the cemetery and church grounds. All that are invited are asked to meet there and bring tools to work with.

DRY VALLEY

On the 3rd Sunday in September the writer attended the singing convention at Lomax. It was an impressive convention from different viewpoints. First, it was not sensational. Second, it revealed the power of early training. Just to note how well those young people could direct such difficult music portrayed the value of early training. Third, the devotion of the singers to the cause of sacred music. Fourth, the welcome of the community. It was a season of refreshing.

Everybody is talking or thinking about the election. What far-reaching results will be the outcome. Yes, it is a critical time. Some say to elect Governor Landon means war. We wonder on what grounds they base their predictions. Mr. Wilson was to "keep us out of war." But you know what followed. They tell us that the depression is over, but we think not, and if it is over, we could have worked out of it in four years, without all the waste and the piling up of such enormous debt for the children to pay. Look out for taxes in the future. We could have worked out under "Old Hoover" as we have done, and perhaps on a sounder basis. Now we are weighted down with debts and they have to be paid. Foreignisms are creeping in on us. We had better get back to the Constitution, and true Americanism.

How strange, we never hear white supremacy named. It seems that some one would cry out for white supremacy. The New Deal has given us free whiskey, an evil that lowers our civilization.

How about Chilton County? Why, the proposition is simple. We know the good government this county has enjoyed so long. Then look where we are now. We need to get back where the people rule, away from the dangerous isms now threatening us. It is a serious time. Then vote for Landon, Billingsley, Burnett, Devaughn, and Martin. Let us all, the rank and file, with all defeated candidates, be loyal to our ticket and to our people. Yes, loyalty should be our slogan. Are you ready?—A Citizen.

TO regain lost weight is a simple matter when certain bodily functions are restored to normal. May God bless each and everyone is our prayer.—The wife, children and grandchildren.

POST CONTINUES RECORD OF GROWTH AND POPULARITY

The Birmingham Post, a Scripps-Howard Newspaper, has established what amounts to a record among southern nawspapers in growth and popularity. Established 15 years ago, it now ranks second, in circulation in the State of Alabama, has shown a remarkable increase in circulation during the past year and is known as "The most thoroughly read daily newspaper in the field."

Many newspapers in the South, older by many years than The Post, are envious of this young paper's popularity throughout the state. Readers approve the outstanding brevity, yet clarity, of its presentation of the news, the high quality and national prominence of its features. These, plus the straight-forward independence of its editorial policy have won for the paper many enthusiastic supporters.

Post readers are not always in unanimous agreement with the paper's editorial policies. Yet all applaud the independent thought, the absence of fence-straddling and the action that is behind them.

A number of outstanding improvements, during the past year, plus the addition of many strong and popular features, presented excusively by The Post,, have added materially to its desirability until today it ranks high in the list of the south's great daily newspapers.

PLEASANT HILL

Seems that the Sunday school is going to be better at this place, had a few more present last Sunday.

Several from here visited the singing at Jemison school house last Sunday.

Miss Datha Cheekler was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Central Cost.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. J. E. Padjet.

Next Saturday night, October 3, there will be an ice cream supper at Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Blow's, at Mineral Springs. We will have some cakes, chicken sandwiches, drinks and other things. Every body come.

This will be for Pleasant Hill church.

SINGING AT JEMISON LAST SUNDAY WAS BIG SUCCESS

The annual singing at Jemison school building last Sunday was a grand success from every standpoint and enjoyed by a large gathering of people. There was a score of the best directors of this section present, the list being too long to enumerate here.

Specials were sung by Lackey Quartet, Bill Cofer and son, Selma Quartet and Sylacauga Quartet. The day was throughly enjoyed by all.

Mr. Robert Alred, who is with a unit of "Ripley's Believe It or Not," spent this week here with his mother, Mrs. D. C. Alred.

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"Do you believe in foreordination and election?" somebody ask the writer. Yes, the Bible teaches it. I do not always understand it. I know that God teaches the freedom of the human will and also the sovereignty of the omnipotent God. Here is my idea of election. I want some lumber to build a house. I go to the forest and elect a tree. I elect the tree that I think best fitted for his plans.

"God knew Abraham that he could command his children after him", so God elected Abraham to head a race. God knew Moses and He knew Paul. God selects and elects men who are of type to do the thing God wants done.

All our gifts, abilities, and talents come from God. Dwight L. Moody was a salesman. An evangelist has to have the electments of salesmanship. God chose Moody for His messenger to Europe and America. There were other men just as good as Moody but he was a type of Christian who could do a distinct type of work for God at a certain time. Billy Sunday was a baseball player He was a fast runner. God called him from the baseball diamond to be an evanglist in a baseball age. God never calls into a definite Christian service any man or woman who is incapable of doing anything else. A man who is successful in the ministry has in him the elements that would make him succeed elsewhere provided he was in the center of God's will. No intelligent man would go into the ministry for money. A man who wishes to make money, if he is intelligent, would choose a profession where a large percentage of men succeed. A man who has no more sense than to enter the ministry for money has not enough sense to make any money when he gets into ministry.

REFUGE

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place, but there is room for improvement. The church has called Rev. Wm. E. Robinson as pastor for another year. Our preaching day is still the third Sunday. There will be preaching at 11:00 o'clock on Sunday and at 7:00 o'clock Sunday night.

There will be a called conference next Sunday, October 4th, for the purpose of finishing up our associational letter. All who are interested in this service may come.

We will have Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock every Sunday. Be sure to come and bring someone with you.—Reporter.

Speech Delivered By Middleton At Enterprise Last Friday Night

Aside from making a masterful and touching appeal to the citizens of Beat Six to stay by the Republican nominees in Chilton county this fall, Judge J. Osmond Middleton delivered a stirring speech dealing with present national conditions, appealing for the wholehearted support of our citizens for Governor Landon on November 3rd. The complete text of Judge Middleton's speech follows:

I stand before you on this occasion as a representative and advocate of the Grand Old Party of our American Republic.

I am a Republican because I believe in the immortal principles of security and freedom embodied in the party of Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley, and Theodore Roosevelt.

There are many issues in this presidential campaign. But the issue that will decide the election is President Roosevelt. If the majority of the people are satisfied with his administration, with his repudiation of his platform pledges, with his attempts to regiment the whole nation, with his squandering of public funds, with his disregard of the Constitution and contempt for the Supreme Court, with his failure to relieve the unemployment situation, and with his policy of curtailing American production so foreigners can sell more of their products in this country, he will be reelected, otherwise they will elect Landon.

A Republican is one who is opposed to a managed economy, whether Communist, Fascist or Socialist. He is one who believes that happiness, progress and prosperity in America can best be promoted, not by a Federal bureaucracy, but by private enterprise and initiative, duly policed against abuses, but with a minimum of red tape and regulation.

A Republican is one who reasons that recovery will come more quickly and more sure from restoring confidence in mutual economic forces, than from brusque experiments which perplex, bewilder or frighten both investors and producers.

A Kentuckian had 17 children, all boys. When they came of age, they all voted the Democratic ticket—all except one. The father was asked to explain this evident fall from grace. "Well," said he, "I've always tried to bring them boys up right, in the fear of the Lord, and Democrats to the bone; but John, the onery cuss, he got to reading."

The moral of this story is that reading, thinking and clear reasoning will lead many who voted for the present administration to spurn the curious doctrines enunciated by the theorists in Washington and vote again for men who perhaps move more slowly in making laws and regulations but who in the end have less to regret from over-hasty legislation.

A book agent once called on President Lincoln and sought to sell him a book for which he had no use. Failing, he asked Lincoln if he would not write an endorsement of the work, which would enable him to sell it to others. Whereupon the president, always anxious to oblige, with a humor entirely his own, wrote: "Anyone who likes this kind of book will find it just the kind of book he likes."

So anyone who likes the present administration can do likewise. But we Republicans are not in favor of what is being done and we believe that we should make ourselves heard in the councils of state, and to that end we must elect staunch Republicans to office.

James A. Reed, former Democratic senator from Missouri, says that he regards the present administration as the mot serious ever confronting this republic—or any free people.

Our civilization was inbred and inborn in the Revolutionary fathers and they adopted the Constitution enacted by the people themselves, a people's law.

When they set up a government under that Constitution they delegated to the legislative branch certain specific and limited powers, all subordinate to the Constitution itself. All of the authority of Congress is derived from that instrument—all of the power of the president comes from that same instrument—they hold office under that instrument and are subordinate to it.

They all swore to uphold the provisions of the Constitution and defend and maintain it against all enemies, foreign and domestic.

Yet we are met with a situation today where these men—these office-holders—undertake to set up their will against the written law of the people.

In other words, the president and Democratic Congress have the temerity to assert their will against the will of the people.

Their disregard of the Constitution—their efforts to break down the Constitution—would have been unbelievable a few years ago. In order to accomplish the destruction of the law of the people they have assailed the Supreme Court, and Roosevelt's reelection would find laws passed to increase the membership of the Supreme Court, and to pack that Court, not with judges devoted to the Constitution, but with satellites of the New Deal who would go on the bench pledged to make the will of Congress superior to the will of the people.

Reed declares: "I have been a Democrat all my life. I am still exactly the same kind of a Democrat I have always been. I am standing on the last Democratic platform and the platform of preceding conventions. I have refused, and still refuse to follow the banner of Socialism, Communism, or New Dealism, and I am opposed to the New Deal because I regard it as an unholy combination of the iniquities I have just calalogued".

The New Dealers have just discovered:

That the people of America are and always have been a benighted and foolish crowd.

That all the experience of the past is useless.

That the supposed widom of the great men of history was the mere groping of imbeciles wandering thru a night of ignorance.

That the teachings of our fathers and mothers are absolutely false, and that American civilization has always been a fraud.

Against such destructive reasoning I will stand to the end of my life.

John W. Davis, who was the Democratic candidate for preident in 1924, says: "Representative government in the United States has been abandoned in the name of recovery".

"The country is being governed", he said, "by a host of bureaucrats in whose selection no citizen has had a voice". Addressing the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia, Davis said: "While there are some 644,000 employes of one grade or another on the Federal payroll, 84,000 within and 560,000 without the District of Columbia, no single man or woman in the United States has ever cast his or her vote for more than five persons in all that mighty host."

He pointed out the only members in whose election any citizen has had a voice are the president, the vice president, two senators and a congressman.

Davis refused to consider the plea of "the public good" an excuse for ignoring the traditional American forms of democracy. He said: "Every government of whatever kind professes always to be acting only for the public good. The bloodiest tyrants in history claimed no less".

And Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, a leading Democrat, who is considered by those who know, to be one of the best informed men in the country, says: "The New Deal is not only a mistake, it is a disgrace to the nation, and the time is not far distant when we shall be ashamed of having wandered so far from the dictates of common sense and common honesty".

Dean Pearson, of the College of Liberal Arts at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, says:

"In 1932 I voted for Roosevelt for the presidency, but never again will I vote for him. I am afraid of the high taxes, mounting debts and regimentation of his administration.

"The more power you give to a ruler of a nation, the more the trend is toward dictatorship.

"The American people don't want Communism. They won't stand for it. I believe Gov. Landon is the man to stop its spread here. He is a bulwark against Communism in America.

"I like Gov. Landon's position on foreign affairs. He is sane and sensible. He thinks before he leaps.

"I am a farmer, and farmers don't like to be regimented. They can see where that leads. You cannot cure want by doing away with plenty."

It is a dull day when some big Democrat doesn't walk out on President Roosevelt. One of the latest to repudiate the New Deal is Col. Breckinridge, who was Assistant Secretary of War in the Woodrow Wilson administration. Col. Breckinridge not only has walked out, but he has spoken out. Announcing he will vote for Landon and Knox, the Republican nominees for president and vice president, the Colonel says:

"I think their election will accomplish lasting good for the country. I think the reelection of the present governing faction would cause lasting harm."

Col. Breckenridge's statement that "Gov. Landon's word is good" carries the inference he does not have any confidence in the president's promises. That is harsh, but it is what the man who breaks his promises should expect. Four years ago Roosevelt promised to reduce Federal governmental expenditures by at least 25 per cent. He has doubled them. Four years ago he promised to "stop the deficits" and balance the budget. For "three long years" he has been increasing the deficits and the budget is more out of balance than it ever has been in the peace time history of the nation. The man who breaks his word does not deserve to be trusted.

In pleasing contrast to the New Deal policy of promising everybody everything is the honesty and frankness of Col. Knox, the Republican nominee for vice president. In his acceptance speech he said:

"The Republican party does NOT promise to solve all these problems you face. It has no patent nostrums to cure every economic ill. But the Republican party DOES promise a fair and honest government. It does promise this government will be as economical and efficient as it can be made. It does promise to make every effort to install sensible and practical measures to help in the solution of the problems of trade and industry and agriculture, and of poverty and insecurity. Above all, it promises you that in its efforts to aid in these problems, it will not prevent you from trying to work out your own individual problems for yourselves, with your own ambitions, your own enterprise and your own energies."

Tricky politicians may not consider such a statement good "vote bait," but it is common sense and is an honest statement.

The New Dealers are appealing to the rank and file of the people to retain them in power for another four years on the plea that they may thus insure social security for themselves.

Can any thoughtful person believe that the New Deal is working for social security when it strives to throttle private enterprise by regimentation of industry; by pyramiding taxation upon it and by competing with private industry?

Unless private enterprise can be encouraged to expand and to reemploy the millions now unemployed the only security that the New Deal can offer them is the dole, a mere pittance in comparison to the wage scale of pre-Roosevelt days.

But even the dole cannot continue many years for the wealth of the nation will soon vanish at the present rate of spending.

In a report recently made public the Brookings Institution disputed the theory that the depression was due to over - production. Investigation showed, the report said, that if the real needs and wants of the masses were now supplied it would require production greater than in the boom year of 1929.

The principal trouble, according to the report, is lack of purchasing power on the part of the masses.

Therefore, if the trouble is due to underconsumption and curtailed purchasing power, the remedy lies, obviously, not in destroying wealth by plowing under cotton and grain, the wholesale slaughtering of pigs and cattle, and reducing production in general.

Neither does the remedy lie in the direction of artificially increasing prices so that the already suffering masses cannot buy as much and must, therefore, reduce consumption still further.

Periods of prosperity are usually accompanied by rising prices, but this comes about naturally, due to increased demand brought about by increased purchasing.

Lasting prosperity cannot be effected by artificial methods of increasing prices, by destroying goods, limiting working hours and generally increasing costs before natural recovery sets in and the people have the ability to buy.

Buying is stimulated by price concessions, set by artificial price increases; and, after all, it is the volume of goods consumed which determines the measure of prosperity.

Five years of depression have greatly increased the wants of the people of the United States, but the people can only meet these wants as they have the money to buy. The Blue Eagle and increasing selling prices will not help people to buy if they have no work and lack cash.

What business needs is a cessation of experimentation, with adoption of a definite, safe and sane policy.

Experimentation having had a fair trial for three and a half years, it is time to end it and give assurance of stability so that business will know what it can count on and what it can do.

Business has had enough of the New Deal. It asks a Square Deal, so that the laws of supply and demand can take their normal course.

British unemployment diminished from 2,903,605 to 1,652,072 since 1932 without governmental interference in business, governmental experiments involving large expenditures, or unusual restrictions on industry.

This remarkable reduction in unemployment is officially attributed to the normal present day trend in the development of trade.

Entirely unlike frantic attempts of the Roosevelt New Deal to solve the problem, the British government thru a number of schemes requiring a modest outlay of money, compared with the gigantic outlays of the Washington administration, is confident it will succeed in bringing the number of unemployed below 500,000.

President Roosevelt's New Deal was investigated recently by a special commissioner appointed by the British government, but its tenets were turned down because it was revealed a like British "New Deal" would cost 35,000,000 pounds sterling and give employment to only 52,000 for two and a half years. This was considered a waste of money because of the inadequate return.

How successful has the New Deal been in regard to the working classes?

President Roosevelt has all along proclaimed his determination to champion the underdog. He and his brain trusters started off confident that they could restore prosperity if they spent enough billions of taxpayers' money to "prime the pump," as they

JUDGE MIDDLETON'S SPEECH

Well, they have spent more billions more rapidly than any government in all history. Their expenditures average $20,650,000 every day since taking office.

But what has been accomplished?

The number of workers unable to find real employment today is far greater than the average unemployment during President Hoover's regime, and not only so, but the national deadline is shockingly larger than ever was under any previous administration.

It has been abundantly proved that adequate employment cannot be restored through a constant pounding and hammeling and punishment of employment-giving concerns.

What this nation needs above everything else is an administration that will make it possible for the many millions now idle and objects of distasteful charity to enjoy a better deal, better opportunity to become self-supporting and to regain their self-respect, their standing in their communities.

Gov. Landon appeals to the millions of unemployed. His declaration that "there is no future on the relief rolls" cannot be challenged. But that is the only future millions of unemployed face under the New Deal. The most they can look forward to is existing and raising their children under a work or cash dole system. That most emphatically is not an American future. In 1933 the primary need was jobs for the unemployed. In 1936 the primary need still is jobs for the unemployed.

The common sense of Gov. Landon's approach to the farm problem will appeal to all thinking people. Our farmers are entitled to all of the home market they can supply without injustice to the consumer. The present administration has taken the American farmer out of foreign markets and put the foreign farmer into the American market. The loss of markets, both at home and abroad, far outweighs the value of all the benefits paid to farmers. In 1932, this country sold 7,886,000 bushels of corn to foreign countries and imported 344,000 bushels of corn. Last year we exported only 177,382 bushels of corn and imported 43,200,000 bushels.

An agent of the Department of Agriculture was travelling through North Dakota. His mission called for him to visit individual farmers for the purpose of insisting that they put into practice Mr. Rexford Tugwell's doctrine of destruction.

Not far from Fargo, this Tugwellian emissary accosted a farmer and ordered him to get rid of the surplus pigs and chickens around the barnyard. Before the victim could answer, the "Cripple-A" man observed some peculiar creatures some 200 or 300 yards from the barn. As well as he could recollect he had never seen such creatures before. He thumbed through his instruction book to ascertain what should be done with these peculiar beings. Alas and alack! Reggie Tugwell had forgotten to specify them.

Speeding to the nearest telephone the agent contacted Henry Wallace.

"Mr. Wallace," said he, "on John Smith's farm I have just observed some white, gaunt creatures chewing away at the grass. They appear to have horns on their heads. Each one of them has a beard on his chin. What shall I do with them? Shall I shoot them, too?"

"Oh, my, my," said the secretary, "have some sense. They are the darned farmers. Let them alone."

We know that the Roosevelt administration regards the farmers as goats!

Sen. Alben W. Barkley meant to be not too explicit when, in his keynote speech at Philadelphia, he confessed that he was aware that "a few little pigs" had been done to death by the New Deal in its AAA program of "planned scarcity". He also was not over-anxious to be specific about cotton. Yet he did so far yield to the critical opposition as to admit that "a few rows" had been plowed under.

But records are available to correct any misapprehension the public might entertain. The Roosevelt administration has been measurably mindful of the historical importance of statistics. Hence, each day of the AAA massacre was carefully charted in terms of destruction. Porcine totals show the elimination of 5,140,984 so-called "light" pigs, weighing 80 pounds or less each; 1,083,738 "heavy" pigs, weighing over 80 pounds each; and 222,144 sows—all together approximately one-tenth of the baconian population of the United States.

As for cotton, official reports testify to the destruction of 10,400,000 acres in 1933 alone. Data for 1934, 1935, and 1936 are still in process of compilation.

To the normal mind, then, "a few" would signify quite a lot. But Sen. Barkley has caught the contagion of Rooseveltian arithmetic. When he uses the phrase the means multiple multiples.

In looking at the mistakes and shortcomings of those just now in charge of the national destinies, we find that:

They have usurped the functions of Congress.

They have broken down the civil service and installed the spoils system.

They have placed over us an army of bureaucrats to spy on our actions.

They have attempted to regulate the details of our lives.

They have crippled the small business man and fostered monopoly.

They have voided the Sherman anti-trust laws.

They have tampered with currency.

They have made no attempts to balance the budget.

They have repudiated government obligations.

They have blocked recovery and closed the doors of opportunity to your children.

When mother comes home and complains of the rise in the price of pork, bread, and potatoes, and father complains of a salary cut because his boss has to pay three times more taxes than he paid last year, they can console themselves that the government, which watches over them like the hawk watches over the chicken, is spending their money for:

Supporting a rat-catching campaign in New York City factories.

Teaching tap-dancing to the Chesapeake Bay lobstermen and clam diggers.

Giving cooking lessons to mothers of large families.

Counting caterpillars on trees in several thousand country towns.

Encouraging community singing and dancing.

Developing a streamlined turkey.

These are only a few of the boondoggling schemes that are costing the government $250,000,000 a year.

Wouldn't it much nearer some sane level of statesmanship to cut off these millions—these billions—being raised for boondoggling and for Farleyizing the voters for 1936 and so reduce the price of pork, bread and potatoes and give father a chance back at some decent figure on the boss' pay roll?

More than a million young voters have become of age each year that the Roosevelt administration has been in power. In November they will take part in their first presidential election. Much of the course of the future rests in their hands.

They will be placed in a critical situation this year. The country stands at political cross-roads. On one side lie an over-increasing public debt, state-controlled industry, violated personal liberty. On the other side lies a return to the freedom that has made America known the world over as the land of opportunity. With it lies lowered taxes, making more money available for industry to increase employment and raise wages.

The first road is Roosevelt's. It leads to a government of hypocrisy, and to a congress which shamelessly surrenders its power to an autocratic chief executive. It leads to fascism and dictatorship, with restraints on personal liberty.

The second is Landon's road. It offers the voters a return to the plain, honest government of prosperity. It offers lowered taxes, a balanced budget, and an end to government meddling in private affairs.

Every youth in this country deserves the chance to make an honest living in the way he wants to. He needs no government to tell him how much corn he shall raise, or what he shall charge for lead pencils, or how many shoes he shall produce in his factory. The New Deal has tried to do this, and wants to continue trying.

If the present high industrial taxes were cut in half, and the government would move out of private business manufacturers would be able to increase employment and raise wages. Lowered personal taxes would let the people buy more, and would result in lower prices. The country would be on the road to prosperity almost overnight. This is what Landon would do.

The more than four million young voters who take part in their first presidential election this year have that choice before them. They will have their chance to answer the New Deal in November. They will be able to stop the increasing debt for once and for all, and to return to sound, free prosperity with Landon and Knox.

The Rooseve't administration has put on a dazzling show, but the American people have grown tired of the whole performance. There have not been enough breathing spells between the acts. Even party patrons are walking out. The Republican party will give the whole bunch the "gong" in November.

The people are growing weary of economic miracles that do not work. A long time ago that brilliant satirist, Dean Swift, described a man as having spent eight years in a project to extract sunbeams from cucumbers. Three years is enough for the American people. They will not long support a government, whatever its objectives, when its only program is experiment, its only policy is expediency, and its only philosophy is opportunism. Fundamentally the American people realize that a promise is something to be kept, that a contract is something to be fulfilled, that an obligation is something to be honored.

Gov. Landon, Col. Knox, and the Republican party stand for Americanism. They stand for the Constitution of the United States as the fundamental law; they are opposed to dictators, good or bad.

Theirs is the fight to preserve the sovereign rights of the people. They intend that the American people shall remain real masters and sole rulers of their own destinies and their own government, and not become vassals and serfs of a dictatorial power in a central government, now being attempted to be vested in and under the control of the present Washington regime.

Against these New Dealers, they present the names of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln. Against the dictatorship, more dangerous than monarchy, they urge the names of Patrick Henry, James Otis, Samuel Adams, and Benjamin Franklin. Against Communism they hold fast to the principles of the Magna Charta and our own Bill of Rights; personal liberty; personal security and the rights of property. Against destruction of individual liberty, the prostration of self-government, and absorption of business, industry and labor, by an imperialistic, consolidated central government, they invoke the name of every responsible American statesman and jurist from Washington to our own generation.

We have two roads to travel—one lies in the direction of constitutional government and the other in the direction of dictatorship.

Let us enter this battle, and continue to fight, not for the sake of the Republican party, and not for the purpose of destroying the Democratic party, but for the purpose of saving America.

How to Keep Colds
UNDER better CONTROL

Catching Cold?.. Vicks Va-tro-nol helps Prevent many Colds

At the first warning nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vicks Va-tro-nol—just a few drops up each nostril. Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. It stimulates Nature's own functions—in the nose—to help prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in their early stages. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps avoid many colds.

Caught a Cold?.. Vicks VapoRub helps End a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed, rub Vicks VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime. VapoRub acts direct—two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its medicated vapors direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

Follow Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds

A helpful guide to fewer colds and shorter colds. Developed by Vicks Chemists and Medical Staff; tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use by millions. The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.

GUESSING CONTEST SUCCESS

Farmers, wives, and children met at W. C. Martin's and Walter Allen's fields to guess on the yield of corn on the Chilean Nitrate Demonstrations. Thirty-five people were present at Mr. Martin's and thirty seven at Mr. Allen's.

Guessing on the yield were form eighteen to fifty bushels per acre on the acres which received the 200 pounds of Nitrate of Soda per acre, with an average of 30.2 bushels at Mr. Martin's demonstration and 29.4 bushels at Mr. Allen's.

On the plot which did not receive any Nitrate of Soda the guesses ranged from five to 15 bushels per acre with an average of 9.3 bushels at Martin's and 11.6 at Mr. Allen's. acre with an average of 9.3 bushels

The people who saw these demonstrations think that the plot receiving nitrate of soda will make approximately twenty bushels of corn per acre more than the plots receiving no nitrate of soda.

Twenty bushels of corn at the present price is worth at least $25.00 and was made for about $2.20, the present price of 200 pounds of Chilean Nitrate of Soda, or $22.80 profit by using the Nitrate of Soda.

A large tub of ice cold lemonade was made and served at each demonstration.

Mr. M. H. Pearson, educational director of the Chilean Nitrate Co., for Alabama, was present at the demonstrations and made very interesting talks at each contest.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

A significant development in the United States during the last few years has been the growth of the cooperative movement. Reports of this come from all parts of the United States, from New York to the Pacific Coast. Some newspapers aver that there will be a National Cooperative Congress held in Cleveland next month, and there are said to be more than two million organized consumers in the United States today.

There is, of course, considerable doubt as to the economic soundness of the cooperative movement, especially if it should become a national institution. Many students believe that it would halt progress in the United states, and if carried to the extreme, seriously interfere with the raising of taxes to conduct our national and local governments. Yet, after all, the co-operative movement is a kind of diffused capitalism, and those who enter it do so for the purpose of making a personal profit. Whether or not they get a real prolit it a question depending in a great part, on the efficiency with which the co-operative is managed.

Aside from the legal right of a group of consumers to organize into a cooperative group for the purpose of furthering their own interests, is the question of ethics in the federal government is spending the money raised from all the people to further a movement the complete exploitation of which would certainly do the economic fabric of the government itself no amount of good.

Yet it is generally known that the growth of the cooperative movement in the United States has been accelarated by many of the experimenters who have a place in the National Administration. The government through various agencies, seems to be actively supporting the growth of the idea. One of the busiest members of the brain trust in promoting the cooperative idea has been Mr. Tugwell who, in his Resettlement Administration has used every possible means, apparently, to further the cooperative scheme. Ideas include the development of government financed farms and distributing agencies, and it is said that the theory of cooperation is now taught in one of the Tugwellian night schools. Lesson number one in cooperation is entitled "What is Consumer Cooperation?" and it is charged that it is a textbook for beginners in Professor Tugwell's "relief schools" and is printed of course, at government expense.

The Federal Relief Bureau is credited with having set up cooperatives in canning, producing, manufacturing and distributing. Special publications have been issued at the expense of the taxayers including the pamphlets on cooperative movements, circulated by the Bureau. Small experiments have been started to try out the cooperative idea in New Jersey and elsewhere—the government pays the bill. The Rural Electrification Administration has been seeking to get the farmers to set up electric "co-ops", lending government money for the work if needed. Speaking of these movements Paul Mallon wrote recently in the Washington Star: "Put them all together and you have widespread federal financing for co-ops in the consumer field for the first time." Under the Federal Credit Union Law, any group in the country might set up a cooperative bank with government aid under a federal charter. To stimulate the idea the Administration has sent to Europe at government expense the Roosevelt Commission to study European Co-operatives." Needless to say th,e members of the Commission are enthusiastic co-op fans.

If the growth of the co-operative movement will do anything at all, it will detroy the small business man in many fields of endeavor. The same thing was apparently true of the NRA before the Supreme Court put it to sleep. Now the New Deal is supposedly designed to help the little fellow and we have heard a lot of condemnation of "economic royalists." Brain Trust efforts may be designed to help the little fellow, but the plans carried out or encouraged seem designed to regiment or destroy him.

THEY PLANNED IT THAT WAY

One of the commonest criticisms we hear on every side about our national lawmaking body is that it is a rubber stamp Congress. Time and again it has been pointed out that it is a representative democracy of three parallel branches—the executive, the legislative and the judicial. It stated that early in the New Deal the legislative arm of the government seemed to abjectly surrender its prerogatives to the Executive, with the result that we entered an era of "legislation" by executive order. So far was this carried, it is charged, that in a few short months more law was enacted through bureaucratic regulation and published order than had been passed by Congress in the first hundred years of our national existence.

Congress is generally blamed for this change in the theory of our government. It is generally admitted that it could not have been done in normal times. But the people, it is declared, were so frightened by the bank crisis, so worn out by three years of depression and so confused by the cry of "show your patriotism" that with with its revival of the war psychology, Congress surrendered its power much more readily than otherwise would have been the case.

What must not be forgotten, however, is that this surrender of power did not come voluntarily and without planning. In order to put over the new theory of legislation it was necessary that the executive department get complete directive control of the country. The New Dealers knew exactly what they wanted and they had the plan whereby it could be done. Part of the plan was inducing Congress to do exactly what it did do. Anyone who has read Stuart Chase's book, "A New Deal", and has noted how much of its theory was later carried out in legislation, will readily understand this. As Governor Landon well put it not long ago:

"It was no accident that Congress delegated its functions to the president. It was a necessity under the system he was creating—a system which goes far beyond anything ever suggested by those liberals who maintain a strong central government is necessary to meet present day social problems and to control monopoly and special privilege. Power of this magnitude is dangerous from the economic as well as the political point of view. No man's judgment is sufficiently infallible to justify giving him control—either in private business or in government—over the standard of living, the savings, and the destiny of his fellow citizens. When the decision of one man affects an entire country, a wrong decision means national disaster."

There can be no question that autocratic executive power is dangerous to democracy. One of its first manifestatons is the surrender of authority by the legislative to the executive authority. What has happened in Germany, in Russia, in Italy and in Poland are cases in point. To preserve true democracy we must have a distinct division of power among the three branches of government. In our own case the Congress surrendered much of its authority in law-making to the president. Fortunately, the Supreme Court did not surrender its constitutional right to interpret the laws. Had it done so, we would still have NRA agents cracking down on business and processing tax gatherers taking toll of the working man's meat and flour.

Of course, it is possible to change the philosophy of the Supreme Court by appointments when apointments are due. The safest way for the American voter to preserve constitutional democracy is to vote for candidates who are pledged to that abiding faith.

THE SUN SHINES BRIGHT

One of the principal objections offered by friends of the New Deal to polls of straw votes which seem to indicate that Governor Landon is in the lead is that the test of opinions it took among those whose names are in telephone books, who are automobile owners and are subscribers to regular periodicals.

Whether or not the objection is a sound one, those who make it seem to be admitting unconsciously, at least, that those who do most of the reading and telephoning are for Governor Landon, while those who will support the New Deal come in the main from those who are depending on federal relief in one form or another.

Certainly it will seem to most political observers that the New Dealers have all the worst of it when it comes to metropolitan newspaper support in the nation. The latest example of disapproval comes from the old and celebrated Baltimore Sun, one of the best edited newspapers in the country and certainly one of the best known, in the eastern section of the nation, at least.

The Sun announced recently, editorially, that it was unable to support the principles of the New Deal and was consequently against President Roosevelt for re-election. No positive support was offered Governor Landon, although it was intimated that this might be forthcoming.

The Sun has been a staunch Democratic newspaper for almost a century. Its support of the real Jeffersonian principles has been unwavering. Its abandonment of the New Deal cause now recalls the fact that it also refused to support William Jennings Bryan in the free silver campaign of 1896. At that time its action of turning from the Bryan party was a forerunner of what was to happen in November. Whether the same thing is to occur again remains to be seen.

Certain it is that most of the great newspapers of the country are opposed to the New Deal. The action of the Sun only recalls to mind that the Omaha World Herald, another staunch Democratic organ, turned from Roosevelt to Landon not so long ago. Senators Glass and Byrd, of Virgiinia, announce that they remain regular Democrats. But their newspapers, the Lynchburg News, and the Winchester Star, are sarcastic and pungent in their criticism of the New Deal. The principal active newspaper support of the New Deal is now being given by the Scripps-Howard newspapers, who are called independent, but are of a socialistic turn of editorial mind. Most of the great "old fashioned" Democratic papers are either disapproving or mildly acquiescing in supporting the New Deal.

What effect this fact will have on the November election remains to be seen. Certainly this will not help Mr. Roosevelt to any extent. Besides, it is reminiscent of the campaign of 1896.

MAN IN THE MOON

WANTED—AN ADDING MACHINE

If it were not so deplorable, this road business would be quite laughable. Really, it is lots of fun to stand on the sidelines, as it were, and look on as the contestants in the controversy tie into each other, both citing figures to prove their contentions.

I have often heard it said that "figures do not lie", and that may be true, but to say the least of it, there is something wrong in the answers arrived at by the principals in this road scrap, as they cite their figures. If we are to believe all we see in the county papers in regard to road cost figures, we must certainly become a little befuddled.

I am not taking any sides in the contest, but I WOULD like to know just what set of figures really is right. According to one set of figures in the probate office, which are said to have been turned in by Mr. Arledge, the road supervisor, the cost of maintenance of our road system amounts to a certain sum. Then along comes Mr. Arledge with his newspaper article and gives another sum as the cost of road maintenance for the same month. Neither of these sums jibe with the Commissioners Court records as to such cost. Neither do Mr. Arledge's two statements jibe. But on top of all these discrepancies, along comes Mr. C. B. Cox with an article supposed to be upholding Mr. Arledge's contention, but Mr. Cox's figures are different from either of the other sets, all four of them are supposed to be costs of road maintenance for a certain month.

There is something wrong somewhere. Just which set of figures is right I don't know—perhaps none of them are—but I know that all of them CAN'T be right. But right there is the funny part. Mr. Arledge says the Commissioners Court figures are wrong, and vice versa. Yet Mr. Arledge and Mr. Cox, trying to prove the same thing, can't get their figures to dove-tail. Somebody's adding machine is wrong, it seems. We all wonder whose it is. If these two gentlemen can't even get together with their own figures, we wonder how they can expect to get anywhere with the Commissioners Court. And meanwhile, the roads are going from bad to worse. What's the solution?

NO SURPRISE

From day to day we hear people, Democrats as well as Republicans, bemoaning the "mess" our county's affairs are in. We see nothing surprising about that—this county is being run by Democrats nowadays and you have only to read your history to refresh your memory to find that the Demmies USUALLY get things in a mess. It makes no difference, let it be national, state or county affairs, Democrats have a reputation for making a mess every time they get a crack at government.

To stay within the bounds of "modern" times, let's start with the Wilson administrations. During the first Wilson administration, our cotton sold as low as it ever did under Hoover. Then Wilson was elected on the slogan: "He kept us out of war." Within a few short weeks after he took the oath of office for the second time, he read his war message to Congress. I leave it to you as to whether that led us into a mess or not.

It is true that our cotton sold for around 40 cents a pound during the war years, but the thousands of war crosses on the fields of France, and where the poppies blow "in Flanders Fields," are not just exactly an object to which our Democrats can point with pride. In addition to the frightful loss of life and the tremendous expense our country was called on to bear in these hectic years, that Democratic administration lent money to every Dick, Tom and Harry of a nation who asked for it. And we haven't collected that money, not even the interest on it, and we never will. That was another mess the Demmies led us into, along with increasing our national debt by a few paltry billions.

Along came Harding, then Coolidge, and during these administrations we saw good times. Then came Hoover. The economic structure of the whole world broke down, and our part of it was laid at the door of Mr. Hoover. The Democratic campaign officials, sensing a golden opportunity, made the most of it with their "smear Hoover" campaign, headed by the redoubtable Charlie Michelson, whose every utterance held bitter venom. To say that Michlson's campaign was a success is putting it mild, but let's just see how much Mr. Hoover was to blame for all this.

We happened to have a Democratic Congress at the time that Hoover was trying to stall off the depression by nipping it in the bud. After the stock market crash, and its inevitable disorganization of our own economic structure, Mr. Hoover asked Congress for the RFC fund of $350,000,000 to do this nipping in the bud with, and it was over six months before he got it. By that time things were in pretty much of a mess, I will admit. "A stitch in time saves nine," and there is no doubt that if Mr. Hoover could have gotten his RFC fund when he asked for it, much of the depression sting would never have come about. And, though we will allow our Democratic friends anything they want to say about Mr. Hoover, we must insist that they ring in their own Democratic congress for their share of the blame for this dark spot in our country's history.

And then came Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and a scarlet blot on our history. We say SCARLET, because we never in our history have had a more deliberate attempt to wrest our government from the people than during this period. With the NRA, the AAA, and all the other alphabetical intrigue, we submit that once again Democrats have lived up to their old-age record and plunged our country into another collosal "mess". How far this would have gone if it had not been stopped by the Supreme Court there is no saying. Mr. Roosevelt is the only person who could answer this question, for it was he who was holding the whip hand, he who was dealing with Red Russia, he who was adopting every idea suggested by a crack-brained collegiate Communistic brain trust, he who was causing our supply of raw materials to be curtailed by wanton destruction, he who was tearing down our protective tariff walls; it was he who was fast setting the stage for the advent of a dictator, and we have our own idea as to whom Mr. Roosevelt had picked out to hold that all-important dictator's place. If our history for the past three years is not one prize "mess", then I hope I never live to know what a "mess" is.

But we can come closer home and still find the Democratic "mess". Dear old Alabama, the cradle of the Confederacy ,with its famed aristocracy that is a throw-back to the days of '61, so steeped in malice and prejudice and sectional narrowness that it is a disgrace to even its own self—let's take a look at our state's affairs. Alabama is in debt so deep until our officials never even DREAM of its being clear of debt again. Alabama's officials never even THINK of economy in government. It matters not if people groan beneath an enormous tax load. It makes not the slightest difference to our officials if our citizens beseech them to listen to reason and learn a lesson in economy—deaf ears are turned to all such pleas. All these officials seem to think of is the means of some kind of new tax—in fact it seems that the only kind of tax not now imposed on Alabama's people is the kind that our legislators have not yet heard of. Just as soon as they hear of them, our people will pay them.

And I don't have to say that Alabama's affairs are in a "mess." I believe about nine out of every ten of our Democratic friends will admit that. In fact I hear Democrats say this very thing every day. Yet year after year they go down the line, voting for Democrats, when everyone they put into power seems to be worse than the one before him. Why? Ask a Democrat that question, and he won't even attempt to answer it. Try it on a few of them and see for yourself. They will admit that it is a "mess", but just so long as it is a Democratic "mess", they are content to put up with it.

But let's come still closer home—right here in Chilton County. Democrats are in power here. Do we have a mess or don't we? Was the last Democratic administration a mess, when our county went over the limit of the law in bonded indebtedness, and when our roads went to pieces (just as they are doing today), and then our county's credit became worthless? I am told that during the Deason administration on one occasion a road machine pulled up in front of a gas pump for fuel and the dealer refused to sell it to Chilton County on credit. Were our finances in a mess then?

At the present rate of expenditure, how long will it be until our finances will be in this shape again? Our Democratic representative piled a great load on our taxpayer's backs the very first chance he had to do it. Just how much further he will go along this line there is no way to foretell. Even now I hear rumors that he will remove our Commissioners Court—men elected by the very same people who elected him—in order that he may have free access to the county's treasury. If he is successful, then it's just going to be too bad for all of us.

In the meantime, look about you and see if you think our county is in a mess. The fine road system of which we were once so proud, and which was the talk of all visitors from other parts of the state—that is no more. In its stead is a network of weed-lined trails, garnished with gullies and wash-outs; a winter coming on, when work cannot be done on roads; the time fast passing when our roads should be put in condition. And nothing whatever is being done to them! Just another Democratic mess!

No matter who you are, you know all the above is true. If you are a Republican no doubt you will agree. If you are a Democrat, it is very likely that you will never admit it, but deep down in your heart you KNOW it it true; When you look back and think back over all the things recounted above, your good sense and judgment must certainly overcome your political prejudice in degree great enough that you will admit it to yourself, even though you might die before you would admit it to anyone else.

No, once again, we say that we are not at all surprised at the "mess" that is apparent to all of us, from the White House at Washington to the courthouse at Clanton, including a stop-over at the state house in Montgomery. It is nothing more nor less than Democratic administration of public affairs consistently upholding its history-old reputation of making a mess of things.—Man in the Moon.

WE DID IT

When the charge of federal extravagance, of running up the highest public debt in the history of the nation is hurled against them, the reply of the New Dealers is not a denial but an assertion that "we cured the depression." When we consider the number of unemployed and those dependent on public charity, it may be a debatable question as to whether or not the depression in the United States is yet ended. Certainly there still seems to be something wrong somewhere.

But the claim of the New Dealers that their expenditures have been responsible for any improvement which the country has had is open to question, too. Certainly there has been recovery. But it has been world-wide, just as the depression was world-wide. The New Dealers, by their boon-doggling in the United States are no more responsible for world-wide recovery than President Hoover was responsible for world-wide depression.

The proof is not hard to find. There has been more recovery in many of the nations of Europe and South America, without boondoggling and socialistic experimentation, than there has been in our own country. In statistics on recovery, compiled by the League of Nations, the United States is placed well down in the list of countries which are pulling out of the international quagmire of depression. Canada, Great Britian, Sweden and Norway are among the nations most frequently pointed out as having outdistanced Uncle Sam in the race toward normal conditions. It is true that they have "outsmarted us," and they have done it with balanced budgets and reduced expenditures, rather than by senseless extravagance.

But there are examples of recovery which top our own, in South America as well as in Europe. For example, the other day, Finance Minister Roberto Oritz of Argentina in his annual message to Congress stated that fiscal year in the Latin-American republic had just closed with a nice surplus in the budget of 27,100,000 pesos. Receipts were 1,042,000,000 pesos and expenditures amounted to 1,014,000,000 pesos.

M. Oritz reported also that the surplus had been applied to the reduction of the internal debt. But no trees were planted on the pampas, no great ship canals were constructed and no efforts made by the government to harness the tides. The treasury department took the old-fashioned way of using the surplus to retire the public debt. How old fashioned that must seem in a nation controlled by college professors who have Uncle Sam build everything from steam-heated dog pound to bridle paths and swimming pools! Even at that the policy must have some effect and the finance minister says that the government spent 40,000,000 less for debt service payments than had been authorized by the budget. No doubt that service payment may be steadily decreased.

M. Oritz is quoted as stating that the government's financial condition reflects the recovery that has taken place in Argentina.

It is hardly necessary to repeat that this recovery took place without the aid of a Latin-American Brain Trust. But maybe our Brain Trust helped them. Certainly the curtailment of agriculture in the United States at the behest of the professors helped to stimulate Argentina's agricultural industry.

POVERTY AND CRIME

New evidence bearing on the relationship between poverty and crime will surprise a great many people who have got into a way of regarding these two things as cause and effect.

A survey of juvenile delinquency made by the Welfare Council of New York City shows that in 1930 the children's court placed on probation 1,200 children from families with incomes of $50 a week or more, and 1,258 children from families with an income of $25 a week or less. In accordance with a widely held belief, the $25 and under income group should have provided many more delinquents than the $50 and over group, yet the two figures are practically identical.

This does not prove that poverty is a desirable social condition. But it brings seriously into question the contention of socialists that poverty is one of the biggest factors in juvenile delinquency that leads to crime; and it bears out what everybody has observed—namely, that many children who must feel the pinch of poverty go straight.—New Bedford Stadnard Times.

PROMISES DISCOUNTED

The campaign promises of "no more taxes" put forward by the Rooseveltians already have been well discounted on several grounds. One is that similar promises were made twice before by the administration and twice the promises were followed by demands upon Congress for huge new tax programs. Another is that the loudly hailed increase in revenues given as the reason why no taxes would be necessary accounts for about one-half of one per cent of the expenditures. But for the most part hidden in this no-more-tax talk is the fact that more taxes have already been imposed, to become effective on dates far beyond the possible tenure in office of the personnel of the present Administration.

Under the so-called social security act in its present form, a tax of 1 per cent on most all of the annual wage and salary pay roll of industry is effective this year and payable next. Next year, no-more-tax talk to the contrary, the levy will be 2 per cent. After 1939 the levy will rise to 1 per cent at three-year intervals to 1949, to a six per cent total thereafter.—New Haven Register.

CLANTON MOTORS OPENING BIG OCTOBER USED CAR SALE

Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers, are putting on a special used car sale during the month of October, as part of a nation-wide October used car sale by Ford dealers.

Notice an advertisement by Clanton Motors in this issue of The Union-Banner regarding their "R & G—Reconditioned and Guaranteed" used cars. The used car stock has been carefully looked over, all "junkers" have been dismantled and removed, leaving only cars and trucks of real worth. These have been carefully inspected, tightened, new parts put in where needed, and reconditioned in every way until they are in tip-top shape, throughout, and good buys—every one of them.

As dealers for the popular Ford V-8, Clanton Motors has many good "trade-ins", and after they have been carefully reconditioned by the efficient repair force, have plenty of good unused mileage in them, and are real values.

Come to see Clanton Motors, look over their array of good reconditioned and guaranteed used cars, make your selection, try it, and when you are satisfied that you have found what you want, you will find the prices and terms extremely reasonable.

Mrs J. T. Searcy Hostess To Music Study Club

Members of the Music Study Club were delightfully entertained on Tuesday, by Mrs. J. T. Searcy, Jr., in the parlors of the Methodist church.

Beautiful baskets of fall flowers were used to decorate the parlor. This was the first meeting of the year and was presided over by Mrs. Reid Mullins, in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. F. Gerald.

A most interesting program was enjoyed. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Ed Glasscock, Mrs. L. C. Ross, Mrs. P. M. Pitts and Mrs. W. E. Huddleston delighted the audience with piano solos. Mrs. J. C. Jones gave a most interesting paper on "contemporary American musicians."

A tempting salad plate with iced tea was served by Misses Jane Pitts and Anne Ross, both lovely in dresses of ice blue.

The following ladies were guests of the club: Mrs. Luther Little, Mrs. Hicks and Miss Mary Ellis.

The following new members were elected to the club: Mrs Hicks, Mrs. Horton Walker, Mrs. Henry Stanley, and Miss Kathryn Foss of Thorsby.

Miss Kathryn Bell Celebrates 11th Birthday Anniversary—

Miss Kathryn Bell entertained a number of her little friends at a lovely birthday party on last Saturday afternoon, when she celebrated her 11th birthday anniversary.

The home was decorated with fall flowers. The dining table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a birthday cake holding 11 burning tapers.

Games and contests were enjoyed during the afternoon, and prizes were awarded to Buddy Wade and Billy Sims. Ice cream and cake were served at a late hour, and candy favors were presented to the guests, who were:

Sara Dean Smith, Dorothy Nell Lawrence, Jeane Waite, Joe Frank Higgins, Jack Waite, Kathryn Newell, Guy Higgins II, Janie Ruth Martin, Flem Higgins, James Walker, Elizabeth Wade, Buddy Wade, Faye Ellen Sims, and Billy Sims.

Mrs. Kin Vinson and children, Gertiwyl and Kin, Jr., were recent guests of relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Vinson and children are now making their home at Scottsboro where Mr. Vinson holds a position with the T. V. A.

Pilot Club Entertains—

One of the most delightful affairs of the fall season was on Tuesday night when the Pilot Club entertained in the basement of the Methodist church.

Each Pilot had as her guest some friend who was a homemaker. Also, the presidents of each organization in Clanton were guests.

Mrs. Louie Smith, club president, welcomed the guests, and also told what the Pilot Club stood for.

The program committee was composed of Mrs. Joe Calloway and Mrs. Reid Mullins. Mrs. Mullins acted as spokesman. The speakers of the evening were Mrs. N. S. Johnson, whose subject was "Home Making", Miss Jenkins, principal of Thorsby Institute, who discussed "Fields for Women in Education and the Public World". Mrs. L. C. Ross, accompanied by Mrs. Barney Roberts, sang "Pale Moon". Mrs. Ed Glasscock also gave a solo, "Pale Hands".

Two new members were elected to the club. They were Misses Sara Colley and Virginia Cook.

The president gave some of the club objectives for the year.

The guests invited to this delightful affair were:

Mrs. P. M. Pitts, president of American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Hugh Jones, president of the High School P.-T. A.; Mrs. M. F. Jones, president of the Study Club; Mrs. J. E. Gowan, president of the Baptist W. M. U.; Mrs. J. W. Hayes, president of the Grammar School P.-T. A.; Mesdames J. P. Hayes, J. R. Mullins, Tom Ventress, J. P. Lawrence, L. C. Ross, Parnell of Maplesville, J. M. Kimmey, Welch, Misses Sara Colley, Virginia Cook, Edith Green, Elsie Schurter, and others.

Among those attending the football game between Auburn and Birmingham Southern, in Montgomery Friday night, were: Mr. and Mrs. Dubb Huddleston, Miss Sarah Colley, Miss Pauline Hogan, Miss Vivian Gray, Mr. Reese Mullins, Mr. Ed Mullins, Mr. Chester Wingard.

Dr. J. J. Riddle, of Montevallo, who is in charge of the Teachers Extension course, spent Saturday in Clanton where he conducted a meeting at the Chilton County Hgh School.

Mrs. Parnell, of Maplesville, attended the Pilot Club here last Tuesday night.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday is RALLY DAY! The various departments and classes are planning for a big day with special programs. The pastor will speak on an appropriate theme. Let all the members and friends of the church be present for both the church school and for church service.

Last Sunday was Promotion Day in the church school. Several children were promoted to higher departments and classes. The preaching services were well attended. The attendance at the morning service was the largest that it has been in several weeks. Let's get out of our "summer slump" and all be back next Sunday.

It is probable that there will be no the largest that it has been in sepreaching service Sunday night. A large number of our people may want to go to Birmingham Sunday afternoon and night to hear some of the outstanding religious leaders of the world. E. Stanley Jones of India will speak at a mass meeting at the First Methodist Church Sunday at 3:00. Other speakers of note will be in various churches that night and until Wednesday. The National Preaching Mission will be conducted in Birmingham from Sunday through Wednesday. Read the daily papers for details of the program. We shall announce at the Sunday morning service whether or not there will be preashing at the evening hour.

Mr. Morris Popwell, a studnet at Auburn, Alabama, spent the week end here with his parents.

Rural Electrification

In Alabama

Early Days

By E. C. Easter

CHAPTER I

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION is not a new idea so far as Alabama Power Company is concerned. It was one of the pioneers in rural electrification, and has been building rural lines since 1920.

In 1924 it began an intensive program of rural electrification and was one of the first, if not the first, company in the country to do so.

The policy of the Company was expressed thus:

"If those who live in the rural sections, therefore, will do their part in advancing the use of electricity just as the users in the cities are doing, then the farmer will find the same service available to him throughout the state. We have not waited upon the full development of the use of electricity before bringing it to the farmer, but we are engaged in this pioneer work in the hope that its benefits and advantages will commend themselves as the work goes on and thus make electric service permanent in our rural sections."*

In pursuit of that policy the Company has not only conducted a continuous Rural Line Construction Program, but since 1927 has had Agricultural Engineers assist the farmers in their problems pertaining to uses of electricity.

In those early days rural electrification was started as an experimental project in co-operation with the State Agricultural Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, the National Committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture, and the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation. The Power Company constructed rural lines to serve as a field laboratory for the field investigations which were conducted by the Agricultural Engineering Department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The National Committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture assisted in planning the project and the Alabama Farm Bureau appointed a committee of farmers to assist and advise in connection with the plans and work.

This original experiment resulted in the necessary information to begin an expanded program of rural electric development throughout the territory served by the Company.

*—1925 Annual Report.

CHAPTER II

Down Highways and Byways; Thru Forests and Across Fields

The progress made in this development by the Company in the decade 1924-1934 is indicated by the increas from only 14 rural electric lines served by the Company in 1923, to 789 strictly rural lines—and 68 which started as rural lines but were changed from rural to urban classification—served in 1934.

The Company has constructed rural lines in every county in Alabama in which it does business. It has built over 3,000 miles of rural lines along the highways and roads of the state to provide electric service to approximately 15,000 rural and farm customers. In addition it has extended electric service to some 27,000 customers in small towns and communities that are considered "rural" by the United States Bureau of the Census.

As a result of the Company's rural electric development and the extension of electric service to the smaller communities of the state, electric service is generally distributed over the entire area served by the Company and a large majority of the farms within the area are within reach of a reliable source of electricity.

The extent to which this program was carried out, and the manner in which rural electric service in Alabama was extended even during depression years, will be discussed in our next advertisement, to be published in this paper soon.—Adv. Alabama Power Company.

This advertisement is the first of a series which has also been printed in booklet form. T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, will cheerfully send a copy to any interested person requesting it.

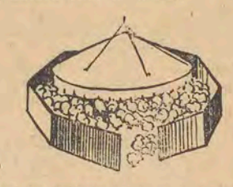
CARING OF CHICKS IS OUTLINED BY POULTRY EXPERT

The big thing in brooding chicks is not how many chicks are started or even the percentage of chicks that are kept alive, but how many good pullets will there be in the fall. Most folks start about twice as many chicks as they can handle. They get along all right while the chicks are small, but when the chicks are 6, 8 and 12 weeks old they don't have the houses or facilities to care for them properly.

Clean the house thoroughly and disinfect with Cre-so-fec solution before the chicks arrive.

"Provide peat moss, shavings, or good straw (chaff removed) for litter," advises C. S. Johnson head of the Purina Poultry Department, in speaking about the things to do for successful rearing of your chicks. "When chicks are put down, cover the litter with several thicknesses of paper immediately around the brooder stove. Remove the top layer daily. By the third day the chicks will have learned what feed and drink are and may be safely allowed on litter.

Johnson goes on to point out that the particular kind of heat used for brooding is not the important thing. Successful brooding depends on keeping the chicks comfortable. The most expensive equipment will fail miserably unless this is done.



Set up boards or keep a circle of wire covered with cloth around hover to eliminate corners and so chicks can be held fairly close to the heat the first day or two.

"No matter what type of brooder stove you use," he says, "run your stoves at least three full days before your chicks arrive. Watch the temperature closely. Be sure of accurate temperature control. Keep temperature about 92 degrees the first two days and reduce steadily until the end of second week, when temperature should be 80 degrees.

Keep temperature about 92 degrees first two days and reduce steadily until end of second week.

"During the first 3 weeks chicks are more apt to suffer from too much heat than from the temperature being a few degrees too cool. However, a quick variation from hot to cold is even worse. The tendency for chicks to pile and crowd when 3 or 4 weeks old is usually due to either too high temperature or too much a variation in temperature."

Regarding feeding Johnson says, "The newly discovered ingredient purina should be in the chick ration. It assures chicks getting enough vitamin A, so essential to chick life, health and growth."

Ways to "House-Break," Feed and Care for New Family Pet Told by Expert.

There comes a time in almost every home when a puppy is added to round out the family. As the little stranger comes into the home, there's a right and a wrong way to introduce him to the family and make him feel at home. A. H. Leonard, well-known dog authority of the Purina Mills, passes along some "do's and don't's" to be observed on the arrival of a new puppy.

"Strange surroundings and persons bewilder the newcomer," says Leonard, "so the first thing to do is to let him settle down quietly. Merely feed and water him and let him get his bearings. He shouldn't be stuffed with table scraps, greasy foods, meats, sweets and other things, but given a food suited for young pups. The puppy size dog food made in checker form is ideal for him. It gives him what he needs for growth and health.

"Right in the beginning puppies should be taught cleanliness in the house. Provide open newspapers for the young puppy, and insist upon their use at all time when indoors. Scold

BOMBER'S ESCAPE COSTS ONE MAN HIS JOB

Carelessness of a prison employee was blamed this week for the escape of R. A. Bridges, of LaGrange, Ga., convicted milk plant bomber, from the Spigener prison.

Hamp Draper, chief of the state convict department, said he had discharged A. Camp, master mechanic at the Spigener prison, under whom Bridges worked.

"It wasn't an inside job but the carelessness of my master mechanic, named A. Camp," Draper aid. "I told him to keep Bridges right under his thumb and he disobeyed my orders and I have discharged him."

Bridges, serving 20 years for the bombing of the Pure Milk Plant at Birmingham which resulted two deaths, escaped Sunday during a prison baseball game.

L. Holmes, prison bookkeeper, said Bridges must have climbed the south wall, and may have ridden away in an automobile seen parked near the wall.

"Bridges was a good prisoner, a splendid worker and one of the best electricians we ever had," Draper said. "He gave us no trouble but he is a man who would give trouble out of prison."

Police at La Grange, Ga., Bridges' home town, were notified to watch for him, and State prison guards continued their search around Spiegner in the hope that he might be hiding in surrounding swamps.

WORKERS COUNCIL ORGANIZED

On Monday afternoon, Sept. 28, the workers in the various fields of public service in Chilton County met in the county health office for discussion of mutual problems. The program was composed of short talks by representatives of the various departments, in which the general aims and some of the problems confronting each department were presented to the group. Some of the problems presented at this meeting are problems which merit careful consideration by every thinking citizen of Chilton County.

Among those problems presented to the group were the following: Conservation of public school property, the control of contagious diseases, providing more adequate care for undernourished and underprivileged children.

With school funds decreasing and school attendance increasing, it is very essential that groups using public school property for meeting or social functions of any sort take every care to see that this property does not suffer undue and unnecessary damage.

The problem of the control of contagious diseases is one which the health and medical forces have long grappled with. They have gone far toward eradicating such diseases as typhoid fever and smallpox. Attention is now being centered on tuberculosis, but far too little has been done toward controlling venereal diseases.

The problems involved in caring for our undernourished and underprivileged children are problems which should be of vital interest to everyone. Unless our children are given an opportunity to grow and develop as normal children should, we can hardly expect them to become useful men and women. Providing adequate care for dependent and neglected children may at first seem expensive, but money, time and energy wisely expended in providing for the care and training of these children is an investment in the development of character and good citizenship, which is its own reward.

Such problems as those mentioned above can be solved by no single individual or agency alone. Their solution depends upon the united efforts of every agency and every person interested in the growth and development of Chilton County. Realizing the need for cooperation in meeting our common problems, a council of county workers was organized at this meeting. This council will meet once in every quarter for group discussions. Miss Nolen Meroney, director of public welfare, was elected to serve as chairman of the council for the coming year, and Miss Elsie Schurter was elected to serve as secretary.

State Capitol News

Montgomery.—Announcement by Governor Bibb Graves that the five vacancies in the Legislature will be filled at the general election Nov. 3, instead of holding special elections at considerable needless expense to the state and counties, has served to upset the "dope" of political prophets.

The genial crop of reporters and state officials, the latter comprising both the "ins" and the "outs", were greatly upset by the Governor's announcement because they felt that the decision as to the date of the election might throw some light on the probable date of the much-talked-about extra session.

Gasoline tax collections for the month of September amounted to $1,-035,591.68, compared with $957,528.31, for September, 1935, according to announcement by Henry S. Long, chairman of the State Tax Commission. This brings the total collections for the fiscal year now ending to $11,-233,185.42 compared with collections of $9,994,793.16 a year ago, and $8,-859,517.88 for the year ending September 30, 1934.

Alabama farmers received $16,351,-000 for cooperation in the 1935 production programs, bringing the total income of the state's agriculture during the year to $174,662,000, J. C. Garrett, state and federal agricultural statistician, revealed this week.

The state's farm income, exclusive of government subsidies was placed at $158,311,000.

Several hundred Alabama war veterans who cherish memories of campaigning throughout the world under the American flag, participated in special exercise at their respective posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in observance of the 37 anniversary of the founding of the V. F. W.

Warning investors against purchasing stocks and bonds which are not registered with the State Securities Commission, Robert Harris, commissioner, revealed that two Birmingham men, who six years ago sold several thousand dollars worth of an unregistered stock issue to Cullman county residents were sentenced last week to stiff prison terms.

Francis Kohn, assistant attorney general has been for sometime in a sweeping probe of "blue sky" stock salesmen.

Amendment Affecting Jefferson

Voters of Alabama will decide November 3, 1936, whether Jefferson County shall be empowered to consolidate the Jefferson County officers of Tax Assessor, Tax Collector, County Treasurer and Commissioner of Licenses under a new officer to be known as County Comptroller, who shall be elected by the people of the County.

Although the Comptroller Act affects only Jefferson County and no other county in the State, a Constitutional Amendment is necessary because the State Constitution prohibits the enactment of any local law regulating either the assessment or collection of taxes.

The Jefferson County Comptroller Act is being sponsored by Senator James A. Simpson, all members of the Jefferson County legislature delegation except one, and a large group of citizens.

STANTON SOCIAL MEETING

The community social meeting for the month of September was held on Saturday, September 26, at 7:30 P. M. at the Stanton school house. A program of singing, games, and contests was enjoyed by the forty-odd young people who were present.

The October meeting will be held on Friday, October 23, and will be in the form of a Hallowe'en party.

Lesson for October 4

THE MACEDONIAN CALL

LESSON TEXT — Acts 16:6-15; Romans 15:18-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations.—Matthew 28:19.

PRIMARY TOPIC — Paul's Wonderful Dream.

JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Call to a New Continent.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Cry for Help.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —The World's Need of Christ.

The roots of American life, cultural and religious, reach back into the European soil on which our forefathers dwelt. The lesson before us is therefore of peculiar interest, for it relates the first step in the carrying of the gospel into Europe, and ultimately to America.

Paul, the missionary with a pastor's heart, felt constrained to go and visit the centers where he had ministered on his first journey. As he proceeded he was providentially hindered and led by the Holy Spirit to Troas. Here his next "step" seemed for a time to be a "stop," but soon God in a vision called him into Macedonia—and the gospel had come to Europe.

It is of interest to note that Paul, as he thus began his second missionary journey, was

I. Obedient to the Spirit (Acts 16:6-12).

He had certain plans in mind. He set out with a purpose, but he was willing to have his own itinerary changed as the Holy Spirit led. It is significant that the guidance was negative as well as positive. The stops as well as "the steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord" (Ps. 37:23). Christians will do well to remember that providential hindering circumstances may be as much the leading of God as the heavenly vision. We are to be obedient to any guidance He gives but we are not to be merely passive, but actively submissive to His will. Paul was about the Father's business, not idly waiting for the speaking of a voice from heaven. It is to such a man or woman that the Macedonian call comes even in our day, only now it comes from China, India, South America, or Africa.

II. Faithful in Testimony (vv. 13, 14).

Paul, with his companion Silas, Timothy who had joined them at Lystra, and Luke (note that the "they" of v. 8 becomes "we" in v. 10) came to Philippi in Macedonia, but they found no Macedonian man waiting for them. Had they been mistaken in their vision and call?

True missionaries are not thus easily discouraged. They had come to be fishers of men. The fisherman does not expect the fish to come to him. He goes after them. Paul soon discovered that there was a place of prayer at the river, evidently a gathering place of devout Jews for worship. There he met the man of Macedonia who turned out to be a woman. For some reason the men were absent from the place of prayer on that all-important Sabbath morning.

Lydia was a woman of distinction, business ability, and of high moral character. But Paul knew that even good people need to be saved. He spoke the truth of God. She accepted the message as God opened her heart, and at once she entered into

III. Fellowship in Service (v.15).

Lydia proved herself to be one of that noble succession of women who have served Christ and the church. She and her household shared in the ministry of Paul by their Christian hospitality, thus helping forward the missionaries. Observe carefully that she was not saved by her works, but that her works followed naturally after her salvation.

Turning now to one of the epistles of Paul we look at his exposition of certain

IV. Fundamental Missionary Principles (Rom. 15:18-21).

Those things which Christ had wrought (Paul took no glory to himself) through him Paul had consistently directed into fields where no one else had preached the gospel.

The spirit of the missionary of the cross is that of the pioneer, pressing ever onward, taking new land, not duplicating the work of others, not jealous of their success, not seeking comfort or glory. Men need the gospel; they are lost without it. Let us press on into the yet unoccupied territory.

Sorrow and Enjoyment

We are sent here, in one sense, to bear and to suffer; but, in another to do and to enjoy. The active day has its evening of repose; even patient sufferance has its alleviations, when there is a consolatory sense of duty discharged.—Scott.

Undermine the Character

Fear and gain are great perverters of mankind, and where either prevail the judgment is violated.—William Penn, in "Some Fruits of Solitude."

World's Mightiest Circus Coming Soon

Great Ringling Bros and Barnum & Baily Combined, with Pigmy Elephants and Pongurs from Africa, Col. Tim McCoy and Hundreds of New Foreign Features, Offers Epochal Program

With the most impressive and brilliant seven-ring-and-stage program in its history, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Baily Combined Circus, which will exhibit in Montgomery, Tuesday, October 13, offers this season, as a sensational superfeature, a herd of African Pigmay elephants, the first to set foot on this continent. These tiny tuskers are not babies, but full-grown, middle-aged midget elephants, the rarest animals on the face of the earth. Accompanying them is a herd of miniature African pongurs, the world's smallest beasts of burden. The pigmay elephants have proven the greatest attraction the big show has ever placed before the public, not even excepting its presentations in the past of the disc-lipped Ubangis, the giraffe-necked woman from Burma, the scared white elephant of Siam Jumbo, Tom Thumb and Goliath, the sea elephant.

Among the scores of new features, to say nothing of the new importants from Europe and Asia including the incerdible Naitto troupe, the Royal Bokara troupe, the great Frederico and a free running horse, pony and elephant liberty act of sixty members, is Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding star at the head of his congress of rough riders of the world —Coosacks, cowbays, cowgirls, vaqueros, Sioux and Blackfeet worriors and Australian brushrangers. Col. McCoy, plainsman, cavalry officers in the U. S. Army Reserve and friend of the Indian, is the idol of American boys and girls, and he will be seen in both the main preformances and the wild west.

The Greatest Show on Earth heads in to this territory on four long railroad trains of 100 cars, with 1600 people, 7 herds of full size elephant actors, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses. Its tented city covers 14 acres of ground. There are 31 large tents, including the world's largest bag top, seating 16,000 people.

This is the peak season for youth and beauty among the 800 world famous arenic artist with the show. In the air, in the three rings, on the four stages and in the quarter-mile hippodrome track will be seen hundreds of pretty girls. In the 60-girl aerial ballet, the most beautiful mid-air display ever produced, there are beauties that evoke columns of newspaper comment wherever the Ringling Bros and Barnum & Baily combined Circus exhibits.

PROFIT AND LOSS

By ROBERT V. FLEMING
President American Bankers Association

The culture of a nation is based in large measure on the earning power of its business organizations. The decay of ancient civilizations came about only after their economic power had crumbled. If we wish to continue to build large social institutions in this country for the benefit of humanity, such achievements must come from the wealth that is first created through business enterprise.

R. V. FLEMING

The profits arising from a business undertaking are not isolated; they are for the most part reinvested either in the particular business or in some other avenue of useful service. If we destroy the hope of profit for services well rendered, we kill the driving impulse which has brought about our present social and industrial civilization.

When the American business system offers freedom, it cannot offer a guarantee against failure. The freedom to fail under our system is as basic as the freedom to succeed. Many advocates of so-called panaceas overlook this fact when they rail against the "profit system." Such men would have us believe that the present economic order has been set up by a few business men or corporations who do nothing but reap a profit from their enterprises. They maintain that the profit system should be abolished; they insist that it must be superseded by some sort of public ownership. According to their line of reasoning, profit is an evil thing and should be destroyed.

Losses as Well as Profit

Losses are also present in our business system. As a matter of fact, we do not have merely a profit system in America. More accurately, we have a profit and loss system, and in recent years the emphasis has been on losses.

Of 508,000 corporations making income tax reports for 1932, 82,000 or 16%, reported a net income. This net income amounted to a little over $2,000,000,000. In the same year, 369,000 corporations, or over 72%, reported no net income and had a deficit aggregating nearly $8,000,000,000. The other 12% of the corporations were inactive, and no income data were reported.

Between 1924 and 1934, there was an average of 1900 failures a month, with a monthly liability exceeding $45,000,000.

On the other hand, I would not appear to imply that the American business system is just one long record of failure. For instance, from 1922 to 1932, American business paid out in cash dividends alone an average of $5,700,000,000 a year. It must be remembered that for every dollar paid out in interest and dividend, American business paid out between three and four dollars in wages, salaries and pensions.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that profit is the reward for managerial skill which can avoid the pitfalls inherent in every business enterprise. It goes to those who have initiative, training and character. But, the long record of failures in American business would, I think, convince any one that every business enterprise has inherent in it the possibilities of loss as well as profit, and that profit is the incentive which stimulates people to render greater service in order to justify confidence in what they have to offer.

BANKS STRENGTHENING FINANCIAL CONDITION

Rapid Repayment of Advances from Reconstruction Finance Corporation Reported

One of the most striking indications of the rapid improvement in the condition of banks, it is said by financial authorities, is the continuous reductions in their obligations to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. This Federal Government lending corporation, which was organized early in 1932 to extend financial assistance to industrial, commercial and financial organizations, has loaned since its inception a total of $1,960,000,000 to almost 7,500 banks and trust companies throughout the country. Of this amount this class of borrowers have repaid $1,700,000,000 or 87%, and many of them are reported as being entirely out of debt to the corporation.

At the same time, out of about $1,070,000,000 supplied to 6,070 banks by the R.F.C. in the form of subscriptions to their preferred stock, capital notes and debentures, some $310,000,000 has been retired by the banks, leaving about $760,000,000 still outstanding. All of these retirements have been made in advance of the due date, it is pointed out.

TO THE TAX PAYERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

There appeared in the County papers last week another statement in reference to the road situation in Chilton county. The facts about the situation are avaiable and can be obtained from the records by any Tax Payer who wants to know the truth. I do not believe that continuing to express different ideas about this matter in the newspaper will serve any good purpose. Until the Commissioners Court is willing to cooperate with the Road Supervisor and give the Tax Peyers of Chilton county the best service they can, you, the Tax Payers, will not obtain the road service you are entitled to.—C. B. Cox.

11 ARRESTS BY SHERIFF

Sheriff Hardy reported 11 arrests during the past week, including arrests on seven different types of law violations. These, with their disposition, are as follows:

One for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Bond for $300.

One for public drunkenness. In jail. This party was first placed in the Thorsby jail; after he had caused considerable damage to the jail there, an additional charge of injury to a building was placed against him, and he was removed to the county jail at Clanton.

One for public drunkenness. In jail.

One for assault and battery. In jail.

Two for violating the prohibition law. One bond for $400; the other bond for $300.

Two for assault with intent to murder. Both in jail.

Three for manufacturing whiskey, and possession of a still. Two are in jail; the other planned to plead guilty during the present week of court, and ask the judge to pass sentence, waiving regular court procedure.

CLANTON PEOPLE GONE TO CHICAGO FOR CITY SERIES

Dr. J. P. Hayes, Dick Hayes, Jim Wade, and W. E. Huddleston left last Tuesday morning for Chicago to attend the "Windy City" series between the Cubs and the White Sox. These two clubs play this series every year except when one of them is a participant in the World Series.

This series is of several years standing, with the White Sox, American League team, having all the better of the all-time results. The Cubs have won but very few series.

In commenting on the probable outcome of the 1936 series, both managers are quite confident. The Cub manager says his boys have blood in their eyes, while the White Sox manager merely asks: "How do these series generally turn out?"

This year Jack Hayes, White Sox second baseman, will see service in the series, and the Clanton party will be on hand to "look 'em over".

This is the best year Jack has had so far in major league play. He has always been considered one of the best infielders in either league. His hitting has always been a bit weak. This year he has managed to keep up his sparkling defensive play, and has pulled his season batting average over the .300 mark. Now, with this combination, Chicago sports writers and White Sox managers and officials consider him one of the most valuable men on the Comiskey roster.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, William Cleckley, alias Tube Clackley, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County on March 21, 1936, for manufacturing whiskey and possession of a still, and sentenced to a term of one year and one day to 18 months and one day, will make application to the State Board of pardons for pardon or parole.—William Clackley, alias Tube Clackley. 10-1-36-2tpd.

Officers and members will meet at the hall at 1:30.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

October 1st is the date taxes are due and December 31st, is the last day you can pay and not pay a penalty and interest. I would like to ask all of you to pay as early as you can, for in so doing you will be killing two birds with the same stone, that is you will have your tax paying behind you and you will be aiding the schools to continue, as you know the first month is the hardest one for the teachers to be paid on time.

Thanking you for your cooperation in this matter and assuring you that in any way, which is fair to all, that I can serve you, I will.—T. L. McKee.

Farmers Prefer To Run Own Business

Oppose Tugwell Plan To Regiment All Farms As One

Farmers throughout the country apparently are favorable to a plan of again assuming full control of their production operations on the individual family unit system basis, regardless of the political party in power at the White House. The proposal of Rexford G. Tugwell, Mr. Roosevelt's assistant secretary of agriculture, to operate the farms of America as one farm has not met with favor among farmers generally.

Each farmer, whether land owner or tenant, wants to be his own boss. They want to decide for themselves how the land they are operating is to be used. They want to be free to sit by the fireside with members of their families and decide what crops they plant and how they dispose of them.

Many still are hopeful that help may come from Washington. But whatever Federal help is offered, whether in the form of place or money there is a growing tendency among farmers to insist on administering it locally. They oppose taking orders from some super-boss for the nation's capitol.

Recent attempts of the Federal government to remedy the situation by trying to "run the farms of America as one farm" have brought to light many of the difficulties of such an undertaking. They have shown that shifting land out of production of a given crop in one section may tend to increase production of that same crop in another part of the country. They also have brought to light the fact that reduction of feed crops, for example, which likely will result in higher prices, may prove popular among farmers in states like Iowa and Illinois where surplus feed is grown for sale, but may work a hardship on states such as New York and Wisconsin where dairymen buy much of the feed for their cows.

COUNTY RED CROSS MET HERE TUESDAY LAST WEEK

Officers of the Chilton county Red Cross, and other interested citizens, met at the office of J. Mell Martin in Clanton last Tuesday, September 29. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Chairman, Dr. C. O. Lawrence; vice-chairman—Mrs. A. C. Wells, Jemison, Dr. H. M. Nix, Maplesville, W. A. Gulledge, Verbena, Dr. A. E. Middlebrooks, was elected secretary, and J. C. Page, treasurer. J. Mell Martin was named county roll call chairman. As publicity committee, Billy Smith and T. E. Wyatt were named.

Announcement will be made later of the roll call personnel to conduct this work over the county. The roll call will begin this year on Armistice Day and extend through Thanksgiving, as heretofore. Chilton county should be ready to do her share by the Red Cross.

SALES TAX ON THE WAY

Ignoring the greatest revenue collection in the state's history, approximately $45,000,000 for the fiscal year just ended, Gov. Graves now plans to convene the legislature in November to impose a sales tax or gross receipts tax.

The governor has been assured by the educational politicians that 70 House members have agreed to vote for this tax. The list given him includes some men who stood steadfastly with the economy group in the interest of the taxpayers at the last session.

The Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association of Alabama, making a long and thorough study of the financial affairs at Montgomery, does not believe any additional taxation is necessary to care for the schools.

The schools in the past year received more money than ever before from the state. For the coming year they will receive even more, and for the coming year tax collections will be even greater than for the closing year.

Records at Montgomery will show the financial caliber of the Graves administration — will show that Gov. Graves is responsible for 54 per cent of the state's more than $77,000,000 bonded indebtedness which the taxpayers of Alabama must pay in addition to $52,000,000 interest.

THREE SENT OFF THURSDAY

The dog wagon came by Tuesday morning and carried away three men, who had been sentenced previously. They were: Arthur Payton, sentenced on two charges to one year to 18 months of hard labor; Coy Headley, sentenced to 174 days for driving while intoxicated; Floyd Jackson, negro, sentenced to 122 days for abusive language.

BLOODY CLOTHING FOUND

A shirt and sweater, almost drenched in blood were found in a pasture near Samaria church last Friday morning. The officers were summoned, and they took into custody the clothing and also found three large sticks 3 or 4 feet long, with blood on them, which were supposed to have been used in the fight. The officers are making investigations, but no arrests have been made yet. Some arrests are expected in a day or so. It is thought that the bloody clothing belonged to a negro.

HON. J. B. SLOAN SPEAKS HERE SATURDAY MORNING, 17TH

The Hon. James B. Sloan, of Oneonta, Ala., will address the voters of Chilton county at the courthouse in Clanton Saturday morning, October 17th, at 10:30 o'clock. Mr. Sloan is one of the outstanding Republican speakers of Alabama, and the Republican Committee of Chilton County feels fortunate in getting him to speak to us. Mr. Sloan has been mayor of his home town for some years past, and enjoys the highest respect of the great many Alabamians who have chanced to know him.

This will likely be the only speaking at the courthouse before the election, and the Campaign Committee urges all who can to attend. Remember that the date is Saturday, October 17th, and the hour is 10:30 in the morning. The speaker is a man of broad experience, and you will enjoy hearing him speak.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION WILL BE HELD HERE OCTOBER 12-14

The district missionary convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance will be held at the Clanton Gospel Tabernacle, beginning on next Monday, October 12, and running thru Wednesday, October 14.

Special features of the convention will be descriptive and illustrated missionary addresses each day, as well as Bible teaching and evangelistic messages.

Three returned missionaries are expected to be present and take part in these services. They are:

Rev. Franklin G. Grobb, Laos Province, French Indo-China.

Miss Helen Clark, Central China.

Mrs. R. O. Stull, Peru, South America.

Rev. W. I. McGarvey, district superintendent for the Christian and Missionary Alliance, is also expected to be present.

A warm welcome is extended to everyone to attend these meetings. Remember the time and place—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 12, 13 and 14, at the Clanton Gospel Tabernacle, located at the corner of 1st Avenue and 3rd Street, two blocks west of the high school. The hour of meeting each evening is 7:30 p.m.

SEND IN NEWS EARLY

There is lots of news that comes in to The Union-Banner Tuesday that could just as well be written and sent in Friday or Saturday of the previous week. Where such is possible, please help out the publishers by getting your copy in just as early as possible. If the article is of such nature that it can be written and turned in Friday or Saturday, then greatly oblige us by doing it then instead of waiting.

We will more than likely be in a rush for the next several weeks, and will need the cooperation of our friends. You can greatly facilitate the publishing of the paper by getting your copy in early. We are depending on you from now on.

YOUNG LAWYER HANGS OUT SHINGLE IN CLANTON

Raymond Mims has returned to Clanton and has opened a law office in the Mullins-Moore building. He is the son of J. Z. Mims, and has been away from Clanton about eight years. During the eight years that he was away he worked for a publishing company in South Carolina, and for the last four and a half years has been connected with a hotel in Tuscaloosa. Through the aid that he received by working he was able to get his law degree from the University of Alabama in 1935. Since he graduated he has been practing in Tuscloosa up until the time that he came to Clanton.

DR. FRED M. BARNES AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

In the absence of Dr. S. J. Ezell, who is holding a Revival in Havana, Fla., Dr. Fred M. Barnes, Baptist State Secretary of Missions, will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. Dr. Barnes is an outstanding preacher and a leader, a Chilton county boy who has gone to the top. The public is cordially invited to hear Dr. Barnes.

The B. Y. P. U., Mr. J. B. Varnell, director will have charge of the night service. This service will begin at 7 o'clock. Come and see the fine work our Young People do. They will have a good program prepared.

Republican Speakings At Maplesville And Vermont

Devaughn Quartet Will Sing, and Judge J. O. Middleton Will Speak At Each Place For Republican Campaign

The first speakings on the roster of the Republican Committee of Chilton county come off next week—Tuesday night, October 13, at Maplesville, and Friday night, October 16, at Vermont. Judge J. O. Middleton will be the principal speaker, assisted by Hon. Percy M. Pitts.

As a special attraction at each meeting, Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his quartet have been procured by the Committee to appear and sing several numbers. They are among the best singers obtainable, as most people of the county know, and they have some especially fine numbers to sing at these meetings. You will miss a rare treat if you fail to hear these singers.

The hour to begin at each place is 7 o'clock. The speaking at Maplesville is intended for the people of 7, 3 and 8, and it is hoped that all three of these Beats will be represented. Beats 15, 7, 8, and 3 should be represented at Vermont.

The Committee would like to have speakings in every Beat, but that will be impossible. So, it is hoped that every voter will arrange to attend the speaking nearest you. A complete schedule of other speakings over the county is published elsewhere in this issue of the Union-Banner.

Look over the schedule and try and attend one or more of the meetings.

ELECTION UNDER FEDERAL JURISDICTION

(AN EDITORIAL)

The Union-Banner again reminds the voters of Chilton County that the coming election on November 3rd comes under Federal jurisdiction, inasmuch as several names for Federal offices will appear on the ballots along with the county and State officers to be voted upon. This means that the Federal courts will be the ones to try any alleged violations of the law as pertains to those names running for national offices.

This paper does not intend this message to our readers as in any way a threat but it is merely a reminder of what we have already had to say about this election in previous issues and a warning against anyone being misled into violating the statutes. Misuse of absentee ballots is likely to be the most common violation of the law, and for that reason, it is at this point that we should direct our most careful attention.

The Federal government guarantees political freedom to its citizens, and the Federal courts are always swift to protect its people in the exercise of their votes.

Let the people of Chilton County—Democrats and Republicans—join together in trying to have this coming election carried out as nearly according to law as possible. Those who shall be chosen as election managers can do much toward this end, and they, together with the county officials can bring such abuses down to the minimum. Let us all be on the alert and swift to condemn any corrupt practices which we know about to be committed in this coming election.

MARRIED IN ROSSVILLE, GA.

A marriage of interest to the people of Clanton and vicinity or recent date was that of Miss Myrtle Farley, Of Clanton, to Mr. Harry Jacobs, Jr., of Chattanooga and Roosville, Georgia on Saturday, September 26th.

Mr. Jacobs is a promising young business man, being engaged in business mostly in Chattanooga, but divides some of his time with his home city of Graysville. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Julissa Farley of Clanton. Many friends here wish them unbounded happiness in their married life.

BAPTIST — METHODIST CHURCH

This is to announce that Circle No. 2 of the Baptist church and Circle No. 1 of the Methodist church will be joint hosts to a "Twelve Month Tea" to be held at the new city hall auditorium at 2 o'clock on October 16. Immediately after the tea three will be a treasure hunt, fortune telling, and other amusements. At 7 o'clock on the same day and at the same place there will be a Hallowe'en party. Everyone is urged to come and bring their friends, as a real treat is in store for those who come. The admission price will be 15 cents.

INDEPENDENT MISSIONARY BAPTISTS TO MEET SOON

The independent missionary churches of Alabama will convene with Proctor Creek Baptist church, in Coosa County, beginning Monday night, Oct. 26, at 7:00 o'clock, and continuing on through 27 and 28. Proctor Creek is located about 6 miles east of Mitchell Dam, about 13 miles south of Rockford. The church gives one and all a special invitation to come and be with us in the services.—Leo Hull, Titus, Ala., Route 1.

NATION'S PRESS FAVORS LANDON FOR PRESIDENT

New York Newspapers Support Roosevelt; Prseident Trails In Other Sections of the Country.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The New York Times' support of Franklin D. Roosevelt gives the administration the edge in New York City press support, politicians calculated today. But they cited figures and estimates that nationally Gov. Landon has a 3-to-1 advantage over the Democratic administration in press support, with Chicago's newspaper circulation nearly 10 to 1 for Landon.

In New York, The Daily News, The Times, The World-Telegram, and The Post are friendly to the administration. Total circulation of the four is 2,569,281, according to estimates of the Editor and Publisher Magazine.

Against Roosevelt are The American, Herald-Tribune, Journal, Mirror, and Sun, with total circulation of 2,116,539.

Landon papers in Chicago, The Tribune, Herald and Examiner, Daily News, have total circulation of 1,966,023, to the 228,386 of the pro-Roosevelt Times.

Editor and Publisher reports that its listing shows 328 Democratic papers, 316 Republican, 211 independent Republican, 153 Democrat, and 792 independent, but that press support of Gov. Landon appears to be in excess of 3 to-1. Many of the independent and even some of the Dmocratic papers support the Rpublican nominee. His latest recruits are The Baltimore Sun, long known as Democratic, and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Warr and children were guests of friends during the week end. Their many friends are always glad to welcome them back to Clanton.

ROCKETT TO MODERNIZE STORE AND WILL HOLD GIGANTIC SALE

Rockett Dry Goods Company To Keep Pace With The March Of Progress By Rearranging The Interior And Exterior Of Store

With a record of outstanding service to Chilton County during past years, the Rockett Dry Goods Company of Clanton affords a graphic, local proof of the old adage that from the acron grows the study oak.

Keeping in step with the march of progress, Rockett Dry Goods Company have decided upon a program of improvement that will make their store one of the most modern de-department stores in this section of Alabama. The building will be completely remodeled throughout.

To facilitate this work which will get underway right away, Mr. Rockett stated he has found that there are thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in the store to be reduced in price and sold now to provide room for carpenters, painters and other workmen to carry out their plans.

The store's modernization program will be under the supervision of the Syore Engineering Department of the Ely & Walker Dry Goods Co., of St. Louis. Plans and specifications have been drafted personally by H. Walker of that department.

In order to speed the stock reduction program, W. E. Dobbins, field supervisor of the Ely & Walker's store arrived in Clanton Monday of this week to arrange and carry out final details for a gigantic sale to precede the remodeling program. The sale will start and continue for one week. Mr. Dobbins and the entire personnel of Rockett Dry Goods Co., have been working night and day this week preparing for launching what is expected to be one of the greatest merchandising events in local history. See the large advertisement in this issue of the Union-Banner.

GULLEDGE STORE AT VERBENA ROBBED LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

A very smooth robbery was manipulated at Verbena last Sunday night, when Gulledge Brothers Store was relieved of about 40 dollars and a bunch of indorsed checks.

The report is that two well dressed men drove to the home of Mr. Gulledge and told him that they wanted to get in the store and buy some groceries. The three went to the store, and when the groceries had been wrapped up, one of the men handed Mr. Gulledge a $20.00 bill to pay for them. To make the change Mr. Gulledge had to open his safe, whereupon one of the men told Mr. Gulledge to hand over all the money in the safe. Mr. Gulledge had nothing to do but obey.

While one of the bandits was in the store with Mr. Gulledge, the other one had the nightwatchman cornered out near by. When the plans had been carried out the nightwatchman was shoved from the car, the other bandit entered, and the two drove off toward Clanton. The car in which they were riding was a Ford V-8, probably a 1935 model, maroon color.

It is said that the same two men and the car had been seen in Verbena one day last week, and they had inquired how to get through certain country roads near by. Some people in Verbena can identify them if they see them again.

Mr. Gulledge telephoned county officers at Clanton to watch out for the men and car, but no such car came through Clanton after they called.

All evidence points to the fact that the robbery was a pre-arranged affair, and was managed by experinced hold-up artists.

REPUBLICAN LITERATURE AND SUNFLOWERS

The Union-Banner has on hand an abundance of literature sent out by the Republican National Committee, and a lot of sunflower buttons, all of which we wish distributed to the people of Chilton County. There is enough for every home in the county; so we invite you to come by our office and get a supply for yourself and for your neighbor.

Do not pass this up, but come and get this literature. We have not got enough money to mail it out, so you will have to call here for it. It is free for the asking.

TALLADEGA COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Talladega county singing convention will meet at Talladega next Sunday, October 11th. A special invitation is extended all Chilton county singers to attend.

THE NEW DEXTER HOTEL, MONTGOMERY

Mrs. Charles E. Perryman, manager of The New Dexter Hotel, Montgomery, announces a thorough renovation of her holstery recently. Now the New Dexter is all modern and up to date in every respect. The Dexter invites you to stop there when in the Capitol City. They have an adv. on the Montgomery page of this issue of the Banner.

MONTGOMERY BUSINESS MEN EXPRESS APPRECIATION FOR ALL BUSINESS GIVEN

Invite People To Trade With Them When They Can't Find What They Want In Their Home Town

The Union-Banner is this week carrying a Montgomery Section, in which a number of leading business firms of that city send a message of appreciation to the people of Clanton and Chilton county for the patronage given them in the past. This advertising by these firms of our big neighboring city is not intended to take business away from the home merchants of Clanton and other towns of Chilton county, but if and when it becomes necessary for any of our people to buy something that cannot be found in our places locally, they extend an invitation to you to come to Montgomery.

A more friendly spirit of co-operation between the people of Central Alabama and those of our Capitol City is the primary intention and sincere hope of those who have made this Montgomery page possible in this week's Union-Banner by buying a space there. Turn to that page and read the messages that they send you.

Supreme Court Will Pass On New Laws

Most Important Decisions Are Not Expected To Be Rendered Before Election Day on Nov. 3.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Supreme Court of the United States met today for a session that will bring before the nine black-robed justices important Federal and state legislation for judgment.

Decisions as momentous as those which outlawed the AAA, the NRA, the Guffey Coal Act, and upheld the gold clause amendment are expected before the court adjourns nine months hence.

Questions of national control over labor regulations, matters of power policy, farm refinancing, social security and gold and silver policies are on the court's docket. There are 425 other cases of state and local importance.

The court resumes deliberations at the height of the presidential election campaign, but is not expected to announce any important decisions before November 3.

Administration and important state acts before the court for decision this session are the Wagner labor relations act, the railroad retirement act, TVA and PWA power activities, and the Washington state minimum wage law for women.

The opening session was confined to the simple ceremonial of meeting and announcing that the court is in session and will entertain cases before it. It then received motions by attorneys and admitted new members to practice.

REV. J. W. JONES GOING TO COLUMBIANA OCTOBER 20

After eight years of invaluable service to the people of Chilton county, Rev. J. W. Jones, of Thorsby, leaves about the 20th of this month for Columbiana, where he will take charge of the Baptist church of that town. Rev. Jones will devote his full time to his new church.

Rev. Jones came to this county eight years ago and took the pastorate of Thorsby and Jemison Baptist churches. He has been pastor at Thorsby during his entire stay in the county, during which time he had also pastored at Samaria and Cooper. At present Rev. Jones, is moderator of the Chilton County Baptist Association which position he has held for four or five years. He has been a member of the State Baptist Executive Board from Chilton county ever since coming here.

Among the accomplishments of Rev. Jones was the building of the fine new Baptist church building at Thorsby. This will be a lasting monument to his untiring activities and efforts. He held numbers of revivals at other churches besides his own.

Regretting as we all do the departure of Rev. Jones from our midst, yet we are all proud of his advancement to broad and more fertile fields, and wish him every success possible in his new undertaking. Columiana has a good man for their pastor and a most able preacher. He will lead them aright, if they only follow his advice.

LEGION MEETING AT COURT HOUSE ON MONDAY NIGHT

All ex-service men are extended an invitation to attend this meeting. We have several important matters to be taken up for the new year.—Chilton County Post No. 6, V. C. McKee, Commander.

This meeting was to have been held last Monday night, but has been postponed to Monday night of next week, October 12th. All Legionnaires please take notice.

GREEN TOMATO MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE NIGHT OF 15TH

Another meeting in the interest of the growing and shipping of green tomatoes will be held at the city hall in Clanton on Thursday night, October 15th, beginning at 7 o'clock. Mr. C. J. Hayden, of the L. & N. Railroad Company will be present; the local promoters are Messrs. J. N. Dennis and L. E. Diefenderfer.

Everybody interested are invited to attend this meeting. The growing and marketing of green tomatoes from Chilton county can be made into a large and paying business. It has been done at other places where the soil and other conditions were no more favorable than ours. Try and attend this meeting at the city hall.

MARTIN MEMORIAL SERVICES AT OLD BETHESDA IN COOSA

J. Mell Martin announces memorial services, in memory of his late father, Rev. D. S. Martin, at old Bethesda church in Coosa county, on Sunday, October 18th. The program for the occasion is being arranged, and will be published later.

COOKING SCHOOL LAST WEEK WAS STUPENDOUS SUCCESS

The cooking school, conducted at the Baptist church last week by the W. M. U. ladies in conjunction with Alabama Power Company, was most successful according to some of the hundreds who attended.

During the time over 800 people attended the school, and the circle putting it on realized about $80 from the venture. It was a stupendous success from every standpoint.

County Farm Agent's Notes

ESSENTIAL VITAMINS FURNISHED BY GREENS

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers can grow an abundance of turnip greens, collards, and kale and at the same time furnish their familes with vitamins A and G. as well as iron.

"Generous quanities of these greens should be produced and served throughout the fall, winter and spring months," advises W. D. Salmon, professor of animal nutrition, Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Cabbage and lettuce may also be grown and although they are not quite as valuable as the green leafy vegetables from a nutrition standpoint, they are classed as protective foods and furnish a pleasing variety to the diet." he says.

"Spinach may also be grown successfully in Alabama. Many people do not like spinach, however, and eat it only because they have the mistaken idea that they must eat spinach to be healthy. These people are punishing themselves needlessly for they can get the same benefit from turnip greens, collards or kale.

STALK DESTRUCTION KILLS BOLL WEEVILS

Auburn, Ala.—Cutting cotton stalks and turning them under will destroy many boll weevils which otherwise may go through the winter months and cause a heavy damage to the cotton crop next year.

"Cutting the stalks deprives the weevils of their food and plowing them under will kill weevils which might survive the winter," says Prof J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology-zoology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

If the stalks are left to grow until frost the weevils will approach winter in a healthy, vigorus condition, he added, and they will be able to withstand the cold winter.

Fortunately, weevils were not numerous in Alabama cotton fields this year.

FIVE OCTOBER POULTRY POINTERS PRESENTED

Auburn, Ala.—High quality eggs will be produced when eggs are highest in price in October and November if farmers and poultrymen give chickens the proper feed and care, states John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, in offering five poultry pointers for October:

(1) Put the pullets in a dry, comfortable laying-house if they are not already there; (2) feed plenty of mash to start egg production; (3) separate the pullets and hens, if possible; (4) start the lights in the laying-house; and (5) keep records.

Mrs. Willie Jones, has returned from a recent visit to Miss Sarah Daniels of Birmingham.

FARM INCOME INCREASED IN ALABAMA DURING 1935

Auburn, Ala.—The gross income of Alabama farmers in 1935 was $174,662,000, an increase of $14,196,000 over 1934, according to J. C. Garrett, state and federal agricultural statistician.

This income included benefit payments distributed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the value of commodities produced for consumption on the farm.

Cash income from the sale of farm products amounted to $101,598,000 and AAA payments totaled $16,351,000, making a total of $117,949,000. Farm commodities consumed on the farm were conservatively valued at $46,713,000.

For both years, the cash income from the sale of farm products was based on returns from 78 crops and 13 livestock items.

PIGS GROW FASTER WHEN GIVEN GRAIN

Auburn, Ala.—The best way to keep pigs growing during the suckling period is to let them start eating grain when they are about 2 or 3 weeks old, reports J. H. Zeller, of the Bureau of Animal Industry. The grain is in addition to the milk they get from the sow.

When the pigs are 4 or 5 weeks old they need a little protein in addition to the milk they get from their mothers.

Brief Farm Notes

Alabama cotton is showing substantial improvements in staple length this year over recent years. Only about 4 per cent of the cotton classed this season has been of short lengths, whereas in some former years the proportion has exceeded 25 per cent.

Rural hospitals are becoming more numerous throughout the country and farm people are receiving better attention in health matters, reveals a survey by the Bureau of Agricultsurvey by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The dairy outlook is for a seasonal rise in the price of dairy products the rest of this year, and for prices early in 1917 averaging higher than those in 1936.

Farmers can protect their stored corn and peas against insect damage by fumigating with carbon disulphide.

Selling cotton seed on a grade basis has increased the farmer's returns from their seed since the grade basis was established in Arkansas, Mississippi, and Tennessee during the 1931-32 season, reports the United States Department of Agriculture.

SINGING AT REFUGE THURSDAY NIGHT

There will be a singing at this place Thursday night, of this week. A great number of the best singers in the county have promised to be with us. They are: W. M. Devaughn with his quartet, O. L. Devaughn and L. J. Grant. A Mr. Towns engaged in the lumber business in this community is a good singer, and expected to be here, with a supply of books. W. M. Devaughn is also expected to bring plenty of new books. We also expect Mr. T. E. Wwatt, Editor of the Union-Banner, to be here, also many others that space will not allow to mention.

This will probably be one of the best singings every held at this place. You are invited to come.

MONROE NOAH DIED

S. Monroe Noah, age 46, died at the Central Alabama Hospital late Wednesday night. Burial was at Mt. Springs, Thursday afternooa, Martin in charge. Services were conducted by Rev. Stanley, of Thorsby.

AVERAGE laying rations give average egg production and average profits. Purina laying rations, now fortified with Pur-a-tene, give stepped-up egg production and stepped-up egg profits.

Pur-a-tene is the "mysterious something" that's found in many fresh fruits and vegetables. Enough Pur-a-tene is added to each bag of Purina laying ration to step it up 2½ times in vitamin A activity. See us for today's price on Purina Lay Chow or Purina Layena!

LIBERTY HILL

Health is very good around Liberty. Most of the farmers are about through picking cotton, most everyone is pleased with their yield and the price too. Hope the Lord will always bless us with even as good crops as we have this year. Next Saturday, and Sunday are our regular preaching days, hope every one of our members will be here as it will be our last meeting before the Association, any way every one who was not here last meeting really missed hearing one of the best sermons that has ever been preached at Liberty Hill. We have one of the best preachers there is any where, any way.

Brother Holland, is a real good preacher and a good man. We love him so much for the good he has done, as our pastor. We hope every member will do their part this year every way.

Visitors are always welcome here; hope we will have more visitors every time.

CONCERT AT MARS HILL

On Saturday night, October 10, the Loyal Four will play at the church. Proceeds will go for the benefit of the church; admission will be 10c and 15c. Everybody come; you will not regret it. You will enjoy the playing and singing. Don't forget the date!

I would like to say a few words in regard to our singing school. We had a real good school, and how we did work! When you attend school under Prof. Lee Grant you really work. Mr. Grant taught a real good school, and we hope to get him back again another year.

DOWNS-LITTLEJOHN

Mrs. James Elbert Littlejohn of Jemison, announces the marriage of her daughter, Erin to Nolan Euell Downs, of Birmingham. The wedding was solemnized Feb. 15, 1936.

Mr. and Mrs. Downs will be at home after October 15, at the College Hill Apartment, 739-27th Place South, Birmingham.

FINE SINGING CONVENTION AT COURTHOUSE LAST SUNDAY

Another fine singing was held at the courthouse last Saturday night and Sunday, it being the regular fall session of the Chilton County Singing Convention. The attendance Saturday night was not as large as the day session, which was to be expected, but the singing was fine. Officers were elected at the night session, which resulted as follows:

Chairman; W. M. Devaughn (re-elected); vice chairman, O. L. Devaughn; secretary, Mattie Lou Crew.

A number of outstanding visiting singers were present at the Sunday session, including: Mezo C. Jones and trio, of Birmingham; P. B. Shaw and girls, of Brookside; White City Quartet; Guin Odom, of McKenzie, Ala., C. F. Hull, of Titus, Ala.; A. L. Ruffin, of Elmore; Tabernacle Quartet, of Prattville, Ala. The Devaughn quartet gave several good numbers.

There were a number of local directors taking a part on the program according to the chairman, Prof W. M. Devaughn, it was the best singing held here in a long time. Those in the court room would number close to one thousand, as all the room was taken.

FORD ALMANAC GIVES GOOD ADVICE ON SANITATION

October is a good time to burn weeds and plants that might breed disease, according to the timely "reminders" in the Ford Farm Almanac and Facts Book. It is a god time, too, the Almanac suggests, to drain tractor radiators; prepare winter feed for bees; take in dahlia, gladiola, canna and other flower bulbs; sell off extra chickens; and have a good jolly corn-husking bee.

The month is important historically, according to the Almanac, for Columbus' discovery of America; Thomas Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp, John Brown's raid at Harper's Ferry; and Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown. During this month, too, the conorstone for the White House was laid, the Erie Canal was dedicated, and the New York subway opened.

PIGMY ELEPHANTS WITH HUGE CIRCUS

Great Ringling Bros and Barnum & Baily Combined, with Pigmy Elephants and Pongurs from Africa, Col. Tim McCoy and Hundreds of New Foreign Features, Offers Epochal Program

With the most impressive and brilliant seven-ring-and-stage program in its history, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Baily Combined Circus, will arrive in Montgomery Tuesday, Oct. 31, for afternoon and night exhibitions.

The circus is especially elated this season over the amazing success of the Big Show's sensational new super-feature the first herd of African pigmy elephants (tiny tuskers that years ago attained their full growth) ever to leave the depths of darkest Africa, and the first herd of African elephants ever to set foot in America. The wierd midget pachyderms are accompanied by a herd miniature African pongurs, world's smallest beasts of burden. These new importations have taken America by storm.

The greatest show on earth offers scores of foreign features this year, including the Naitto, the Royal Bokaras, the Imperial Vinnese, an assemblage of 60 free-running horses, ponies and elephants; the largest aerial ballet ever produced. The Joy Hepenskis, the Reiffenbacks, the Walters, famous bareback riding troupes; the flying comets; Dorothy Herbert, madcap riders of reinless jumping horses over fire hurdles, and Hugo and Mario, human projectiles—these are some of the most prominent features of the superb 1936 Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey program.

F. F. A.

Five hundred leading high school students in vocational agriculture and their instructors met at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Saturday Oct. 3, for the ninth annual convention of Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America. One hundred and ten of 142 F. F. A. Chaptors were represented.

C. W. Wells of Jemison Vocational High School, was elected president of the Alabama F. F. A. succeeding A. C. Allen Jr. of Deatsville. Wells is very efficient in his local chapter work and carries nine projects, as listed:

(1) He is planting and caring for an orchard of 250 trees, 15 vines several fig trees and has planned the addition of 100 more trees, and 100 grape vines.

(2) Black Locust project of 800 trees.

(3) Four acres of corn.

(4) Four acres of watermelons.

(5) Brood sow and litter.

(6) 200 baby chicks, raised to pullets to be kept for layers.

(7) Improvements of home and landscaping.

(8) Cultvation of approximately 55 acres of land with entire responsibility of manrgement.

(9) Plans to continue and improve alone projects and a long time supervised practice program.

By virtue of his office, Wells will be sent to National Convention of Future Farmers of America in Kansas City, Mo. this month.

The Association plans to increase the F. F. A. enrollment to 3,750 in 1936-37. The program of work projected for the year named essay writing, public speaking and thrift contests as major projects. There will also be emphasis on Community Cooperation and furtherance of rural conservation, including foresty projects and the control of forest fires, enlargement of F. F. A. libraries by at least 1,000 volumes. Continued emphasis on radio programs, further developement of chapter nurseries for school and community beautification and developement of musical talent within chapters.

FIVE GENERATIONS LIVING

The attention of The Union-Banner has been called to a family of people in which five generations are all living at the same time. They are: Mrs. D. A. Jacks, of Clanton Route 5, who is about 85 years old; Mrs. N. G. Carroll, Clanton Route 2; Mrs. G. L. Messer, Deatsville Route 1; Mrs. Jesse Glasscock, Deatsville Route 2; and little Donald Eugene Glasscock, of Deatsville Route 1, age 3 weeks.

This is unusual, as there are scarcely ever five generations all living at the same time.

FIGHT STARTED FOR TWO-PARTY RULE IN STATE

Federation Of Republican Women Announce Plans In 15 Counties

A fight to give Alabama a two-party system of government which will guarentee "a higher degree of intelligence and integrity among public officials" has been begun by the Alabam Federation of Republican Women, Mrs. Pearle Harper Wates, chairman, announced today

Mrs. Wates, Alabama member of the Republican National Committee, disclosed that the federation has completed its organization in 15 counties in the state with county chairmen selected for each county.

"The sole purpose of the organization," Mrs. Wates said, "is not to furtherr the cause of the Republican Party in Alabama, but to fight for better government in this state. Every thinking citizen knows that Alabama has suffered from the one-side domination of the Democratic Party. We offer a remedy for that evil.

"Instead of ending on Nov. 3, our fight will have just begun."

The federation's Jefferson County chairman is Mrs. T. C. Cuthbertson, for many years a Republican leader in the state.

Other county chairmen as announced by Mrs. Wates are: St. Clair county, Mrs. G. W. Hannon of Eden. Walker, Mrs. William V. Dodd of Manchester; Blount, Mrs. Jasper A. Bynum of Oneonta; Chilton, Mrs. Gertrude P. Calloway of Clanton; Mrs S. H. Crittenden of Double Springs; Franklin, Mrs. Bob Tompkins of Belgreen; Marion, Mrs. J. T. Beeker of Winfield; Lamar, Mrs. E. F. Duke of Kennedy. Cleburne, Mrs

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETS

The County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs met and elected new officers for the year and settled questions of county-wide importance. It was decided by the Council that they hold their county-wide rally, which had been postponed, due to the paralysis, by former agent, the latter part of October, at which time the Leadership certificates will be awarded and the prizes given which had been worked for during the last year. Parliamentary rules were discussed, and year books were planned. The county council officers elected were:

President, Mrs. Anna Phalin; vice president, Mrs. Tom Littlejohn; 2nd vice president, Mrs. A. T. Ryan; secretary, Miss Lena Downs; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Howard; three chairmen of county objectives: scholarship, Mrs. W. A. Adams; farm bureau, Mrs. H. F. Virgin; citizenship, Mrs. Olive Welch.

FOOTBALL AT ISABELLA FRIDAY

There will be a football game at Isabella Friday of this week, October 9th, at 1:30 o'clock. The skirmish will be between Isabella and Verbena. This promises to be a good game, and all are invited to attend.

On Monday a captain and alternate captain were elected for the Isabella team. Andrew Jones was chosen as captain, and Dorman Williams as alternate captain.

Judge and Mrs. J. Lee Smith, Miss Lillian Smith and Miss Bettie Mullins, spent the week end in Gulfport, Mississippi.

Carl Brown of Muscadine; Clay, Mrs. D. M. Hoosten of Ashland; Geneva, Mrs. Jessie Faulk of Samson; Escambia, Mrs. Minnie G. Adams of Brewton; Baldwin, Miss Esther Banning of Robertsdale, and Mobile, Mrs. E. B. Davis of Mobile.

"TEXAS RUBY" AND "ZEKE" TO BE AT COOPER JR. HIGH SCHOOL

Union Grove Schoolhouse	Tuesday night, October 27
Oak Grove Schoolhouse	Friday night, October 30
Thorsby, public school building	Monday night, November 2

The hour for all the above speakings will be 7:00 o'clock.

The speaking at Thorsby will be the closing speaking before the election, and will be a county-wide affair. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, will deliver the principal address at Thorsby, followed by Judge J. O. Middleton.

Speaking at the other places listed above will be done by Judge Middleton and Percy M. Pitts, and probably others. And through special arrangement, Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his quartet will appear at each meeting and sing several numbers. You will certainly want to hear this quartet singing, even if you are not interested in the speaking. Hear them sing—You will enjoy it.

The campaign committee regrets that it will be impossible to have speakings in every community in the county, however well it would like to do this. So, in view of this fact, all communities and Beats adjoining the communities listed are urged to have as many representatives present as possible. It will not be many miles to the nearest speaking, so all citizens of the county are invited and urged to attend at least one of these speakings.

We are publishing the dates well in advance, so that all may have plenty of time to arrange to attend. The ladies are especially invited, as well as the young voters.

Special emphasis is placed on the meeting at Thorsby, when Mr. Vardaman will deliver the principal address. The voters of the county have heard him twice at the courthouse, and know that he is a forceful and interesting speaker. The committee expects every single Beat in the county to be represented at this Thorsby meeting.

Prescribes Ignorance Drops For People Of The United States

Editor Union-Banner.

Here I come again for another chat with the voters of this great old United States of ours. As I see it, we are in the worst condition as a nation I have ever seen. The whole country is torn to pieces; everything seems to be leading to dictatorship, from our county officers to president. It seems that none of our leaders have any confidence in any of our old ways of doing things; they want to do away with the Constitution and all of the old laws that have brought us prosperity when we had the right sort of men at the head of our government. If the leaders at Washington had been real Americans this time, we would now be enjoying better conditions.

It has been stated that the five men called the Brain Trust and who are dictators to Mr. Roosevelt are all from foreign countries. That must be true, as nothing that has been done by this regime has favored American methods and practices. We cannot expect anything better out of them, they do not know how to run the U. S. government when they do not understand our ways. Some of them are from countries where there are no Bibles allowed. Just think, what could we Americans do trying to run a country like that? We would want to follow American ways. We would want to put Bibles in every home and let every body be free to worship God in their own way. We would want free press and free speech. In short, we would want to substitute the American way of doing things, and that would not suit those Yippinese or whatever nationality they might be.

So, this Brain Trust up at Washington doesn't know anything else to do or recommend to Mr. Roosevelt. It is their way of government in their countries, and Mr. Roosevelt has tried to do what they say for him to do; and this kind of business has gotten us in the worst shape I have ever seen our country in. If this administration is allowed to go back for another four years, this country will not be allowed any Bibles, free speech or free press, or anything else that pertains to American ways except taxation, and that will be in a great way. All the poor folks will eventually have to pay the bills. The people of America should dispose of this Brain Trust of dictators from foreign countries. I think the real leaders of America should be consulted instead of asking these foreign professors for advice. If Mr. Roosevelt feels like he needs help to run the government, why does he not get American men for his Brain Trust; that would be better, as they know something of American conditions and customs. A brain trust composed of real Americans could render real service to the president and to the country. But he prefers advice from the hot-beds of Communism and Sovietism in the turbulent countries of Europe.

It appears that Mr. Roosevelt is not a real Democrat, or else he would have carried out the Democratic way; and I can't think he is a Christian man, after listening to him over the radio and hearing his speeches for the past four years. I have not yet heard him mention God, neither have I seen in the papers where he had attended church on Sunday; but about two or three weeks ago I did see in the papers where he went fishing on Sunday, and the same day Mr. Landon was reported to have attended church.

When Mr. Landon made his acceptance speech the crowd sang an old gospel song and had prayer by some good old time brother; it was in the old time way for it had the spirit of God in it. It made my soul leap within me for joy to know that God still had some people in the great Northwest who felt that they needed His help and asked for the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Also, when Col. Knox made his acceptance speech, the crowd repeated the Lord's prayer, sang an old song and had a wonderful prayer by some good brother. It was wonderful; it reached me away down here in Alabama. He prayed for God to give us leaders who could show us the way out of the fix we are in and to give wisdom and knowledge to them.

This showed a great difference between the two candidates for president. Mr. Roosevelt has been trying to relieve the distress of the people for almost four years with extravagance and waste and without God being in it, instead of going to church on Sundays. Mr. Roosevelt cannot relieve the burdens of the people if he had all the money in the world, without God. But God, through men who are trusting Him, can and will accomplish wonders. God's Word says when the wicked rule the people mourn; so we voters should give this some throught and vote for the best man. By so doing we can avert the shedding of blood of our young people in another war.

Voters, let us begin at home and be honest with ourselves and with our fellow men and with God.

Yes, I said that our leaders seem to want to be dictators in the place of servants of the people. This is the case of national officials, and we can see the same thing in Chilton county. Up until recently we never did have an official in Chilton county who wanted to be a dictator; but just think of what our Representative and Senator promised us they would do, and compare that with what they have done over the wishes of the people of this county. Just think what Bibb Graves promised he would do, and then look what he has done. What did a lot of Congressmen and Senators promise, and what have they done Think of what Mr. Roosevelt promised and what his platform stood for, and see if he has kept his promise. I see in the papers where some people are calling them liars. Well, if a man does not keep his promise, what else can the people call him? Some of our officers have to put their hand on the Bible, which is God's word, and swear that they will uphold certain things; then they turn right around and try to destroy the very thing they swore to uphold. Now, according to God's word, that makes such a man out a liar.

So, we had better be careful. I feel that we would make no mistake if we elected Landon president this time, but that we would be proud that we had elected him. So, don't let prejudice get in our way, but let the Lord lead as to who is the best man to vote for. As I see it, we should consider well everything that is involved before we vote. We know what Roosevelt has meant to us for the past four years—nothing but taxation and a wrangle. There have been more strikes, more pestilence and more disasters during this administration that during the past twenty-five or thirty years.

So, I will close. Think all this over. Don't get mad, but take it to the Lord in prayer. Sincerely,—J. N. Scott.

University News

Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves, first lady of the state, will be an honor guest at the women's convocation to be held Homecoming morning, October 10. Several women's activities will feature the program.

The women will assemble at Doster Hall lawn at 10:30 a.m. They will march in academic procession to Morgan Hall, led by the class presidents. These are: Senior class, Marjorie Merrit, Birmingham; Junior class, Eleanor Brown, Birmingham; Sophomore class, Mable Thomas, Montgomery; Freshman class, Helen Nix, Maplesville.

Three other honor guests will be on the stage at the convocation in Morgan Hall. They are: Mrs. Sheffield Owen, Birmingham, president of the Alumnae Association; and two past presidents of this Association, Mrs. Washington Moody of Tuscaloosa, and Mrs. W. D. Johnston.

Mrs. Owen has called a meeting of all alumnae at 11:45, and has urged that all alumnae attend the luncheon at 12:00.

Other features of the morning program are the meeting of the Board of Trustees, and of the Alumni Council. The band, under the direction of Carlton K. Butler, will give a concert at 10 a.m.

University of Alabama journalism students are to be given practical experience this year. Work is being done in the office of the Crimson White, student newspaper, and in the office of the University News Bureau.

Over 4,000 books have been added to the University of Alabama library this year, according to Miss Alice Wyman librarian.

Promotions in the University of Alabama's "Million Dollar Band" have just been announced. Raymond Ellis, Brooklyn, has been named band captain and assistant director.

Men student leaders at the University spoke to a general convocation of women students this week, the meeting being presided over by Betty Breslin, Selma, president of the Women's Student Government.

Three prominent Alabamians and a British speaker of international note are the speakers on a program of the Tuscaloosa Forum of Current Affairs, meeting at the University. Speakers for October include the Honorable Joe Starnes, Judge O. D. Street, the Honorable Grover C. Hall, and Mrs. S. K. Ratcliffe.

Thirty-eight freshmen were named to the freshman Y. M. C. A. cabinet at the University of Alabama this year. They were headed by Grady Cleveland, Centreville, president; Fred Larson, Emporium, Pa., vice president; L. C. Couch, Guntersville, secretary; George Murray, Bessemer, treasurer.

The first issue of the University of Alabama Rammer Jammer, student magazine, came from the press this week. Hadley Howard, Florence, is editor; Peyton Williams, Clio, literary editor; and Oliver Brantley, Troy, business manager.

Plans for the largest Homecoming Day in the history of the University are being made at Tuscaloosa. A complete program of events for the day has been promised, to be climaxed by the Alabama-Mississippi State football game. Homecoming is October 10th.

Alabama's Crimson Tide is preparing to avenge the defeat at the hands of Mississippi State last year. A very strong Tide aggregation is determined to reverse the 20-7 score which marked the first defeat ever suffered in Denny Stadium.

Never Before Could You Telephone "Long Distance" So Cheaply as Now

The latest long distance rate reduction, effective September 1, was the seventh reduction voluntarily made by the Company in the past ten years, and will save telephone users many millions of dollars.

You can now talk on station-to-station service a distance of 50 miles for as little as 35c or 1000 miles for $1.85 and greater or less distances at a correspondingly low cost.

Telephoning is the quick, easy, economical and personal way to keep in close touch with out-of-town relatives and friends. There is no more satisfactory and pleasing way to extend sympathy or congratulations, greetings or invitations to out-of-town friends and acquaintances, than by long distance telephone.

Isn't there someone, somewhere, father, mother, brother, sister or friend who would be made happier by hearing your voice and talking to you tonight? Ask "Long Distance" for rates.

E. L. GLASSCOCK SELLING B'HAM POST IN FOUR COUNTIES

I am the only full-time, bonded subscription salesman of The Birmingham Post in the counties of Chilton, Shelby, Talladega and Clay.

I am asking the people in the rural districts of these counties to please favor me with your subscription, both new and renewels. They may be sent by mail to me with the same results as if sent to the company. Mailing charges may be reduced from the present price, which is $3.25 per year during these few months of reduced rates.

I would like to have one commissioned salesman in each community to co-operate with me in this work during this bargain period. All otherwise commissioned salesmen may send me their remittance, less their commission and mailing expense, but will not be permitted to make any reductions in the present rates. The co-operation of salesmen, clubs or individuals will be greatly appreciated.

Anyone wishing to co-operate with me as a commissioned saleman, please get in touch with me at once, and I will send you supplies. Respectfully,—E. L. Glasscock, Jemison, Ala. adv.—10-8-3t-ch.

LINK NEW DEAL AIDS TO REVOLT

Communistic Group Still Controls Roosevelt, Peek Declares

Washington.—Inner circle advisers who "advocated revolution" and who have "calmly discussed the amount of blood that ought to be shed," continue in the confidence of the President and are "controlling his actions, declares the Republican National Committee. Its charges find substantiation in the book, "Why Quit Our Own," by George N. Peek, first agriculture adjustment administration head, and Samual Crowther, published by D. Van Nostrand Co.

The book demonstrates that the men who are closest to President Roosevelt maintain "hatred of the American system of government," and "admiration of the Russian system," and furnishes "damning evidence that the New Deal was tainted with communism from its very start." "Futhermore," the statement continues, "it is too late for President Roosevelt to make any effective answer."

Two years ago, the statement affirms, President Roosevelt "deceived the country as to the influence this group had with him. He sent Rexford G. Tugwell (undersecretary of agriculture) to Europe. Jerome Frank (counsel for the AAA) was kept in the background. The visits to the White House of Felix Frankfurter (Harvard law professor), always furtive, were secret."

"But with the election won," continues the statement, "the radicals have mouted in public importance as well as in secret influence with the President. The old 'brain trust' was dismembered, the more sane who wanted reform and not revolution, progressivism and not bolshevism, were thrown into the discard. George Peek was thrown overboard, Raymond Moley embarrassed and then ignored. Why? Because they opposed various plans of the administration aimed at bringing about this much desired socialization of the farmers and the crushing of private business."

In his book, Mr. Peek is quoted as saying:

"I have been to several parties of Tugwell's and Jerome Frank's and they have a very different idea of this administration from what we have. They are all talking social revolution and they have an idea it is a mission of the Roosevelt administration to turn us into some kind of socialistic state. They think the place to start is with the farmers, who in other countries have formed the chief obstacle to socialism.

"They differed on what the revolution was about and what should be done afterward. They also differed as to the blood that ought to be shed. Some were for no blood and others were for a lot of blood.

Another group was against relief on the ground that hungry men revolt sooner than fed men. They would haved starved the people, on the same theory that the Russians used to force the farmers into collective farming. One, in a position of prominence, was reported to have expressed deep regret over the food distribution as only delaying the great revolution."

The committee's statement then points out: "Does it seem possible that President Roosevelt did not know what his subordinates, the very men who had the most influence with him, were doing and talking about?"

It is said that new laws will be passed to fight the drouths of the future. The best remedy for a drouth is above the law and that is —rain.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

Are the American people forgetting the religion of their fathers along with many of the other principles and customs of the pioneer Americans who laid the foundation for the great country we have today? This question has been asked more than once by anxious students of American history and philosophy. Perhaps it has seldom been more forcefully put than by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, speaking before the Holy Name Societies in New York City not long ago. Among other things, Gov. Smith declared:

"I don't see any solution of our problems. I don't see where we expect to get without Him. Without Him we're going to face chaos, revolution, disorder, and eventually complete and utter ruin.

"Look at Russia, Spain and Mexico, where civilization has been set at naught—because without God there can be no civilization. What have we? We have the cave man's law —the law of the sharpest tooth, the law of the angry growl and the law of the needy maw."

It is only repeating what everyone who has studied American history knows — that this country has become great through the manhood and womanhood, the piety, the reverence, the industry and the fearless courage of our ancestors. Without these qualities there could have been no successful American revolution, no building of great cities, no land of snug villages and fertile farms.

And one of the most important qualities of these early Americans, one which sustained them in their trials and their dangers, was a firm belief in God and a realiation that they were doing His will.

Now we seem to be living in a new age. We are told that the United States has grown up, and that something new is needed. The priceless quality of individual initiative and enterprise is as useless for an old nation as an old man. What America should have, so they say, is aid from a paternal government, regimentation, regulation and mantenance from the public treasury.

Strange it is that these teachers of the so-called "new" faith, seem to ignore almost entirely the need of aid from the Divine Power. They have no time for Providence. They have more trust in socialistic politicians than in a Divine Ruler.

Perhaps this does not seem so strange when we recall the fact that many of these dispensers of the new socialized "religion" drank their "wisdom" from the red fount at Moscow where God has been "abolished" by national edict. Certainly it is true that America can not afford to dispense with its Christian culture. As Gov. Smith has intimated, such a reversion to heathenism will do more to restore the law of the tooth and the jungle than any other course which can well be imagined.

A POSSIBLE DANGER

We have heard a great deal of late about insurance companies. Statements made by critics of the New Deal that present fiscal policies may in the long run seriously affect the interests of the holders of many million life insurance policies in the country, are met by the New Dealers themselves with the assertion that those who make the criticism against New Deal policies are seeking to undermine the confidence of the people in the insurance business of the country.

Nothing could be further from the truth. express their objection to policies which have express their objection to olicies which have created the biggest national debt in all history and have increased the spending of the government to a point which three years ago would have been regarded as appalling. If those who do object to this sort of fiscal policy were silent now they would be neglecting their duty to America and regard for its future welfare.

As a matter of fact the danger now is not to the insurance beneficiaries themselves, or to the policies, which can still be paid out in American dollars even if these dollars are necessarily cheapened in an attempt to get out from under the debts which we are now piling up in Washington. Should the dollar sink to the point where it was worth only a nickel in old fashioned "horse and buggy" currency, the insurance companies could still make good on the policies which became due. Each security with a face value, say, of a thousand dollars each, would still be worth a thousand dollars.

The one to suffer would be the beneficiary of the policy. If, when the policy was written, it was worth $10,000 in 100-cent dollars, it would be worth legally and actually $10,000 in 5-cent dollars. Here we would have one of the inevitable results of inflation. As Col. Frank Knox well put it the other day, the question in event of inflation will be what the dollar is actually worth when one gets hold of it. That serious inflation is likely, if we continue our present reckless spending policy, is now generally admitted by all serious economic students. Many of them tell us that it is already under way. It can be stopped only if we go back to old fashioned principles of economy and sound bookkeeping. This can only be done by reversing the idea of spending ourselves rich. Inflation will ruin everyone with the possible exception of the man who is nimble enough to gamble successfully in common stocks and commodities.

The trustees of the National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters, meeting in Boston recently, expressed the opinion that the interests of the insurance companies and policy holders were not receiving the consideration to which they were entitled, from the Brain Trusters who are devising our economic policies. They suggest that someone who knows a little about the insurance business be placed in the president's cabinet where he can do some advising.

Of course, we don't need any more bureaucracies in Washington. But it is true that the insurance policy holders and prospective beneficiaries ought to be receiving some serious consideration. The best way to safeguard the situation perhaps is to put men in control of the economic policies at Washington who will not be guilty of the folly of leading us toward the danger of inflation.

MAKING READY FOR A CHANGE

One of the absorbing questions of the political prognosticators at this time is whether or not the people want a change, and whether they will translate their desires along this line into the election in November. Republicans have been quick to hail their big congressionel victory in Maine, where they swept the platter clean and made a net gain of two congressmen, as an indication that the people do want a change in the conduct of national affairs. New Dealers naturally deny this and declare that the action of Maine in voting Republican was merely going back to normalcy again. Of course, it is to be admitted that if the country becomes normal the top-heavy Democratic Congressional majority will disappear because the country is normally Republican.

In any event it is interesting to note that in the primary elections which closed recently 18 House members were defeated in the party primaries. Of this number, 17 were Democrats and only one a Republican. Now, as in every primary election, the sitting congressman has a big advantage over his party opponents and this unseating of 17 Democrats may have more than passing significance. There can be no blinking the fact that when it came to wanting changes, the casualties were 17 times as heavy among the Democrats.

According to the United Press, which recently analyzed the situation, of the 17 Democrats defeated for renomination, one was from Florida, one from California, one from Iowa, three from Louisiana, two from Ohio, one from Oklahoma, four from Pennsylvania, one from Missouri, one from Texas, one from Alabama, and one from Virginia. A glance at this record would seem to indicate that the Democrats in Pennsylvania seem less inclined to endorse the New Deal than those of any other of the states holding primaries. This coming at a time when the Democratic National Committee claims to have high hopes of carrying the old Keystone state may have some significance.

The only Republican to meet defeat in the primary, according to the United Press statement, was Verner Main, of Michigan, who was chosen at a special election as an out and out Townsendite, and who failed to be renominated this year.

Another point which is worth noting is that 16 Democratic congressmen decided it was not worth running again while only one Republican made the same decision. Counting in the vacancies caused by death, which must naturally be filled by new statesmen, the survey shows there will necessarily be more than 70 House changes next year. The political upset in Maine, however, indicates that there will be many more new faces than this number.

Just what the significance of the primary results may be, remains to be seen. Certainly they are not discouraging to the followers of the G. O. P.

In the old days the commander who got to the telegraph station first won the battle, but in these newer times the Spanish commander who grabs the radio station away from the other fellow is the victor.—Macon Telegraph.

What the world is observing in Spain today is what happens when the people of a country substitute bullets for ballots in determining public policies. What has happened in Spain ought to serve as a lesson to the people of every other country.—Houston Post.

MAN IN THE MOON

COX AND CO-OPERATION

Last week Rep. Charlie Cox had an article in the county papers in which he stated to the taxpayers of Chilton County that they could not expect anything done to their roads until the Commissioners Court made up its mind to cooperate with the road supervisor.

It seems to me that my good friend Charlie has taken up his cooperation idea a bit late, especially if he expects anyone to take him seriously on it. Now it might be that we could have better roads if the Commissioners Court would cooperate with the supervisor, but there is a little item of cost that should be considered.

First, though, I would like to ask Charlie when he took such a shine to cooperation? When did he get so anxious about the "interests" of the taxpayers that he would even THINK of cooperation. For that matter, when did he decide to even recognize the taxpayer as such?

If my memory isn't playing tricks on me, there was a time not so long ago when the taxpayers were asking Mr. Cox not to pass certain bills which set out large sums of the taxpayers' money. Did he even recognize them then? He did not! Those bils were railroaded through the legislature without regard to the wishes of Chilton's people or taxpayers. There were plenty of Democrats asking that he hold up his bills, too. But little did Charlie care—the bills went through.

Our taxpayers didn't want to raise the salary of the farm demonstration agent. They didn't want their money spent to have a livestock show. There were several things they didn't want done that Mr. Cox wanted. They didn't want their Commissioners Court kicked out, either, and Charlie knows better than anyone else why it wasn't ousted. As far as all the other bills were concerned, the taxpayers just didn't rate with Mr. Cox THEN. But NOW—that's another matter. He addresses "The Taxpayer of Chilton County" for the first time since he was running for office.

In his article to the taxpayers Mr. Cox leaves the impression that it has not crossed his mind that the supervisor might try cooperating with the Commissioners Court. Too, Judge Smith says that if anyone (and that includes Mr. Cox, Mr. Arledge, or any of their sympathizers) has an idea that might be a solution to the road problem, the Court will be glad to hear it. Has Mr. Cox offered any such proposition? Nothing but that the court turn over to the supervisor all monies in the road funds. He forgets that there are other bills which the law provides must be paid from these funds. And he forgets, too, that the people elected the Commissioners Court to look after the financial affairs, and that the supervisor was "hired", not elected, to watch after the roads. Why not allow the Commissioners Court to carry out its duties, while the supervisor carries out his? And, by the way, why not let Mr. Cox stick strictly to his own duties, as representative? What affair is this of his? He was elected to "represent" Chilton County in the legislature at Montgomery—not to run the affairs of the county, nor to look after its roads.

Personally, I like Mr. Cox, and he is one of my best friends, but I believe he has been a distinct failure as a "representative" of our county's people. Not one act that he has put through regarding our county has been favorable to them, unless it was the bill regarding the advertising for bids for all purchases over $150.00. Another thing—although that bill was made into law, just how many bills have been advertised for?

Now, regarding the funds which the supervisor asks be allotted him with which to work roads. I believe the people would be willing to allow Mr. Arledge more money than he has now, if he needed it, if they could see any results from the money he is now spending. If Mr. Cox is so concerned with the taxpayers, and has set himself up as the county's Adviser General, perhaps he would explain what has been done with what has been spent already; if he can show worthy results, no doubt the taxpayers will bring pressure to bear on the Court to give him more. But until they CAN see what is going with their tax money, I don't believe the tax payers will be over-anxious to provide more. The people remember the first of 1936, when Mr. Cox was riding over them with his position, and no doubt will turn a deaf ear to his appeal to them, both now and from now on.

COMMUNISM IN ALABAMA

You can put it down in your little red notebook that when you see something trying to come in at the back door its intentions are not for the best interest. Anything that is open and above board always knocks at the front door and asks admittance.

Communism has never tried to make an open advance. No matter where it has shown up, it has found that the first entrance was through the rear. Even in Russia, all plans were kept secret until the "zero hour" when that country flamed "red" all over. Then it was too late, for Communism had already eaten the heart of the government out before there was any outward show.

Officials of our country are well aware of the fact that Communistic workers are at work in America. Every now and then a result of their poisonous propoganda crops out. Nothing good has ever come of it anywhere. Strikes, riots, bloodshed, and the like, all these and worse, are the only fruits of Communism. Workers of this order are untiring. They aspire to Communize the world, and any nation's officials who do not act at once to stamp out such tendencies may awake to find their government and their homes slipping from under them.

Here in the South we have not had our attention drawn to this Communistic evil so much as people in the North and East. Communism thrives in the densely populated centers, where there are great numbers of immigrants fresh from the European social boiling pot. It doesn't go so well with old-line Americans. One big Communistic head has said that less than one per cent of the members of his party here in America were native Americans. So, it seems that Communists seek to cater to foreigners in the hope of inflaming them against America and American people and their ideals of government to such degree that our government may be overthrown.

Of late, however, Communism has reared its ugly head in the South, particularly here in Alabama. Quite a few instances have come to light to prove that Communists have been working, quietly but tirelessly, right among us. During the past few years the Scottsboro case and others, including the Gadsden and Talladega cases have shown us how far Communistic teaching has carried us along the "red" road.

One saving feature about the whole affair, so far as the South is concerned, is that there are relatively few of these foreigners in our part of the country, which makes the work of the Communist just that much harder. Our people, as a rule, don't like Communism, knowing little of it; and they are not at all anxious to learn more about it. They know that it has a tendency to break down their government, and Southerners take lots of pride in their citizenship.

Someone said: "There is none so blind as he who will not see," but there is another saying that: "There is none so safe as he who takes no chances." Southern people feel pretty safe under our American form of government, and they are taking no chances with it. The best part about Southerners, too, is that when they find something they do not like, they don't call an officer—they get rid of it themselves, and in their own way.

At last we have an instance of that right under our noses. The man who was left for dead near Maplesville last Thursday morning was a victim of this Southern spirit against Communism. He admitted that he had been "looking into a matter" around Bessemer, and that he was a Communistic worker. He also admitted that he had been warned to stop his Communistic propoganda or get out of Alabama. He did neither, so last Wednesday night he was "taken for a ride," beaten, and left in the woods for dead. Alabamians don't like Communism!

Of course we do not advocate mob law nor unlawful practices, but it looks like a healthy sign to us that Alabamians are wide awake enough to keep themselves posted against Communistic propoganda, and courageous enough to take drastic moves to curb it. The best things these Communistic brotherhoods can do is to stick to their alien sections, where they can do their cause some good. Our Southerners are a bit hot-headed at times, and it might be that these propogandists would wake up some fine morning and find themselves playing a harp and looking at the wrong end of the weeds and grass. That is not a threat—just a warning!—Man in the Moon.

HOW PROSPEROUS?

Just how prosperous is prosperity?

It seems to depend largely on where you sit.

The 10,000,000 persons or so who are out of jobs and those others who have little stop-gap government jobs can hardly be blamed for doubting that genuine prosperity is now here even though a good many persons are employed once more. We have had too often before the kind of so-called prosperity that affected only certain classes, certain kinds of business.

If millions continue out of employment, if many others have jobs so poor they can't make a decent living out of them, then the fact that stock prices are high and may be going higher, and that so-called "indices of trade" also are ascending do not mean anything to those who are in no position to dabble in stocks nor to indulge in any kind of trade beyond the nearest grocery store.

It is always possible to give business a "shot in the arm" by paying out billions of the people's dollars for that purpose. This makes those who receive the "shot" feel pretty fine for the time being, but even in their period of elation they probably have vague fear of "the morning after" that comes from mere stimulation whether the stimulant be liquor or cash.

We have had the sad experience more than once in this nation, but most notably in the late twenties, of a one-sided prosperity loudly acclaimed by those who were sharing in the good things of life for a short time.

We are hoping that the present boom will lead later to the real thing, but we also know it cannot be maintained forever by the reckless spending of the people's money. No prosperity can be permanent that is based upon the government's spending two dollars for each dollar of revenue it takes in.

You have heard the story of Noah, who, on looking out of the ark, declared the whole world was covered with water, and of the skeptic who said Noah could not see very far and that the dust might have been blowing across the roads 20 miles away. So those who are participating to some extent in the present little boom are limited of vision. They cannot see the millions a short distance from them who are as hard up as ever.

Maybe if the scandalous waste of the taxpayers' money were to be stopped at once, the somewhat better business conditions we now have might grow into something permanent of the same kind, but if so the nation will have to head itself quickly in the direction of a balanced budget, which merely means spending no more than we have to spend.

ABSENCE OF SENSE

The statement by Col. Knox that the business of this country cannot be run from Washington is self-evidently true, current belief among New Dealers to the contrary notwithstanding.

American business is far too varied, far too complicated and far too extensive geographically to be run by any federal government.

And if this were not so, three long years have shown that among those at present in control of things in Washington, there is neither business sense, nor common sense, nor any other sort of sense except political sense.

In other words, the two things requisite to the management of even a small successful business are utterly lacking, which alone is sufficient to explain why billions of the public money have been wasted without getting anywhere, except into debt.

Most of those elected or appointed to office in the national capitol got where they are because they have glib tongues; and a business executive needs a brain.

It is as ridiculous to think as Doc Tugwell and Henry Wallace that American business can be run by Washington as it is to think that American labor can be run by Washington. And as to agriculture, intelligent farmers now what sort of a mess Mr. Wallace and his aides have made of their attempt to regiment that.—Detroit Free Press.

President Roosevelt in his speech putting Boulder Dam in operation is quoted as stating that we must get the abundant life thru development of cheaper power. It must be admitted that this seems to be an improvement over getting abundance through destroying pigs and plowing the wheat under.

There really isn't any need for any American to go hungry. Canada is prepared, thru Cordell Hull's assistance, to ship us her last surplus bushel of grain and her last pound of beef and butter.

A missionary to the South Sea Islands reports that it is becoming increasingly difficult to keep the native women in clothing. Same over here, brother.—Washington Post.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

Not in the memory of man has there been a time, during the national campaign, when so many straw votes have been taken as in this year of 1936. The Literary Digest is no longer alone in this respect. Polls are taken by newspapers in the city and in the country, by periodicals of general circulation as well as farm journals and others of a specialized type.

Polls are of course highly speculative. A great deal of the percentage depends upon who is polled, no matter how fairly the test may be taken. The results of preliminary elections, primary and general, however, always speak for themselves, because they are participated in by the entire electorate.

It is the realization of this fact which has brought a throll of confidnece into the Republican camp during the past week or so. The election in Maine, no matter how many efforts are made to explain it away, after days of analysis, remains just the same. It was a sizeable victory.

Of course, Sen. White pulled through by less than 10,000 votes, which is not an old-time Maine plurality. But he was running against Gov. Brann, the most popular Democrat in the state. And even the most partisan Brain Truster could claim no New Deal moral victory here because Brann is not a New Dealer, and announced from the speaking platform that the New Deal was not an issue in this election in Maine.

The Republicans won the governorship by a handsome plurality which assumed old time proportions, although Barrows, the Republican candidate, was opposed by DuBord, who narrowly missed winning over the poular Sen. Fred Hale two years ago.

Even here, however, it might be maintained that the New Deal was not an issue because it was a state contest. But the case with the three congressional districts was an entirely different story. Here the Republicans won, and won handsomely on national issues. In each district the margin of victory was decisive. In the one supposedly close district, the G. O. P. rolled up an impressive majority, much greater than is the case in usual times.

The result in Maine, however, especially in the congressional fights, cannot be made anything but a sizeable Republican achievement. The Republican Congressional Committee at Washington played an important part in supporting and assisting the Maine candidates of the party and should be given due credit for a share in the results. The Republicans already have a net gain of two in the new Congress. The result in the Maine district would seem to indicate that there may be many Republican victories elsewhere in November.

There have been other tabulations, however, cheerful for the G. O. P. in the last week or so. The result of the Michigan primary is an outstanding Republican symptom. The decisive defeat of Senator Couzens, usually popular, running on an endorsement of Roosevelt, indicates that the New Deal may be on the wane in the automobile state. Besides the Republican total was much greater than the vote cast by the Democrats in the primaries. In Massachusetts, Wisconsin and other states having late primaries, the Republicans have reason to feel pleased over the number of G. O. P. voters who turned out. Regardless of all straw contests this real voting shows that there is something in the wind.

COCKEYED!

The administration considers it only common prudence at this time to keep a reserve fund of a billion dollars in the treasury for contingencies. No man can foresee what is going to happen in the world. Under such circumstances a stock of ready cash on hand is a wise anchor to windward. This is sound reasoning.

But what the administration does itself it refuses to allow to business. While it maintains a huge reserve fund against uncertain chances it stands ready to punish business if it sets up reserve funds against unforeseen contingencies.

Business holds likewise that it is only common prudence to maintain a reserve as an anchor to windward. But under the new income tax law if business sets up a reserve to meet accidents, or to provide for its debts or to renew or better its plant, or to be able to carry on over a dull period, the government will sieze part of that reserve, and a big part, as a penalty.

The administration would consider itself all lacking in foresight if it did not try to keep a reserve against uncertainties. This same administration refuses to allow business to exercise this same foresight under pain of heavy penalties.

Sec. Morgenthau's explanation of the administration's reserve policy is instructive. "The reserve," he says, "is the safest insurance we can carry for the American people should anything unforeseen occur."

True! And it is equally true that a reserve is the safest insurance business can carry, not only for those who have put their money into it but for all its workers who depend uopn its continuance.

The administration's reserve policy is all right, but, as Gov. Landon said, its tax policy on the reserves of business and industry is cockeyed.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The WPA foreman who was fired for using such strong language apparently called a spade a spade.—Omaha World-Herald.

SON OF F. D. R. DENIES CHARGE

Washington, Oct. 7.—A fierce dispute broke out today over a deposition, attributed to Anthony H. G. Fokker, airplane manufacturer, that Elliott Roosevelt, 25-year-old son of the president, contracted in 1934 to sell 50 military planes to Russia for a $500,000 commission.

Soon after aides of the senate munitions committee had sworn state munitions committee had sworn statement, which said the sale was never made because the price asked was to high, young Roosevelt denied he ever agreed to sell military planes to any government.

He contracted with Fokker, to represent the aviation man in the sale of commercial transport planes to private foreign corporations. There was a specific stipulation, he said, that he was not to sell to any government.

Dr. Charles Moore of Birmingham spent several days this week here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore.

ALABAMA WILL SELL GAS TAX WARRENTS

Plans had been completel Wednesday for the sale of $2,000,000 in state gasoline tax warrents with which to match federal aid funds for a $4,000,000 highway paving program, during which Alabama hopes to hard surface most of its through highways.

Gov. Gibb Graves said Wednesday the sale of warrents would begin immediately to match federal funds that have been avaiable for months. The matching method was provided by the Harrison act of the 1936 legislature, which authorizes the state highway department to set aside one-half cent of the state six-cent gasoline tax for matching purposes.

While federal funds are available to provide a $5,000,000 of program, Governor Graves said previous plans to sell $2,500,000 of warrents were abandoned because it would cause expenditures beyond his own administration. Under the law, the gasoline tax fund may be set aside for five years.

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

The Congregational church is being enlarged, and while the new addition is being made, all services usually held at the church will be held at the Thorsby Institute auditorium. Sunday school Sunday morning at 9:45; worship service at 11 o'clock. The young people's Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:30. There will be no evening service. Prayer meeting as usual on Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. A quarterly business meeting of the church will be held following prayer meeting. Choir rehearsal under the direction of Miss Kathryn Foss on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Thorsby Institute auditorium.

There will be regular services at the Baptist church Sunday, both morning and evening. Bro. Jones has tendered his resignation as pastor of the church having been called as full time pastor of Columbiana Baptist church, and he will deliver his last messages here on Sunday.

The Baptist social will be held this week, Thursday, October 8, at the home of Mrs. Leila Martin. Everyone is cordially invited.

Circle No. 1 of the W. M. U. met with Mrs. J. W. Jones Tuesday afternoon.

The Lutheran ladies aid will meet on Thursday, October 15, with Mrs. Ernie Hanson.

The boy scouts will meet at the city hall Friday night at 6:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cobern visited Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cobern of Mountain Creek Sunday.

Mr. M. M. Wyrosdick of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Johnson.

Messrs. J. A. Hayes, Charlie Hulsey, and Miss Elizabeth Austin visited Miss Austin's parents in Selma Sunday.

The home demonstration club will meet with Mrs. T. W. Robinson Wednesday, October 21.

Mrs. Mabel Taylor left Tuesday morning to spend a week in Birmingham with friends and relatives,

Mr. J. W. McCain spent the week end visiting his two daughters, Mrs. Johnnie Burnett of Wetumpka, and Mrs. Martin of Seman, Ala.

Thorsby Institute News

Next Friday night at 7:30 in the auditorium the Helen Keller Literary Society will give a program to which the public is invited. We hope you will come and enjoy the plays to be given. Admission will be 10 cents. Probably this year most of the programs will be given on Friday night instead of on Saturday.

On October 16 the clubs will meet. Interesting programs have been planned. These meetings are not open to the public.

A week from Saturday school will be held again. On October 22 and 23 the first term examinations will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. de Holl of Birmingham have recently sent several gifts to the school. Among them are a large mahogany book-case, several hundred good books, a Seth Thomas clock, pictures, a flag, Etc. Mrs. de Holl is a trustee of Thorsby Institute, and this evidence of her interest is very much appreciated.

Christian Endeavor News

On Saturday night from 7 to 9 o'clock, the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church held a social at the dining hall. Fred Blankenship was in charge of games. After the games, candy was served. The social closed with a hymn and prayer.

VERMONT P. T. A.

The P. T. A. of Vermont Jr., High School met Thursday night, October 1st, and reorganized. The P.-T. A. was called to order by singing after which, prayer by G. W. Sansom. Mr. J. D. Hopper made a very interesting talk about things which were for the best interest of the school.

With Mr. Hopper presiding as chairman, the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. C. S. Chandler; vice-president, Mrs. Archie L. Stroud; secretary, Miss Mayarie Wallace; reporter, Mrs. T. L. Ratliff; treasurer, Mr. J. D. Hopper.

The Isabella "Racketeers" are to put on a program here within a few days which will furnish plenty of laughts for every one. Watch the papers for the announcement of their entartainment.

The meeting of the P. T. A. next time will be on Thursday night before the first Sunday in November.

Parents, we are looking for you and for your cooperation. You owe it to the school, to your children, and to your self. So attend these meetings.

VERMONT SCHOOL NEWS

Although there is a look of disappointment because they could not begin with new text books, approximately 175 pupils have entered school and have settled down to work. About 25 have entered school for their first time. We hope that some needed measures will be taken to assure us of a full term, so that these beginners will not become discouraged because of a short term, as others heretofore have been. However, now every one is glad to be back in school with the expectation of accomplishing much this year.

The basket ball boys have been practicing for the past two weeks and we feel that they will be in shape soon to win several victories. The girls, as yet, have not had as much practice as the boys. The girls will be in excellent shape to win several victories.

As soon as every one catches up with their work, we expect to organize various kinds of Clubs that will be of interest to every one in school.

ISABELLA F. H. A.

The F. H. A. of the Isabella High School met last Wed. Sept. 31.

The officers for the coming year were elected. They are as following:

President, Frances Mims; vice-president, Lela Devaughn; secretary, Frances Kendrick; treasurer, Hazel Jones; reporter, Velma Conway;.

The president appointed the following Committees:

Program Committee

Gladys Turner, Lela Devaughn, Mary Charles Jones, and Marietta Foshee.

Social Committee

Sarah Calfe, Velma Conway, Mary Jo Suitt.

On next Wednesday October 7 they will render their first program of the year. They are striving hard toward making this year a great success.

Mrs. Willie Jones spent the week end with her son, Ralph Jones, in Birmingham.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

We read in Lamentations 3:27 that yoke, as the writer has often said, is not intended to add to the burden of an animal. The load of a life must be carried. No man can possibly pull life's heavy load without a yoke. When we "yoke up" with Jesus we have Omnipotence harnessed to God's load. Young people had just as well make up their minds that if they do not take on the yoke while they are young they will find it impossible to "carry on" when they are old. As president of the Bob Jones College we constantly drill into our students the idea of being able to "take it". We have made things too easy for American youth. Fathers and mothers permit their children to do as they please. Instead of putting the yoke on youth we have taken the harness off the human nature and have turned young people loose, so youth is running wild.

I have been in evangelistic work for a great number of years and I have been president of a college for almost ten years. I have learned that whenever a normal boy or girl goes wrong there is something the matter with the child's home life. In Bob Jones College we have never had any trouble with any normal boy or girl whose parents had the courage to make the child mind. One time we had a girl to enroll in the high school department of our college. She was fifteen years old. The girl was bright and attractive. Before coming to the college she had been smoking cigarettes. Our institution does not allow boys or girls to use tobacco in any form. The girl, of course, had to leave off her cigaretts when she came to our campus. She was nervous. She called her mother over the telephone and her mother came to the college. She gave her mother orders to take her home. The mother obeyed. If that girl winds up a wreck, the mother is to blame. It takes real courage and real character to be a real mother and dad who knows how to give orders and how to make their children obey rather than being obedient to their children. "Children, obey your parents". That is what the Bible teaches. Many modern parents must be reading it "Parents, obey your children".

This is but one of the many New Styles in GLASSES that can be made up to fit your features. See—

Rural Electrification

In Alabama

Rural Extensions Even During Depression Years

By E. C. Easter

CHAPTER III

THE following table will give you a picture of the extent to which rural electric service was widened by Alabama Power Company even during the depression years:

Date	No. of Rural Lines*
1923	14
1924	28
1925	52
1926	67
1927	126
1928	268
1929	416
1930 (depression year) an increase of 178 over 1929, to	594
1931 (depression year) an increase of 79 over 1930, to	673
1932 (depression year) an increase of 47 over 1931, to	720
1933 (depression year) an increase of 46 over 1932, to	766
1934 (depression year) an increase of 91 over 1933, to	857
1935 an increase of 120 over 1934, to	977
1936 (August) an increase of 169 in 8 months, to	1146

*The number of rural lines includes those originally constructed as rural lines, but later changed to urban.

From the above it will be seen that there has never been a serious let-up in the construction of rural lines by Alabama Power Company, although in the depth of the depression, due to shrinkage of the amount of money available for the extension of electric service and, likewise, the hesitation of prospective customers to purchase electrical equipment for their homes and farms, there was some slowing up—as in the expansion of practically every other business.

Within the past two or three years the Federal Government has become interested in Rural Electrification as a part of the Recovery Program and in the interest of providing electric service to more farms. The Government's rural electrification activities have been conducted by the CWA, FERA and the Federal Rural Electrification Administration.

CHAPTER IV

Federal and State Agencies Express Appreciation for Alabama Power Co-operation

In 1934 the Company co-operated with the CWA in making surveys of several counties in Alabama, by furnishing maps of the counties, showing the Company's lines, surveys of prospective lines, and information pertaining to the Company's rural customers in those counties. Representatives of the Company assisted in every way possible in making the surveys.

Early in 1935, the Alabama Relief Administration started a statewide Rural Electrification survey. At its request the Company co-operated by furnishing maps showing the Company's lines in every county in which it operates, and by furnishing lists of more than 2,000 miles of prospective rural lines of which the Company had made surveys to study the possibility of serving. The Company's Agricultural Engineers and other employees co-operated in this work.

Subsequently the Federal Rural Electrification Administration was organized, and shortly thereafter the Alabama Rural Electrification Authority, with Mr. Gordon Persons, of Montgomery, as its head. In April of 1935 the Company submitted to the State Rural Electrification Authority, at the request of Mr. Persons, a list of completed surveys of prospective rural line projects, consisting of 181 projects in 51 counties to extend over 849 miles, expected to serve 3,981 prospective customers, and involving an estimated construction cost of nearly one and a half million dollars. This was done at a meeting where, among others, a TVA representative was present.

The Company later in the year co-operated further with the Relief Administration by employing persons from the relief rolls on such work as they were capable of doing, in its construction of additional rural lines.

Numerous conferences were held with State and Federal Rural Electrification representatives. At all times Alabama Power Company furnished all information that was requested of it, and expressed its sincere desire to co-operate with any agency in a further expansion of electric service to the rural and farm citizens of the State.

In the meantime the Company's rural line construction was increasing, due to increased requests for service, and on September 4th, 1935, the Company approved for construction a list of rural lines throughout the State with a total of 850 miles of line. Such list was carried in news items of many of the newspapers of the State. The Company received numerous expressions of appreciation for its progressive policy in this respect from the Alabama Public Service Commission, the State Rural Electrification Authority and officials of the Federal Rural Electrification Administration.

IN THE MEANTIME, WHAT HAPPENED?

These startling facts will be related in our next advertisement, to be published in this newspaper at an early date—Adv. Alabama Power Company.

This advertisement is the second of a series which has also been printed in booklet form. T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, Birmingham will cheerfully send a copy to any interested person requesting it.

THE DAILY MAIL

It is not what comes nor goes in the daily mail that counts so much as what one keeps, resulting from the daily mail. Sometimes we are busy and neglect to send the messages that of times bring joy to our many friends—again we are prone to discard the messages that come our way. The good old writing days seem on the wane, when both business and courtships were succesfully carried on, and it seems so rare to find the person here or there who fills his letters with that handwriting rare, the sum and substance is seldom longer prepared.

Today's mail coming in tells me all the newest plays and stories, and their merits. It brings requests from the country fair, it asks for service from the new worker, too, and it opens new channels and shows the way to cope with pleasant situations, and shows one how they pay. It brings the news in general, and makes some offers, too. It makes one feel much better getting news each day.

But it isn't fair to do all the getting without giving. Let's be as good as the sender, and give them as good as they send. I recall with pleasure today's mail from a friend. Our mail is sort of different in that we exchange thoughts and ideas for our scrap books, and you, too, perhaps, would like to know just what she sends. This time it is the old story, "Idle Tales", as follows:

"If you are tempted to reveal a tale someone has told you about another, make it pass, before you speak, three gates of gold: 'Is it true'; 'Is it needful?' 'Is it kind?' And if to reach your lips at last it passes through these three gateways, then you may tell, nor ever fear what the result of speech may be."

The little message sent her in return is one of the card of thanks for the departure shower given me before leaving, in which she played a part. It reads:

"Now that the day is over and night comes stealing o'er the way,
Here's a message of joy and comfort, of thanks both happy and gay.
Howe'er sweet the gift, yet the giver is the treasure I deem,
For your friendship is priceless forever, and your rays are gems, it seems.
So here's thanks for your friendship so beautiful, so loyal and true,
You are untarnished metal, which is pure through and through.
So now I lock you safely in the depths of my chest,
That I may greet and keep you along with the very best."

—Meta Elizabeth Grace.

CANE CREEK

There will be services at Cane Creek next Saturday and Sunday, preaching by Rev. E. A. Norris, our pastor.

Preaching at 11 o'clock Saturday. Sunday school at 10 o'clock Sunday. Preaching at 11. Prayer meeting on Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

Saturday nad Sunday are our last services in this associational year, so we urge all members to be present at all services. Bring money, flour, sugar, coffee, syrup, or anything in this line, as it will be the same as money to Rev. E. A. Norris. Let's help him, as he has helped us.

We are glad to report that Bro. Bud Williamson is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Weldon visited Mr. and Mrs. Bud Williamson Sunday.

Mr. Virgil Robinson, of Auburn, visited our Sunday school last Sunday. We were glad to have him with us, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Giles. We invite them back again.—Reporter.

Lesson for October 11

BECOMING A CHRISTIAN

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:22-34, Philippians 3:7-16.

GOLDEN TEXT—Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.—Acts 16:31.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Happy Prisoners.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Heroes in Prison.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How May I Become a Christian.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Become a Christian.

The conversion of Lydia and her gracious growth into usefulness as a Christian is in striking contrast with the experience that Paul had with the demon-possessed damsel (Acts 16:16-18). A satanic power of divination had made her profitable to unscrupulous men. Such men have not perished from the earth, and there are still those who make merchandise of silly and sinful women.

Paul commands the demon to come out of her and at once the issue is drawn.

I. Christianity versus Crooked Business (Acts 16:22-24).

As long as the missionaries were at the place of prayer and in the home of Lydia they were not disturbed. But as soon as they touched the illegitimate gain of these "business" men who were making money from the misfortune of the poor damsel, bitter opposition arose.

Cunningly combining the plea of false patriotism and anti-Semitism with the ever-potent argument that business was being hindered, they raised a hue and cry which resulted in the beating and imprisonment of Paul and Silas (Acts 16:14-21).

We live in another century, but men are the same. Let the church and its members only go through the motions of formal service and present a powerless religious philosophy, and the world will applaud and possibly support its activities. But let the pungent power of the gospel go out through its life and ministry, and deliver devil-possessed men and women, let its God-given grace expose the hypocrisy and wickedness of men and there will soon be opposition.

II. Down, but not defeated (vv. 25, 26).

The preachers landed in jail, beaten, bloody, and chained to the stocks. What a disgrace it would have been if they had come there because of their misdeeds. How ashamed we are when professed Christian leaders sin and fall into the hands of the law.

But "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake" (Matt. 5:10). Little wonder that they forgot their bruises and their chains and began to sing and pray, even at midnight.

Note that "the prisoners were listening to them." The words we speak, the songs we sing, our every action, speak either for God or against Him. "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

As they pray God speaks, chains fall away, prison doors open. Men can lock doors; God shakes them open.

The jailer, cruel and bold when he put them into prison, but now in fear, is about to kill himself. But God has better thoughts concerning him. Paul cries out, "Do thyself no harm" and he experiences

III. Salvation Instead of Suicide (vv. 27-34).

Thank God for the earthquakes in our lives which bring us to him.

The jailer, being rightly exercised by God's dealings with him, asks the greatest and most important question that can ever come out of the heart of unregenerate man—"What must I do to be saved?" Reader, have you asked this question? Then you, too, are ready for the answer, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

The closing verses of our lesson present the personal testimony of Paul that he had surrendered

IV. All for Christ (Phil. 3:7-14).

All was but loss to him compared with what he gained in Christ. We speak of surrendering all for Christ, but as a matter of fact we lose only what is of no real value and make infinite gain.

Paul, as are all great followers of Jesus Christ, was a "one thing" man. All that he had or was or hoped to be, every ounce of energy and love, went into his pressing "toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Independence of Opinions

It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after out own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Overcoming Desires

I count him braver who overcomes his desires than him who conquers his enemies; for the hardest victory is the victory over self.—Aristotle.

Safer!

...THAN YOUR OWN HOME

In eighteen years the L&N has carried nearly 200 million passengers and not a single passenger has lost his life in an L & N train accident!

Back of this splendid record in the conservation of human life are millions of dollars invested in automatic block signals, and other safety devices of the latest improved types; millions spent in double-tracking, straightening curves and improving roadbeds; millions in heavier rails and all-steel equipment; millions spent in making the L & N the safest form of transportation, public or private, your money can buy.

Safer than your own home! That's what insurance statistics show. That's what the L & N promises and proves.

L & N RATES ARE NOW LOWEST IN HISTORY

Before you consider any means of travel, note these new low L & N passenger rates. In coaches: 1½¢ per mile. In Pullman Cars: 2¢ per mile, round trip, limit 15 days; 2½¢ per mile, round trip, limit 6 months; 3¢ per mile, one way. These rates are exclusive of Pullman charges. All cars of most through trains and sleeping and dining cars of many other L & N trains are air-conditioned.

New Store To Open Up In Clanton Soon

Levine Brothers Will Occupy Old Dollar Stand With A Line of Fine Brand New Merchandise.

Clanton is to have a new store which will be owned and operated by Messrs. I. S. Levine, former manager of Mazer's, and Sol Levine, both of Clanton. The new store, according to Mr. I. S. Levine, will handle only high grade lines of merchandise, and will cater to the best trade in this territory.

The building, former stand of the Dollar Store, next to Big Four Hardware Company, is being put into shape for the new business this week. Complete announcement of the opening will be in the papers next week.

Since coming to Clanton two years ago, Mr. I. S. Levine has made for himself a host of friends. He is a most agreeable man to do business with, and he always meets his friends and customers with a cheerful greeting.

The Union-Banner is glad for Levine Brothers to go into business here for themselves. They are both regular fellows, and the kind who make for better conditions and business relations for our city.

Watch for the announcement of the opening of the business in next week's papers.

COOSA COUNTY REPUBLICANS IN CLANTON LAST SATURDAY

Two good Republicans of our near neighbor county, Coosa, were in the Union-Banner office last Saturday to renew their subscriptions and talk a bit of politics. These men were Mr. Leo Hull and Mr. E. B. Bonnett, both of Titus.

Both the gentlemen took home some of the Republican literature to distribute to unbelievers, and expressed the wish that their county could have a Republican organization.

We believe fellows like these, who stand firm, even when surrounded by Democrats who daily preach to them the doctrine of the New Deal, must surely be "the salt of the earth". The men stated that, although the most of their neighbors were Democrats, they were of the Jeffersonian variety, rather than the New Deal stripe.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION HERE FRIDAY NIGHT, OCTOBER 23

There will be a fiddlers convention at the courthouse in Clanton Friday night, October 23rd, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by Clanton Grammar school. A long list of prizes will be offered the contestants.

All fiddlers who wish to compete for the prizes should see or write Prof. U. H. Abrams at an early date. A small admission will be charged at the door.

MAZER'S OFFERING LARGE ARRAY OF FINE MERCHANDISE

Mazer's store in Clanton is now under new management, and is offering exceptional bargins in fine seasonable merchandise. The store is being run along the same lines that it has been for the past, and old friends are always invited to visit Mazer's. That progressive store also wants to make new friends at all times.

JULIUS SMITH ATTENDING MOTOR-PATROLMAN SCHOOL

Mr. Julius Smith, former deputy sheriff of Chilton county, is now attending the training school in Montgomery for Highway patrolmen. The course lasts for a few days, and then Mr. Smith expects to get a job on the highways of the State as patrolman.

U. S. FARMS NOT PRODUCING OUR NEEDS, STUDY REVEALS

New York, Oct. 14.—Approximately 70 per cent of America's increase in farm imports since 1932 is due to the failure of farms in this country to produce enough for local conusmption. This is revealed in a current bulletin of the Agricultural Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers discussing the American market and the American farmer.

Between 1932, the low point for agricultural imports, and 1935, farm imports increased $524,516,000, or 61.2 per cent, the bulletin pointed out.

"It is significant," it said, "that the unit values (prices) of all imports increased from 1932 to 1935 an average of only 16.3 per cent. If this applied to all agricultural imports, then the quantity of farm imports increased nearly 50 per cent.

"Perhaps 70 per cent of the total increase in imports in 1935 over 1932 was due to the decrease in domestic production and the imports were called for to provide in part for domestic requirements. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimates that our volume of home grown agricultural products decreased from an index of 100.0 in 1924-1929 and 100.0 in 1932 to 97.0 in 1933, 91.0 in 1934, and 91.0 in 1935, indicating that imports in 1936 will exceed those of 1935 or we shall have less products to satisfy our wants."

The committee of business men, under the chairmanship of Lewis H. Brown, president of the Johns-Manville Corp., is engaged in a study of agriculture to furnish manufacturers with a better appreciation of agricultural economics and a more sympathetic understanding of farm problems. Results of its studies are reported in weekly bulletins to business men throughout the country.

EDUCATOR ASSAILS UN-AMERICAN ACTS

Easton, Pa., Oct. 14. — A plea for a return to the system of individual effort that made America great was voiced by Dr. Williams Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, at the opening convocation here.

Speaking to the assembled students, Dr. Lewis urged the development in college ideals of courage, industry and independence. Intellectual competence cannot be attained by the mentally lazy," he warned. "Unwillingness to toil, to achieve through individual effort, as was the custom when America was the wonder of the 19th century, is painfully apparent. In its place is the attitude that the world or the United States government or the municipality owes one a living.

"That people actually in need should be provided with the means of subsistence goes without saying. But that there is a very great number of people developing habits of shiftlessness and laziness and a cynical attitude toward honest labor because of participation in government bounty is likewise obvious.

"The abundant life of which we have heard so much recently does not come to those who have all obstacles removed from their paths by others. It develops from within and is rooted in strong mental and moral fiber."

SEND IN NEWS EARLY

There is lots of news that comes in to The Union-Banner Tuesday that could just as well be written and sent in Friday or Saturday of the previous week. Where such is possible, please help out the publishers by getting your copy in just as early as possible. If the article is of such nature that it can be written and turned in Friday or Saturday, then greatly oblige us by doing it then instead of waiting.

We will more than likely be in a rush for the next several weeks, and will need the cooperation of our friends. You can greatly facilitate the publishing of the paper by getting your copy in early. We are depending on you from now on.

LANDON SAYS NEW DEAL CENSORS NEWS SOURCES

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 6. — A demand that WPA payrolls be opened to newspaper inspection was linked by Gov. Alf M. Landon at a press conference today to an assertion that the New Deal was censoring news sources.

"Censorship of the source of news is just as bad as censorship of news," the Republican presidential candidate said. "That is what we have now—censorship of the source of news."

The nominee was talking in a press conference where he also reaffirmed his support of the St. Lawrence seaway project. Landon was asked by reporters to comment on a statement by Harry L. Hopkins that WPA records were open "to anybody who has a legitimate reason to see them." The WPA administrator, in turn, was replying to a demand by John G. Stutz, Kansas relief director, for figures on state WPA administrative costs.

"Harry L. Hopkins has shut off the source of news," Landon said as he laid down the pen with which he had been signing mail. "I think WPA records are public business and the information should be made available to any newspaper."

OPEN HUNTINNG SEASONS FOR GAME IN CHILTON COUNTY

Mr. A. R. Lightsey, game warden, announces the new law on the hunting of game in Chilton County. The hunter can legally kill 10 squirrels a day, and the open season is November 20 through January 31. The bag limit of quail is 12 a day, and the open season is November 20 through February 20.

Turkey gobblers may be killed, one a day, limit of five a season, and the dates are November 20 through December 31, and March 15 through April 15. Twenty doves a day may be taken, beginning November 20 and going through January 31.

Mr. Lightsey urges all sportsmen to observe these laws in hunting the game of Chilton County. Game laws are intended as a protection to the game so that hunters next year and the next may have the same pleasure of taking game that we do this year. The laws are intended to help those who hunt rather than be a hindrance to hunters.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION TO MEET AT MONTGOMERY OCTOBER 13-15

The movement to complete a million dollar temperance educational fund throughout the nation is being successfully inaugurated under the auspices of the national W. C. T. U. The fund will be devoted to the creation of up-to-date temperance educational presentations in movie films, for radio broadcasts, press material, using scientific facts in striking form, by billboards, posters, and literature for general distribution to all classes. Each is to have an honorary committee of two outstanding citizens to sponsor this work. Dr. Seale Harris and Mrs. J. E. Penny constitute the committee from Alabama.

The Alabama W. C. T. U. will make plans to complete its share of this fund at the annual convention to be held in Montgomery on October 13-15. Hoy T. Miller of New York will have a prominent place on the convention program on Wednesday, October 14. He will help plan ways and means whereby the fund can be completed.

Republican Speaking At Courthouse Saturday A.M.

Hon. James B. Sloan To Address Citizens At 10:30 O'clock. Meetings Next Week At Cooper, Freeman and Providence

On the roster of Republican speakings for the next few days comes that of Hon. James B. Sloan, of Oneonta, who will address the citizens at the courthouse in Clanton Saturday morning, October 17th, at 10:30 o'clock. This speaking was slated for the morning part of the day on account of the days being short at this time of the year. The Devaughn quartet will sing before and after the speaking. Everybody set your pegs to be in Clanton by 10:30 Saturday morning.

Then, there are three speakings next week; on Tuesday night, October 20. Judge J. O. Middleton will speak at Cooper schoolhouse; Thursday night he will be at Vermont up on the line of Beat 2 and 14; and on Friday night, October 23rd, the meeting will be held at Providence schoolhouse, Beat 16. The Devaughn quartet will attend at all of these meetings. There will likely be other speakers at some of these meetings, but you may rest assured that a good speaker will be present at every place. Citizens of nearby Beats are urged to attend; all are invited.

DR. EZELL WILL RETURN FOR SERVICES SUNDAY

A card from Dr. S. J. Ezell, who has been in Havana, Fla., conducting a revival for the past week, says that he will be home Thursday of this week. He adds: "Having a great meeting, with 13 additions through Sunday night. Enjoying the stay with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson. This is a great tobacco center; a real fine town with five miles of paving. I will fill my appointments at home Sunday and Sunday night.—S. J. Ezell."

RELIEF SPENDING IS UP 30 PER CENT

Washington, Oct. 10. — Estimating the government spent $585,000,000 for relief between July 1 and Sept. 30, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States today said this was 30 per cent more than in the same period last year.

In its bi-weekly review of national business affairs, the chamber added relief expenditures would exceed $2,300,000,000 for the fiscal year which began July 1 if the present rate is maintained.

It pointed out that only $1,600,000,000 was allocated for such costs in the federal budget, and said that an additional appropriation of not more than $500,000,000, mentioned as a possibility by President Roosevelt recently, would be insufficient if present spending continued.

The chamber's estimate of outlays for the first quarter of this fiscal year included money spent for the CCC, but not outlays for the PWA, or certain other federal construction.

The volume of relief spending was characterized by the review as "disappointing" in view of increasing business activity and reemployment. The chamber estimated at least 7,000,000 men had gone back to work since the low point of the depression.

NEW DEALERS UNDER FIRE OF SEN. COPELAND OF N. Y.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Soaring food prices and a rising national debt have crystallized a growing resentment for the Nw Deal and its "socio-economic" objectives, Sen. Royal S. Copeland, New York Democrat, declared in an interview here today.

Sweeping victory for Gov. Alf M. Landon in New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and possibly Indiana, was predicted by the New Yorker.

Landon's chances are very bright, he declared, adding:

"Roosevelt could carry the state of New York only by a miracle. Farmers in the state resent New Deal proposals of farm relief.

"They talk about the 4,800-million dollar relief bill helping the Democrats. Why, it is actually hurting them. The people are resentful of the high wages paid men and women on relief while the average worker in industry has to labor long and hard and in some cases for less money.

"There is growing fear that radical changes, either through legal changes or by appointments, will be made in the Supreme Court. That, too, will play an important part in the campaign which soon will close.

"Another issue will be the national debt. Think of it. Next year the federal government must pay out one billion dollars in interest payments alone. The figure is becoming staggering."

Communism also will be an issue in the next few weeks, Copeland said, although he declared he did not know what form the issue would take.

Copeland, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee and an outstanding physician, broke with the New Deal two years ago. He said he resents the strong centralization of government authority advocated by the present Democratic administration.

Before the campaign ends Copeland will take the stump against the New Deal, according to his friends here. If he pursues this course he will be following the footsteps of his friend and political ally, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who already has announced he will make several addresses against the Roosevelt administration.

ITS A GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Devaughn are the proud parents of a six-lb. girl born Monday, Oct. 5. They have named her Joyce Ann. Both mother and baby are doing fine.

PROF. VARNELL DOING FINE WORK WITH YOUNG FOLKS HERE

The Baptist Young Peoples Union, Prof. J. B. Varnell, director, had charge of services at Clanton Baptist church last Sunday night. Their regular night's program was presented in the auditorium before a few spectators.

The children did their parts well, which goes to show that they have an interest in the work before them, and also shows that their leader, Prof. Varnell, is spending some time in coaching the young people.

The program presented Sunday night consisted of: Two hymns, responsive reading; the Juniors presented the topic "Good Winners and Good losers," under their leader, Miss Morton; offertory; the intermediates presented their topic: "Jacob, a Prince of God Prevailing in Prayer." The various sub-topics assigned to the different members were discussed in a fine way.

After the hymn, "God will take care of you," the benediction was pronounced.

The members of the church should give Prof. Varnell and the other leaders their full support in this work they are doing among our young people.

LANDON LEADING ROOSEVELT IN LITERARY DIGEST POLL

At the end of the 7th week of the Literary Digest nation-wide poll, Alf M. Landon is leading President Roosevelt in 32 states, while Roosevelt has the other 16. Lemke, Union party candidate, does not lead in a single state.

The 32 Landon states give the Kansan 370 electoral votes, while the 16 Roosevelt states give 161; 266 are required to elect.

Landon's popular vote among the whole number is 55.4 per cent of the total, Roosevelt has 40.1 per cent, and Lemke 3.4 per cent.

However, of the popular vote divided between the two major candidates, Landon has 57.9 per cent, and Roosevelt 42.1 per cent, a 15.8 per cent lead.

In short, this is the standing between Roosevelt and Landon. Landon has 1,004,086 to 728,088 in popular votes, an approximate 4 to 3 lead. Electoral votes, Landon 370, and Roosevelt 161, over 2 to 1. And by states, Landon 32 and Roosevelt 16, an exact 2 to 1 lead.

IN BIRMINGHAM BAPTIST HOSPITAL

Mrs. Jean Wyatt who underwent a serious operation in the Birmingham Baptist Hospital last Thursday a.m., is now much improved, according to late reports. It will be several days yet though before she will be able to come home.

THIS PAPER IS 44 THIS WEEK

If The Union-Banner were a qualified elector, it would not have to pay but one more poll tax, since it has reached its 44th milestone this week. With this record behind it, we imagine The Banner has had a life of longer uninterrupted activity than any businses concern in Chilton County. The old reliable Peoples Savings Bank can boast of its 35 years of service to the people of Clanton and Chilton County, but The Banner goes this thriving institution nine years better, so far as age is concerned. Of course, in the matter of financial growth, the comparison would not be so much in The Banner's favor.

One funny thing about The Banner's birthday is that it comes in the same week as that of its former editor, W. M. Wyatt, now at Montevallo; and more than that, the first issue of The Banner came off the press just one day ahead of the birth of the above named party.

And, on this occasion, the present management cannot refrain from reflecting a little over the past, and review the splendid cooperation we have enjoyed at the hands of the business concerns of Clanton and Chilton County and of our people generally. You have stood by us nobly, and our hope is only that we have partly merited such support. We hope to do business with you for many years to come.

U. S. FORECLOSES ON 31,000 FARMS

Washington, Oct. 14.—The federal government now owns nearly 31,000 farms. In disclosing this fact recently, federal officials explained that the farms all were acquired by foreclosures resulting from the failure of owners to pay back federal loans.

On June 30, the last date for which figures were available, the total farm properties owned by the government stood at 30,257. Officials said there had been additional foreclosures since then.

The number of farm properties owned by the government has risen from 6,641 in 1929 to 22,960 in 1934.

Approximately 22 per cent of the government-held mortgages are in default, but officials say new loans are being made, in some cases even to previous defaulters.

Appraisals of some farms, it is reported, makes their re-sale difficult for they mortgaged for more than the post-foreclosure value.

REPUBLICAN LITERATURE AND SUNFLOWERS

The Union-Banner has on hand an abundance of literature sent out by the Republican National Committee, and a lot of sunflower buttons, all of which we wish distributed to the people of Chilton County. There is enough for every home in the county; so we invite you to come by our office and get a supply for yourself and for your neighbor.

Do not pass this up, but come and get this literature. We have not got enough money to mail it out, so you will have to call here for it. It is free for the asking.

COST OF LIVING RISES SHARPLY

Study By John Flynn Shows General Insrease Of 20 Per Cent

New York — A dollar, which was worth 100 cents in 1933 is only worth 71 cents now in food, 80 cents in rent and 81 cents in clothing. This is revealed by John T. Flynn, writing for the Scripps-Howard service after a recent study on the rise in living costs.

The figures are averages for the whole country, the author points out, adding that the price increase varies in different sections. The general price rise in all items included in the cost of living budget since 1933 has amounted to 20 percent.

Food leads the list with highest increase, followed by rent and clothing. Food and rent costs are still mounting. Among the food costs meat has been particulary active in the upward trend. The price of meats has risen from 80 to 100 or more per cent.

SPECIAL MEETING AT CLANTON M. E. CHURCH

There will be a great meeting for all adult members of the church on Friday night, October 23rd, at 7:00 o'clock.

An interesting program will be rendered. There will be recreation and refreshments. Come.

DR. ALONZA J. MARLAR

The funeral of Dr. Alonza J. Marlar, 85, one of the oldest practicing physicians in the state, who died Saturday after a long illness, was held Sunday at 3 p.m., from the Billingsley Baptist church, with the Rev. Grady Williams officiating. Buriel was in the church cemetery, with Martin and Sons in charge.

Widely known in the Billingsley section, Dr. Marlar had been a member of the Baptist church for more than 50 years. He was also a member of the Masonic lodge.

Surviving are his widow and seven children: Mrs. Willis Lawrence, Eoline, Ala.; C. A. and L. A. Marlar, Billingsley; M. C. Marlar, Tuscaloosa; Mrs. T. W. Willis, Trenton, Ga.; Mrs. Mary Lou Wonder, and Mrs. J. C. Hughes, Billingsley.

Dr. Marlar was well known and beloved by many people in the southern part of Chilton County.

Masonic services were held at the grave.

FEDERAL AID TO GINNERS

Chilton County ginners have received $2,774 for assistance they rendered the Bankhead Cotton Control Law, according to figures received by J. W. Fant, County agent, for the State Agricultural Conservation headquarters. Other ginners of the county are still to receive $467.75 for their extra trouble in keeping records, issuing certificates and tagging bales under the law.

Figures through August 31 show that 822 ginners of the state had received $176,863.25 and that 286 others were still due $63,102.75. The payments amount to 25 cents per bale for the extra trouble and expense of ginning the 1935 cotton crop.

BUSINESS LICENSES DELINQUENT NOV. 1ST

Mr. Howard Roper, license inspector for Chilton county, calls our attention to an error in the annoucement about license delinquent dates. The delinquent date for business licenses is November 1st, instead of November 15th, as are automobile licenses.

Please take note of this and be governed accordingly.

Big Sum For Schools Paid By Power Co.

$359,220.38 Paid Educational Fund on Kilowatt Hour Assessments.

Thomas W. Martin, President of the Alabama Power Company, today delivered to the State Tax Commision, the check of the Company for $359,220.38, in payment of the hydro-electric kilowatt hour taxes assessed for the State Educational Trust Fund. These taxes this year are the largest in the history of the Company, and approximately $30,000 more than 1935. In delivering the check Mr. Martin stated that the Company was pleased that these special taxes would be used for education, and that the total taxes paid by the Company during the past year were approximately $2,000,000, of which over $1,000,000 went into school funds. On the basis of previous distribution of the educational trust fund, it appears that from this payment the various counties of the state will receive for elementary and high schools $203,000, and the state institutions of higher education $131,000, the remaining $25,000 going for other state educational expense. Among the larger beneficiaries are: Teachers College $20,000, Alabama College $13,000, Alabama Polytechnic Institute $37,500, University of Alabama $24,000. Some of the large distributions to counties are as follows: Jefferson County $14,500, DeBalb County $6,600, Lauderdale County $4,700, Marion County $6,300, Marshall County $5,800, Walker County $7,100, Crenshaw County $5,200, Etowah County $7,500.

The payment of $40,000 by the Tennessee Valley Authority to the State of Alabama, and the possible additional payment of $10,000 more, recently noted in the press, appears to cover the total amount to be paid by TVA to the State in 1936, in lieu of taxes, and may be compared with approximately $2,500,000 in taxes paid by Alabama Power Company during the last year. TVA pays no Federal, County, of Municipal taxes of any kind, nor does it pay any special taxes to the State for schools, such as the kilowatt hour taxes of $358,220 paid by Alabma Power Company to-day.

FIREMEN'S BALL HELD HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The firemen of Clanton enjoyed a ball last Wednesday night, October 7, at their compartment at the City Hall. The principal attraction was a chicken barbecue, at which the policemen, mayor, and highway patrolmen were invited guests. L. E. Diefenderfer acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

All of the firemen, 16 in number, were present and enjoyed the festivities of the evening, which began at 8 o'clock and continued for over an hour.

Sometimes we think that Clanton probably does not think enough of its firemen and what that organization of young men means to us. It is hard to estimate their real value, unless we were forced to be without them for a while, and the people of our city should never forego the opportunity of showing them that we appreciate their efforts. They do not get much pay for their work, but they are loyal to duty just the same as if they did get paid well. Let us show them our appreciation at every opportunity.

PREPARING FOR SALES TAX UNDER ANOTHER NAME

Birmingham, Ala. Oct. 12.—Reports from Montgomery that the state administration is building its fences for a one and one half per cent gross receipts tax in lieu of a straight sales tax, today brought from both the Birmingham and Montgomery offices of the Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association of Alabama the emphatic assertion the levy will never be if it is within the power of public opinion to prevent it.

Jeff P. Beeland, president of the state anti-sales tax organization, and who recently was turned down by the governor in his suggestion that the voters be allowed to express themselves on the subject in the November election as a "guide post" for the cheif executive said:

"We are not surprised, but disappointed, that the governor and his followers appearently are determined, despite the overwhelming public opinion to the contrary, to find some way to increase the state's burden of taxes.

"Is is entirely apparent to those of us who have followed this fight, that the gross receipts tax is being resorted to in an effort to make the people believe they will not have to pay. The fallacy of such an argument should be apparent to all our people. We maintain, and we know, that whatever name the administration chooses for its proposed new tax, it will be and can be nothing less than a sales tax—at least that is exactly what it amounts to.

"We are calling upon our organization in every county of the state to call upon their representatives, and demand of them that they live absolutely up to their pledge. The people of the state will not stand for a new tax, whatever the nature of that tax, in the face of daily reports from Montgomery of an ever increasing tide of tax money flowing into the state's coffers."

SO MR. ROOSEVELT WILL KEEP US OUT OF WAR, WILL HE?

After deep study of their crystal ball, the New Deal seers are now circulating one of the slickest myths yet offered to a trusting public.

It is, in brief, that the mercurial, impulsive, unstable Roosevelt is more likely to keep us out of war than the cool, careful, canny Landon.

Mr. Roosevelt himself has added a few deft touches to the legend that, when it comes to foreign affairs, he is "the master mind".

At Chautauqua, N. Y., on August 14, he made an eloquent speech, including the priceless sentence: "I hate war."

Well, who doesn't? Especially those who were in the last one.

Certainly Mr. Roosevelt hates war. But the record of his hasty, shifting, ill-considered moves abroad seems to most thoughtful Americans the flimsiest kind of guaranty that he is fitted to keep us out of it.

What is that record?

1.—Foremost in it is his impetuous torpedoing of the London "stabilization" conference in 1933.

Whatever you think about currency stabilization, it is plain that the Roosevelt stunt effectively blocked it for three years. Meanwhile the president fiddled around with the gold theories of the Cornell farm expert, Prof. Warren; dropped them; put out rubber dollars instead, and woke up this week to find that France had turned the stabilization trick.

Yet, we're told, in foreign affairs Mr. Roosevelt is the master mind.

2.—His recognition of Russia in return for certain "advantages"—trade and otherwise — from that country. Russia got its recognition. Our exports to Russia since have averaged $20,000,000 a year—about half of our exports to Spain. In short, we're holding the bag.

Yet, we're told, in foreign affairs Mr. Roosevelt is the master mind.

3.—His determination to revise the Panama Treaty to boost his Good Neighbor policy in South America.

Military and naval experts, muzzled during the Senate hearings, feel that such revision will imperil the safety of the canal, which is the lifeline of the U. S. navy between the two oceans in war time.

Yet, we're told, in foreign affairs Mr. Roosevelt is the master mind.

4.—His administration's attempt to horn into the British-Italian dispute last year with oil sanctions.

The American people halted that risky gamble by their protesas, knowing that it might well explode the whole European powder magazine. The administration had to back down.

Yet, we're told, in foreign affairs Mr. Roosevelt is the master mind.

There's much more that could be added to this chronicle of impulsive butting-in on dangerous ground oversea. One of the most amazing was the "trial balloon" sent up in the New York Times recently for a conference between Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and similar pacifists — at which Mr. Roosevelt was to reason sweetly with these peace doves and persuade them all to love one another from now on.

This charming but childish pipe dream was promptly disavowed just as soon as it dawned on the New Dealers that the public would laugh it to death.

Yet—the scheme was advanced.

And yet, we're told, in foreign affairs Mr. Roosevelt is the master mind and his giddy maneuvers are better calculated to keep us out of trouble than Gov. Landon's clear, cool, cautious common sense.

Well, you be the judge. Stack the Roosevelt "master mind" myth up gainst the Roosevelt record.

Look them over.

Then take your choice.

Rural Electrification
IN ALABAMA
In the Meantime, What Happened?

By E. C. Easter

CHAPTER V

DURING the time Alabama Power Company was earnestly cooperating with the several State and Federal rural electrification agencies, and extending its service to thousands of rural customers during 1935, the Alabama Rural Electrification Authority requested a wholesale rate for service to electric membership corporations.

This Company stated that it willingly would supply electric current at wholesale to such groups and during the year Alabama Public Service Commission approved a low wholesale rate at which the Company was to supply such electric co-operative groups.

In the Meantime, TVA Begins "Raiding"

Immediately upon the appearance in the newspapers of the list of rural lines that the Company had approved for construction, the Tennessee Valley Authority began efforts to interfere with the Company's effort to build the lines particularly in the counties outside the area in which the Company had contracted to sell its lines to the TVA.

First: Officials and representatives of TVA made trips through the area, making speeches, expressing their intention to extend electricity to the farmers, and explaining the low rates and the huge success of their service in Alcorn County, Mississippi.

Second: Promoting the organization of County Membership Corporations, in the name of which the TVA agents conduct their activities, to discredit the Power Company and promote its raiding activities further into the market areas of the Company.

Third: By interfering, through activities of TVA agents or through local citizens inspired or coerced to do so by the TVA agents, with the Company's efforts to provide electric service to communities that had requested service of the Company.

In one instance representatives of the Company were invited to attend a meeting in a rural community of DeKalb County for the purpose of explaining rates, etc., applicable for service. During the meeting representatives of the Company were advised that TVA agents were stationed outside the meeting room.

While the Company representatives were in the community taking applications for service, letters were written and visits were made to the community by citizens and politicians of nearby towns urging the people of the rural community not to sign the Company's applications for service.

Federal, State and County employes were made to believe that they would lose their jobs if they signed up with the Power Company. Many of those who signed applications for service with the Company requested that their doing so be treated confidentially.

One school teacher was fired for not opposing the Company's activities in the community. Yet this community was located adjacent to the areas served by the Company and could be served more economically from the Company's system than in any other way.

Fourth: By building lines duplicating the existing and proposed lines of the Company, through the organization of the County Membership Corporations.

TVA Will Deny This

Its Denial, However, Does Not Alter the Truth of the Statement

That TVA should conduct a raid into that territory and engage in the financing of rural lines when Alabama Power Company had already agreed to do so and when there already was a government agency set up specifically for the purpose is not quite understandable! Why it should want to duplicate electric lines when there is barely sufficient available business to justify one line; why it should do this and neglect the extension of electric service to new customers in its own territory also raises a question. Why it should have extended its "raiding" lines along almost identical routes surveyed by Alabama Power Company will also be questioned by citizens with a sense of fair play and decent sportsmanship.

We Do Not Oppose Electric Membership Associations

Alabama Power Company does NOT oppose the formation of rural electric "cooperatives" or "electric membership corporations." It does believe that if prospective members of such associations can secure DIRECT electric service, rather than INDIRECTLY through membership in an association which involves legal, moral and financial responsibilities, they will find it to their best interest to take the direct service. Where for some reason service cannot be directly furnished, the electric cooperative group is as welcome a customer as the individual.

This is no new policy. It has been stated to both Federal and State officials on numerous occasions, and in each instance we have been told, "The main thing is to get rural lines extended. The more rural electrification the Company does, the more quickly the job can be accomplished."

CHAPTER VI

Questions Prospective Members of Rural Electric Associations Should Ask Themselves

WE SUGGEST a few pertinent questions which rural citizens might ask themselves when approached by smooth talking TVA representatives or their political allies who hide behind the claim that the only competition between TVA and Alabama Power Company is a competition of ideas and policies.

Any business enterprise would welcome competition of ideas and policies; no company or agency can remain static; other individuals in the same or different lines of business may make helpful suggestions, but that is not what we are talking about.

We are talking about a competitor who takes his entire capital outlay from the Federal Government and who pays neither interest nor taxes, and at the same time is building competitive lines using county cooperatives to shield it in its destructive, competitive warfare.

Questions prospective members of such cooperatives should ask themselves follow:

1. Tennessee Valley Authority representatives paint a glowing picture of the advantages to farmers of organizing into a TVA-dominated association engaging in the electric light and power business. Why do they not state the disadvantages?

2. Tennessee Valley Authority presents astonishing figures supposed to prove that several of the "electric membership associations" in other states are huge successes. Do they give you all the figures, and do they include all they have taken in, but only PART of what is paid out? Will they give you detailed figures and suggest that you have an independent electrical accountant analyze them for you? Hardly, the figures wouldn't show up so well then.

3. Why does the TVA take up so much time misrepresenting Alabama Power Company when representatives of State and Federal Rural Electrification Agencies have praised the Company's rural electrification activities?

4. If the Tennessee Valley Authority proposition is so sound, why should it have to disparage rural electrification projects of an experienced and reliable organization such as Alabama Power Company?

5. If Alabama Power Company fails to extend a rural electric line because it doesn't seem to be a sound business proposition, is there any reason to believe the proposition will be any sounder for you and a group of your neighbors if you decide to build and operate the line yourselves?

For their safety and to avoid being misled, citizens should ask themselves certain further questions before embarking on TVA-inspired electric co-operatives. These questions will be suggested in the next several chapters.

This advertisement is the third of a series which has also been printed in booklet form. T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, will cheerfully send a copy to any interested person requesting it.

University News

All American, highest rating obtainable, was awarded the University of Alabama Corolla, student yearbook, in the 16th All American Critical Service. The All American rating signifies a yearbook of superior quality throughout.

The University of Alabama Alumnae Meeting on Homecoming Day was presided over by Mrs. Evelyn Wood Owen. Mrs. Owen was a distinguished student in her undergraduate days, and was a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Chi Beta Phi, Y. W. C. A., junior faculty, and Mortar Board.

S. K. Ratcliffe, noted British journalist and speaker, addressed the Tuscaloosa Forum of Current Affairs at the University this week. Speaking on October 14, 15 and 16, he discussed various aspects of the European situation, with which he is well acquainted.

The annual Homecoming Meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at the University of Alabama was attended by prominent engineers from over the state. In addition, a group of Mississippi State students attended the meeting.

Charlotte Head, Tuscaloosa, has been named honorary cadet colonel and brigade sponsor of the University of Alabama's R. O. T. C. unit. Other honorary cadet colonels, each a regimental sponsor, are: Marjorie Morkte, Birmingham; marjorie Lantrip, Jasper; and Annie Laurie Swaim, Tuscaloosa.

Social events at the University during Homecoming week end inculded a D. K. E. reception, a Pi K. A. formal dance, and an A Club dance Saturday night. Prominent Dekes who were present for the D. K. E. reception included W. C. Banks, Eutaw; Hon. C. S. McDowell, Eufaula; Jack Langhorne, Huntsville; Judge Sam Hobbs, Selma; and State Senator G. Hobin Swift, Atmore.

Congressman Joe Starnes, Guntersville, addressed the members of the Tuscaloosa Forum this week, speaking on the subject of "Immigration".

VERMONT

Vermont school is progressing nicely. The attendance has been fine in spite of the fact that some of the pupils have to work. So far we have enrolled 189.

Friday afternoon there will be a basket ball game here between Vermont's "Green Wave" and the Enterprise team. This game will start at 2:00 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

The Isabella Racketeers will present a comedy show here Saturday night, October 17. Everybody come out and enjoy this show.

F. H. A. HOLDS FIRST MEETING

On September 30 a happy group of girls were called together again after a long vacation to attend the first F. H. A. meeting of the Jemison chapter.

Our principal, Mr. Peterson, was asked by the president to make some suggestions as to what the F. H. A. should set up as its goal for the ensuing year. It was suggested that the club raise money to buy grass seed to sow the school lawn.

Plans were made by the club to sell ice cream to raise the amount of money needed for this purpose.

Mrs. J. R. Mullins spent last week in Huntsville with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Scott, and Mr. Scott.

DUROC BARROW CHAMPION AT NATIONAL SWINE SHOW
SELLS FOR $1.55 PER POUND

At the National Swine Show, held during the Illinois State Fair the middel of August, a Duroc barrow named Red Royal weighing 210 lbs., was placed Grand Champion over all breeds of swine and cross-breeds.

After winning these laurels over barrows from 16 states, this barrow raised by two young Illinois farmers, ages 20 and 22, Wareham Bros., was sold at public auction to the Governor of Illinois for the world's record price of $1.55 per pound. The barrow was donated by the Governor to the Home for Cripple Children.

This barrow brought to these young farmers more than $600, as added to his sale price the United prize of $250, besides the regular premium money won at the Swine Show.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

It is interesting to study the dictators of the world and their relation to religion. Russsia tried to eliminate religion. It is a wonderful thing to live in America where we enjoy freedom of worship. We cannot realize how valuable this religious liberty is because we have enjoyed it so long. Think of the glory of living in a country where we can "worship God under our own vine and fig tree and no one will dare molest us or make us afraid."

It is impossible to save men en masse. The soul must have an individual contact with God. There are certain ethical teachings of Christianity which may be applied to society and business, but every individual must accept Jesus Christ personally. It is not the ethical teaching of Jesus Himself that saves. The religions of the world tell men what to do and leave them helpless to do it. Jesus Christ tells men what to do and puts Omnipotence back of them so they can do it.

"Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God." That is what Jesus said in His sermon on the mount. This is a very profound philosophical statement. We always see according to what we are. People who look out of eyes of purity see that which is pure. A man's vision is always colored by his own character. The pure in heart see God because they have God. The pure in heart see God in the song of the bird because the pure in heart have music in their souls. They see God in the day dawn because they, themselves, experienced a day dawn when they were born again. The Son of Righteousness dispelled darkness from their sinful hearts.

F. H. A. SOCIAL MEETING HELD

The Jemison chapter of F. H. A. met Wednesday morning, October 7, for its social hour.

A very interesting talk was given by Ruth Stockdale on "How to entertain your dates," which was enjoyed very much by everyone present. After several other speeches the program was turned over to the program committee. Games were played during the remainder of the hour.

Mrs. Frank Sudderth, Mrs. F. D. Wilson and son, F. D. Jr., of Birminbham were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS ADVISED TO PAINT THEIR HOMES

Auburn, Ala.—Farmers should paint their buildings because (1) they last much longer; (2) look betted; and (3) are more sanitary.

"In addition a painted farm structure indicates pride, progress, and thrift on the part of the 'owner,' says A. Carnes, Professor of agricultural engineering of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in advocating that farmers paint their farm buildings as soon as farm labor is not needed in the field.

"To get a good job," he says, "the surface must be clean and dry. If the painting is to be done on new lumber no cleaning will be necessary except a slight brushing to remove adhering grit. However, if surface is old and weather beaten, all loose particles should be removed with a scraper of wire brush down to firm wood."

KUDZU ROPES DOWN LAND; KEEPS THE FARM AT HOME

Kudzu, a very vigorous legume vine that came out of Japan, used for some time as a forage crop in the South, is now being used by the Soil Conservation Service in thousands of places to control gullying and soil washing on Soil Conservation Service demonstration propects all through the Southeastern States, according to R. Y. Baily, in charge of Soil Conservation Service operations in Alabama. While Kudza is a good forage plant, Mr. Baily is more interested in its soil binding value. "It literally ropes land down and checks that destructive washing and gully wasting which have ruined so much once rich farm land in the Southern States," he says.

ENTERPRISE 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Enterprise 4-H club was organized on Friday, October 9, with fifteen members present.

Business was called to order by our club leader Mr. B. N. Ivey. We elected officers for the year as follows:

President, Mack Askins; vice-pres, Rayford Jones; sec. and treasurer; Doyles Griffin; song and yell leader, Samuel Burkhalter; local leaders, Mr. Evans and Mr. Wilkins.

Our club will meet again in November.

FFA OFFICERS NAMED AT ANNUAL MEETING

Auburn, Ala.—C. W. Wells, leading student in vocational agriculture at Jemison, was elected president of the Alabama Association of Future Farmers of America at the 9th annual convention held here on October 3. He succeeds A. C. Allen, Jr., of Deatsville.

Other State officers elected to serve with Wells are William Crawford, Marion, vice-president; Rogers Nance Riverton, secretary; Pete Turnham, Milltown, treasurer; and Ronald Sellers, reporter.

R. E. Cammack, State superviser of vocational agriculture, will continue as adviser to the State Association, with H. F. Gibson, Lee County High teacher of vocational agriculture serving as assistant adviser.

HIGHLAND

The All Day Singing at Highland last Sunday was greatly enjoyed. We had host of good singers which we greatly appriciated. The opening song was led by the chairman, Mr. Coy Lockheart, after which directors for the morning were:

Edward Davis, Herman Dubose, Ivey Huett, Clarence Billingsley, W. M. Devaughn, Floy Devaughn, Archie Devaughn, Audey Brown.

Here a lunch was spread and served.

The singers for the afternoon were Coy Lockhart, Clarence Billingsley, L. T. Grant, O. L. Devaughn, Floy Devaughn, E. H. Glasscock, Obrie Devaughn, Lee J. Grant, W. M. Devaughn, Dave, Melton, Herman Dubose, John Devaughn, Archie Devaughn, Houston Melton, Melvin Devaughn, Rev. M. Lockhart, Mr. Scott, and Mr. Glasscock.

Several quartets were sung by the White City quartet, Devaughn quartet, Liberty Hill quartet, which were greately enjoyed throughout the day.

We appreciate the cooperation of all the singers and invite you back to Highland at any and all times.

FARM BUREAU MEETING SET FOR NOV. 17-18

Auburn, Ala.—The annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation will be held here on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 17 and 18, announces J. Litt Edwards, president.

The meeting had previously been set for September 1 and 2 but was posponed, due to infantile paralysis in the State.

Several hundred Alabama farmers are expected to attend the meeting and hear talks and discussions by State and National agricultural leaders. They will also formulate a program of work for the remainder of 1936-37.

HOME AGENT WORK

The following clubs have been organized, and their presidents named: Cooper, Mildred Todd; Enterprise, Zora Lee Tucker; Vermont, Jessie Mae Deason; Baker, Margaret Lowery; Stanton, Clara Lee Gragg; Mt. Pleasant, Lorene Price; Collins Chapel, Grace Martin; Union Grove, Orelle Littleton. The total enrollment is 294.

Mt. Pleasant ladies met with Mrs. Lloyd Mims, and the demonstration was well carried out. Much fun developed along their "table service" given. A social hour was enjoyed when delicious refresments were served.

Enterprise ladies were well represented at the lovely home of Mrs. C. L. Wilkins, and never could one be a better hostess than she. What a beautiful demonstration she and the leaders gave. Cherry ice cream and cake were served.

Was favorably impressed with Verbena and its spaciously arranged homes and surroundings. The school, too, gives a strong impression of its progress. Those called on were: Mrs. W. B. Strock, Mrs. Dora Lett, and Mrs. John Lett.

Delightful office visits were made by the calls from Mrs. Charlie Cox, and Mrs. J. M. Parrish of Friendship church. Among other callers were Mrs. G. E. Stutt of Baker Club, and Mrs. P. Ratliff of Fairview Club. Mrs. Charles Howard and Mrs. Leo Cobb, interested in making Year Books.

Thanks to Miss Lena Downs for the delicious basket of grapes, to Mrs. Stanley Kennedy for the walnut candy and to the school girls for the parched peanuts. How blessed you are with nature's bounteous gifts of food. Come let us be thankful.

Brief Farm Notes

Calhoun and Cleburne 4-H club boys are obtaining purebred beef calves from Dallas and Wilcox Counties.

DeKalb County 4-H club boys are saving enough improved seed corn for their dads to plant their entire crops in 1937.

Plans have been made for a county beef calf show to be held at Livingston in Sumter County Oct. 23.

Indications are that over half of Cullman County farmers will plant Stoneville 5 cotton in 1937, sates C. T. Baily, county agent.

Rural electrification is making rapid headway in Bibb County with many miles of lines being surveyed and built.

One-hundred sixteen Elmore farmers have requested that 11,702 acres of their land be terraced during the next three years.

Mad dogs have done considerable damage in Clay County by biting livestock. Many dogs and other animals have been vaccinated.

All cotton buyers of Fayette County are buying cotton on grade and staple basis and are paying premiums for good cotton.

The Coffee County livestock producers association delivered 24 purebred gilts to 4-H club boys during September.

JEMISON

To all the voters of Chilton County:

In answer to P. M. Martin's article on our rural schools. After reading his article in which he stated it was being said that he was opposed to rural schools, and if elected would try to abolish them, I have investigated this, and I find that this report is a false alarm, and no truth in it.

As a patron of Chilton County schools, I feel that we need P. M. Martin on our Board of Education, for the following reasons:

P. M. Martin is capable, he is self respecting, and is respected by all those who really know him.

He is trustworthy, he is a successful farmer at Union Grove

He is always ready and willing to take a part in any thing which will build up our community.

He is a regular active member in church. Martin has solid, sound, practical business ideas.

We need to be represented in the northern part of our county, and P. M. Martin is the only candidate running for Board of Education this side of Clanton.

Voters, let us see to it that the south end of the county don't have complete control over our schools.

Voters, please keep this in mind and vote for P. M. Martin, Nov. 3rd.

MT. PLEASANT 4-H CLUB

The Mt. Pleasant 4-H Club met at the Mt. Pleasant Junior High School last Wednesday, October 7, at 8:00 o'clock. The boys and girls met together and were introduced to Miss Grace and Mr. Ivey. Several songs were sung, then the boys adjourned to their room and the girls to theirs. Mr. Ivey took charge of the boys and Miss Grace took charge of the girls. Officers were elected and the program of work for the coming year was discussed, which will be "Foods". Table service was given most of the time at this meeting. We adjourned at 9:40, to meet again on Wednesday, November 4th.—Annie Massey, reporter.

State Capitol News

Montgomery — The government's social security program lost in a series of minor legal skirmishes last week in both Federal and State courts here, and a compromise test case of the unemployment compensation insurance laws of the State and Federal governments has been set for trial Oct. 22 before Federal Judge Charles B. Kennamer here to expedite a quick appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The latest attempt to invalidate the unemployment insurance law was contained in a suit filed last Friday in U. S. Federal Court here by Borden Burr, Birmingham attorney, representing the Southern Coal and Coke Company, a Delaware concern, doing business in Shelby county, Ala.

Meanwhile, attorneys for hundreds of firms gathered before Federal Judge Kennamer to start hearing on suits attacking Alabama's job insurance act, but agreed to hold their cases in abeyance until the major suit, which is aimed at both State and Federal laws, is hurried through.

Under the agreement, all taxes due by the firms will be paid into the Federal depository (a Montgomery bank), and the temporary restraining orders already obtained, will be extended.

The new suit filed by Burr asks Judge Kennamer for a trial before a 3-judge Federal court in order that the losing side might appeal direct to the U. S. Supreme court.

In Montgomery Circut Court, Judge Walter B. Jones fixed Nov. 9-10 as dates for a hearing on the merits of the four other cases attacking the State law. Non-resident firms are appealing through Federal court, while resident firms are appealing in the State court.

Montgomery—The voting taxpayers of Alabama will have an opportunity on November 3, 1936 to do themselves a good turn, and at the same time, extend a helping hand to hundreds of old and young people, when they cast their ballots in favor of the proposed Amendment No. 3 to the State Constitution. The Amendment, if adopted, would give all Courts in all Counties of Alabama, having original jurisdiction of criminal cases, the right to suspend the execution or imposition of sentences upon persons convicted of crime, where the punishment does not exceed five (5) years imprisonment, and would place such persons on probation pending good behavior.

ENTERPRISE CLUB MEETS

The Enterprise home demonstration club met Wednesday afternoon, October 7, at the home of Mrs. C. L. Wilkins.

Business of the club was carried out in order. Several songs were enjoyed. A very nice and helpful demonstration on "Table Service" was given. After the demonstration, Mrs. Wilkins served all present with cream and cake. Everyone enjoyed the meeting.

Our next meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 4, at the Enterprise school. We hope to have all members present, and more visitors.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS OF FIRST MEETING

United States Court, Middle District of Alabama, Northern Division, In Bankruptcy, at Montgomery, Alabama.

In the matter of: I. M. Baker, of R. F. D. No. 3, Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

RESOLUTIONS FOR REV. JONES

The following resolutions were passed by the executive committee of Chilton County Baptist Association in session last Monday:

"We, your committee on resolutions for the executive committee of the Ctilton County Association, in session this the 11th day of October, 1936, submit first that we deeply regret to give up Bro. J. W. Jones as moderator of our association. We feel that in his going from our association and from our county, we are losing one of our strongest ministers and workers for Christ and His cause. However, we know that while we are losing a good man, Columbiana, and Shelby county are gaining a good man.

"We pray God's richest blessings on him and his family in their new field of work.—S. J. M. Webb and Mrs. Lee J. Grant, Committee."

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with anything less than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble to aid nature to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Reynolds Hostess—

Members of the the Thursday Contract Club were deligtfully entertained last week by Mrs. Grady Reynolds at her home at 2:30 o'clock.

The home was decorated in a profusion of fall flowers.

A tempting salad plate with hot coffee was served by the hostess to the following members and guests:

Mesdames James Wade, John Armstrong, W. E. Huddleston, Arthur Johnson, Hugh Jones, Lee Smith, and Toy Parsons.

Mrs. Reynolds was also hostess to members of the Wednesday Club of last week. On this occasion 12 guests enjoyed contract bridge, the prize going to Mrs. H. M. Simpson. A salad plate was served later in the afternoon.

Those present were Mesdames J. Hance Alred, John Browder, John Deramus, John Armstrong, Frank Callen, Arthur Johnson, N. S. Johnson, Omar Reynolds, H. M. Simpson, L. F. Gerald, Toy Parsons, and Lawson Boone.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Floyd of Opelika spent this week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Reynolds and Mrs. D. C. Alred spent Monday in Montgomery.

Friends of Mrs. Hance Alred will regret to learn that she has been confined to her home since Sunday, on account of illness.

Mrs. Hance Alred and Mrs. Arthur Johnson were guests of Mrs. Broadhead in Montgomery Tuesday night of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanley, accompanied by Mrs. G. P. Walker, who had been their guest for a week, motored to Montgomery Saturday and spent the week end with Mr. Stanley's mother. Mrs. Walker returned to her home in Hurtsboro.

Mr. Leo Brewster of Wilton visited friends here Sunday.

Mrs. Eric Hart and Mrs. Jake Shepherd visited in Birmingham last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith and son, Billy Benton, spent Sunday in Wetumpka with relatives.

Miss Mary Emma Dickey has accepted a position as assistant teacher at the Seventh Day Adventist school.

Miss Jane Roberts, who teaches in Gadsden, spent the week end here with her mother, Mrs. Barney Roberts.

Mrs. W. A. Willis, Mrs. Ed Glasscock, Miss Sara Colley, and Miss Margaret Floyd were visitors in Montgomery Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alexander had as their guest for the week end Mrs. Alekander's brother, Edwin.

SYBIL IRENE SMITH

Miss Sybil Irene Smith, age 20, died Thursday afternoon, October 8th, at the home near Mt. Springs. Burial was at Mineral Springs, or Robinson Springs cemetery, Sunday morning, conducted by Dr. Edwards, of Birmingham.

Survivals are her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, and several brothers and sisters.

Pallbearers were: Herschel Giles, Herschel Littlefield. Dock Parker, Victor Giles, Maston Robinson, and Howard Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Dub Huddleston and little daughters, Ann and Pat, spent Sunday in Tuskegee with Mr. Huddleston's parents.

Mr. Pat Cruise attended the football game in Tuscaloosa Saturday.

UNION GROVE

I wish to announce that Bro. Paul Oden, will show pictures at Union Springs Church, Sat. night, Oct. 17th.

Everybody invited, it is well worth your time going to see these pictures.

EXPERT METHODS FOIL WILL FRAUDS

Bankers Association Shows How Unauthorized Alterations Are Detected in Typewritten Documents

Although attempted fraud through alteration in wills has increased with the use of the typewriter owing to the fact that, while forgers know each person has an individual handwriting, a typewriter is supposed to have no individuality at all, expert methods can thwart such efforts, says an article in "Banking," published by the American Bankers Association.

"Typewriting can usually be identified as being the performance of a definite typewriting machine, and the date of the typewritten will can be proved consistent or inconsistent with the date it actually bears," it says. "If the letters and figures on the suspected portion, when put under the magnifier, show more wear than on the genuine part, it is sufficient proof that the suspected portion was written on a later date.

Tracing a Will Changer

"Typewriting may be traced to an individual by study of such matters as habits of punctuation, pressure of touch as evidenced by marks on the reverse side of the sheet and spacing generalities or peculiarities."

As an example, the article cites the will of a cattleman who left certain property to his son, provided he remained on the ranch. The son removed the typewritten page of conditions and substituted another, written on the same machine as the original will. When the document was offered for probate, the mother, knowing of the father's sentiments, became suspicious.

The will was put in the hands of a typewriting expert who found a different watermark on the substituted sheet, the wearing of certain letters indicating that it was written later than the balance of the will, deeper indentations of paragraphs, words misspelled which were correctly spelled on the other pages, poor punctuation compared with the other sheets, use of the capital "I" where the small letter "l" had been used, as an excessive use of capital letters and much more pressure used in typing than on the genuine sheets. This evidence proved sufficient to invalidate the substitution.

Mrs. J. R. Mullins spent last week in Huntsville with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Scott, and Mr. Scott.

SCHEDULE OF REPUBLICAN SPEAKINGS IN COUNTY IS ANNOUNCED

The Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County announces dates for Republican speakings over the county prior to the election on November 3rd. The dates and places follow:

Vermont Schoolhouse	Friday night, October 16
Courthouse	10:30 A. M., Saturday, October 17
Cooper Schoolhouse	Tuesday night, October 20
Freeman Schoolhouse	Thursday night, October 22
Providence Schoolhouse, Beat 16	Friday night, October 23
Union Grove Schoolhouse	Tuesday night, October 27
Oak Grove Schoolhouse	Friday night, October 30
Thorsby, public school building	Monday night, November 2

The hour for all the above speakings will be 7:00 o'clock.

The speaking at Thorsby will be the closing speaking before the election, and will be a county-wide affair. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, will deliver the principal address at Thorsby, followed by Judge J. O. Middleton.

Speaking at the other places listed above will be done by Judge Middleton and Percy M. Pitts, and probably others. And through special arrangement, Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his quartet will appear at each meeting and sing several numbers. You will certainly want to hear this quartet singing, even if you are not interested in the speaking. Hear them sing—You will enjoy it.

The campaign committee regrets that it will be impossible to have speakings in every community in the county, however well it would like to do this. So, in view of this fact, all communities and Beats adjoining the communities listed are urged to have as many representatives present as possible. It will not be many miles to the nearest speaking, so all citizens of the county are invited and urged to attend at least one of these speakings.

We are publishing the dates well in advance, so that all may have plenty of time to arrange to attend. The ladies are especially invited, as well as the young voters.

Special emphasis is placed on the meeting at Thorsby, when Mr. Vardaman will deliver the principal address. The voters of the county have heard him twice at the courthouse, and know that he is a forceful and interesting speaker. The committee expects every single Beat in the county to be represented at this Thorsby meeting.

A "$1,000 a Year for Life" Smile

THIS charming smile comes to you from Torrington, Wyoming. It also comes, gentle reader, from a crisp $1,000 check, the first of many, many checks exactly like it. Mrs. Bloomer was the national grand prize winner in last year's Camay contest, and she will receive one of those $1,000 checks at Christmas every year for the rest of her life.

Last week thousands of women throughout the country had the steady flow of those annual checks in mind, as they prepared their entries to this year's "$1,000 A Year For Life" Camay contest, which closes November 30.

This time there are several highly attractive new features. First of all, the contest is about as easy to enter as any ever offered. All you need do is check on a list of six Camay qualities printed on the entry blank which your dealer will give you, the one you like best. About twenty-five words are all that you need, to give your reason. You can submit as many entries as you like, accompanying each one with three Camay wrappers.

Another feature is the unusually wide geographical distribution of the prizes offered by The Procter & Gamble Company. Besides the national grand prize of $1,000 a year for life (or, if the winner chooses, $12,000 in cash at once) there will be a first prize of $1,000 in cash and two hundred prizes of $10 each awarded in each of the five zones into which the country has been divided for the purposes of the contest.

Mrs. J. W. Bloomer

Who wouldn't like to win that sense of security that comes from $1,000 rolling in regularly around Christmas time year after year?

Anybody who wouldn't, ought, we think, to talk to Mrs. Bloomer. She could convince them. She knows!

Thorsby Regrets Departure of Pastor To New Field—

The passing of the mile posts on life's journey marks shadows and sun shine for every sojourner, and many sad farewells as we come to the "parting of the ways."

Today we are come to say good-bye to our dear companions, Brother Jones and his family. For eight years we have labored togethered in the cause of our Lord.

The achievements for good of Brother Jones and his wife have been most successful. He was always ready with a sympathetic voice in time of bereavement, quoting the words of the blessed Lord. Always ready in time of rejoicing to mingle a cheerfull spirit with his people. The splendid Baptist church house, to which we point with pride, stands as a memorial to his faithful endeavors. His presences was always welcome, for with him all seasons were summer and the citizens of Thorsby will long remember his friendly greetings and cordial smile as he moved among them.

Mrs. Jones, as a faithgul friend, a loving neighbor and a capable leader of all the womens work of the church, has endeared herself to every one. And so it is with heavy hearts, and grateful hearts, that we look back over the years to the blessings which have been ours because of these dear associations with them.

And in memory of their wonderful service, we lay reverantly the wreath of laurel and forget-me-nots upon the alter of imperishable friendship, a tribute which will not fail with me.

In the new field in which they are called, we send our sincere congratulations, and to our dear pastor and his family, we offer our love and fervent prayers that God will continue with them in their journey, blessing them always.—Committee: G. F. Harper, Miss Elizabeth Law, Mrs. Tom Lessley.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ellison are visiting this week with Mrs. A. J. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Pate and family, with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mims were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith of Clanton.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen is visiting this week in Birmingham and Johns, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lowery and Mrs. J. C. Johnson spent Monday in Birmingham.

E. L. GLASSCOCK SELLING B'HAM POST IN FOUR COUNTIES

I am the only full-time, bonded subscription salesman of The Birmingham Post in the counties of Chilton, Shelby, Talladega and Clay.

I am asking the people in the rural districts of these counties to please favor me with your subscription, both new and renewels. They may be sent by mail to me with the same results as if sent to the company. Mailing charges may be reduced from the present price, which is $3.25 per year during these few months of reduced rates.

I would like to have one commissioned salesman in each community to co-operate with me in this work during this bargain period. All otherwise commissioned salesmen may send me their remittance, less their commission and mailing expense, but will not be permitted to make any reductions in the present rates. The co-operation of salesmen, clubs or individuals will be greatly appreciated.

Any legitimate club or organization, such as P. T. A., W. M. S., or the like, which has a treasurer, may get up subscriptions at the regular price of $3.25, leave 20 per cent in the treasurey, and turn the rest in to me This is a good plan to make money for your club.

Remember, that The Post comes to you not a day late, but the day it is published.

Anyone wishing to co-operate with me as a commissioned saleman, please get in touch with me at once, and I will send you supplies. Respectfully,—E. L. Glasscock, Jemison, Ala. adv.—10-8-3t-ch.

Remember how muddy our country roads used to be? Well, nowadays most of the mud seems to be in politics.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litachert

During the World War, we were told repeatedly that the Allies and their collaborator, Uncle Sam, were fighting to make the world safe for democracy and to end all wars. But it was disclosed by later events that the United States was the only nation to take these assertions seriously.

John Bull, for example, while fighting a war "purely for humanity", did not neglect to grab off all of the German and Austrian colonial possessions which could be pried loose from the defeated central powers after the war was over. France also took a generous share, and the smaller allies took what was left to be divided.

But Uncle Sam, serene in the success of his high purpose, to save democracy and end warfare for all time to come, refused to take an acre of territory or a dolar of indemnity. The fact that he had helped to usher in world democracy was enough reward for him. This of course was before the rise of Hitler, and Mussolini, and Stalin, and General Franco.

The benevolent old gentleman also took seriously the blief that war was ended for all time to come, and led the way in 1922 with arranging a disarmament conference. He gave up an assured superiority in battleships for an international naval limitation program, and it was not until several years later that he awakened to the fact that he had relegated himself to a position behind Great Britain and Japan, so far as navies are concerned. These two wily powers had no delusions as to naval disarmament.

We have heard numerous times that we got no colonial territory from the war and wanted none. Now it begins to develop that we are better off that we didn't. Germany, under Hitler, seems to be reviving her ambitions, and is looking to Mussolini for support. One thing which the Reich is now especially excited about, is a colonial empire. With the Ruhr recovered and the Rhineland on the way to refortification, the Nazis have suddenly become acutely colony conscious. They say now that Germany cannot find its place in the sun, cannot become a prosperous, contented and peaceful nation unless it can have some of its colonies restored so that it may have raw materials and room for expansion.

What seems to be disconcerting to many European nations, especially the smaller ones with foreign colonies, is that Hitler seems to have a habit of putting over his demands by cashing in on his nuisance value. They seem to see some disposition on the part of Great Britain and France to arrange some colonies for Hitler, if this will keep him still.

No wonder then that Portugal and Holland are uneasy. They know of no case on record where John Bull has given up any colonies in the interests of "peace and humanity," but they are afraid that he may try to persuade them to give up some of their own possessions to Germany in the "interests of peace".

If there comes to be a conference on colonial possessions which changed hands during the World War, happily Uncle Sam will not be in on it, or at least ought not to be in on it. He didn't get any islands or slices of the dark continent out of the World War and he can well be glad of it. If he had any of these, it wouldn't be long until he would be asked to give them up in the interest of "world tranquility."

DICTATORSHIP VS. DEMOCRACY

A few weeks ago in Soviet Russia sixteen men were lined up and shot for conspiring against the life of Dictator Stalin.

In London, George Andrew McMahon received a sentence of one year at hard labor on a charge growing out of an alleged attempt against the life of King Edward VIII.

It would be difficult more effectively to dramatize one of the fundamental differences between dictatorship and democracy.

The one so keenly realizes the uncertainty of its position atop an open powder barrel that it sends to the firing squad anyone suspected of carrying a match.

The other, solidly based upon the will of the majority, feels secure in the knowledge that the assassination of no one man or group of men would overthrow the institution of government.

Which is why, by the very nature of things, no dictatorship dares permit freedom of speech, press or assembly. It cannot do so and survive.

The corollary, of course, is that democracy cannot live without them.—New York World Telegram.

SOCIAL SECURITY—TWO KINDS

Long before Americans did much talking about "social security" they were building social security of a very substantial sort.

In an address to the American Bankers' Association at San Francisco, Philip A. Benson, president of that organization's savings division, interestingly demonstrated that both bank savings and life insurance are vital phases of social security in this country.

During the last 34 years, he pointed out, American savings depositors have increased in number from six to 42 million; and the number of life insurance policies increased from 17.5 to 124 million.

These are tremendously important considerations. But the element of our population most in need of social safeguards cannot prudently be left to the uncertainties and embarrassments of charity. There is, therefore, full justification for governmental systemization of the old American thrift habit.

It is for this reason that nobody has raised any serious protest against the aims and objectives of social security as outlined in this country in recent years. This has been on its way since long before 1933.

At the same time, it is perfectly proper to criticize, as Mr. Benson did criticize last week the reserve fund requirement of the existing social security legislation; and to stress the point that "creating one's own reserve" in the form of private savings is still eminently desirable.

Finally, both public and private savings depend, for their safety, upon currency stability afforded by sound governmental finances.—Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

BUSINESS and PERSONAL THRIFT

Ask yourself this question: "Would the depression have been more disastrous had not many families and individuals had savings when the crash came?"

There is only one answer. No one argues against thrift—against building up personal savings "for a rainy day". We all know that savings come in handy in lean years.

If this principle is sound for personal savings it is equally as sound for corporate savings. Yet there are many who are objecting to corporate surpluses and arguing that these surpluses are in the form of hoards of cash lying idle, unused and unproductive.

Actually the great bulk of corporation surpluses are not held in cash at all, but in the form of property and productive assets. Perhaps the term "surplus" is misleading, and it might be well to make the actual meaning of the term more clear in financial statements.

Corporation surpluses are not held in the form of cash to any considerable degree, but are more often the certain part of corporation income which is "plowed back" into the business so that the business may expand and operate more efficiently. The years 1922 to 1930 saw only 2 to 3½ per cent of the business income of the country held in reserve.

As a matter of fact, it is fortunate that business had the opportunity to build surpluses during the nine years preceding the depression, because from 1929 to 1934 inclusive American business paid out 27 billion dollars more than it took in.

Business spent a big part of its surplus to maintain wages and keep men on the job during the years when the actual current business income was far lower than the level represented by the actual money spent by business.

Savings by companies should be encouraged just as much as savings by individuals. They serve as insurance against the "rainy day" in our business life.

A NATION OF "CRY-BABIES"

A nation of crybabies is what the United States is in danger of becoming if trends of the past several years continue unabated. It is nothing less than the plain truth that since the depression depths of 1932 and 1933 a spirit of what some forthright persons would refer to as chronic bellyaching has been displayed on a scale that is nothing short of alarming. The idea appears to be that hard times are enthroned. Nothing is right with the world. Results of the manner in which this spirit of defeatism has spread through the land may be seen, to name the most odious example, in the continuous, non-lessening appeals to federal and state governments for aid—not, we should say, the appeals of business and industry that they be permitted to run their own affairs, but the ululations of those who want something for nothing. Billions of dollars have been spent for relief during the past few years. Much of this has been necessary, of course; certainly no one should starve or even go hungry in America. But what of the future? It is so obvious as not to need repetition here that the government cannot continue forever to pour out money in such a fashion; it is sot a question of what should or should not be done, it is a question of what can or cannot be done. And this, we think no sensible person will deny, simply cannot be done indefinitely. Yet there have been few decreases in the relief rolls of the country. The fact is inescapable that many of the people (not all, remember) now obtaining relief from governmental agencies have no plans at all for their future, unless a devout hope that such relief will last forever can be called a plan.—The Texas Weekly.

A New York commentator, writing of election issues, says that the foreign situation usually favors the party in power. This certainly wasn't the case in 1920.

Gov. Brann, electioneering in Maine, told the voters the New Deal was not an issue. He meant not an issue so far as he was concerned.

MAN IN THE MOON

FOR 'BAMA FANS

Rooters and well wishers for the football team from the University of Alabama who have not seen the 1936 edition of the Crimson Tide may rest assured that Alabama has a very good team this year, although not a Rose Bowl contender. I saw the "red elephants" against Howard College, and although it was generally expected that the Bulldogs would not be a match for Alabama, yet one couldn't keep from remembering 1935, when Howard threw a scare into the 'Bama camp by holding them to a 7-7 tie, at which time the Howard team was considered more of an under-dog than a bulldog. You never can tell what will happen in football.

But, although Alabama has a good team this year, fans must not be looking for another trip to the coast. Alabama is in process of building another national contender. The material is at Tuscaloosa, Coach Frank Thomas is conceded to be one of the top-notchers in the coaching line, and the general idea among those well versed in sports is that it is only a matter of time until Coach Thomas and his Crimson Tide will make the headlines again—probably in 1937, and surely by 1938. This business of building a national championship team is no one-year job. Ask any one of the coaches about that.

Just now Alabama has a wealth of material at all the posts, but it is not yet seasoned and trained in the finer points of the game which make the difference between a champion and just another football team. Give the boys a year or two more, and you will no doubt attend Alabama's Thanksgiving game and hear the "Million Dollar Band From Alabama" leave the playing field to the strains of "California, Here We Come," and watch another Alabama team on January 1st win more fame for Dixie on the sod of historic Rose Bowl, in the golden West.

ONE PROMISE HAS BEEN KEPT

From time to time the writer of this column has seen fit to comment on doings about the capitol at Montgomery, and to criticize officials there. Inasmuch as I have exercised my right to criticize wherever I deemed criticism was due, I likewise believe it to be my moral obligation to commend the state officials when they do something commendable.

It has seemed to me that Gov. Graves has been very slothful about fulfilling the promises he made to Alabama's voters when he was on the stump. No doubt it has been quite hard for the governor to make good on some of those promises—perhaps it was impossible to fulfill some of them. That, however, does not excuse the governor—he should have decided which promises he could make good on and which he could not, and espoused only those he could, during the "promising" period.

There is one promise, however, on which Gov. Graves has made good. We are all glad to see this, even though it has been a bit slow in coming. I refer to the freeing of Alabama's 15 toll bridges, which I believe is one of the best things the state administration has accomplished so far.

I understand that there has been some kick against this by some who say that the income from these bridges would be needed to help pay off our bonded indebtedness. There is a lot I don't know about Alabama's indebtedness, except that I know it is an immense sum. But it seems to me that if this bridge income was so very necessary, that provision would have been made in the measure which authorized the bonds this income was supposed to pay off which would have made mandatory the collection of such tolls until those bonds were paid. I know the workings of finance companies too well to believe that they would advance money on bonds for which there was no apparent method for payment. It just isn't good business for thme to buy bonds which show no method for payment, and it isn't done.

So, again I want to pay tribute to Gov. Graves and any others instrumental in freeing Alabama's bridges. Would that our state officials would make more moves like this in the interest of our people, however, always remembering that there are state obligations to be met. What I mean is, that all such collections should be stopped except that which is necessary to provide ample revenue for the state's operations and to, in time, pay off our state's obligations. Thanks, Gov. Graves, for this!

"LET NOT YOUR RIGHT HAND—"

Not many nights ago, after President Roosevelt had been charged with catering to the radical forces of the nation for votes, he stated in a speech that he did not want the support of the Communists and Socialists. Just after this renunciation, Jim Farley called on Alfred M. Landon to do likewise and renounce the support of big business—"economic royalists," in the words of the president.

On the face of this, it would seem that the president had cleared his skirts of Communism and its following. But let's look into this matter a little. President Roosevelt is a very shrewd politician—you must give him credit for that. He knows that he can safely renounce the support of Communism and still get that support, because his administration has been nothing more than a fulfillment of the combined Communist-Socialist platform—the president doesn't deny this. He knows that Communists and Socialists are very much awake, and that they will realize that he has renounced them for political purpose, while his administration has carried out their ideals to the letter, and they know or have just reason to believe that he would continue to do so if reelected.

On the other hand, President Roosevelt is hoping that there would be some who would not vote for him on account of his Communistic tendencies who may be fooled by this speech of renunciation and return to the fold, and no doubt there will be some who will do this very thing.

To those who contend that Roosevelt has not gone Communistic, I would like to ask them to compare the records a bit. Take a copy of the Socialist platform of 1932, and lay it down by the side of the Roosevelt record—they tally to a nicety in every respect. Now take a copy of the Democratic platform of 1932 and place that alongside the Roosevelt record, although he was elected on that platform and swore to carry it out, and you will find that he has hardly touched it; certainly he has not adhered to it.

Is it not reasonable to believe that the president conducted affairs according to his own ideas of what he and his brain trust thought best? And is it not reasonable to believe that the Socialists put their desires into their platform? If these two statements are true, and if Mr. Roosevelt has carried out the Socialist platform, which the record proves and which he does not deny, and has forgotten that of the Democratic party, is not this proof positive that Mr. Roosevelt is a Socialist, and that he has left the Democratic party of old, if in reality and sincerity he ever belonged to it? Does a Protestant minister preach Catholic beliefs? Does a black cat have white fur?

Considered in this light, we believe that anyone can see how safe Mr. Roosevelt could be in turning thumbs down on the Socialist and Communist vote, knowing that it would be his any way, while at the same time regaining any votes he may have lost on account of his tendency to policies of these parties.

Another thing, Wm. Randolph Hearst, arch enemy of Communism, has broken away from Roosevelt, although his newspaper chain supported him in 1932. Mr. Roosevelt has also become embroiled in a controversy with J. Edgar Hoover, head of the U. S. Department of Justice, and reports are that Mr. Hoover will be replaced by a New Dealer of the very deepest dye. Now, just a few days ago, one of the leading Communistic magazines printed a list of what its editor deemed the "greatest enemies to the common welfare" in this country—and at the very top of the list stood J. Edgar Hoover and Wm. Randolph Hearst, followed by a list of what might easily have been a list of Mr. Roosevelt's political enemies. William Bullitt is in high favor with the president, and he is an avowed Communist, yet he was picked to represent our country in "red" Russia just after we recognized her, and then was sent to represent us in France, just as soon as the "reds" gained control of that government.

If Roosevelt carried out and is carrying out Socialistic-Communistic platforms, and if he likes the things they like and the people and methods they like, is it not reasonable to suspect that he is one of them, and that there is an unspoken undestanding between them? Then, we contend, Mr. Roosevelt risked no loss by making his statement that he did not desire "red" support. He knew they would understand, and chuckle up their sleeves. "Birds of a feather flock together"—nothing was ever more true.—Man in the Moon.

SUPREME COURT MAJORITIES

By what votes has the Supreme Court declared acts unconstitutional?

In the century and a half under our Constitution, Congress has passed over 24,000 laws and the Supreme Court has found 66 of these unconstitutional. The score thus stands at 24,000 to 66, or 360 to 1.

On the 66 decisions, the vote of the Supreme Court was: 26 decisions by 9 to 0, 7 by 8 to 1, 12 by 7 to 2, 6 by 6 to 3, 10 by 5 to 4, and 5 decisions by various majorities.

Over a third of the decisions have been unanimous; one-half have been 8 to 1 or better; five-sixths have been by more than 5 to 4 majorities. The grand total vote on these decisions is 490 concurring to 99 dissenting, or 5 to 1 on the majority side.

Under our Constitution, ours is a government by majorities. Laws are passed in Congress by a majority vote; representatives, senators and the president are elected by a majority vote of the people; Supreme Court decisions are governed by majority votes.

The majorities by which Congress passes laws usually are small, while in elections by the people anything as good as or better than 5 to 4 proportions are called "landslides". But in the Supreme Court decisions shown above, one-sixth have been by as little as 5 to 4 majorities; about five-sixths have been by 6 to 3 or better, and the grand total on 66 decisions shows 490 concurrings against 99 dissenting or 5 to 1 favoring the prevailing decisions. No president except Washington was ever elected by such a majority.

TAKE THE HOME PAPER

We once knew a man who was too stingy to take the newspaper in his home town and always sent over to borrow his neighbor's paper.

One evening he sent his son over to borrow the paper, and while his son was on his way he ran into a large swarm of bees and in a few minutes his face looked like a summer squash.

Hearing the agonized cries of his son, the father ran to his assistance, and in doing so ran into a barbed wire fence, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $4 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the hole in the fence, got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Haring the racket, the farmer's wife ran out of the house, upsetting a 4-gallon churn full of cream into a basket of kittens and killed the whole flock. She slipped on the cream and fell downstairs, breaking her leg and a $19 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the cream into a parlor and ruined a $40 carpet. During the excitement, the daughter eloped with the hired man and took all the family's savings with her.

The moral is that every man should be a subscriber to his home paper.—The Tunkhannock (Pa.) Republican and New Age.

A physician estimates he has saved $800 by not having a shave in 52 years. It seems reasonable. Consider what he has saved in ties alone.—Jacksonville (Mich.) Citizen-Patriot.

It is the most astonishing paradox that people, according to the survey, are living ten years longer, when, what with droughts, depressions and the like, there would seem to be so much less to live for.—Hartford Courant.

They say that you can forecast a child's career at the age of six. After observing a number of modern children we feel confident that none of them is going to become President of the United States.—Salem (Mass.) News.

Dr. Townsend's mind seems subject to frequent political changes. But he remains firm on the main issue. A bargain offer of $198 a month would not appeal to him.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Sen. Norris will run again and will shun the party label, so the newspapers tell us. This year he is going to shun the label before the election instead of waiting until afterward.

In the lexicon of the Brain Trust, a statesman is a tory who has embraced the New Deal, while an economic royalist is a statesman who has deserted the New Deal for traditional American principles.

A German professor at the Harvard Conference of Arts and Sciences told about a process of making synthetic food out of sawdust. We have heard about that. Don't you put sugar and cream on it and eat it for breakfast?

The New Dealers are now ready to promise a balanced budget, no new taxes, plenty of rain in 1937.

LIVING COSTS

The nation is beginning to pay the bill for certain New Deal follies. Quite generally and very materially the cost of living is going up. It is true that the prolonged and serious drouth is directly to blame for most of the current price increases, but were this country comfortably stocked with its normal surpluses of crops and commodities there would not yet be felt any serious price reactions because of drouth effects.

What the drouth has done, concretely, is this: Curtailed the corn crop until production is so far below domestic demand that we must purchase necessary requirements from Argentina; stunted the wheat output until it is only a few million bushels higher than actual domestic consumtion; cut so sharply the potato crop that the price has risen from around 42 cents a bushel to above $1.50 in less than a year; brought about shortages in sweet corn, peas, fruits, melons, and almost every other variety of fruit and vegetable until today the housewife is paying 13 cents for 2 ears of sweet corn, 15 cents for a can of peas that sold for half that much a year ago, and so on.

But if the nation had been stocked as of yore with millions of bushels of wheat and corn and oats carried over from previous surpluses; had not farmers been asked to curtail production of other items, and had not the government waged a sensational campaign to bring about its fabled "abundance of scarcity" today's living costs would have been only nominally higher. As a specific instance, witness pork. It is soaring at an almost unprecedented rate and as the prices rise, ghosts of 6,000,000 little pigs and brood sows must surely haunt the progenitors of the scarcity theory, while these latter view with increasing alarm from Washington the rapidly changing condition of living costs that they have brought about.

Now, these experts at Washington warn, the housewife may expect to pay still more for needs of the family larder, going so far as to specify that commodities which cost about $10 today, will, in a very short while, cost up to $12.

Of course, great pains are taken by Messrs. Roosevelt, Wallace and Tugwell to blame it all on the drouth, and while busy at this task none of them mention the plow-under campaign, the kill-the-pigs edict, nor any of the other glaring major mistakes the brain trusters made in putting their theories into practice.—Ohio State Journal.

AT AMERICA'S ROOTS

Gov. Landon's ability to relate campaign issues to fundamentals was never better illustrated than in what he had to say at Des Moines about the "family-type" farm. Here he probed to the roots from which our institutions are sprung and declared his faith in their cultivation. For let us not forget that the establishment of the "family-type" farm was the first concern of our earliest immigrant ancestors and that to a country of "family-type" farmers we owe the Constitution, with everything it implies of self-reliant industry, of property rights of local autonomy and of freedom of speech and conscience.

We hear a great deal today about the conservation of our national resources, of our soil, our forests, our mineral wealth, Etc., but not enough of the conservation of our natural spiritual resources, of which the "family-type" farm is the matrix. The two must be conserved together if we are to defend the America we know and love against the erosion of our industrial revolution. Mr. Landon's appreciation of the fact is not the least of the evidences he has given that his understanding of our national problems is touched with profundity.

Both as an economic unit and as a way of life the "family-type" farm has suffered for generations from the siege of those powerful forces released by modern invasion. The opportunities offered by industry and commerce have been luring from it the youngsters who otherwise would have carried it on. Cheap transportation, among other things, has stimulated the substitution of the single "money crop" for diversification of self-containment. This has led to farm land speculation, to the "corporate farm," to farm tenancy. The wonder is not that the process has whittled our "family-type" farms to a remnant of their former number, but that it has failed to wipe them out.—New York Herald Tribune.

The total cost of government, federal, state and local was $114.11 in 1934. For the average family of four these figures are $456.44. This applies only to the cost of government. If the national debt were divided equally among all persons in the country it would mean an additional personal debt of $269 for each person or $1,076 per family. That is the amount that must be paid by each family in taxes to eventually clear up our national debt.

The pacifist who tossed feathers at a legion meeting regretted his prodigality. He needed some of them to land on.—Omaha World-Herald.

A review of state events told in brief

Claire Mae Jones is president of the Morgan Literary Society for Women at Jacksonville State Teachers College.

A group of 150 European engineers visited the federal government's TVA projects in the Muscle Shoals area.

Work is progressing fairly well on the Tuscaloosa municipal airport near Northport, 50 men being employed.

Atmore closed its fiscal year and the four-years term of its mayor and city council with a cash surplus of $3,500.

Miss Mildred Moore, of Opelika, has succeeded Miss Eulene Hawkins as director of the Lee County Welfare Department.

George R. (Jack) Stuart, Jr., has resigned as assistant solicitor of Jefferson County to enter private practice in Birmingham.

Thirty-five counties are represented in the enrollment of Troy Teachers College this year, Pike County leading with 85 students.

Scouting in Athens and Limestone County is making strides with five new troops in various parts of the county expected to be organized.

Dr. Floyd F. Cunningham, of Florence State Teachers College, is writing a 3,000-word article on Alabama for a widely-known encyclopedia.

Lauderdale County has only one fourth as many dairy cattle as it needs, Gilman Doss, proprietor of the Sunnybrook Dairy told Florence Rotarians.

The Pike County Conservation Council to prevent waste of fish, game, forests and streams has been organized with the Rev. Joseph H. Harvey, chairman.

With a personnel of 50 members, Athens College Glee Club has the largest number in its history. Trips over the state will be made during the season.

The Samson Boy Scout troop has been donated a six acre tract of land on Flat creek by C. A. Watson of Samson. The plot will be used for a recreation camp.

The Tallassee Mills announced that employes would be given a 5 per cent raise in salary, effective Oct. 5. The raise represents an increase of about $1,500 to the pay roll.

Union Springs dedicated a newly lighted athletic field with an address by Congressman Henry B. Steagall and a football game between the Union Springs and Troy High Schools.

Goodwater Shirt Factory, which began a short time ago to manufacture work shirts, has to work over time to fill orders. Additional machines will have to be put in to meet demands for the products.

Officials report a 30 per cent increase in the Federal Barge Lines tonnage on the Warrior-Tombigbee division for the first nine months of this year as compared with the corresponding period of a year ago.

Mrs. J. T. Gannaway, Anniston, was elected president and Montgomery was chosen as the 1937 convention city as the Alabama State Nurses Association concluded its twenty-fourth annual convention in Huntsville.

Alabama will have to import about 2,500 work horses and approximately 31,000 work mules from other states for replacements alone before the 1937 work season starts, reports J. C. Grimes, head of the animal husbandy department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The L. & N. Railroad placed an order for 27,000 tons of open hearth carbon steel rails with the Tennessee Company valued at approximately $1,000,000 and distributed orders for $250,000 worth of bolts, tie-plates, spikes, frogs and switches to the T. C. I. and other manufacturers.

Writing in the Tuscaloosa News, Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, said: "I am deeply interested in the 'Go-to-Church' campaign. No one will ever regret having formed the habit of going to church. Thousands have lived to regret the habit of staying away."

Ray Crow, state works progress administrator, has accepted membership on the board of trustees of the Tennessee Valley Associated Cooperatives, a non-profit corporation to provide general supervision and serve as a lending agency for numerous cooperative groups in the area.

Sam Watkins, mayor of Dora and newly elected president of the Alabama Pharmaceutical Association, brought honor to himself and his state when he was elected second vice president of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

The cost of educating one pupil in the Birmingham public schools last year amounted to only $3.22, two cents less than was spent on the average student there in 1934 and far below $9.56, the national average cost per student in cities between 100,00 and 1,000,000 population.

Mrs. Hugh Jones was a visitor in Montgomery Monday.

MRS VIRGINIA BLACK WALKER

News has come of the death of Mrs. Virginia Black Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Black, of Birmingham. She was a grand daughter of the late Robert A. Hardy and Mrs. Lula Hardy, who lived here several years ago. She has a number of good friends in Chilton County, having visited here a number of times. A full account of her death will be given next week, as we were unable to get any particulars as to funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Walker was very young, and had been married only a short time. She was ill for about a week, but her condition was not considered especially serious, until she suddenly took a turn for worse, and died Monday night, October 12.

BILLINGSLEY P.-T. A.

Some good things I see in the Union

It teaches us the Golden Rule, to do as we wish to be done by. It gives us education in the practical things of life, assisting us to do things we could not do without this education.

It gives support to us in the battle of life, in the fact that great numbers of farm people North, South, East, and West, are banded togather with us working for the same thing, and with farm people all over Americr. Our aims are to lift up those who work on the farms to a happier life.

It teaches us to avoid debts and mortgages, so we can have a freer and more independent life. It teaches us to be careful, how, what, and to whom we speak and to assist those in distress.

We want all good people to come into the Union fold. United we stand divided we fall.—Miss Johnie Smith.

I am also a Union girl, in local 295. I know the farmers, they have born the heat and burden of the day. They feed and clothe the world.

They only ask for cost of production, that we think is right.

Our organization stands for rights and justice, and I am glad to be a member of such a worthy order.

By and by our hopes and aims will prevail, and I am glad to help bring it to pass.—Miss Linnie Crumpton.

I am a member of the F. E. and C. U. of America, local 295.

I like the Union, because the members cooperate in buying and selling, they cooperate in aiding the distressed.

We believe in high grade farming.

It makes us more socialable.

It builds up a community.

It works harm to no one.

The more we work the Union, the more benefits received.

It is just fine to be one of the great number that composed the F. E. and C U. of America.

I try to be a one hundred per cent Union member.—Miss Sallie Dawson.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school is growing. We have 113 on roll now. Attendance is good. Cool weather is coming, but don't let that keep you from Sunday school.

Misses Lera and Delene Glenn spent the past week end with their cousin, Miss Elmer Reene Jones.

Mr. Jasper Scarbrough and family of Mt. Pisgah sent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Devaughn.

Mr. Ottis Glenn spent a few days last week visiting in Montgomery.

Mrs. Malcolm Tindoll and Mrs. Merritt Wilson spent a few hours Monday with Mrs. W. F. Glenn.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn left Tuesday morning for Cairo, Ga., where she will be for some time visiting her sister, Mrs. Dock Crew, and other relatives.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn and children had as their dinner guests Monday Messrs. Leslie and Jesse Crew, from Cairo, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wise spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Downs and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Devaughn are the proud parents of a fine baby girl which they have named Joyce Ann. Both mother and baby are doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rollan were visiting in this community during the week end.

Mr. Curtis Jones had as his guest this past week end his cousin, Ernest Jones, from Coopers.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Tindoll from Clanton were here visiting Mr. Merritt Wilson and family Sunday night.

REFUGE

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Bear in mind the change in services. No meeting Saturday. Hereafter we will meet at 11:00 a.m., and 7 p.m., on Sundays.

The singing was almost rained out last Thursday night, although a few met and enjoyed several songs. We will meet again next Thursday night, and several have promised to be with us who were not out at the last meeting. The Devaughns will be here, also the Glasscocks from Jemison. There will be plenty of books. We will meet at 7 p.m.—Ruth Lockhart, reporter.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

A special program Sunday morning will begin the observance of Childhood and Youth Week. The theme for the week is "Christian Growth in the Home." At the eleven o'clock service four laymen and lay women will appear on the program They are: Mrs. L. J. Stewart, Mrs. Reid Mullins, Mr. Omar L. Reynolds, and Mr. V. J. Elmore. The choir will lso render special music. During the week teachers in the Children's Division and the Intermediate Department will visit in the homes of their pupils. Then on Friday night beginning at 7 P. M. of next week all the adults of the church are expected to assemble in the basement of the church for a very interesting program. Watch for futher announcements concerning this night and make your plans now to be present.

Mr. Middlebrooks is attending the Alabama Conference Educational Council meeting in Montgomery this week Wednesday and Thursday. He has been asked to speak on certain phases or the program of adult work for the conference. He will take part in the discussion Friday and Saturday when the adult section of the Educational Council has a special session.

The last quarterly conference in the local church will be held Friday night Oct. 23. The Board of Stewards has announced that a special effort will be made to meet all finacial obligations by that time and the membership of the church has been requested to make this goal possible by paying in full the pledges for the year by the date of the quarterly conference. At this stage of the conference year the church is said to be in excellent shape compared with former years.

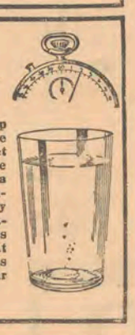
Now Ease Neuritis Pains Fast

Bayer Tablets Dissolve Almost Instantly
In 2 seconds by stop watch, a genuine BAYER Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work. Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. What happens in this glass . . . happens in your stomach.



For Amazingly Quick Relief Get Genuine Bayer Aspirin
If you suffer from pains of neuritis what you want is quick relief.
Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets give quick relief, for one reason, because they dissolve or disintegrate almost instantly they touch moisture. (Note illustration above.)
Hence — when you take a real Bayer Aspirin tablet it starts to dissolve almost as quickly as you swallow it. And thus is ready to start working almost instantly . . . headaches, neuralgia and neuritis pains start easing almost at once.
That's why millions never ask for aspirin by the name aspirin alone when they buy, but always say "BAYER ASPIRIN" and see that they get it.
Try it. You'll say it's marvelous.

Lesson for October 18

THE SPOKEN AND THE WRITTEN WORD

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:1, 5-11; I Thessalonians 2:7-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword. Heb. 4:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When People Read the Bible.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Power of Jesus' Name.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How May I Win Others to Christ?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Evangelism and the Bible.

The persecution at Philippi served not to discourage Paul and Silas, but rather to send them forward into new territory with the gospel message. Passing through two cities they came to Thessalonica, then as now a city of considerable importance. After a successful though stormy ministry there they journeyed forty miles to Berea, where the Word was gladly received.

The portion of our lesson from the Book of Acts relates how the Word was preached and received in these two cities, and the excerpt from the letter which Paul later wrote to the Thessalonian church shows what manner of life the preacher sought to live among them.

I. Preaching the Word (Acts 17; 1, 5-8).

Paul's experience at Thessalonica presents an excellent illustration of

1. How the Word should be preached (vv. 1, 5-8).

This section is incomplete without verses 2-4, which are omitted from the printed portion but should be included in the study of the lesson. Notice four things concerning his preaching.

a. The place (v. 1). Paul went to the synagogue, not by chance or because it was a great religious holiday, but because it was his "custom." The synagogue was the center of Jewish worship, and there Paul met those who were ready to receive the Word of God.

Some Christians are content to remain comfortably in church and forget to go out into the highways and hedges, but there are others who have become so accustomed to going elsewhere that they neglect the opportunity for spiritual ministry in the church.

b. The method (vv. 2-3). "Reasoning from the Scriptures." No better method has ever been devised. It is God's method. Let us get back to exposition of the Scriptures—"opening" them to men and women, "alleging," or setting out in order the truth.

c. The subject (v. 3). He preached three fundamental doctrines—the atonement, the resurrection, and the deity of Christ. Scripture preaching will be doctrinal.

d. The result (vv. 4-8). Faithful preaching of God's Word brings one of two results in the hearts of men—they are either "persuaded" and converted, or they become angry and persecute. Those who rightly received the truth were glad to join with Paul; the others raised a hue and cry because Paul and Silas were turning "the world upside down." As a matter of fact the world was already wrongside up, and Paul sought to set it right.

It is still upside down in our day.

Coming to Berea, we find Paul's experience there an illustration of

2. How the Word should be received (vv. 9-11).

Good hearers are as important as good preachers. How should the Word be received?

a. With readiness of mind (v. 11). This is a mark of nobility. The world regards the sophisticated doubter as the learned man, but he is not. Noble is the mind and heart that receives God's truth.

b. Carefully and thoughtfully (v. 11). There would be less error and folly in the pulpit if there were more intelligent Bible study in the pew. Do not assume that what some learned professor, or distinguished radio preacher says is true. Check his message by the Word.

In the final portion of our lesson Paul tells the Thessalonians that when he was with them he was concerned not only about preaching the Word, but also about

II. Living the Life (I Thess. 2:7-12)

Paul did not contradict his preaching by his living. His was a

1. Sacrificial service (vv. 7-9).

The man who preaches for his own glory—or gain—is not a true preacher of the gospel.

2. Consistent example (vv. 10-12).

The minister of Christ must be have "holily, righteously, and unblamably" if his people are to "walk worthy of God."

Our Place in the World

Whatever the place allotted to us by Providence, that for us is the post of honor and duty. God estimates us not by the position we are in, but by the way in which we fill it.—Tyron Edwards.

UNION GROVE

Health of this community is very good at present. We are glad to say that Miss Itarah Porter is back at home after being in the hospital at Birmingham, and is improving; hope to see her out soon. Our Sunday school was good Sunday, with a good attendance; hope it will continue, so we had a large crowd out last Friday night to hear Brother Bryan's lecture.

Some from here attended the singing at Pleasant Hill, Sunday evening, and was reported a good singing.

Mr. J. M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mims, and Son Charles, and Mrs. Carl Bean of Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Martin, Sunday.

Miss Doris Martin visited Miss Winnie Kate Robinson and Miss Franky Vinzant was the dinner guest of Miss Laneal Dorminey, Sunday.

Miss Winnie Kate Robinson, Miss Larene Vinzant, and Mr. Linard Chandler were the dinner guests of Miss Doris Martin Sunday.

The Farmers County Union met here last Saturday with a good attendance and added some new members to the Union. Hope everyone will remember Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and be on time, and bring some one with you. We was glad to see so many of the boys out last Sunday.

12,163 BALES UP TO OCTOBER 1

Statistics from the Department of Commerce disclose that there were ginned in Chilton County up to October 1, 12,163 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales. This compares with 9,894 bales ginned in the county up to October 1, 1935.

J. H. KNOX WARNS AGAINST "PATERNALISTIC GOVERNMENT"

(From "Voice of the People," in The Birmingham News.)

To the Editor The News:

There is an alarming growth of the spirit of defeatism among our young men and women of today. They seem to be losing their individual initiative and ambition.

It is time the older people of the country woke up to their responsibilities and encouraged youth to regain that confidence, that will to do, that never-dying spirit, that will carry them over all obstacles and drive them on to success and confidence. Are the present paternal activities of our government conducive to that faith in the future that beckons them on to still greater achievements?

Our president has said, "We have no more frontiers to conquer," and so we will have to regiment our lives and dig in or give up. I, with millions of others, disagree with him in that statement.

When the original settlers of this country were planning to come to America, many who had that same defeatist spirit tried to persuade them not to come. Fifty years ago, after the best of our lands had been settled and most of the gold fields exploited, we had those among us who said we were at the end of the road; and yet, at that time, we were on the eve of the greatest era of prosperity the world has ever known. We are only stopping now to pick up the slack, ready for another onward march of progress to still greater heights. No, we have not conquered all the frontiers.

If our lives and businesses are going to be regimented from Washington, and all individual initiative stifled, then perhaps we are at the end of our road. That individualistic spirit was the power that drove our forefathers through the wilderness and enabled them to conquer it. That same spirit was what drove our industrialists through uncharted fields to great prosperity for our whole land and helped to create for our people the highest standard of living of any nation on earth.

Let us forget party lines and vote for the president who will secure to every individual the fullest measure of individual activity secured by the Constitution. We have but one choice. That is Gov. Landon.—P. H. Knox, Clanton, Ala.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons
DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination, backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?
Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

BAPTIST — METHODIST CHURCH

This is to announce that Circle No. 2 of the Baptist church and Circle No. 1 of the Methodist church will be joint hosts to a "Twelve Month Tea" to be held at the new city hall auditorium at 2 o'clock on October 16. Immediately after the tea three will be a treasure hunt, fortune telling, and other amusements. At 7 o'clock on the same day and at the same place there will be a Hallowe'en party. Everyone is urged to come and bring their friends, as a real treat is in store for those who come. The admission price will be 15 cents.

INDEPENDENT MISSIONARY BAPTISTS TO MEET SOON

The independent missionary churches of Alabama will convene with Proctor Creek Baptist church, in Coosa County, beginning Monday night, Oct. 26, at 7:00 o'clock, and continuing on through 27 and 28. Proctor Creek is located about 6 miles east of Mitchell Dam, about 13 miles south of Rockford. The church gives one and all a special invitation to come and be with us in the services.—Leo Hull, Titus, Ala., Route 1.

TOM ROBBINS DEAD

Tom Robbins, age 80, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter of Enterprise community, Wednesday morning, October 14, at 5:45 o'clock. The funeral is being held at Mt. Pisgah at 10:00 a.m. Thursday, Rev. J. D. Hughes to conduct the funeral. Spigener Funeral Home is in charge.

Mr. Robbins is survived by one daughter, Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter.

MRS. MAHALA NORTHCUTT DEAD

Mrs. Mahalla Northcutt, age 88 years, widow of the late Martin Northcutt, died at the home of Mr. L. H. Bean at Jemison Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The funeral was held Wednesday at Rocky Mount church, Rev. J. N. Green officiating. Spigener was in charge.

Besides one adopted son, Raymond Northcutt, she is survived by several nephews and nieces, among whom is L. H. Bean of Jemison, George Glenn of Bessemer, and Mrs. Breem of Bessemer.

4-H CLUB OF THOMAS JR.

Tuesday, October 13th. The Home Demonstration agent, Miss Grace met with the girls of Thomas Jr. for the purpose of organizing a 4-H club. A large crowd was present and every one likes the new leader. The club was well organized, and the officers for the following year were elected.

They were as follows:
President, Lela Popwell.
Vice-President, Ester Dennis.
Secretary, Mary Pearl Holley.
Treasurer, Murriel Glenn.
Leader, No. 1. Mamie Wilson.
Leader, No. 2. Pearlie Mae Driver.
Leader, No. 3. Getelane Mims.
Leader, No. 4. Bonnie Guy.

Every member is going to strive to make this years work a success.

HON. J. B. SLOAN SPEAKS HERE SATURDAY MORNING, 17TH

The Hon. James B. Sloan, of Oneonta, Ala., will address the voters of Chilton county at the courthouse in Clanton Saturday morning, October 17th, at 10:30 o'clock. Mr. Sloan is one of the outstanding Republican speakers of Alabama, and the Republican Committee of Chilton County feels fortunate in getting him to speak to us. Mr. Sloan has been mayor of his home town for some years past, and enjoys the highest respect of the great many Alabamians who have chanced to know him.

This will likely be the only speaking at the courthouse before the election, and the Campaign Committee urges all who can to attend. Remember that the date is Saturday, October 17th, and the hour is 10:30 in the morning. The speaker is a man of broad experience, and you will enjoy hearing him speak.

MARRIED IN ANDALUSIA

Among the Clanton people attending the Brooks-Hayes wedding in Andalusia Wednesday were Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. James Wade, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes and daughters Bess and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. W. L. Longshore of Birmingham, Miss Virginia Cook, Mrs. Grady Broadhead of Montgomery, and Mr. Alex Hayes of Tuscaloosa.

Miss Edith Green, attendanec officer of Chilton County, attended Homecoming Day at Montevallo Saturday.

We wish to apologize for an error in last week's locals. Miss Dewey Branch has not accepted a position in Birmingham, but is at home here in Clanton. We beg Miss Branch's pardon that we were misinformed.

Mrs. Willie Jones is spending this week in Montgomery as the guest of her son.

GREEN TOMATO MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE NIGHT OF 15TH

Another meeting in the interest of the growing and shipping of green tomatoes will be held at the city hall in Clanton on Thursday night, October 15th, beginning at 7 o'clock. Mr. C. J. Hayden, of the L. & N. Railroad Company will be present; the local promoters are Messrs. J. N. Dennis and L. E. Diefenderfer.

Everybody interested are invited to attend this meeting. The growing and marketing of green tomatoes from Chilton county can be made into a large and paying business. It has been done at other places where the soil and other conditions were no more favorable than ours. Try and attend this meeting at the city hall.

The friends of Mr. J. Q. Wade will regret to know that he is confined to a hospital in Montgomery. Mrs. Wade is staying in Montgomery with Mr. Wade.

DIED IN SELMA HOSPITAL

On Friday night, October 9, 1936, Mr. Jap Lawrence died in the Baptist Hospital at Selma, at 7:00 o'clock.

For 73 long years he trod this world trying each step to walk with the all-wise God whom he served, and when at that sad hour called His faithful servant home. Although his face at sweet smile we here no more can see, his gentle, kind ways and words of comfort live on. As he lived so he died, a true hearted Christian. He was a loyal member of Tabernacle church.

This we know, our loss is Heaven's gain.

He was the father of ten children, six of whom are living. He has five brothers and one sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Burnett returned Sunday from a week's vacation at the Texas Centennial.

Mr. and Mrs. Broadus Connatser of Houston, Texas, are visiting friends and relatives here this week.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION HERE FRIDAY NIGHT, OCTOBER 23

There will be a fiddlers convention at the courthouse in Clanton Friday night, October 23rd, beginning at 7:00 o'clock, sponsored by Clanton Junior school. A long list of prizes will be offered the contestants. All fiddlers who wish to compete for the prizes should see or write Mr. U. H. Abrams at an early date. A small admission will be charged at the door.

THE ROADS MUST BE WORKED

The road supervisor system of road maintenance must surely be a wonderful one. Of course, you can't tell it by looking at the roads of Chilton County, but it must be true, because Rep. Charlie Cox told us it would be, and it just must be.

The latest interesting report from our roads, however, is that in at least one beat in our county, the ladies are going out and working the roads, so that they can get to church on Sunday.

The report comes from Beat 1, and is as follows:

The supervisor was asked to repair a certain road in Beat 1, inasmuch as "big meeting" was about to begin, so that several of the members could attend. The supervisor is quoted as treating the request with sarcasm, telling this person that if the people would only be patient the bed of the creek would be paved and the road glossed over.

However, no help came to do the needed work, so one of the good brethren got a bunch of the sisters together, while their husbands were busy making a living, and went out and worked their road.

Our informant tells us this in all sincerity, and says that if there is a "doubting Thomas" to send him around, and he will verify the report, as he acted as "foreman" for this new "road gang".

Quite a recommendation for the new system. What do you think?

JUDGE SLOANE WILL SPEAK AT OAK GROVE NIGHT OF 30

At the Republican meeting to be held at Oak Grove schoolhouse Friday night, October 30th, Judge Wallace M. Sloane, of Montgomery, will be the principal speaker. Judge Sloane, a native of DeKalb county, is a life-long Republican and a very interesting speaker. It is hoped that all of the Beats in the northern part of the county will be well represented at this speaking at Oak Grove. The hour will be 7:00 o'clock. The Devaughn quartet will sing at this meeting.

TWO LARGE POTATOES

Two fine potatoes were brought in to The Union-Banner office last Friday by Mr. Jadie Bean, the two weighing eleven pounds. One other smaller potato had been gathered from the same hill, Mr. Bean stated. Mr. Bean lives near Collins Chapel on Route 4.

MORE PROOF REDS BACK ROOSEVELT

Communist Candidate Says Landon Must Be Defeated

New York, Oct. 17.—Despite the statements of President Roosevelt that he has neither sought, nor will accept support from subversive elements, these instructions were laid in an address here by Robert Z. Minor, Communist candidate for governor of New York.

Minor declared:

"Our primary object in this election is the defeat of Landon.

"Landon is the shirt front for all the Fascists in the country. He is the puppet of William Randolph Hearst. The only way to maintain the present living wage is to vote for Earl Browder or for Roosevelt.

"If you don't vote the Communist ticket, vote for Roosevelt.

"In the United States we have a two-party system. If Landon is defeated, it can only be by Roosevelt.

"We are anxious to get as many votes for the Communist party as we possibly can. But the Communist party is not one of the two major parties, so we tell workers who have not yet broken away from the two-party system it is their duty to vote for Roosevelt.

"We are not so irresponsible as to say: 'If you don't vote Communist it doesn't matter how you vote.'

"It does matter, and Landon must be defeated."

FIXED BAD PLACE ON SIDEWALK

The city has this week leveled up a bad and unsightly place on the important sidewalk in the city—that part of the sidewalk leading into the alley beside Clanton Laundry, on Sixth Street. There was a jump-off in the sidewalk, which was not only unsightly but dangerous. That had been leveled up and put in fine shape.

SHERIFF'S REPORT FOR WEEK

The last few days have been calm ones for the force of Sheriff Hardy, since nothing sensational has come under their custody.

There has been one person arrested for violating the prohibition law; he has been released on bond. One arrested for petit larceny also was released on bond. There were two arrests for public drunkenness, one is out on bond and the other is in jail. The charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated was placed against one person, and the same was released on making bond. One charged with reckless driving is out on bond.

YOUNG WIFE DIED

Mrs. Emma Ruth Tippett, age 19, wife of Nathan Tippett, died last Sunday morning at a Birmingham hospital. The body was brought here by Martin and Sons and prepared. Burial was at Samaria Monday afternoon, Martin and Sons in charge. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Paul Mixon, of Montgomery.

Besides her husband, she is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fate Downing, of near Jemison.

Republican Meetings Announced At Places Over Chilton County

Freeman, Providence, Union Grove, Oak Grove Slated For Republican Speakings During The Coming Week.

Tonight, Thursday, October 22nd, the Republican speaking will be held at Freeman school-house, on the line of Beats 2 and 14. Judge J. O. Middleton will speak, assisted by others. The Devaughn quartet will sing. All are invited, especially ladies and young citizens.

Friday night, October 23rd, the speakers will be at Providence schoolhouse, Beat 16. This beat was at one time one of the banner Republican beats of the county, and it is expected that it will make a good showing for the ticket this time. The date for Union Grove is Tuesday night, October 27th, and at Oak Grove Friday night, October 30th. This is the last speaking before the county-wide meeting to be held at Thorsby Monday night before the election, when Hon. C. O. Vardaman will speak.

The Union Grove meeting will be held in the church instead of at the schoolhouse, as announced heretofore.

Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his family quartet will furnish music for all of these meetings. They have made a big hit in appearances at the meetings already held, and you cannot afford to miss hearing this fine bunch of singers. They are as good as can be found.

ACTIVITIES WITH ABSENTEE BALLOTS BY DEMOCRATS ARE EXPOSED

During the past few days attention has been directed to a certain application for an absentee ballot which had been received by the probate judge of Chilton County. This application, apparently in proper form, came to the probate office, and reads as follows:

REQUEST FOR ABSENTEE BALLOT

Anniston, Ala., Oct. 3, 1936.

Hon. J. Lee Smith, Judge of Probate, Clanton, Alabama.

Dear Sir:

By reason of my being absent from Chilton County in connection with my regular business, or in performance of my regular duties on the 3rd day of November, 1936, I hereby make application for an absentee ballot that I may vote in the election to be held on the 3rd day of November, 1936.

My name is E. E. Deramus, and I vote in Precinct No. 7. Mail my ballot to E. E. Deramus, Anniston, Alabama, Route No. 1.

The questionable part about the application does not pertain to the probate office, but as to whether or not that voter actually signed the application. A number of reliable people in Beat 7 say that the only E. E. Deramus they know of was Edgar Deramus, who was killed in the storm on March 21, 1932. The cards of the poll list in the probate office have been examined, and there is only one card in that file with the name of E. E. Deramus on it, and that card has been there for a number of years, about corresponding with the age of Edgar Deramus, who was killed in the storm.

Complaints From Beat 11

A citizen reports that two men have been working recently in Beat 11, and have offered voters $4.00 to vote the Democratic ticket by means of an absentee ballot, promising to pay them $1.00 more after they have voted. You will remember that it was in Beat 11 where lots of corruption was perpetrated, or attempted to be perpetrated, two years ago. It seems that the same thing is being tried this year.

The man making this report regarding the absentee work in Beat 11 writes to T. E. Wyatt: "If you want me to tell who they were, see me."

Earle Parrish and J. E. Easterling in Elmore County

Probably the most sensational thing that has come to light regarding absentee ballots this year is revealed in reports made by Mr. J. H. Cowart, who lives near Deatsville, in Elmore County, but is registered in this county. This report by Mr. Cowart reveals some very interesting manipulations of two absentee ballots by Messrs. Earle Parrish and J. E. Easterling, the latter being the Democratic nominee for county treasurer, and the former being the son of Mr. J. Monroe Parrish, Democratic nominee for commissioner from the fourth district.

Mr. Cowart says that Messrs. Parrish and Easterling came to him and his brother, Charlie, at their home, on Monday, November 12th, and asked them to vote an absentee ballot. The Cowarts told them that they wanted to vote a Republican ticket, whereupon Mr. J. E. Easterling said, or words to that effect: "You have known me a long time and know that I and my folks have always been Republicans, but I had to run on the Democratic ticket to be elected. All the Republican candidates up there were beat in the primary".

Surely the laws of the sovereign state of Alabama do not intend to permit such wholesale fraudulence in the election of its officials. Some of these things that are said to have happened sound like child's play, but it, in reality, is more like a child playing with a rattle snake or dynamite or something equally as dangerous. A man's ballot is supposed to be a sacred heritage—something that patriotic citizens cherish and prize most highly, and to pull frivolous pranks with a man's ballot as is being tried in this campaign is a shame on civilization and an affrontery upon the good name of every conscientious voter in Chilton County.

It will be noted from Mr. Cowart's statement that Messrs. Earle Parrish and J. E. Easterling told him that the Republicans did not have out any candidates for county offices in Chilton County—that such candidates had already been eliminated from the race, or words to that effect. Such misleading statements only go to show to what extent some people will stoop in order to gain their point in a political fight.

The said Mr. J. H. Cowart came to Clanton Monday of this week, and called for his ballot, which had already been turned in at the probate office. In the presence of Probate Judge J. Lee Smith and Mr. Percy M. Pitts, Mr. Cowart opened the envelope containing the ballot, and after examining it stated that the ballot had been changed since he marked it at Deatsville on October 12th.

There are likely numbers of others who have been misled into voting an absentee ballot, as Mr. Cowart and his brother were, and if so, they should call at the probate office and demand their ballot, and destroy it, as this gentleman has done, and then come and vote in person on election day. The law gives a voter this right, up until five days before the election. After that, he can only demand his ballot on election day.

The Union-Banner knows that the law-abiding, liberty-loving citizens of Chilton County do not approve of such tactics as those enumerated above, and will register their disapproval of the same on November 3rd. The most decisive way to register disapproval of such malpractice is to vote the straight Republican ticket at this coming election. Our candidates do not approve of it, and our county organization does not approve of it.

FORD INDORSES LANDON AS REAL BUSINESS MAN

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14.—Governor Landon, a modestly successful business man from a "typical prairie state," was given a sweeping indorsement for the Presidency today by Henry Ford, one of the world's most successful business men.

Ford praised Landon as a man fully qualified for the Presidency. He expressed a hope that Landon would be elected, and a belief in his ability to solve the nation's problems.

The world's greatest auto manufacturer also denounced the Roosevelt "social security" program as a "cruel joke" to the millions of workers in American industry. He described it as a law fixing "social security at the level of about 50 cents a day 20 years from now. He pleaded with workers to inquire into the law, under which the Federal Government begins collecting pay roll taxes from both employers and employes' pay envelopes next January.

Ford issued a prepared statement indorsing Landon, before the Republican nominee left here to continue his campaign tour of the industrial areas of Michigan. Landon headed northward for visits to Flint, Lansing, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids.

POLITICAL SPEAKING AT CANE CREEK NIGHT OF 29

Under auspices of the Republican campaign committee, there will be a speaking at Cane Creek schoolhouse Thursday night, October 29th, beginning at 7:00 o'clock. There will be some good speakers present to explain the issues of the present campaign. The Devaughn quartet will be present and sing several selections. The public is urged to attend, especially the ladies and young voters.

SIX IN MAYOR'S COURT

During the last few days, there have been six persons arraigned before Mayor C. Fenn Jones, under various charges. There were three for public drunkenness, one for driving while intoxicated, and two for fighting. All six of the offenders were tried and fined; some paid their costs; some are working out their fines on the streets, and some are paying their fines in weekly installments.

NEW DEAL BURIES OFFICIAL REPORTS

Delaying Until After Election To Hide The Drop In Trade.

Washington, Oct. 20. — The Department of Commerce is not only concealing comparative statements which show a rapid increase in the adverse balance of trade against the United States, but is delaying the issuance of official reports, apparently for political reasons.

The statistical corps of federal departments are diverted from their official duties to prepare partisan political material for New Deal spellbinders. And the figures thus given out are misleading through suppression of material facts.

Under previous administrations the "Monthly Summary of Foreign Commerce of the United States" was issued within five weeks of the month reported. Now there is long delay.

The monthly summary for July, 1936, did not appear until October 2. The press summary for August, issued September 30, is not available to the general public. It suppresses comparisons which would show that the total adverse trade balance has rapidly risen during 1936.

The regular and full monthly summary for August will not appear until after election, if the July delay is a criterion of official policy.

SINKLER MINOR DEAD

George Sinkler Minor, age 61, died at the home in Poplar Springs community, early Tuesday morning. The funeral was held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at Chestnut Creek, and burial was in the cemetery at that place, Martin & Sons in charge.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Nora Devaughn Minor, he is survived by several sons and daughters.

W. W. JONES DIED AT LOMAX

W. W. (Bill) Jones, age 77, died at his home near Lomax last Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. Burial was at 11 o'clock, Spigener in charge. Funeral services were by Rev. J. T. Daniel.

Survivals are five sons—W. H. Jones of Calera, H. G. Jones of Lomax, Robert of Clanton, Dallas and Emmett Jones of Lomax. There is one daughter, one sister and one brother. The sister is Mrs. Allie Hatmaker of Birmingham; the brother is Jeff Jones of Clanton Route.

HENRY BREWER GLENN

Henry Brewer Glenn, age 61, died at his home near Samaria last Sunday night, apparently from heart attack, since he died suddenly. Burial was Monday afternoon at Samaria, Martin & Sons in charge. Rev. J. W. Jones conducted the services.

Besides his wife Mr. Glenn is survived by three sons, three daughters, three brothers and three sisters.

Bewer Glenn, who came to this county from Coosa county a number of years ago, was one of the leading citizens of our county. He always took an active interest in his community and everything that meant for the advancement of his surroundings. He numbered his acquaintances and friends by the score.

New Deal Tries To Conceal Its Waste

Writer Tells How Landon Will Make Good All Of His Campaign Promises.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—Some administration spokesmen are saying that Gov. Landon is promising to reduce expenses, balance the budget, reduce taxes and continue relief in the East, while promising the farmer continuance of cash payments. How can it be done?

The answer by the speaker is:

Let's look at the two situations. First relief. Gov. Landon has made it clear that it is the waste, extravagance and politics which make relief cost so much. These can be eliminated by an administration determined to do so.

Next take the farm situation. Gov. Landon proposed in his Des Moines speech to give the farmers the full benefit of the American market. This would not cost the treasury a dollar. And that would automatically take a minimum of half a million farm families off releif, so to speak. That's saving No. 1.

Now, we come to the doctrine of production, which Gov. Landon advocated at Des Moines, in contrast with the doctrine of scarcity, which the present administration practices.

Gov. Landon said in that speech that he would restrict government benefits to the family type farm. How much would that save the treasury a year? Nobody knows.

The United States Senate tried to find out. Democratic Senators joined Republicans in voting for Senator Vandenberg's resolution of inquiry. They wanted to know. But the administration wouldn't tell them.

The administration evaded the answer in two ways. Senator Vandenberg wanted to have the list of all payments in excess of $1,000 made public. The first holdout was that the amount was changed, before the Democrats would permit the resolution to pass, to a $10,000 minimum.

But that was only part of the holdout. The administration decided to give only such cases as involved payments of $10,000—on one crop—so that if a big farm corporation received payments of $9,000 each on four different crops, say cotton, corn, wheat and tobacco, those payments would not show up in the report.

And still that's only part of the story. For if a big corporation had a huge farm running over three or four counties, nothing would show up in the report unless the payments reached $10,000 on one crop in one county. So that a corporation might receive $9,000 on each of four crops in each of four counties, a total of $144,000, but the Senate and the public would never hear a word about it.

It's the taxpayers' money, in other words, but the administration did not think it was any business of the taxpayers where it went.

Anyone can draw his own deductions as to why the administration was so anxious to conceal these big payments it is making to favored individuals and big farm corporations.

My deduction is that the amount of money paid to big farm coporations was so huge that the administration knew it would shock the country. It didn't want the little farmers to know how much the big farm corporations were getting. In fact, had it not been for Senator Vandenberg the people of this country would never have known that some of these payments ran into six and at least one into seven figures.

W. A. REYNOLDS ATTENDED REPUBLICAN MEET AT VERMONT

The sponsors of the Republican speaking held at Vermont schoolhouse last week were glad to have Mr. W. A. Reynolds, of Clanton, attend the meeting. Mr. Reynolds agreed to speak a few words to the gathering, and in his honest, straightforward, fearless manner, made an excellent speech in behalf of the local Republican ticket as well as the national ticket.

Mr. Reynolds has observed politics in Chilton county for a long time, and he can speak of the various maneuverings of the Democrats and Republicans for the past forty years with absolute authority.

It was a pleasure to have Mr. Reynolds attend this meeting, and an invitation is extended him to attend every meeting that he can.

ANDREW ELLISON HERE AFTER 30 YEARS ABSENCE

After an absence from Chilton county for about thirty years, Mr. Andrew Ellison is back here visiting his brothers, Rev. F. A. Ellison and Marion Frances Ellison. The former comes from his home at Enid, Oklahoma, where he has made his home since leaving Chilton county.

FARLEY-CROWSON MARRIAGE

The following wedding announcements were received by friends in Clanton this week:

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley, of Clanton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Maxine Elaine Farley, to Monroe J. Crowson, on October 2, 1936. At home at Clanton, Alabama, after November 1.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Polk and Mr. Marcus Polk spent several days in Meridian, Miss., this week.

Big News is Blazing A New Trail

SOMETHING HAPPENS IN THE WORLD EVERY MINUTE—YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS THE BIG EVENTS THAT ARE MAKING HISTORY

What a Fall and Winter this will be!

A period when news will be remembered for years as clearly as you remember 1914. A year when news will keep you on your toes with excitement from day to day.

Consider for a moment just a few of the vital questions the next few months will have to answer.

POLITICS: Who will be elected, Roosevelt or Landon, and why? Is the New Deal speeding or retarding recovery, and why? How boldly will Landon dare attack the New Deal and which way will the President veer to meet the attack—to the right or to the left? How widespread is the third party movement in American politics today? Which major party—Democratic or Republican—will suffer most—and how much—from third party raids? Who are showing the greatest strength in our own state political campaigns? These and other great political questions are best answered by THE NEWS and AGE-HERALD'S brilliant array of political writers.

WAR AND PEACE: What is Mussolini's next move? Will Hitler strike next at Memel or in Austria? Will Britain recall her fleet for duty nearer home? Has Japan stirred China to war at last by Mongolian aggression?

BUSINESS AND RECOVERY: Is the soldiers' bonus priming the pump? Will "farm relief" bring relief? Will John L. Lewis stage the greatest strike of all to launch his vertical union in the steel mill?

The political battle is on—and the hottest battle since 1912; the worst war scare since 1914; the most critical economical problems since 1896—but for all that, most of us will want to know who will be the next heavyweight boxing champion; and to follow the football results; what is being done to reduce infantile paralysis; or to follow your favorite comic strip.

Far more exciting, perplexing, inspiring, is the unpredictable news of violence, sudden death, tragedy, romance and humor.

THE NEWS AND AGE-HERALD offer you a front row seat for this tremendous drama that will add immeasurably to your enjoyment of all the stirring, pitiable, laughable, heroic things that will wind up a big news year.

No other papers in Alabama have the facilities to keep you as completely informed about all events, and bring you such a wide variety of exciting and interesting reading matter. These rates apply only on R. F. D. boxholders and in towns where carrier delivery is not maintained.

Lesson for October 25

CHRISTIANITY AS LOVE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 18:1-4; I Corinthians 13.

GOLDEN TEXT—And now abideth faith, hope, charity (love), these three; but the greatest of these is charity (love). I Cor. 13:13.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Paul Was Not Afraid.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Courage in the Night.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Christian Love Is and Does.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Love, the Law of Life.

By way of Athens the apostle Paul and his co-workers came to Corinth, one of the great commercial and social centers of Greece. It was a city known for its magnificent architecture and its patronage of the fine arts, but even more widely known for its abandonment to vice and wickedness. Here Paul, the apostle of faith, demonstrated that his faith was rooted in love, and it was to the Christians who were dwelling in this infamous spot of corruption that he addressed his supremely pure and beautiful discourse on love.

The first portion of our lesson finds Paul at Corinth, and provides an introduction to the study of the love chapter from I Corinthians by showing from his experience that

I. Love Is a Fact, Not a Theory (Acts 18:1-4).

The man whom we now recognize as perhaps the greatest preacher and teacher of Christian truth who ever followed the Lord Jesus Christ "came to Corinth." That great and busy city in all probability knew nothing of his arrival and cared nothing for his message. No one met the distinguished messenger of God and received him into a home of comfort and honor.

But God had not forgotten him. For we read that Paul "found a certain Jew"—a convert to Christ, and his noble wife, and "abode with them." Persecution had sent Aquila to Corinth, and he was there for Paul to find.

And the humility of loving service expresses itself further in the fact that the one who was to bring Corinth the glorious message of the gospel did so at his own cost. He labored with his hands at the trade which he, as every Jewish boy, had been taught by his father. Christianity does not ask, "What will ye give me?" but "How much can I give?"

In his first letter to the church which grew up at Corinth we find the enexhaustibly rich chapter in which Paul so fittingly describes true Christian love. It is impossible in any short discussion of this passage to make a complete study of it, but we note

II. Four Truths About Love (I Cor. 13:1-13).

1. Love is superior to the other graces (vv. 1-3).

Life has many excellent gifts and men seek after them. How do they compare with love? Glowing eloquence, the far-seeing eye of the prophet, mountain-moving faith, self-sacrifice—without love they all lose their worth; in fact they are nothing. All the attainments of men apart from Christ are vain and empty.

2. Love is necessary to the other graces (vv. 4-7).

There is a sense in which love is not so much a grace in itself as the underlying and motivating power, which shows in every fine and noble expression of Christian character. Study these verses to see how patiently and unselfishly love works.

3. Love is permanent; other graces fail (vv. 8-12).

Some gifts will cease, for there will no longer be any need for them. They are temporary in their value or simply a means to an end. But love—it began with God in eternity and will go on with him through eternity. Why then do we labor and seek after these other graces so diligently and neglect the one grace which is above them all, for

4. Love is supreme (v. 13).

Even over those other graces which with love will abide, namely, faith and hope, love stands supreme. It is the fundamental of all fundamentals. Without it all else is empty and futile. And let us remember, this is not pious theory; it is fact and to be translated into daily life.

Hardships

Wounds and hardships provoke our courage, and when our fortunes are at the lowest, our wits and minds are commonly at the best. —Charron.

Common Sense

Common sense in one view is the most uncommon sense. While it is extremely rare in possession, the recognition of it is universal. All men feel it, though few men have it.—H. N. Hudson.

An Odious Quality

Conceit is the most contemptible and one of the most odious qualities in the world. It is vanity driven from all other shifts, and forced to appeal to itself for admiration.—Hazlitt.

Friends of Mrs. Hance Alred regret that she is still ill at her home here.

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

There is no substitute for prayer. Good music, eloquent preaching, splendid organizations,—none of these things will take the place of prayer. God does not endorse substitutes. In our religious programs we are always looking for substitutes. We substitute reformation for regeneration and philanthropy for evangelism. The tendency of human nature is to go off at a tangent. The church puts emphasis on evangelism and neglect Christian education, then we insist in Christian education and neglect evangelism. Without evangelism we will soon have no one to educate. Before we can train Christians men have to first become Christians. Men become Christians by personal acceptance of Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. Any other methods of training is not really Christian.

"That in all things Christ might have the preeminence." In other words, our Lord should be first. He should have first place in our ambitions, social relations, business contacts, and in our religious programs. The exaltation of the church may become a form of idol worship. Jesus Christ is the Head. The church is the exaltation of Jesus Christ, not the exaltation of herself or her program or her plans or her ritual. It is possible to build programs so big and have rituals so beautiful men will fail to see Jesus because they are looking at the program and enjoying the ritual. The writer knows a preacher who is a lovely man and a Christian, but almost every Sabbath he preaches on some phase of the church. I should like to hear this preacher preach for six months on Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. This modern world needs to exalt Jesus Christ. All the crumbled, chaotic conditions of modern civilization have come about because Christ has not had first place. God help us to give Him in all things preeminence.

RED CROSS MEETING TO BE HELD IN BIRMINGHAM OCTOBER 20

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Climaxing one of the busiest Red Cross years in the State's history, representatives from Alabama's 78 Red Cross Chapters will hold their annual conference in Birmingham on October 20, officials of the National Organization announced here today.

The conference will take its keynote from this year's Red Cross Roll Call slogan—"The People's Red Cross." This theme will be developed by prominent state leaders and officials of the National Organization, including Mm. Carl Hunt, Assistant Manager of the Eastern Area, American Red Cross; Maurice Reddy Assistant Director, Red Cross Disaster Relief Service; the Hon. James M. Jones, Jr., Chairman of the Birmingham City Commision; Gen. Wm. A. Gayle, from Montgomery; H. G. Richard, of Florence; Vernol R. Jansen, of Mobile; Ralph Christian of Birmingham; and Miss Mary Parr, Red Cross Representative in Alabama.

It is expected that every Chapter in Alabama will be represented at the conference, which will include a discussion and report on the wide spread disaster relief activity during the spring tornadoes and floods in which hundreds of Alabama families received Red Cross assistance.

The all day conference will be held in the Thomas Jefferson Hotel, it was announced. The meeting will be called to order by Dr. Morris Newfield, Chairman, Jefferson County Chapter, who will preside at the morning session.

E. L. GLASSCOCK SELLING B'HAM POST IN FOUR COUNTIES

I am the only full-time, bonded subscription salesman of The Birmingham Post in the counties of Chilton, Shelby, Talladega and Clay.

I am asking the people in the rural districts of these counties to please favor me with your subscription, both new and renewels. They may be sent by mail to me with the same results as if sent to the company. Mailing charges may be reduced from the present price, which is $3.25 per year during these few months of reduced rates.

I would like to have one commissioned salesman in each community to co-operate with me in this work during this bargain period. All otherwise commissioned salesmen may send me their remittance, less their commission and mailing expense, but will not be permitted to make any reductions in the present rates. The co-operation of salesmen, clubs or individuals will be greatly appreciated.

Any legitimate club or organization, such as P. T. A., W. M. S., or the like, which has a treasurer, may get up subscriptions at the regular price of $3.25, leave 20 per cent in the treasurey, and turn the rest in to me. This is a good plan to make money for your club.

Remember, that The Post comes to you not a day late, but the day it is published.

Anyone wishing to co-operate with me as a commissioned saleman, please get in touch with me at once, and I will send you supplies. Respectfully,—E. L. Glasscock, Jemison, Ala. adv.—10-8-3t-ch.

NEW SALEM

The New Salem Social Club will meet at the church Tuesday October 27, to quilt a quilt, and next meeting will be at church, and it will be a spend the day to do some work. Everyone bring lunch.

PUR-A-TENE ON THE BAG MEANS MORE EGGS IN THE BASKET

WHEN you buy laying feed this year, look for the words "containing Pur-a-tene" on the bag. This means that your feed has been stepped up for more eggs, for healthier hens and increased poultry profits.

Pur-a-tene supplies the vitamin A that has long been lacking in poultry rations. Experiments have shown that where sufficient vitamin A was furnished, egg production was increased 15 per cent over pens that did not receive sufficient vitamin A. Enough Pur-a-tene has been added to each bag of Purina Lay Chow and Purina Layena to step it up 2½ times in vitamin A activity. Think what this means, in increased egg production and improved health!

Step up your poultry profits this year by feeding Purina. See us for today's prices!

AAA PAYMENTS IN SOUTH TO DECLINE

More Checks Will Go To Other Regions

Washington, Oct. 14—A survey of AAA reports indicated Wednesday that many more farmers in the Northeast and North Central regions would receive federal benefit payments this year than last, while checks would go to fewer in the South.

Regional allotments of the $470,000,000 to be distributed under this year's soil conservation-subsidy program remained a secret, but a study of work sheets filed by farmers under the program gave a rough idea of the number expected to receive benefits in different sections.

They indicated that six times as many Northeastern producers are participating in the present program than in previous AAA programs, and more than twice as many in the North Central reigon.

This was explained by officials as partly the results of the inclusion of dairymen for the first time this year and of the conservation plans inclusion of small general farmers.

Some Northeastern farmers who raised none of the basic commodities on which payments were based under the AAA program could not quailfy at all for benefits.

FARM PRODUCT PRICES SHOW FURTHER ADVANCE

Auburn, Ala.—Prices of mules, horses, milk cows, hogs apples, and corn showed advance during September despite the fact that the usual trend at this season of year is downward for these items, reports J. C. Garrett, State and Federal statistician.

"Eggs, butter and sheep also advanced, while Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, hay and beef cattle made less than seasonal decline," he states.

"At 124 per cent of the pre-war average on September 15 prices returned to farmers for agricultural products were still 17 points higher than a year earlier.

"Prices of articles purchased by farmers continued to advance on the other hand to a new high ground. At 127 the index of price paid by farmers was 1 point higher than a month earlier and 4 points above a year ago," he states.

ALABAMA FARM WOMAN AWARDED FREE TRIP

Auburn, Ala.—Mrs. Felix Shirley, Tuscaloosa County, has won the distinction of being the best farm woman public speaker in Alabama.

Not only has she won State-wide recognition but she has been awarded a free trip to the annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in Pasadena, California, December 9-11, where she will compete in a Nation-wide public speaking contest and Mrs. M. H. Kendrick, Montgomery County, won third place.

SHEEP NEED GREEN FEED DURING WINTER

Auburn, Ala.—Green feed for sheep during winter is an important factor in keeping the flock healthy, says J. C. Grimes, head, animal husbandy department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Experiments show that the cost of producing lambs and wool is determined largely by the amount of green feed avaiable and the green feed is not only the cheapest but the best feed there is for sheep.

In addition to providing green feed for sheep and other livestock, winter cover crops also prevent the land from washing, he says.

Brief Farm Notes

The grade and staple for Alabama cotton continues to show improvement this season over the 1935 crop. Only about 4 per cent of the samples classed this season have been shorter than 7-8 inch

Hog cholera is making its usual fall increases and Alabama farmers are warned to watch for its first appearance and to vaccinate their hogs against the dreaded disease.

Plans are being made for five Master Farmers to be named by the Alabama Extension Service and Progressive Farmer-Ruralist at the annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in Auburn, November 17 and 18.

Shipments from 16 northern and northeastern states increased 60 per cent from 1932 to 1935. Farm income increased 60 per cent in the period. This shows that shipments closely paralleled the increased national farm income.

Alabama's eight production credit associations loaned $1,957,934 from January 1 to August 1, 1936, compared to $1,575,690 during the same perion in 1935, an increase of 24.2 per cent this year over last year.

University News

Miss Louise Knox, Clanton, third year student at the University of Alabama, will be secretary of the Alabama Methodist Students Conference which will meet in Montevallo this week end.

Miss Knox is outstanding in the work of the Wesley Foundation, Methodist student association at the University, being a member of the Wesley Council, executive board, and chairman of the membership committee of the Foundation. She is also vice president of the Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Richard C. Foster, who was named to succeed Dr. George H. Denny as president of the University of Alabama on January 1, said that he changed from his career as a lawyer to that of a college president because of the greater opportunity for service in the latter field.

The new president is fond of sports, especially golf and football. He is also a lover of music and was a member of the University of Alabama Glee Club when in college.

He completed his course at the University in three years and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. From Harvard he got a LLB degree in the same period of time, but joined the army before he started his practice.

Dr. Foster's ancestor's came to Tuscaloosa County within five years after it was settled. His grandfather, John Collier Foster, was a member of the first class enrolled in the University in 1831.

The Crimson Tide grid team will make its first road trip of the season Friday when it plays Loyola in New Orleans.

The Tide is expecting a hard game from the Loyola Wolves, who are now one of the strongest teams in the South. The Tide and Loyola have never met on the gridiron before.

An added interest in the game will be that Dixie Howell, former 'Bama star back, is now assistant coach at Loyola.

The most popular age to start to college is 18 years, judging from the ages of a great group of freshmen at the University of Alabama. There are 307 students here who were born in 1918.

Two child prodigies, 15 years of age, have been found in the freshman class. They are Joe A. Allen, Gadsden, who will not be 16 until February, 1937, and Dorothy Newton, who will be 16 this December.

An appeal was made last week to high school principals to have every high school in the state represented at the second annual Leadership Conference at the University of Alabama, January 1-3. It was made by J. E. Bryan, Jefferson County superintendent of Education, and chairman of the Y. M. C. A. Boys Work Committee.

Several committees have been chosen from University administration officials and they have been at work for some time making plans. Outstanding national speakers will be featured in addresses to the conference.

Shoey Shoemaker, Alabama sophomore end, played guard on the basketball team and caught for the baseball team last season. He intends to play professional baseball after finishing his career at the Capstone.

Dr. Danyiu Belser, professor of elementary education at the University, is the second woman from the University campus and the 17th in the state to be entered in "Who's Who In America". The other is Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, Dean of Women.

Henry G. Reynolds, Clanton lawyer, is among the hundred and twenty Alabama graduates listed in the recent issue of "Who's Who in America".

Mr. Reynolds received his L. L. B. degree at the University of Alabama in 1912.

Rube Burkhalter was in Clanton Monday, on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Euell Woodyard of Billingsley attended the show in Clanton, this week end.

STRAWBERRIES NEED FERTILIZER IN FALL

Auburn, Ala.—The size of next year's strawberry crop will be determined by the treatment farmers give their strawberry plants this fall, states R. W. Taylor of the Alabama Experiment Station in advising that the strawberry plants from their buds during the fall and winter months for the crop of the following year.

"A liberal supply of fertilizer materials should be added to the soil at this season so that growth will not be checked," he says. "To insure an adequate supply, use about 500 pounds per acre of a complete fertilizer, such as a 4-8-4. This will be at the rate of 4 pounds for an ordinary row 100 feet long.

"The fertilizer may be put in the furrows made by barring off the rows, or it may be hoed into the soil around the plants with good results," he states.

AAA PAYMENTS WILL COME IN TWO CHECKS

Auburn, Ala.—Cotton farmers will receive two payments under the 1936 Agricultural Adjustment program, announces the Agricultural Adjustment Administration through Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

Producers of the southern region —Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, and Oklahoma—will receive 90 percent of the Class 1 payment and 100 percent of the Class 2 payments in the first checks to be issued just as soon as possible and the remainder of the Class 1 payment at a later date.

Home Agent

CHILTON COUNTY IS PROLIFIC

The Home Demonstration Club women in Chilton don't let their babies keep them home. They take them with them to the meetings, and if the weather is pretty, why not? The Home Agent has a basket of toys and a box of crackers that keep them busy and the mother gets the lesson, has an outing, and much fun in addition to getting them started early. One mother said "Miss Grace, we're late getting started with our Club work but our children won't be late." My last meeting just attended says Miss Grace, there were eleven women and seven babies, but the prize baby goes to Isabella Club. This darling baby weighed two and one half pounds at birth. Today it is four months old and she weighs eight pounds. The doctors said she would never live, but she "bills, coos and sucks her fist in a big way."

State Capitol News

Mrs. Cora McAdory, of Auburn, was elected president of the Alabama W. C. T. U. at the close of the annual convention at Montgomery last week, during which members rededicated themselves to temperance work and adopted resolutions against gambling, advocating more stringent laws "in order that officials will not be handicapped in their efforts to stop gambling devices."

An outstanding feature of the convention which was attended by 115 delegates from all sections of the state, was the formation of the Federation of Local Youths' Temperance Councils into a statewide organization with Miss Elaine Mason, of Florence, as president.

Other state officers of the W. C. T. U., elected for the coming year are: Mrs. J. O. Bowling, Birmingham, vice president; Mrs. Mabel Vitu Divelbliss, Birmingham, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. H. Sisson, Mobile, recording secretary; and Mrs. Ray Jewell, Birmingham, treasurer.

Judge Charles B. Kennamer, of U. S. District Court at Montgomery, has granted the request of Attorney General A. A. Carmichael for postponement until October 29 of the test suit of the Southern Coal and Coke Co., attacking the validity of the federal and state unemployment compensation laws.

The case will be heard by a three-judge federal court, and Judge Kennamer said he would announce names of the other two judges within a few days.

A number of similar cases filed in Montgomery Circuit Court will be held in abeyance pending the outcome of the case in federal court.

Malcolm Harper and J. L. Kaufman, executive director and commissioner, respectively, of the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Commission, left early this week for Madison, Wis., where they will attend a 3-day conference of unemployment compensation officials of other states. They will study the model set-up in Wisconsin and discuss various phases of the Federal Social Security program, it was learned.

The State Highway Department announced low bidders on seven construction projects to cost $544,646 and predicted work would start within 30 days on all of the projects.

The projects, consisting of paving, grading, drainage and roadside improvements and bridge construction, are located in Marion, Dallas, Mobile, Hale, Barbour, Lee and Russell counties.

BOX SUPPER AT MACEDONIA

There will be a box supper at Macedonia, Beat 11, Saturday night, October 24th, at 7:30 o.clock. Proceeds for benefit of the church. There will be two special cake drawings—one for the prettiest girl, and one for the ugliest man. Everybody come. —Virgil Smith.

SCHEDULE OF REPUBLICAN SPEAKINGS IN COUNTY IS ANNOUNCED

The Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County announces dates for Republican speakings over the county prior to the election on November 3rd. The dates and places follow:

Freeman Schoolhouse	Thursday night, October 22
Providence Schoolhouse, Beat 16	Friday night, October 23
Union Grove Church	Tuesday night, October 27
Cane Creek Schoolhouse	Thursday night, October 29
Oak Grove Schoolhouse	Friday night, October 30
Thorsby, public school building	Monday night, November 2

The hour for all the above speakings will be 7:00 o'clock.

The speaking at Thorsby will be the closing speaking before the election, and will be a county-wide affair. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, will deliver the principal address at Thorsby, followed by Judge J. O. Middleton. Hon. T. J. Kennamer, our National Committeeman, and other prominent Republicans will be present at this meeting.

Speaking at the other places listed above will be done by Judge Middleton and Percy M. Pitts, and probably others. And through special arrangement, Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his quartet will appear at each meeting and sing several numbers. You will certainly want to hear this quartet singing, even if you are not interested in the speaking. Hear them sing—You will enjoy it.

VOTERS WILL SAVE AMERICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT

(AN EDITORIAL)

President Roosevelt must have had his fingers crossed when, on his recent tour, he solemnly pledged himself to maintain a "constitutional, representative form of government". To anyone with even a fairly well developed sense of humor, there is something amusing in this promise, coming as it does from the man who has done more than any other American to destroy what he now promises to maintain. It is a matter of record that Mr. Roosevelt has requested, or to state it more correctly, commanded Congress to pass legislation without regard to its constitutionality. As for the second part of his pledge, it is common knowledge that representative government has already ceased to function in this country, with Congress debased to the level of a bunch of errand boys who allow the executive to tell them what laws they "must" pass.

With all this, however, there is still something cheering to the liberty-loving American in Roosevelt's pledge to uphold the American system of government. He must have found out that the people still prize their liberties and resent his attempts to overthrow our system of checks and balances, to make the executive power supreme and the legislative and judicial branches its puppets. The very fact that candidate Roosevelt felt called upon to make such a promise is a hopeful sign, even though we may be justified in taking the pledge with several grains of salt, in view of his past record.

It is interesting to note, also, Mr. Roosevelt's denial that he is seeking Communist support in his campaign for reelection. The fact remains that he is the darling of the radicals and is getting their support on his record. He may not have made all their dreams come true, but he has made a good start in that direction, and they are for him. To prove the truth of this, it is only necessary to look around you. The "gimme" boys, the fellows who have always contended that the world owes them a living, the crack-brains and the "lunatic fringe" of our population generally will be found lined up for Roosevelt almost unanimously. A few may be for Browder or Thomas, but most of them realize that these two candidates, who have the courage to sail under their own colors, have no chance of winning. So they are centering on Roosevelt, who as the candidate of the Democratic party is clad in a certain garb of respectability that conceals much of the true nature of the man. It is interesting to note that none of the radicals, reds or pinks, are supporting Landon.

The whole burden of Mr. Roosevelt's defense of the New Deal is that by expenditure of billions of tax money it hs brought back a measure of prosperity—which would probably have returned sooner anyhow without governmental interference. Even if the extravagant claims of New Deal apologists were true, Americans generally would prefer to retain their liberties rather than sacrifice them for a subsidized and synthetic "prosperity"

This country might be better off if, for example, every community had a dictator, to tell every man what and how much he must eat at each meal, when he must go to bed, and otherwise regulate all the details of his daily existence. People might enjoy better health and live longer. Our guess is that the American citizen would prefer, however, to remain his own boss, rather than submit to nursery regulations, however beneficial, right on to the grave. Likewise, it is true that such laws as NRA and the Bankhead Cotton Act may have had some good points; but they were fundamentally wrong because they were grounded in an insufferable tyranny over the rights of men. The American people do not want a dictator, not even a good one. The real issue in the campaign now closing is whether we will retain our American system, with its scrupulous regard for the rights and dignity of the individual, or become "collectivized" after the fashion of Russia or Italy.

Right now, Mr. Roosevelt and his fellow New Dealers are trying to divert public attention from the real issue by dangling an artificial and dearly-bought "prosperity" before the voters. We have enough confidence in the sanity of the American people to believe that they will refuse to swallow the bait.

"THE TIGER DEN" TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

Announcement is made this week of the opening of "The Tiger Den", a new general lunch room and school supply room, just across the street from the Chilton County High School, and catering especially to C. C. H. S. students.

The management states that a clean and wholesome place will be provided, where students, and others may have warm lunches. In addition to this all kinds of school supplies, such as note paper, tablets, pencils, ink, pens, and the like can be secured.

"The Tiger Den" will be under the management of Mrs. Carrie Foshee and Mrs. Mattie Williams. The latter is known as the "Champion Biscuit Maker," having a record of cooking and serving over 14,000 biscuits in one month.

Inasmuch as the new place is catering especially to high school students, it has taken its name in honor of the high school's athletic emblem "Tigers". It is a place to serve "Tigers" and "Tigresses", hence "The Tiger Den".

Miserable with backache?

WHEN kidneys function badly and you suffer a nagging backache, with dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination and getting up at night; when you feel tired, nervous, all upset . . . use Doan's Pills.

Doan's are especially for poorly working kidneys. Millions of boxes are used every year. They are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

Mr. J. Q. Wade has returned to his home after having been confined to a Montgomery hospital for a week. His many friends are delighted that he is improving rapidly.

Mr. John Hollis and Mr. J. Hance Alred attended the Brooks-Hayes wedding in Andalusia last Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. P. T. Hinkle of Kilby were guests of friends here during the week end.

NOTICE

Rev. J. H. Scalf will preach at the Clanton Gospel Tabernacle Thursday night, October 22. Everybody invited.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and our relatives, for their kind expression of love and sympathy in the death of our husband and father.—Mrs. H. B. Glenn and Children.

At a recent meeting of the High School P.-T. A., Mrs. Percy Pitts was elected president.

Miss Margaret Jones, a student nurse at the Wetumpka hospital, spent the week end here with her parents.

Dr. Jesse Sam Gowan and Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis of Mitchell Dam returned Wednesday after attending the Kiwanis Club state meeting in Huntsville.

Mrs. Anna Gardner and daughter of Alexander City spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince.

Mrs. Grady Heflin was shopping in Birmingham Monday.

Little Miss Sarah Cope is visiting her grandparents in Inverness.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Waite and children, Jean and Jack, visited relatives in Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. W. P. Jones has returned from a recent visit to Montgomery and Lafayette.

The "As You Like It Club" will meet Thursday with Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wyatt and children of Montevallo were guests of friends here Sunday.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds and Mr. Omar Reynolds and children spent Sunday in Bessemer with Mr. and Mrs. John Bridges.

Mrs. Toy Parsons of Birmingham was the recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, and Mr. Reynolds.

Mr. Alex Hayes and Miss Ova Lee McCutcheon attended the Alabama-Tennessee football game in Birmingham Saturday.

Miss Elizabeth Austin of Thorsby spent some time here Thursday with her sister, Miss Kittye Clyde Austin.

How to Keep Colds UNDER better CONTROL

Catching Cold? . . Vicks Va-tro-nol helps Prevent many Colds

At the first warning nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vicks Va-tro-nol—just a few drops up each nostril. Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. It stimulates Nature's own functions—in the nose—to help prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in their early stages. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps avoid many colds.

Caught a Cold? . . Vicks VapoRub helps End a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed, rub Vicks VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime. VapoRub acts direct—two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its medicated vapors direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

Follow Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds

A helpful guide to fewer colds and shorter colds. Developed by Vicks Chemists and Medical Staff; tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use by millions. The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.

Rev. Hughes Celebrates 50th Wedding Anniversary—

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hughes of Coopers celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a family dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have five living children and several grandchildren who were there to enjoy the day with their parents. There were also several friends and other relatives who enjoyed the day with Mr. and Mrs. Hughes.

At the noon hour a delicious luncheon was served, and during the day several numbers were rendered by the Devaughn Quartet.

Among the children and guests who enjoyed the anniversary were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Devaughn and family of Poplar Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hughes and famliy of Verbena, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hughes and family of Coopers, Mr. and Mrs. Hughie Taylor and family of Coopers, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Robinson and family of Coopers, Mrs. A. C. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Billingsley of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Nichols of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Devaughn and children of Poplar Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were presented many lovely gifts by their friends.

Mrs. Omar Reynolds Hostess To Wednesday Card Club—

Members of the Wednesday Contract Club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Omar Reynolds this week.

The home for this occasion was decorated in beautiful baskets of dahlias and other fall flowers. Three tables were arranged for bridge. After a series of games high score prize was awarded Mrs. John Armstrong. The prizes awarded by the Modern Beauty Shoppe fell to Mrs. Julius Burnett and Mrs. Grady Reynolds.

A tempting salad plate with hot coffee was served by the hostess to the following members and guests:

Mesdames Grady Reynolds, Julius Burnett, John Armstrong, L. F. Gerald, Frank Callen, H. M. Simpson, N. S. Johnson, John Deramus, Arthur Johnson, Lawson B. Nelson, Joe Mullins, and Miss Sara Neighbors of Mansfield, La. Misses Ruth Sessions and Lucille Sherwood were tea guests.

Mrs. Jimmie Varnell, a student at Montevallo College, spent the week end with her husband and parents.

Miss Ruth Prince of Alexander City is the guest of friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Reynolds and children were visitors in Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. Bob Sellers of Montgomery was in town Tuesday.

Miss Sara Neighbors of Mansfield, La., and New York, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joe Mullins.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Jones of Troy are guests of their parents here this week.

Grammar School P.-T. A. Meets—

The P.-T. A. of the Grammar school held its first meeting of the year on Friday, October 16.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. W. Hayes. A most interesting program was enjoyed. The guests rendering the program for the afternoon were Dr. J. M. Kimmey, Miss Edith Green, and Miss Schurter.

A short business session was held after the program. Mrs. Hayes was re-elected president. The first grade had 22 mothers present and were awarded the half holiday.

The P.-T. A. meets every second Friday afternoon at 2:30, and all parents are urged to be present at the next meeting.

Brooks-Hayes Wedding Solemnized —

The marriage of Miss Alice Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Douglas Brooks, and Minter Carney Hayes, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes of Clanton, was solemnized at a beautiful ceremony Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church of Andalusia, in presence of a large assemblage of friends and raitives.

As the guests were arriving a program of wedding music was played by James McLendon, organist, of Birmingham, and Mrs. W. L. Longshore, violinist, also of Birmingham. Miss Mary Frances Suggs, of Montgomery, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Matthew Dick, of Opp. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin announced the approach of the bridal party and a wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was used as recessional, and were played by Mrs. Dick.

The ushers were Alex Hayes and James Wade, of Clanton; Tommie Sewell, of Titus, and Tisdale Brooks, of Andalusia.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Barbara Brooks, as maid of honor, and Mrs. James Wade, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor. The bridesmaids' group included Miss Elizabeth Sessoms of Columbiana, Miss Mary Harris of Birmingham, Miss Virginia Cook of Clanton, and Miss Ruth Powell of Andalusia.

The attendants were gowned alike in models of taffeta, featuring the color tones of copper glow, precious gold and starboard green. They presented a pretty picture, their quaint dresses being fashioned with bouffant skirts and tight basques. Their bonnets of brown velvet were in keeping with the style of dress. They carried arm bouquets of talisman roses tied with two-toned copper glow and gold ribbon.

Little Helen Hayes, of Clanton, niece of the groom, served as flower maid. Her frock, made of gold taffeta, was of the same design as the bridesmaids, and she carried a miniature colonial bouquet.

Escorted by her father, who later gave her in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, J. W. Hayes, of Clanton. The ring ceremony was performed by Dr. J. A. Cook, pastor of the church.

A radiant figure was the bride in a wedding gown of lustrous ivory wedding ring satin, a Patou model, made along princess lines, with built-in train. Seeded pearl clips were used on either side of the square neck, which had a small upstanding collar in the back. A misty veil of illusion extended the length of the train and was fastened to her hair with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley, tied with white satin ribbon and holding a detachable corsage which she used later on her going away costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks entertained at a reception immediately after the ceremony at their home on East Three Notch Street. Receiving at the door were Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, mother of the groom. In the receiving line were members of the wedding party and the bride and groom.

The bride's book was kept by Miss Rebecca Darling. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. J. S. Waits, Mrs. D. D. Chapman, Mrs. J. H. Kyzar, Mrs. Grady Broadhead and Mrs. J. W. Hayes of Clanton. Mrs. Will O'Neal, Mrs. T. E. Henderson, Mrs. S. J. McGowin and Mrs. L. E. Brown presided in the gift room.

Punch was dispensed from a prettily decorated table on the porch by Misses Julia Kate Hamner, Fay Hart, and Jean Darling.

Mrs. Dick, pianist, and Mrs. Longshore, violinist, played throughout the hour.

The bride's table was appointed in crystal and overlaid with lace. A large 3-tiered cake, topped with a miniature bouquet of lilies of the valley centered the table. Prismed vases of crystal were filled with white rosebuds and valley lilies, and crystal candelabra with white tapers completed the setting.

After a wedding trip of two weeks Mr. and Mrs. Hayes will take possession of their home in Clanton.

EVERETT JONES DEAD

Everett W. Jones, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wallace Jones, of near Lomax, died last Sunday night at Central Alabama Hospital here. Burial was at New Harmony, Lomax, on Monday afternoon, Martin & Sons in charge. Dr. S. J. Ezell conducted the funeral, assisted by Rev. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes and daughters were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pardue at Saginaw Sunday. Miss Ruth Pardue of Enterprise spent the week end in Saginaw with her parents.

Mr. Alex Hayes, a student at the University of Alabama, spent several days here last week with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One of the favorite occupations of those in favor of the New Deal is to point out what they call the "generosity" of the administration in spending billions of dollars in relief and in the so-called relief work. The charges by the critics of the Brain Trust that much money has been wasted in tree planting, canal digging, tide harnessing and countless small "boondoggling" projects is glossed over with the answer that "he is doing the best he can" and that never before has there been such liberality.

All of which naturally brings the question: just whose money are the New Dealers spending? Many of those who argue the soundness and justice of the effort to spend our way into prosperity, seem to stand on the assumption that the Brain Trusters are providing the money out of thin air, and giving it to people who so badly need it. As a matter of fact, the image of generosity is a chimera. The Brain Trusters are not putting up the money. They are taing money which belongs to the people themselves, and giving it to the people. True it is that the same people who are assessed do not always get the money back in relief, but the fact remains that there is no personal "generosity" in the matter, and no get-rich-quick legerdemain, which gets the relief money out of the atmosphere.

All the money that is being expended in New Deal experimentation will have to be repaid. And it will not be paid back by the idle rich, who produce nothing and consume comparatively little, but by the rank and file of Americans who produce and consume. Practically all tax falls back on the consumer. There is no way to avoid this. No matter how carefully the assessments may be twisted and camouflaged, the fact remains that the people sooner or later pay the bill. If their incomes are not taxable, if they have no real property, they pay taxes in the increased cost of food, rent and clothing. So when we talk about the "generous" provision which the New Deal is making for the unfortunate and the incompetent, let us remember after all that it is the people themselves who are being "generous", although perhaps they do not know it. Giving to the Salvation Army a dollar borrowed from somebody else may do some good to the Army, but it certainly does not fall within the category of the term "generosity".

Another statement commonly made is that if the Roosevelt administration had not put on the New Deal of spending, there would have been a revolution in the United States. The proponents of this theory are necessarily vague in their terms. They do not tell us who would have put on the revolution, who would have started it, and how the rank and file would have been comprised. There is a reason for this. They do not know, and it would be politically dangerous to say that the people who are now getting relief and public jobs would, in any other program, have shouldered a gun and started shooting and looting.

As a matter of fact the charge that there would have been revolution had Roosevelt lost in 1932 is an injustice to the American people, their patriotism and their intelligence. Furthermore, had Hoover won it would have meant that the majority of the people favored him, and there would have been no favorable ground for revolution. It is to be remembered, too, the men who bring on revolution are the professional agitators who care nothing about others than themselves. They agitate in days of prosperity as well as in time of depression. They are not looking for a dole or a job, but for autocratic power which could only come with the overthrow of representative democratic government.

WHERE IS REX?

Charges made by enemies of the New Deal of Communistic influences close to the administration were repudiated by President Roosevelt in a recent speech in which he said:

"I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of Communism, or of any other alien 'ism' which would by fair means or foul, change our American democracy."

Criticisms of David Dubinsky and other supporters of the administration who have allegedly come from socialistic quarters, have evidently gotten under the skin of the president, so to speak. There was nothing qualified about the paragraph quoted above. It would seem to be conclusive.

Yet there are a great many people who are wondering about the prseent whereabouts and political status of Prof. Rex Tugwell who, since the innovation of the New Deal, has been one of its wheel horses. For months Prof. Tugwell was prominent on the platform, over the radio, and in the newspapers. For several weeks we have heard little of him. He has been strangely silent and a great many people have missed him.

There can be little doubt that Prof. Tugwell has been one of those who would change our present democratic theory of government to one of alien regimentation. Mr. Tugwell stands convicted by his words. He has denounced the old order of things, and has made statements on the public platform which certainly indicate that he is anything but a Democrat or a Republican as we have come to know the members of these two parties which have always stood for representative American ideals. Says the Boston Transcript:

"Mr. Tugwell has not hesitated to spread the gospel of class war. At least one of his resettlement ventures is nothing more nor less than an attempt to establish a Communist community. In his books and in speeches up and down the country he hahs been a consistent advocate of social upheaval. Only a short time ago he declared: 'We should succeed, for once, in establishing a farmer-worker alliance in this country which will carry all before it, reducing our dependence on halfway measures, allowing us to carry through these reconstructive ones, both in agriculture and industry. * * * Our best strategy is to surge forward with the workers and the farmers * * * trusting the genius of our leader for the timing of our attacks'. On other occasions too numerous to mention and only too easily recalled, he has urged upon the people a policy which is barely short of revolution."

Now although Mr. Tugwell has been the most violent declaimer among the leaders of the New Deal against the old order of things he has by no means been the only one. We have recollection of many of the new and interesting ideas of Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Wallace and still others.

It is apparent that these men could not have said the things they have said, and tried out the costly experiments they have initiated without the approval and support of President Roosevelt. It would be interesting to know, therefore, just how much of their lore is repudiated, if any, in the presidential paragraph as quoted above.

Certainly it is interesting at any rate to note the complete absence and equally complete silence of Prof. Rex Tugwell, erstwhile scion of the New Deal. Has he been repudiated, and is this repudiation permanent or only for the period of the campaign? Let's hear some more about Prof. Tugwell.

BALANCED BUDGET—WHEN

The agreement of the United States, France and Great Britain, looking toward the stabilizing of the franc, has been halied in some internationalist quarters as the first step toward the world stabilization of currency and the return of the gold standard. It is being claimed that we have now made the first move toward giving Uncle Sam a stable dollar.

While there can be no question as to the necessity and healthfulness of an international agreement for the stabilization of currency, it is to be pointed out that no such agreement will be thus effective, no matter with what good intention it is entered into, unless we have budget balancing.

We cannot have a stabilized dollar in the United States, one which business can look forward to with confidence in the future, until we have a balanced national budget. Because after all, the establishment of sound money in the United States is something more than an agreement looking toward the tieing up of the dollar with the pound sterling and the franc. So long as we are spending three or four billion dollars more than we are taking in, and bringing about a credit inflation, based on the security of governmental obligations, then we cannot have any insurance that the dollar is stabilized. Unless there is a reversal in this financial policy which is building the government debt higher and higher, year after year, then we can have no assurance that there will not be real monetary inflation which would nullify the effects of any international stabilizing agreement, and turn the dollar loose in the field of financial speculation. Sooner or later the people of the United States will be called upon to pay the piper, and that must either be through a balanced budget, and the long, hard but safe road, of taxation, or by inflation, which may prove the ruin of all Americans, except perhaps the stock and commodity gamblers.

There has been a great deal of debate as to the effect of the reduction of the dollar to the 60-cent basis in the United States. There are those who say that the increase in national wealth since 1932 has been due principally to the fact that we are measuring wealth now in 60-cent rather than 100-cent dollars.

Certainly one result has been the opening of a great international market for American securities. European investors are now able to buy stocks like American Telegraph and Telephone, and General Motors, on the American market at 60 cents on the dollar, and to take home perfectly good stocks and bonds at bargain prices. Whether or not they will later dump these securities in the American market and bring on another Wall Street panic remains to be seen. Certainly they are said now to hold as many American securities as they did just before they started the juggernaut rolling in the autumn of 1929. They have been unable to pay the war debts they owe us but seem to have plenty of money to buy our securities when they can buy these at 60 cents on the dollar.

But in speaking of the promise of balanced budgets, there are two things to remember: 1—These promises made in 1932 did not turn out to be worth the paper they were written on; 2—A budget balancing based on "greater business," means no budget balancing through economy and efficiency, but by raising more taxes from the already long suffering public.

The most expensive kind of education we know of is that which you get by traveling abroad.

MAN IN THE MOON

"GRANDMA" AND THE POLL

"Grandma," The Montgomery Advertiser, on Friday, October 9, carried an editorial in which The Advertiser's editor denounced the Literary Digest poll—again. This time The Advertiser says the poll is misleading. Time and time again The Advertiser has commented on the polls in one way and another.

In 1932 it commended this poll as doing the people a great service in letting everyone know just how all sections of the country felt about matters of national importance. Again in 1934, The Advertiser commended the poll when it showed Roosevelt's high popularity. But there have been times when The Advertiser took an altogether different view of it. These were the times when the poll did not favor The Advertiser's side or point of view. At one time the editor went so far as to say a law should be enacted to prohibit such polls.

This latest outbreak of The Advertiser has come just after the presidential poll has piled up a huge lead for Landon over Roosevelt. Naturally this is not a pleasant dose for The Advertiser's editor to swallow, but he might at least be a good sport and take the matter in the same light that he shed on it when it showed in his favor.

By this changing of opinion as the poll has shown for or against his side, the editor has shown a "cry baby" tendency, or like the boy who took his bat and ball and went home because he couldn't bat all the time. Politics is a game, and good sportsmen play the game by the rules—that goes for any game. It wouldn't be fair if one side in a game could change the rules every time a decision went against it.

Good sportsmen play the game to fit the rules, not the rules to fit the game. I say GOOD SPORTSMEN do this—not welchers.

Don't be a welcher, Mr. Advertiser Editor. There might be a time when the poll would fit your case again. Be a good sport!

AL AND ALF

A curious thing happened a few nights ago whhen Al Smith, former Democratic presidential nominee, closed a 30-minute barrage of the New Deal by stating that it was his belief that the cure, and the only cure, for the nation's ills is the election of Gov. Alf M. Landon, for which the latter offered thanks.

Democrats — so-called Democrats — will no doubt make much of this "desertion" of the president by Al Smith. They will, no doubt, sow the rumor seed that Al has been promised something big by Alf, if elected. However, if one is interested enough, he might dig up a few facts and assure himself that such an understanding is ridiculous.

To the Republican party Al Smith is just the same old Al—a Democrat, and a true one. If elected, Mr. Landon will undoubtedly put tried and true Republicans in every post of trust, such as cabinet positions and the like. Mr. Landon will not use Socialists, Communists, Democrats, or even deserters from the Democratic fold, as his advisers—there are too many competent, deserving and worthy Republicans for him to do that. And, too, the Landon campaign speakers have made too much "medicine" of the fact that Roosevelt has left his party fold to find political helpers, for Mr. Landon to follow in his footsteps and do likewise.

I do not believe Al Smith would accept such a position. He says he is not leaving the Democratic party, but is leaving Roosevelt, because the latter first left the Democratic party of old. He says that Roosevelt is not the head of the Democratic arty, but of the New Deal or Roosevelt party. He cites the fact that strong Roosevelt supporters are no longer called Democrats, but New Dealers. Also, he cites the fact that administration policies are no longer called Democratic policies, but New Deal or Roosevelt policies. Al Smith contends that he is still a Democrat—a true Democrat—but not a New Dealer.

Al Smith's business interests are such that he could hardly leave them for such a post any way. At any rate, the Republicans consider Smith for just what he is — a Democrat, and as such he has no place in a Republican cabinet. Smith has a following. The Republicans will appreciate this following, and its help in this election. We will go this far with Smith, but no farther.

"I HATE WAR—"

In a recent speech, Mr. Roosevelt uttered his now famous "I hate war". By that utterance I suppose he expected to draw the vast vote of the veterans of the nation. I believe no sane person loves war, least of all men who have gone "over the top" and seen their buddies fall by the thousands by their side. But there is another character which most veterans, as well as others, loathe. That is the slacker. So, let's see just how much Mr. Roosevelt hates war.

In 1917, when this country needed every able-bodied man it could muster, there were thousands who saw their duty and did it. Where was Mr. Hoosevelt? He was building up a big political machine in New York. He was too busy to go out and help in his country's battles. He had big things to do— political things. He has said that he was too busy to fight. Busy? We wonder! Was he too BUSY to wear the khaki, or too YELLOW?

At the same time, Jim Farley was a perfect specimen for a soldier. But did he pull on the hob-nails and tin hat? He did not! He was too busy to see service. And again we wonder if HE was too BUSY or too YELLOW!

What of Landon and his right hand man, Hamilton? The records of the War Department tell THEIR story. You can find the records of Landon and Hamilton there, but nowhere will you find Franklin D. Roosevelt or Jim Farley listed. They were TOO BUSY! Landon was a busy man, too, but he found time to leave a matherless daughter in care of relatives, don the khaki, and pump hot lead from a Springfield at $30 a month, while Roosevelt was BUSY in New York politics at a few cool thousands a year.

And Hamilton? He, too, was busy. Just out of college and beginning his life's work. Yet he found time to crouch in a shell hole and hang onto a bucking machine gun in the mud and ice of France.

That is the record of the four men. Mr. Roosevelt hates war, and so does Mr. Farley. Who doesn't? But they REALLY hated it in 1917—so much that they deliberately dodged their duty and allowed two other men to take their places.

Now, who of these men do you suppose hates war worst? Which knows best just what war really is? Which of these men do you suppose would work hardest to keep his countrymen out of war—the man who has suffered from its actual hardships, or the man who got his war experience from the headlines of his morning ewspaper?

Veterans should remember all this on election day.

WHY I AM AGAINST ROOSEVELT

Democratic newspapers, including The Chilton County News, have of late been carrying letters from different people telling why they are for Roosevelt. In this article I intend to tell why I am against him. I believe my reasons are good enough that they will be respected, even by my Democratic readers. Of course my objections are all a matter of principle — I have nohting personal against the man.

I am a Republican, and a good one, I hope and believe. But that is not the reason I am against him. In fact, if he had been able to put into operation all the promises of his 1932 campaign, and had done so, I can readily see why even a Republican could support him now. But he has not done that, and no Democrat will contend that he has—he doesn't claim it himself. He set out on a platform that he stated time and again would bring the nation out of the depression. And, to be quite frank, I really believe that it would have done much better for him and all of us than the course he has followed.

But Mr. Roosevelt broke faith. He did not follow the ritual that he was elected upon. The American people voted as much for that platform as they did for Roosevelt, possibly more, and he betrayed them. I have absolutely no respect for a welcher, or one who is unfaithful.

By his actions Mr. Roosevelt has left the impression that he would welcome the position of dictator. He asked the congress for its power. By this he proved that he wanted to make of ours a one-man government. If I liked that kind of government I would go to Russia. But I hate the doctrine of dictatorship and one-man rule. And I don't like anyone who attempts to become such a dictator, even in a so-called "emergency". So I must necessarily oppose Mr. Roosevelt for his aspirations along this line.

Mr. Roosevelt has wasted the nation's substance. I believe it was necessary to provide relief for the needy, and I would be the last to deny them help. But I never can believe the nation has received even half the worth of the 13 billion dollars Mr. Hoosevelt has added to the national debt in this maner. I believe the greater part of it was wasted and that much of it was spent in a maner that was calculated to aid his political aspirations. I believe by his careless and reckless management of his spending agencies that he has saddled future generations with a debt that was grossly unnecessary. One who throws money to the four winds and has no regard for thrift, is a spendthrift. And I do not believe that the office of the President of the United States should be filled by a spendthrift. Therfeore, I am against Mr. Roosevelt.

Managing the government of the United States is a big job—a big business— and I believe a good business man is needed for the job. Is Mr. Roosevelt a good business man? Nobody can prove it. As a lawyer he was a dismal failure. If he was unable to manage his private affairs successfully, can we expect him to run the nation's affairs successfully. I don't think so. I believe we need a good business man at the head of this government—Mr. Roosevelt does not measure up to this standard, so I am against him for the position.

Mr. Roosevelt is a man of many faces. He speaks in a farming section and tells farmers that HE is raising the prices on their products. He goes to the cities and tells industrial workers that it is not him who is raising their living cost, but that it is a result of the drouths and other causes over which he has no control, disregarding the fact that it was by his orders that a great portion of our raw products were destroyed and their production restricted. Too, he tells farmers we must restrict production, cut down surpluses, and at the same time effects trade treaties which flood our markets with the very kind of goods our producers have sacrificed production on. I believe our president should have one set rule to fit all, and should stick to it. Mr. Roosevelt isn't that kind of man, and that is another reason I am against him.

Yes, I am a Republican, and against Roosevelt, but not for that reason. I have recounted a few of my reasons—and there are more. I do not doubt Mr. Roosevelt's good will to help our people, but I very much doubt his judgment as to the best methods to effect this help.—Man in the Moon.

END OF THE ROPE

A small white card with black printing tacked on a house in Columbia boulevard is to warn people against trespassing or damaging the property. More pointedly it reminds one that the house is in the possession of the Home Owners Loan Corporation. And there are other houses about Waterbury with the same kind of signs, in fact, all about the nation. They constantly propel a pang of grief within us, reminding youth and those of slender means of the end of the slippery path to home ownership. Constantly, too, is a wise hint that politics may change but economics never do.

It seems only yesterday (it was 1933) that the New Deal enthusiasts were pouring out the sage advice about refinancing the home to save it. The HOLC would save a million homes, or was it 10 million? Save for whom?

Thousands of home owners in a tight place followed the davice. They put their all in the laps of federal attorneys. Did those shouting advocates of a great new kind of government save the homes for the people who took hold of their life-lines?

In the past three years HOLC has loaned three billion dollars to home owners. The other day the main offices in Washington reported foreclosure proceedings instituted covering 38,000 homes, and increase of over 7,000 such proceedings in one month.

Payments begin to become a real drain now. At the start they were next to nothing. The figures on foreclosures will mount henceforth. Thousands of home owners have had their breathing spell but are in no better position to meet their payments than they were three years ago. They took the life line, but now are at its loose end.

Unfortunate victims are beginning to realize that the sweet words of New Deal followers come to the same dead end as the business-like tones of the conservative banker. If we would live in our own homes we must pay either Peter or Paul. The HOLC and the FHA which would have you borrow to pay for home decorating and furnishing may give a little longer terms than some private corporations, but, like the re-employment agency of the government which spent a lot of money opening offices but did not create jobs, these household finance agencies look good but in the end only continue the economic laws and practices that have been established for years in sound banking institutions. — Waterbury Republican.

SOLD "DOWN THE RIVER"

Cruel facts and cold statistics are all on Gov. Landon's side in the declaration he has repeatedly made that reciprocal trade pacts, as engineered by the present administration, are not in the interest of the American people. Speaking at Minneapolis recently, Mr. Landon ventured the opinion that by these agreements the farmers of the United States have been "sold down the river". This is a picturesque way of expressing it, but so far as a considerable part of the agricultural population is concerned, it states only the exact truth.

The original purpose of the reciprocal agreements—a purpose which Gov. Landon takes special care to approve—was wholly laudable. It was to enable the United States to sell to foreign countries more of its surplus products and to buy in return such goods as were either impossible or difficult of manufacture here. This course promised an arrangement of mutual benefit. But when the time came for an actual definition of terms, the United States assumed its customary role of giving away more than it received and in consequence soon found itself in the position of having the balance of trade run very heavily against it. Thus in some 18 months, according to the government's own figures, the country bought from foreign nations about 50 million dollars more of goods than it sold to them. That is the price we have so far paid for the privilege of being a "good neighbor". —Boston Transcript.

ARE YOU A BUSINESS MAN?

Have you, by your own efforts, set up or managed a productive or distributive enterprise? Do you employ others to help you with it? In short, are you a business man?

Then, according to Ralph Waldo Emerson, you are likely to be one who has the just average of faculties we call common sense; a man of strong affinity for facts, who makes up his mind on what he has seen, and who is thoroughly persuaded of the truths of arithmetic.

But that is not what you are to President Roosevelt. To him you are a money changer, an economic royalist, a prince of privilege. His general factotum and Postmaster General, Jim Farley, taking the president's cue, calls you an unprincipled brigand, a self-professed gangster. And Harold Ickes, the New Deal Secretary of the Interior, swells the chorus. He says you are cold, heartless and exploiting. Nor is this all. For in the New Deal millenium foreseen and announced by the president's No. 1 Brain Truster, Rexford Guy Tugwell, you simply will be required to disappear.

What is the matter with these New Dealers? Do they object to common sense? Are they indignant with facts? Do they actually hate a man who believes his own eyes and is thoroughly persuaded of the truths of arithmetic? It does seem so.—Chicago Daily News.

The Democratic National Committe claims Roosevelt will carry 48 states, the Republican National Committee claims Landon will carry 46 states, and Father Coughlin says nobody will get a majority of the electoral vote. Were you aware that we had what is known as a "quota" on foreign-made goods shipped into the United States under reciprocal trade agreements? Well, we have. And the discovery has just come to light that Japan has exceeded her quota by some 3 million square yards. What are we going to do about it? Why, nothing whatever. A quota, it seems, is just a kind of gentleman's agreement. And if one chooses NOT to be a gentleman, well, that's that. Simple? Very. Not just simple. Simply idiotic.—Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch.

STATE F. H. A. MET AT MONTEVALLO

On Saturday October 17, a group of proud and happy girls gathered at Alabama College for the second annual state meeting of the Future Homemakers Association.

The delegates from the Jemison chapter were: Vesta Smith, Melba Patton, Annie Louise Spencer, Myrle Killingsworth, and Clara Thomas Payne. The only candidate for state degree from this school was Estelle McCarty.

The meeting consisted of the following: Display of project work hobbies, and reports from each chapter concerning thair programs of work for the past year and for the coming year.

During the day the girls heard talks from Miss Katherine Forney, State Supervisor of Home Economies, and Misses Ruby Simyson and Audrey E. Fuller, Assistant Supervisors, on "Future Homemakers of today and tomorrow."

In the imitiation services, which was conducted by the Jemison Chapter, thirty-five girls received their fourth or State degree. The following were: Mrs. J. B. Hobdy, Mrs. J. A. Keller, Mrs. C. F. Harmon, and Mrs. T. H. Napier.

The Montevallo Chapter were hostesses at a tea perty after which the business meeting was held. Jemison is especially proud to have had one of her girls, Myrle Killingsworth, erected State President. She is a Senior 3 and is completing her third year in Home Economics.

Our Schools

To all the voters of Chilton County:

In answer to P. M. Martin's astiche on our rural schools. After reading his article in which he stated it was being said that he was opposed to rural schools, and if elected would try to abolish them, I have investigated this, and I find that this report is a false alarm, and no truth in it.

As a patron of Chilton County schools, I feel that we need P. M. Martin on our Board of Education, for the following reasons:

P. M. Martin is capable, he is self respecting, and is respected by all those who really know him.

He is trustworthy, he is a successful farmer at Union Grove.

He is always ready and willing to take a part in any thing which will build up our community.

He is a regular active member in church. Martin has solid, sound, practical business ideas.

We need to be represented in the northern part of our county, and P. M. Martin is the only candidate runing for Board of Education this side of Clanton.

Voters, let us see to it that the south end of the county don't have complete control over our schools.

Voters, please keep this in mind and vote for P. M. Martin, Nov. 3rd.

CENTER HILL

We are sorry to have on our sick list this week little Peggy Sue Cobb.

However we are glad to state that Mrs. Madge Howard, Mrs. Thelma Gothard, Mr. Joe Corey and Mr. L. E. Garner are improving.

The community sing, at Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Garners, Wednesday night, was enjoyed very much. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cobb and children, Mrs. Vester Rogers and son Frank, Mr. B. T. Hayes and Misses Glenora Howard, Bernadine Cobb, Imogene Cobb, Coqueece Barnes, and Mable Cobb.

Our Sunday School is progressing nicely at present.

We have a few new members, but we could use lots more. Everyone make their plans now to come next Sunday for Sunday School, and singing in the afternoon.

Miss Beradine Cobb spent Sunday with Miss Glenora Howard.

Miss Jessie Mae Shannon, of Decatur, Alabama, is spending the week with Miss Coqueece Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cobb and Mable Cobb attended the singing at Mars Hill Sunday afternoon. They reported a nice singing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cobb and family, also Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cobb, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Pat Lowery.

Mrs. Frank Merchant and daughter Lucille, spent the day Monday with Mrs. Rubye Cobb.

Mrs. Ora Barnes spent Monday in Clanton, shopping, and Monday night with her sisters, Mrs. Fannye Glasscock, and Mrs, William Kelly.

Little Billie Frank Merchant spent Monday night, with her sister Mrs. Rubye Cobb.

Everyone remember the singing here Sunday afternoon.

M. E. DUNSMORE DEAD

M. E. Dunsmore, age 77, died at his home at Stanton Monday night at 8:15, following a brief illness. Burial was at Stanton Wednesday at 2 o'clock, Spigener in charge. Services were conducted by Rev. G. G. Williams.

Surviving, besides his wife, is one son, G. I. Dunsmore, of Birmingham. Nephews of the deceased served as pallbearers.

REFUGE

Last Sunday was our regular preaching day. Our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, delivered two wonderful sermons.

A good crowd was out for Sunday school Sunday morning; also some visitors, whom we invite back at any and all times.

Mrs. Lee J. Grant from Chestnut Creek, and Miss Thomason visited us Sunday night and organized a W. M. U. We want all the ladies of the community, and most especially members of the church to join this union and cooperate to make it one of the best. We also want to organize a B. T. U.

There will be singing again here net Thursday night. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mims and daughter, Vera Nell, visited friends in this community last Sunday.

Everybody come back next Sunday and bring someone with you.—Mrs. Ruth Lockhart.

INFANT DAUGHTER DIED

Little Eloise, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Fulmer died at the home at Mill Village Monday morning of this week. Burial was at Samaria Tuesday, Martin in charge.

P.-T. A. ELECT OFFICERS

The P.-T. A. of the Chilton County High School held its first meeting of this school year Tuesday of last week at the high school. Mrs. Hugh Jones, the retiring president, presided and made a most excellent talk in which she thanked the members for their loyal support during the years that she had been serving as the president of the organization. Mrs. Jones reviewed the accomplishments of the association during the past five years and asked that the mothers of the high school children cooperate with the school autharities in providing the very best school possible for their children.

Mr. Hicks, the high school principal, thanked the association for its welcome to him and the teachers and for their splendid offer to help make this year one of the best in the history of the school. He then introduced the faculty of the high school.

After many routine business matters were disposed of the officers for this year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. P. M. Pitts.
Vice-President, Mrs. N. S. Johnson.
Secretary, Mrs. H. G. Heflin.
Treasurer, Mrs. Milton Smith.

After the meeting an informal reception was held in honor of the faculty of the high school. Mrs. Grady Reynolds was chairman of the committee on entertainment. Lovely fall flowers were used in the decorations, and brick ice cream and cake were served.

The regular meeting of the parent-teachers is held on Tuesday afternoon in each month and the association extended to every patron and friend of the school a cordial invitation to join in building the citizenship of this state for tomorrow through the work of the school.

PLEASANT HILL

Health of this community is very good at this time.

We hope our Sunday school will be better next Sunday. Everybody come and bring some one with you.

We have started our B. Y. P. U. again and hope we still have more help because we need lots of it.

Some of the W. M. U. workers are going to meet with us at Pleasant Hill Church, Friday at 3:00 oclock.

Mrs. Sealie Arledge is leaving Monday going to Seattle Washington, to visit her son and family. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Littlefield, and two little sons, Dean and Wayne.

Miss Willie Mae Davis and Miss Dotha Cleckler were the Sunday dinner guests of Miss Central Cost.

Miss Inez Griffin was the Sunday dinner guest of Misses Daisy, Lizie and Pearlene Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Sammons and three sons, Bill, Dutch and Cletor. and Miss Dotha and Jessie Cleckler spent a while Friday night, with Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Arledge.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Armstrong, Mrs. Annie Armstrong and Mrs. Dealie Traywick of Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Traywick in Billingsley, Sunday.

Come in, Neighbor. Make yourself at home.

The kettle's on. There are plenty of comfortable seats. Clean, fresh air to breathe. Good beds to sleep in. Servants to cater to your comforts.

Most of these servants are busy inspecting tracks—keeping equipment in tip-top shape—watching with alert eyes so you'll be safe in your "Home Sweet Home" on rails. Working "behind the scenes" . . . just the way many folks in your community work—to give you the things that make home more pleasant.

. . . and so, because our "home" is maintained much the same way as yours—because our places in the community are so similar—we feel that we are your neighbor. Will you think of us that way?

Ask Yourself
These Further Questions

By E. C. Easter

CHAPTER VII

6. Your TVA-inspired association will start in business with a mortgage of many thousands of dollars saddled on its back. Suppose the business does not turn out as rosily as TVA promises and the surcharges its members will have to pay are not enough to meet the interest and principal payments of the government or TVA mortgage, won't you and the other members have to pay increased charges and rates? (The TVA contract says you must.)

7. TVA requires that members commit themselves to use 662 kilowatt hours per mile a month. Suppose some of the members do not use and PAY FOR their share of these 662 kilowatt hours? Won't YOU have to use and pay for the difference so the association will have enough money to operate on?

8. There is nothing in the TVA twenty-year contract which will prohibit it from raising the rates or requiring your association to raise the rates at any time during that period. On the contrary, TVA contracts have contained this requirement:

"If it should appear that the rates provided for in said schedule with the surcharges provided for therein do not under economical and efficient management by association produce revenues sufficient to maintain the system on a self-supporting and financially sound basis, then upon application by ASSOCIATION, AUTHORITY shall consent to such changes in rates as will provide for increased revenue as will place the system upon a self-supporting and financially sound basis when operated under economical and efficient management."

Suppose that your association's rates become higher than the low Alabama Power Company electric rates? What can you do about getting out from under that long twenty-year TVA contract with which your association will be saddled? The Legislature of Alabama has decreed that the Public Service Commission shall have no authority to regulate it.

9. If the TVA co-operative proposition is so good, why do its promoters demand a twenty-year contract? Why not a year to year contract such as Alabama Power Company offers, or a five-year contract at the most?

10. If your association loads itself up with this mortgage of many thousands of dollars and should find itself unable to make a go of the electric light and power business, and thus unable to make the payments, don't you believe Uncle Sam is going to take some steps to enforce payment? (His Home Owners' Loan Corporation has already foreclosed on many homes with government loans on them.)

CHAPTER VIII

Careful Farmers Won't Want to Take These Chances—They Have to Take Chances Enough With the Weather

ASSUMING you are considering membership in one of the TVA associations, you may want to also consider these things:

11. If at some future date a difference of opinion develops between your association or co-operative and the TVA, to whom will you appeal? The TVA will not admit that the State of Alabama has any jurisdiction over it and you can't sue the TVA without its consent. Alabama Power Company is subservient to both Federal and State laws and must also conduct its business in accordance with rules and regulations established by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

12. Do you know that the TVA may cancel the 20-year contract it will impose on your association at any time it chooses under certain conditions, but that your association cannot cancel it?

13. The TVA contracts have specified that co-operative association books be audited by TVA. Will this auditing be done according to the TVA faulty bookkeeping practices so vigorously criticised by the Comptroller General of the United States?

14. Suppose the co-operative associations fails, would you want your name connected with anything that "went bust" even though your participation in it would not make you liable for anythin but your dues?

There are many other things in connection with operating a rural electric line which you, as a prospective shareholder in a TVA-inspired membership association, might overlook in your enthusiasm. Some of them will be presented for your consideration in our next several advertisements.

This advertisement is the fourth of a series which has also been printed in booklet form. T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, will cheerfully send a copy to any interested person requesting it.

Announcing

The Opening of a Cream Testing Station In

Jemison, Alabama

For the convenience of our friends and customers in and around Jemison we are pleased to announce the opening of a first class Cream Station in your midst. This station is to be located in small building located near store of J. N. Scott and will be open for business Saturday, Oct. 24.

This station is placed in your community for your convenience as we realize the fact that a great many of you do not have a way of bringing it down to Clanton to us, and we ask that you cooperate with us if you desire us to keep the station there. This station will buy cream on Saturdays only. An expert tester from Foremost Dairies will be there Saturday to assure you of an accurate test.

Change in Operating Days

Please note that beginning next week, Oct. 29, our Station in Clanton will operate on THURSDAY and SATURDAY, continuing with these days until further notice. We appreciate the fine patronage you have favored us with in the last few months, and the fact that you have helped us HOLD THE LEAD as the Heaviest Cream Buyers in Chilton County.

Support the firm that has helped put Chilton County on the map as being one of the best cream producing counties in the State, and the first to bring a complete line of seeds to Chilton County.

We now have plenty of Hairy Vetch (Guaranteed genuine Hairy Vetch) and Austrian Winter Peas—Fulghum, Appler, Winter Turf, and Genuine Texas Red Rust Resistant Oats.

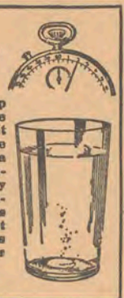
DO THIS when you wake up with a Headache

ENJOY RELIEF BEFORE YOU'VE FINISHED DRESSING

Bayer Tablets Dissolve Almost Instantly

In 2 seconds by stop watch, a genuine BAYER Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work. Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. What happens in this glass . . . happens in your stomach.



When you wake up with a headache, do this: Take two quick-acting, quick-dissolving BAYER ASPIRIN tablets with a little water.

By the time you've finished dressing, nine chances in ten, you'll feel relief coming.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin provides this quick relief because it is rated among the quickest methods for relief science has yet discovered.

Try it this way. But ask for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN; not by the name "aspirin" alone.

CONFEDERATE HERO DIED AT SELMA LAST WEEK

Selma, Ala., Oct. 12.—William Robert White, 93, hero of the Confederacy, died at 9:15 a.m. Monday at the home of his son, E. M. White, 2518 Alabama Avenue, reducing to one the number of Confederate veterans on Dallas County's pension lists.

Born on Feburary 28, 1844, in Chambers County, where he was raised, Mr. White came to Selma 14 years ago from Chilton County where he later moved, residing here with his son continuously since 1922.

The only surviving veteran of the war between the States is Sam B. McCary, of Selma, one of the large and gallant group which made up Camp Jones, local unit of men who served the Confederate cause during the war.

Twice married, Mr. White's first wife, Martha Sewell, died in 1874; his second wife, Mattie Blount, also died some years ago. Of 10 children born of the two marriages, nine survive. They are: E. M. White, of Selma; S. J. White, of Birmingham; L. D. White, of Magee, Miss.; W. R. White, Jr., of West Frankford, Ill., Clarence White, of Maplesville; Mrs. Oliver Chambers, Mrs. Coy Klinner, and Mrs. Tom Kemp, of Maplesville; Mrs. W. W. Broadhead, of Verbena; two sisters, Mrs. John Sewell, of Montevallo, and Mrs. Henry Sewell, of Maplesville, and a number of grandchildren.

The funeral was held from Antioch Church near Pletcher. Breslin—Service in charge.

Enlisting in the first Alabama Cavalry, Company G, on November 1, 1861, Mr. White served under many Confederate leaders during the four years of fighting. Outstanding however, were services he rendered under President Jefferson Davis and Gen. Joseph Wheeler. He was detailed to escort Davis from Charlotte, N. C. to Washington, Ga., in effort to protect him from capture which took place a few days later. Mr. White received his first bullet wound in the thigh, during the battle of Atlanta, on July 22, 1865, but did not withdraw from actual fighting.

At the close of the war, Mr. White was engaged in farming in what is now Elmore, then Coosa County, going later to Chilton County. He was a Democrat and a member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. White, a former resident of Chilton County, lived in Beat 15, in Sardis community for 45 or 50 years, before moving to Selma, 14 years ago. He had a number of friends in this County.

CENTER HILL

As all day singings are over we are planning to organize again for our afternoon singings. The fourth Sunday being our regular time for this accasion we ask you all to meet with us at 1:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon. Bring your new books.

The plots of fine late tomatoes here and there and what could be better than late tomatoes and potatoes for the tomatoes may be gathered when Jack Frost comes wrapped in paper and stored away in boxes or barrels and eaten daily until after New Year's or all the winter if not allowed to freeze.

Mrs. George Sansom's Collards: My. My! a garden and a huge garden at that just filled with the finest looking collards you ever saw and such perfect looking ones, when asked how she kept the buggs off Mrs. Sansom replied: "I pick them by hand and I believe that is the safest and surest way for you to have good collards". The collards strike Mr. Sansom many of them at the waist and they look to be four feet in diameter. Mr. and Mrs. Sansom win the prizes as being the chompion collard growers. Babies, babies.

March Of Education

County Teachers Join State Forces in Study.

On October 17th, Chilton County teachers met at the High School building at Clanton with Mr. J. A. Peterson, President of the County Teachers Association, presiding. Dr. Riddle, of Alabama College, Montevallo, offered a course in curriculum study, the purpose of the course being to train teachers to help the child meet changing conditions of modern life.

The teachers present, realizing the need of this study, enrolled 100 percent and agreed to meet once a month for further study beginning Saturday, October 24th.

Educational Needs of Alabama

I come to you to plead the cause of the 665,000 school children of Alabama. A civilization can be measured by its attitude toward childhood and youth. The civilization that adopts a policy of self-indulgence without a thought of the future loses its soul and signs its own death warrant. It is the unwritten law of nature that the parent shall give his food, his labor, and even his life, if need be, for his offspring. Even the birds of the air and the animals of the woods recognize this law. Human civilization itself is based upon it, and so I have no fear that in the great State of Alabama the cries of childhood will fall upon deaf ears and closed minds.

Recently our hearts have been filled with terror because of an epidemic of that terrible disease, infantile paralysis. Extraordinary measures have been taken to stamp it out. The protection of the lives and bodies of our children has been made the first order of the day. War has been declared on this dreaded disease. Our Health Department has mobilized its forces; doctors and scientists have been called in; all preventive measures possible have been instituted; and all the plans of the adult world which might endanger our children have been called off. We love our children in Alabama. I do not believe there is a person in this State but who would change the whole course of his life rather than cripple a child.

The sins of omission are greater than the sins of commission in this life. No, we would not cripple the body of a child because we can see the horror of it. But we do cripple his mind and his soul because we know not what we do. Fewer than five hundred children have been afflicted by the present infantile paralysis epidemic, and justly and righteously we have girded on our armor and attacked the enemy on every front. However, the minds and the futures of hundreds of thousands of our school children have also been crippled this same year, and we have done nothing about it as yet!

"Gone is a year of golden youth,
Gone is a year eternity,
Gone is a year of hope and prayer,
Gone is our youth but we have our gold."

That is something to exult about, is it not? Disillusioned youth being denied its rightful chance to a respectable educational offering, and being sent out into the world to compete in an unequal battle with boys and girls who have had a chance! Schools closed with the shortest terms in the United States in over fifty counties in the State and the outlook still blacker for next year, crying economy and spending $2,000,000 more for tobacco than for elementary and high schools. All good citizens believe in economy in government, but there is no economy in destruction. There is no economy in a short school term with no promotion at all, or promotion based on a poor foundation which will result in failure in later years. The so-called "ecomony ax" has about hacked away the very foundation of the Alabama public school system. "Spare the dollar" has been preached over our State in reference to our educational system until many believe that it is a worthy slogan and do not realize that what they are really preaching is "Spare the dollar and spoil the school," or "Spare the dollar and handicap the child."

NOTICE TO MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

The undersigned has called a Conference of the 5th. District of Alabama to be held in the town of Clanton, at the Thomason Hotel (old Wilson Hotel) on Wednesday afternoon, at 6:00 p.m. o'clock. The District Conference will be attended by Post Commanders and Adjustants from the following posts, which comprize the 5th. District.

Bessmer No. 1, Birmingham No. 111, No. 23, No. 102, No. 43, Calera, Clanton, Columbiana, Fairfield, Homewood, Leeds, Montevallo, Prattville, Worrior, Tarrent, Ensley.

Besides the above representatives from the foregoing post's there will be our new State Commander, Boyd and our State Adjutant, Trotter Jones. We will meet at the Thomason Hotel, and have dinner at 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 28th. The minimum charge of ($.50) cents in made for each plate.

As District Commander I would like very much for as many of the members of the Chilton County Post No. 6 as possible to attend this dinner and Conference. The only requirement is the presenting of your 1937 Legion card and fifty ($.50) cents for your dinner.

It is very necessary that you notify the undersigned not later than October 28th. whether you can be counted on for this dinner and Conference, in order that we may know how many plates to order for this occasion. There will be some very distinguished guests at this Conference and I hope that as many of our local members as possible can join us in this entertainment.

I am respectfully yours,
PERCY M. PITTS
Commander of the 5th. District of Alabama

Power Co. Will Aid County Schools

October 16, 1936

Mr. Luther E. Little, Superintendent, Chilton County Board of Edccation, Clanton, Alabama.

Dear Mr. Little:

Complying with your request of October 5, 1936, and the request of Mr. T. L. McKee, Tax Collector, Chilton County, of the same date, that this Company make advance payment of its county school ad valorem taxes before October 23, 1936, to enable you to meet the teachers' pay rolls by that date, we are today making payment of such taxes.

The total amount of ad valorem taxes to be paid by this Company in your county this year is $93,405.52, of which the county school ad valorem taxes, amounting to $28,021.66, are being paid today.

Assuring you of this Company's desire to cooperate in every way possible with the school authorities, I am,

Yours very truly,
M. P. RANDALL
Assistant Treasurer

Attention: Mr. Randall

Dear Sirs:

It was an understanding between the Superintendent of Education and me, the last of last month, that he write you and make what is nearly becoming a regular request, that you be kind and generous enough to pay our county, the county wide district A & B school tax prematurely, and having not heard from you actuates me to call your attention to this fact. I hope it is possible for you to do it since the interest of our boys and girls in this cunty is more or less at stake.

I hope to hear from you at your earlist convenience.

Yours Very truly,
T. L. MCKEE.

OBITUARY

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens and Brothers of Clanton Lodge No. 423:

We, the committee appointed to draft and present suitable resolutions on the death of Brother Alonza J. Marlar, beg leave to submit the following:

Brother Marlar was one of the oldest practing physicians in this part of the state.

He was married to Miss Mary Lowe on December 25th, 1872 and leaves to survive him his widow and seven children: Mrs. Willie Lawrence of Eoline, C. A. Marlar and L. A. Marlar of Billingsley; M. C. Marlar of Tuscaloosa, Mrs. T. W. Willis of Trenton, Georgia, Mrs. Mary Lou Wonder and Mrs. J. C. Hughes of Billingsley. He was a member of the Baptist Church of Billingsley for more than fifty years.

Brother Marlar took the degree of Masonry in Stanton Lodge, No. 473, in 1893. In 1897, he was demitted to Eoline Lodge and in 1908 to Clanton Lodge, No. 423 of which he was a faithful member till his death.

On the 10th day of October, 1936, he heard the summons that carried him to the great beyond from whose bourne no traveler returns. He was buried in the cemetery at Billingsley October 11, 1936, with full Masonic honors.

Now, whereas, the Supereme Grand Master of the Universe has seen fit to call Brother Marlar from this life, and whereas, from his hands have dropped for ever the working tools of life, and whereas, Clanton Lodge has lost one of its most loyal and faithful members.

First, that we bow in humble submission to our Heavenly Father's will;

Second, that we extend our deenest sympathy to the bereaved family;

Third, that we emulate Brother Marlar's spirit of loyalty and faithfuiness to his lodge;

Fourth, that these preambles and resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our lodge, a copy sent the bereaved family, and a copy furnishes each of the local papers for publication.—Committee, W. L. Smith, J. D. Bell, W. W. Wingard.

H. B. GLENN

H. B. Glenn, age 61, died at his home at South Clanton Sunday night, October 18, at 7 o'clock.

Funeral services were held from Samaria church Monday afternoon. Rev. J. W. Jones officiating, Martin and Sons in charge.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty Glenn, three daughters, Mrs. J. D. Driver, Nora Lee and Muriel; 3 sons, Lester, Osmond and H. B. Jr.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank aur friends for the many acts of kindness extended us during our recent sad bereavement. May the blessings of Almighty God rest with you all, is our ardent prayers.—Nathan Tippett, Mr. and Mrs. Fate Downing and Family.

WE LEASE — New Rock-Ola Phonograph machines. Hanan Novelty and Phonograph Co., Rubin Hanan, Mgr., 2 Church St., Phone Walnut 9198, Montgomery, Ala. 1t-?

FOR SALE—Pair nice mares, 3 and 4 years old, 1,000 and 1,100 lbs.; bred to foal soon. Also some nice young sows that will farrow soon; some meat shoats and pigs for sale. W. B. Cox, Clanton Route 2. 1t-pd

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Alabama, Chilton County. In Probate Court, October 6, 1936.

In the matter of J. S. Massey application to sell real estate belonging to Mrs. G. H. Massey, deceased, for division among joint owners:

New And Modern Store Opens Up In Clanton This Week End

New Fixtures Include Spacious Department For Complete Line of 5c and 10c Goods and Complete Line of New Dry Goods

A new five and ten cent store will soon open in Clanton, and in addition to a complete line of merchandise in this price range, the store will carry a new and complete line of dry goods and ready-to-wear.

This announcement was made this week by I. S. Levine and Sol Levine, brothers who have climbed the ladder of success in business in Clanton. The new store is now almost ready for business, the Levine brothers stated. It is located on Main Street, next door to the Big Four Hardware Co. It will not be difficult to locate this new and progressive business, as it will have one of the most attractive fronts in Clanton.

This new concern will be an outstanding credit to the City of Clanton and the entire county. Long piles of new and up-to-date merchandise are on tables, waiting their turn to be placed in the new fixtures that grace the entire front section of the building, and painters are still busy decorating the store.

I. S. Levine, the senior partner of the new firm, was formerly manager of Mazer's department store here, and Sol, the junior member, has made quite a reputation in Clanton in the dry goods business.

"We hope to be able to have our store open by Saturday of this week," they stated. "In fact we will be open for business, but it will be a few days before we announce our real big formal opening, which will interest everybody in this county."

Clanton and the entire county should feel a pardonable pride in this new business concern. It is headed by two of the most progressive young business men in this section. The people will find at Levine's a most cordial welcome, and will also find that it will be pleasure to shop at this store. The proprietors stated they wanted people to watch for their formal opening next week.

RAISING TOMATOES IN CHILTON COUNTY

A group of 50 farmers met at the Court House in Clanton Tuesday night of last week. The possibilities of developing a Tomato Industry here were discussed. From the information given by farmers who had visited the West Tennessee tomato producing area and by Mr. Hayden, Agricultureal Agent of the L. & N. Railroad, who is familiar with the tomato production in different parts of the South, it seems that we might develop this industry to the advantage of Chilton County farmers.

It seems that tomatoes grown here should go to market at a time of the year when there would be very little competition. Tomatoes properly grown here should go to market as green wrapped tomatoes the first few days of June.

It would cost the farmers approximately $30.00 per acre to produce an acre of tomatoes. The West Tennessee growers harvest from 135 to 200 bushels of tomatoes per acre and receive an average of about $1.50 per bushel delivered to the shipping point.

We are calling another meeting Friday, 7:00 P. M., October 23, at the Court House in Clanton. We would like to have a large group of farmers and business men present at this meeting.

Very truly yours,
J. W. FANT, CountyAgent.

BIRTHDAY SUPPER GIVEN BY P. G. MARCUS RECENTLY

A joint birthday supper was given at the home of Mr. P. G. Marcus, in Clanton last Sunday night, four close relatives of Mr. Marcus having had a birthday during the past week. The honorees were: Mrs. Amy Jewel Marcus, wife of D. W. Marcus, and three grand sons — Glenn Hayes Marcus, Jimmie Marcus and George Walter Pate. In respective order, their birth days occurred on the 14th, 16th and 19th of October.

Quite a crowd of relatives and friends enjoyed the evening with the hosts and honorees. They were: Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Enfinger, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pate and son, of Thorsby, Walter Robinson and daughter, Bernice, Earl Marcus and wife, of Madison, D. W. Marcus and wife, of Kennedy, Wilbur Marcus, wife and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hayes, of Thorsby, Paul Marcus, wife and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pate and son, Mrs. F. B. Goodgame, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Miller, Carson, Delene and Eugene Logan, of Clanton, Edith Miller, of Clanton.

All had a most enjoyable pastime, and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus were indeed glad to have the guests present.

R. IRBY POPWELL INJURED IN AUTO WRECK MONDAY NIGHT

News was received in Clanton Tuesday morning that R. Irby Popwell was in a Montgomery hospital suffering from injuries sustained in a wreck in which the car which Popwell was driving collided with a bus on Bell Street, in Montgomery. A man by the name of Ewell Ballard, of Troy, was in the car with Popwell and was also injured. Both were taken to a hospital unconscious, but attendants said Tuesday that their injuries apparently were not as serious as believed at first.

PRESIDENT'S SON DRAWN INTO ROW

G. O. P. Broadcast Squelch And Insurance Sale Are Connected, Charge

New York—The name of President Roosevelt's son, James, and the sale of an insurance contract to the Columbia Broadcasting System were injected today into debate over Columbia's curtailment of a speech by Senator Vandenburg (R., Mich. Saturady night in Chicago.

Edward Klauber, executive vice-president of the radio chain, said James Roosevelt "participated" in negotiations for a group insurance plan for Columbia employes in August, 1934.

He said, however, that this had nothing to do with the decision to cut Vandenburg's address from the air lanes, and repeated the previous announcement that the action was in line with a ruling against broadcasting of recorded programs.

Klauber made his statement in reply to a query from Senator Hastings (R., Del.) which noted "a persistent rumor that James Roosevelt has recently written a large sum of insurance for your company and that this had something to do with the decision reached by you.

Miss Kittye Clyde Austin of Montgomery spent several days last week here with friends, while working with Miss Meroney.

Roosevelt Is Silent About N R A Issue

President's Son Says the Blue Eagle Will Fly Again If FDR Is Re-Elected.

Chicago, October 26. — Corroboration or denial by President Roosevelt of a statement made by his son, James, at Gardner, Mass., that: "The President intends to continue the principles of the National Recovery Act by going before the people and seeking an amendment to the consituation to make the principles of the law of the land," is demanded by the Republican National Committee.

The Republican party demanded that the President come out into the open and declare specifically whether he intends to ask for an amendment to the consituation for the purpose of reviving the NRA.

By his silence the President is attempting to dodge the foundamental issue of this campaign—the issue of whether labor, agriculture and business are to be directed and managed by government—directly and managed by politics.

With only a few days remaining before the election day, the president has maintained a studied silence in this great issue.

Does the President intend to ask for the restoration of the dictatorial powers given him by the Congress under the National Recovery Act?

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS CLANTON BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS MEET

At the call of Mr. O. M. Webb, superintendent of Clanton Baptist Sunday school, forty officers and teachers attended a meeting in the basement of the church Wednesday night of last week. This was the best attended meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school probably that has ever been held. Members of the Home Makers class served luncheon—or rather a full rounded dinner—to the attendants.

The purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans for the future of the school, which plans were presented by the superintendent. Some of the plans outlined were adopted and some were not, but the meeting went off in a most satisfactory and harmonious manner.

One of the main plans adopted was that the school will begin promptly at 9:45 every Sunday morning; fifteen minutes will be allowed for class preliminaries, thirty minutes for teaching the lession. One bell will be sounded at 10:30, and five minutes allowed for assembly. Ten minutes will be consumed for the closing exercises; and 15 minutes intermission will be allowed between Sunday school and preaching.

A committee was appointed to arrange for additional bells to be installed in the various departments; and another committee was appointed to arrange for a report register or blackboard to be used by the secretary in making his report to the general assembly.

Several important matters were introduced by the superintendant and discussed by himself and Dr. S. J. Ezell, the pastor, and others.

Dr. Ezell announced that a study course would be taught at the church during the week of November 2nd to 6th. The course will be taught by Miss Mary Ellen Caver of Birmingham, returned missionary from Africa. A good attendance at this training school is urged.

Superintendent Webb expressed himself as being very elated over the splendid attendance at the meeting, and voiced the hope that the same interest in the Sunday school continue until it shall spread throughout the membership of the Clanton Baptist church. Mr. Webb has taken up the job of superintendent with a great deal of zeal and determination, and he respectfully urges the cooperation of all in making Clanton Baptist Sunday school as nearly as possible what it really ought to be.

LEVINE BROTHERS NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS

The store of Messers. I. S. and Sol Levine is now open for business. This progressive firm has a large adv. in this week's Union-Banner laying out some of their plans and policies. Especial attention is called to their 5c 10c and $1 department in which a full line of novelties is carried. Their dry goods department promises to be a pride of the city.

In announcing their opening, Messers. Levine extend the people of this section a cardial invitation to visit them. They are located next door below Big Four Hardware Company.

TOY WILLIAMS WILL PREACH HERE NEXT SUNDAY AT 11

Rev. J. Toy Williams, native Chilton county Baptist preacher, but for several years past Missionary to China, will preach at Clanton Baptist church next Sunday, November 1st, at 11 o'clock.

You are cordially invited to hear Dr. Williams.

AMENDMENT AFFECTS CLANTON

Clanton is included in the municipalities mentioned in Amendment No. 5 to be voted upon on November 3rd. This amendment will allow these municipalities to levey and collect a special school tax not to exceed 30 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property in such district.

NAME ON ABSENTEE APPLICATION UNKNOWN TO POST OFFICE DEPT.

There was something in last week's Union-Banner about a dead man's name being signed to an application for an absentee ballot, on file in the office of Probate Judge J. Lee Smith. We stated that a number of people who live out in the southwest part of the county, in and near Beat 7, where the application stated the applicant was registered, did not know any E. E. Deramus, except Edgar Deramus, who was killed in the storm of 1932.

On Saturday, October 17th, a registered letter was mailed to the address given on the application, namely: "E. E. Deramus, Anniston, Ala., Route 1," with a request for a return receipt. On Monday of this week, October 26th, this letter was returned to the writer with the notation from the carrier on Anniston Route 1 and the postmaster at Anniston, "unknown". This means that there is no such person on Route 1 from Anniston, which means further that somebody signed that dead man's name to that application for an absentee ballot. Who is guilty of forging the dead man's name to the application is not known.

DEMOCRATS DEPEND ON ABSENTEE BALLOTS FOR THEIR VICTORY

One of the Democratic candidates for office in Chilton County made this statement in Clanton Wednesday morning:

"The vote in Chilton County will be about equally divided between the two parties, but where we are going to win over the Republicans is with absentee ballots".

WRITES ABOUT ABSENTEE VOTES

Billingsley, Ala., Route 1,
October 26, 1936.

Editor Union-Banner:

I have noticed quite a controversy over the absentee voters in this county, as to whether or not they are genuine. I do not know about the authenticity of the ballots you are now discussing, but you know we can judge the future only by the past, and I wish to tell what happened in my family.

My mother and father were in Tallassee, Ala., but were voters in Beat 6 of this county. Applications for ballots were mailed to them but they ignored the applications and meant to come to vote on election day. When they came to vote they were refused their constitutional privilege of voting because someone had already cast an absentee vote for them. They checked on that report and demanded to see their ballot. It was voted straight under the rooster, something which my father and mother had never done in their life. They demanded their ballot but were refused it because the Democrats were in the majority in the absentee election officers.

I am pleading with the voters of this county to give us honest officials who will serve as employees and not as dictators. I believe you can do this by voting the straight Republican ticket. Respectfully,—J. A. Chandler.

MUSIC AT THORSBY REPUBLICAN MEETING NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Mr. Lloyd Howard and his jug band will assist in entertaining the folks at Thorsby public school building next Monday night, November 2nd, when the county Republican rally will be held at that place. The W. M. Devaughn quartet will also be on the scene for several numbers. The hour to begin is 7:00 o'clock.

FAIR IN CLANTON NOVEMBER 3 TO 7

There will be a fair in Clanton next week, beginning Tuesday, November 3, and continuing through Saturday. The location is the field just north of the city water works. There will be all kinds of amusements and exhibits.

Turn to another page in this paper and read the particulars in their adv.

NEW MANAGER AT MAZER'S STORE HERE

A new manager took charge at Mazer's store in Clanton last Saturday. He is Mr. Saul M. Goldstein. Mr. Goldstein is a native of Birmingham, having obtained his education in a high school of that city and the University of Alabama. He graduated from the University in 1925. He expects to obtain a degree from Columbia University in the near future.

For the past two and half years Mr. Goldstein has been teaching in the Spottsville high school at Spottsville, Kenturky. His home in Kentucky was at Henderson, near where he taught.

Before going to teaching in Kentucky, Goldstein worked on the road for the Neverbreak Trunk Company.

Mr. Goldstein and Mrs. Goldstein for the present have rooms in Clanton, and will make their home here in the future. We extend a cordial welcome to them into our fair city.

REPUBLICAN LADIES TO MEET

The Ladies Republican Club will hold their meeting at Enterprise School house Friday afternoon, October 30, at 2:00 o'clock. A speaker will be present to discuss the first lesson.

"Know your Constitution" and "An American Heritage".

Republican National Committee, Women's Division, — Gertrude P. Calloway, county chairman; Mattie Lou Crew, secretary; Mrs. Eula Lee Stroud, Beat chairman.

Republican Meetings Announced At Places Over Chilton County

Cane Creek, Oak Grove, and Thorsby Speakings Bring The Republican Campaign To A Close In Chilton County.

On Thursday night of this week, October 29th, there will be a Republican speaking at Cane Creek schoolhouse in Beat 11. It is expected that a great number of citizens from Beats 2, 1, 4, 12 and 16 will attend this speaking at Cane Creek. Then, on Friday night the speaking will be at Oak Grove, in Beat 2, on the highway above Jemison. This speaking will be in the proximity of Beats 12, 13 and 14, and representations from these Beats are expected at Oak Grove. At this meeting, Judge Wallace M. Sloane, of Montgomery, will be the principal speaker. Judge Sloane is well posted on political matters, and is a very interesting and forceful speaker. The Devaughn quartet will sing at each of the above meetings, and you already know that they are good.

Campaign Closes In Beat 9

The Republican Campaign in Chilton county comes to a close at Thorsby, Beat 9, Monday night, November 2nd. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, will be the principal speaker. Our National Committeeman, Hon. T. J. Kennamer, also of Birmingham, as well as other leading Republicans of the State will be present at the Thorsby meeting. This meeting is county-wide, and it is expected that every Beat in the county have several representatives present. Lots of you have heard Mr. Vardaman and know that he is good. If you did not hear him at the courthouse, you will certainly want to hear him at Thorsby. There will be quartet singing and music interspersed along through the program. Be sure and attend this closing meeting.

W. A. Reynolds Gives Some Facts

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please be kind enough to give me a small space in your paper to express myself in reference to the political situation? To begin with, I fell like this election is of greater importance than any election that we have had in a long, long time.

History tells us that this world is about 6,000 years old, and of all the nations and civilizations that we have any record of, none has made such progress as the United States. About 150 years ago, a number of patriots were assembled together to write the Constitution of the United States, and they did. These great men had gone through hardships of a new generation; they knew what it was to be burdened with heavy taxes from their mother country. They were well fitted for their task before them. They wrote a Constitution that was founded on justice and freedom and liberty, and embodied the great principles of

YOU HAVE THE DOPE — NOW GO TO POLLS AND VOTE

(AN EDITORIAL)

The issues of the present campaign have been presented to the people of Chilton County, and the final determination of the outcome must be arrived at by the sovereign electorate of the county on next Tuesday, November 3. The Republican organization has carried the discussion of the issues right into the midst of the voters, and when the campaign closes there will have been held over a dozen public speakings over the county and at the courthouse, in which the voters have been permitted to view from first-hand the things that are of vital interest to them in this campaign, as relate to county, state and nation.

In this campaign, we are pleased now to state we have nothing to be ashamed of; we have come out in the broad-open daylight with what we have had to say and do. We believe all the people of Chilton County need is to know the truth, and that they then have enough common sense to vote for their best interests. They do not need a dictator to tell them just whom they should vote for and whom they should vote against.

The Republican campaign in Chilton County has not been conducted in the dark, secluded back end of some store in Clanton, or upstairs in some office, or in a secluded room at the courthouse. Neither has there been any behind-a-stump solicitation of votes, attempts to buy, or to influence disqualified folks to vote, or to take advantage of the slack and ridiculous absentee voting law that is permitted in our state. We have come clean from the shoulder with our campaigning, presented the questions face to face with the voters in wide-open public meetings, and have asked and are asking the support of the electorate on these grounds. We do not want to get our men elected to office in any other way; but we are willing to trust our case in the hands of those who believe in and adhere to fair, straight-forward, honest dealing in politics the same as in any other phases of honest American life. We believe that an office gotten in any other way is ill gotten and will not, under a just and almighty God, work out to the best interest of those citizens who will live under such elected officials. We want our Republican officials elected, and they want to be elected as bad as anybody, but we want it to come about in a fair, just, broad-open and unquestionable manner.

However, there are a few general facts that probably attention should be called to at this stage of the game. As to the county issues, one has only to glance back over the past year and recall the mass meetings that were held regarding the local bills that were proposed by our Democratic senator and representative before the state legislature. It will be noted now that some of those proposed bills were forced through the legislature, and also it will be recalled what had to be resorted to in order that others of these local bills not be pressed for passage. And this local bill business is not over yet, if numerous reports are true. There will be a special session of the legislature soon, and the people of Chilton County need not be surprised at anything taking place in the interest of dictatorship and New Dealism in Chilton County. This question is still a fresh one for Chilton County, and certain Democrats here feel as their omnipotent leader in Washington has said: "There is no retreat."

The condition of the public roads of Chilton County, and the present almost depleted county treasury are silent yet thundering reminders to the people of Chilton County of what the Democrats have done and are going to do if they are continued in power in the county. Our citizens should not let pretty promises and campaign propaganda blind them to the solemn facts that confront us every day.

A glance back over a few past issues of The Chilton County News and The Union-Banner, in which the Democratic probate judge, the Democratic representative and their road supervisor were hopelessly trying to get their figures to jibe on the road expenses of the county, will reveal the typical manner in which Democrats run the county's affairs. A house that is divided cannot stand, and if the Democratic house in Chilton County is not divided, pray what would you call it? Who can conscientiously trust the affairs of our fine county to a bunch of officials who are so hopelessly divided among themselves?

We have a chance to begin to set our house in order on next Tuesday. We cannot do it all at one time, but we can make the start. The way to make that start is to elect every Republican nominee on the ballot. Come on, Republicans, and let's attend to that all-important matter next Tuesday.

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP TO OPEN ON SIXTH STREET

Old Sixth Street south of the courthouse is fast coming into its own among the business sections of Clanton. Within a few days there will be a combination barber shop and beauty shop to open up in this part of the city, the exact location being the Gowan building which is now occupied by M. A. Gore. The proprietor of the new place will be Mr. Dewey H. Eubanks, who together with W. L. Sanford and J. D. Wesson will do the barbering. The beauty shop will be in charge of Mrs. Elizabeth Goldson, assisted by Miss Jerry Freeman of Tallassee, Ala.

The place will be fixed up and opened just as soon as Marion Gore can get moved. Mr. Gore will move into the building just south of his present location.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 27, 1936.

As chairman of the County Republican Executive Committee, I wish to emphasize the importance of every liberty-loving citizen of Chilton County going to the polls and voting in the election of next Tuesday, November 3rd. In my opinion, this is the most important election that we have faced in the past several decades, or probably ever, so far as the nation is concerned, and it is no less important as to county affairs.

The issues of the campaign have been placed before you, and now I would only urge that you weigh every single issue carefully, and vote your honest convictions. In this campaign we should vote for principles. Our greatest statesman, of both great political parties, tell us that our American form of government is at stake in our country, and will be protected or repudiated at this election. The same principles are more or less at stake in our county, and deserve the most careful consideration by the electorate of the county.

So, again, let me urge you all to weigh everything carefully, and then go to the polls and vote for what you honestly think is best. I believe you will say that the safest thing to do will be to vote the straight Republican ticket.—T. E. Wyatt, Chairman County Republican Executive Committee.

A WORD FROM C. C. CONWAY

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Let me appeal to you to stand together and let's roll up the greatest majority ever in the history of time. We see the need of our party being in power, here at home and in the state and nation.

Folks, don't be misled. Stand by the party that has always led us into prosperity. Don't listen to the whim of some political boss, and lose your birthright.

Yours for a big majority.—C. C. Conway.

ISABELLA RACKETEERS TO SHOW AT COURTHOUSE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Isabella Racketeers, musicians, jokesters and rib-ticklers in general will put on their show at the courthouse in Clanton on Friday night, October 30, with the fun beginning at 7:30 sharp.

The Racketeers have shown in a number of places. During the summer they visited the Texas Centennial, showing at a number of towns along the way. They are said to have a fine show—clean but funny.

This show is being sponsored by Circle No. 4 of the W. M. U. of Clanton Baptist church. Admission prices are 10c for children and 20c for adults.

If you like good music, dancing, joking and wise-cracking, be there!

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT ISABELLA SAT. NIGHT

The P.-T. A. of Isabella will sponsor a Hallowe'en Party Saturday night, October 31, at 7:30 o'clock.

General admission is free, along with stunts and tap dancing.

Special attractions will be: a fish pond, good eats, house of horror, fortune telling, house of magic, booths for men only and for women only. These will be offered at small cost.

Let's make our plans to be out and enjoy the fun and thrills.

LAND IN CHILTON ASKED FOR FOREST

Condemnation proceedings were started in U. S. district court Wednesday against 805.70 acres of land in Chilton county to be used for reforestation work. The proceedings were filed by T. D. Samford, U. S. district attorney, and his assistant H. B. Fuller.

The district attorney's office pointed out that condemnation proceedings by the government are friendly proceedings and are necessary simply to correct any irregularity in the titles to the lands being condemned. The land owners, the office said, are all friendly and understand the necessity of these proceeings.

Recently condemnation proceedings were started against more than 15,000 acres of land in Covington county to be used in foresty work. It was intimated that more acreage would be added to the forest projects now in the state.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Middlebrooks announce the birth of a nine and three-quarter pound girl whom they have named Carolyn.

Polls Still Indicate Big Landon Victory

Both The Literary Digest and Autocaster Polls Give The Kansan Best Chance.

New York, Oct. 22.—Landon leads Roosevelt by nearly 11 to 8 in the semi-final returns of The Literary Digest's nationwide poll even though the president cuts into the Kansas governor's plurality for the 7th consecutive time due to the addition of approximately 125,000 poll ballots from metropolitan centers out of a total increase of 345,000 votes since last week's report.

Landon has a poll majority or plurality in 32 states while Roosevelt is shown carrying 16. In the electoral college these states would divide 370 votes for Landon to 161 for Roosevelt.

A total of 2,158,739 votes is reported in the current poll tally. The Republican candidate gets 1,182,307 votes to the Democrat's 875,526, and the Union candidate's total of 75,119. The balance of 22,787 votes, or slightly over 1 per cent, is divided among the four minor candidates.

Landon Victor In Rural Poll

New York, Oct. 22.—Making their final report on the 'grass roots' poll, 3,000 rural newspapers, cooperating with the Publishers' Autocaster Service and the American press, predicted yesterday the election of Gov. Landon and Col. Knox.

A total of 1,039,635 ballots was received from 40 states. Landon leads in 27 states; Roosevelt in 13.

Omitting Virginia, where Landon was in the lead but where the number of ballots was too few to justify claiming the state for him, the Republican candidate has 367 electoral votes.

The final tabulation gives Landon 594,183 ballots, or 57.1 per cent, and Roosevelt 382,842, or 36.8 per cent.

BASS JONES BURIED IN MONTGOMERY SATURDAY

Bazil E. (Bass) Jones, age 69 years, died at his home in Montgomery last Friday morning at 4 o'clock, Diffly in charge.

Surviving are his wife and an adopted son, William. Mrs. Jones, before her marriage was Mattie Palmer. There are four brothers—R. J. of Clanton, B. H., S. D. and C. C., of Mulberry. Three sisters survive: Mrs. E. L. Swan, Ensley, Mrs. Fred L. Martin, Gulf Port, Miss., and Mrs David Vines of Pensacola, Fla.

Mr. Bass Jones was a native of this county, having operated a mercantile business here up until about twenty years ago. He also engaged in the lumber business in this county. Since going to Montgomery he has engaged in the building supply business.

Mr. Jones had hosts of friends in Chilton County, with whom he became acquainted while he operated his store here. Bass Jones's store used to be an important gathering place for people who came to Clanton, which will be well remembered by the older citizens of the county.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday is Installation and Dedication Day at the Methodist church. All the newly elected officials will be inducted into office with an impressive service. Every official and church leader is especially urged to be present. The service is open to the public.

Last Sunday was Family Day and the largest attendance in several weeks or months was noted at both morning and evening service. At the fourth quarterly conference last Friday night the church officers were elected for the new conference year soon to begin. Recently the Board of Christian Education elected the church school leaders for the entire year. The entire church staff will be published in Sunday's Bulletin. At the morning service the pastor will discuss the ways in which a man's love for the church should be similar to his love for his wife or sweetheart. Sunday evening at the seven o'clock service he will speak on the theme —"Liabilities of the church." Let every member be present Sunday at both services. Let us fill the church to capacity.

HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL AT VERBENA FRIDAY NIGHT, 30th

There will be a Hallowe'en carnival at Verbena high school building on Friday night, October 30th, beginning at 7 o'clock. Sponsors are the faculty and students of the school. There will be plenty of fun for everybody—young and old. There will be no general admission; all kinds of eats and drinks for sale. Proceeds will go to the school and to the P.-T. A. Everybody is invited to attend and have a jolly good time.

AGRICULTURE AND HOME MAKING CLASSES ORGANIZED

The Vocational Department of the Chilton County High School is holding a number of meetings this year in connection with problems of agriculture and homemaking in the different communities.

The first meeting, Thursday night, October 29, at seven o'clock. Every farmer and farm woman of Concord Community is urged to be present. Miss Virgiana Cook, Home Demonstration teacher, will direct the class for farm women, and A. R. Fouts, Vocational Agriculture teacher, the farmers class. The Meetings will be held at the Concord School.

SIX CLUB MEMBERS TO ENTER HEALTH CONTEST

Auburn, Ala.—Three girls and 3 boys will enter the final 4-H club health contest to be held in Birmingham, November 7, announces T. A. Sims and Elizabeth DeLony, State 4-H club leaders.

Boys to enter the contest are: Real Lee, Detroit, Rt. 1, Marion County; Carl Owen, Five Points, Chambers County; and William Holt, Livingston, Sumter County. The three girls are: Cleone Holland, Blount County; Olga Spratlan, Bullock County; and Mary Flynn Sellers, Montgomery County.

The winning boy and girl will be given a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chacago the latter part of November.

AMERICAN COTTON SUPPLY IS REDUCED

Auburn, Ala.—The indicated supply of American cotton for the 1936-37 season is roughly 18,100,000 bales, or about 1,500,000 bales less than last season' supply, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The supply for the present season is the smallest since 1924-25. It is 13 percent less than the average supply of 20,437,000 bales in the 10 years from 1923-24 to 1932-33.

More than 3,000,000 pounds of surplus agricultural commodities have been supplied to those on Alabama relief rolls through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in less than a year up to September 19 this year.

Brief Farm Notes

The biggest turkey crop on record —20,000,000 birds—is reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The Bureau points out, however, that many birds which go to market this year will be younger and lighter weight on account of short feed situation resulting from the drought.

Farmers in the Soil Conservation area near Dadeville, Ala., have bought or plan to buy 112,675 pounds of Austrain winter peas; 11,005 pounds of hairy vetch; and 7,540 pounds of crimson clover for strip crop planting.

A short corn crop is causing many stock raisers to consider the use of molasses in rotation for wintering their animals, reports J. C. Grimes, head of the Animal Husbandry Division, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn.

An increase of 120 per cent in the exports of United States cotton to France in the first seven months of this year over the same period last year is reported by the Department of Commerce.

REV. M. W. MIMS OFFERS THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to the ladies of New Cedron Baptist church for the many nice gifts that they presented to their pastor on the last two regular service days. May God's richest blessings be on each of you. Fraternally, your pastor,—M. W. Mims and wife.

NOTICE TO THE LADIES

To the Ladies of Chilton County:

Are you a club member? If not, why not?

We are expecting to do some wonderful work this year. Join the home demonstration club and work with us. Ignorance is no excuse nowadays—we have teachers. We can still learn how to better keep our homes.

So why let such opportunity pass by? Join our club and be a wide-awake member. Let's be faithful workers, and not be slackers. We have a fine agent. If you have not met her, you should—you will like her.—A Mt. Pleasant club member.

FIRST COUNCIL MEETING

The County Council met October 17, at the City Hall. Miss Grace, Home Demonstration Agent, presided. The minutes of last meeting was read and approved.

The County Council voted to have County Rally October 31 in the afternoon.

The following committee was appointed to register each member who atteded the rally at the door: Mrs. Anna Phalin, Mrs. Charles Howard, Mrs. Olive Welch and Miss Lena Downs.

Miss Grace read the list of leaders who attended the Leadership School during the past year. Certificates are to be given these leaders at the Rally.

The Council voted for each County Club to appoint a committee of three for the following: Citizenship, Scholarship and farm Bureau at their next club meeting.

The County Council will work up some plan at next meeting for development of our club, on membership and attendance, it was also voted that each Club member donate 5 cents to purchase gift for Miss Pardue in appreciation of her work. This amount was to be taken out of the County Councils funds until it can be collected from each member.

There being no other business meeting adjourned.

VOTERS BEWARE!

Do you want to preserve your right to elect your own county officers and continue to enjoy the benefits of protection under the Constitution?

Do you want to continue to exercise the privilege of your ballot or do you prefer to give it to a group who say you haven't sense enough to know who should ho'd your county offices?

AMENDMENT NO. 1, to be voted on Nov. 3 is the first step to rob you of these rights and vest this traditional power in the Legislature.

STRIKE DOWN THE WOULD-BE HITLERS, and

"VOTE A BIG NO"

on AMENDMENT NO. 1, Nov. 3

FOR GOVERNMENT OF, BY and FOR THE PEOPLE!

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"Duty is the noblest word in the English language." That is what Robert E. Lee said. General Lee was right. Love works because it wants to work. Duty works because it is duty's duty to work. A mother will sit by the bedside of an afflicted child day and night not because she feels it is her duty, but because she loves the child. She does not force herself to sit by the bed, but love holds her to the bedside. The faithful nurse sitting by the bedside of an afflicted child watches through the night and administers to the needs of the affilicted one not so much because she loves the child, but duty says, "Stay. Stay. Be faithful. Be baithful." It takes more character to obey the voice of duty than it does to follow the guiding voice of love.

"Legionnaires Heckle Red Speaker at Church Meeting." That is the headline of a newspaper article which appeared recently. A communist campaign speech, so the paper reports, was delivered in the First Congregational Church in Oak Park, a surberb of Chicago. The Communist candidate for governor of Illinois was invited by the young people of the church to make the address. The atheistic school teachers and the Modernistic preachers have robbed a great many young people of their faith in the Bible and authoritative religion. These young people having turned away from faith are looking for something to which they may tie their lives. They are, therefore, a prey for all types of religions and isms. The day of reckoning is coming! These godless leaders will have to answer at the judgement bar to the God whom they have taught young people to repudiate!

In talking to a group of employees one day the writer said, "I do not hire people to cuss me. I can get that free. If a man employed by a business house accepts a salary from the business and is not loyal, he is nothing. If an institution is good enough to pay me a salary and if the institution is decent enough for me to stay with it and accept the salary, then it is good enough for me to support. If the institution with which I am connected is not good enough for me to endorse, then my protest should be a regisnation. "I can't quit my job. I have no other way to make a living," someone says. That is no argument. That is the argument of the man who says he sells whiskey because he has to live or he sells dope because he has to support his family. There are no conditions in life under which it is right to make a living dishonestly. From years of experience, I have learned that the best man in an organization is the man who is loyal. Personally I had rather have just a plain, ordinary, plodding who is loyal than than to have brilliant genius who is disloyal to the organization. A preacher who is pastor of a church that is orthodox and not loyal to the fundamental doctrine of his denomination is, according to the writer, a double crosser and a crook. No man has a right to make a living out of any insitutation while he is undermining the foundation principles of the institution.

THANKS FRIENDS FOR HELP

To My Many Friends:

We wish to thank each and everyone of you for the kindness, help and sympatry extended us during the sickness of our daughter. We would especially thank Mr. W. Y. Keel and Mr. Broadhead for what they have done for us. Words cannot express our gratitude, and we pray God's richest blessings upon you all.

Before Getting Yourself Hog-Tied With a Twenty-Year Contract (That's a Long Time) Ask Yourself These Further Questions

By E. C. Easter

CHAPTER IX

LET us suppose that you have "joined" a co-operative electric membership association and have made the down payment on your dues. (Oh, yes, there are dues). Your association, let us say, is "doing business." Suppose any of the following things happen:

15. If a storm blows down hundreds of poles, as frequently happens in Alabama, who will reset these poles? How long will it take to restore service? How much will the repairs cost?

16. If there is an accident to someone, who will be liable?

17. If someone gets hurt from one of the Association's wires, can it stand to lose a damage suit? If you or some member of your family were the one hurt, would it do you any good to try to collect damages? Would your association have money enough to pay?

18. You would have to employ trained engineers and other technical experts to keep your association's electric lines in good condition. Can you stand to pay for enough experts to have the lines work safely and dependably?

19. If a transformer on the association's lines burns out, who will replace it and how quickly?

20. Have you the technical training and experience to make it wise for you to go into the electric light and power business?

You may be saying to yourself: "I had no idea there were so many things for me and my neighbors to consider." It would take a large book to list all the questions about carrying on an electrical business. We are mentioning only a few of them.

CHAPTER X

Still More Questions You Should Ask Yourself Before Joining a TVA Electric Membership Association

21. If you have installed an electric pump and it gets sand in the mechanism and refuses to work, will the Tennessee Valley Authority and the association get the pump to working properly for you? If not, will all of the other members of the association "co-operate" with you in fixing the pump, or are you going to have to get along the best you can by yourself?

22. Are you sure everybody will co-operate 100%, or is it going to happen that only a few members of the association will have to do all of the co-operating?

23. How much money will you have to spend wiring your house and other farm buildings to take care of the amount of equipment necessary for you to use your share of the 662 kilowatt hours, or any amount per month per mile of line the Tennessee Valley Authority may require?

24. If some of the members of the association fail to pay their bills on time or don't pay them at all, won't you have to help make up the amount they fail to pay?

25. Your association will be an Alabama corporation. What is to prevent the Legislature from imposing the same heavy taxes on it that other electric light and power business has to pay?

26. Will the amounts you pay your electric association help operate your schools? (Part of all money Alabama Power Company takes in goes to help operate the schools).

27. Do you want amateur electric service or do you prefer to have it from a trained organization?

Do You Want to PAY DOUBLE FOR HALF?

That important question will be among the points discussed in our next advertisement—the last of this series. Watch for it!

This advertisement is the fifth of a series which has also been printed in booklet form. T. W. Martin, President of Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, will cheerfully send a copy to any interested person requesting it.

RUTH TIPPETT

Friends and relatives greatly regret the death of their friend and loved one, Mrs. Emma Ruth Tippett. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn a mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Downing, three sisters, Clara, Louise, and Marie, and one brother, Wilton.

She died October 18, and funeral services were held the following day, at Samaria, with Rev. Paul Nixon conducting. Pallbearers were Claud Little, Virgil Weldon, Evelio Rendueles, J. Tippett, Bill Tippett, and Carl Martin.

Once again we wish to thank friends who helped us, especially Martin & Sons, and Clyde Little. We also thank friends for the beautiful flowers and those who helped in any way.—A sister, Mrs. Grady Little.

MRS. RUFF ENTERTAINS AT SHOWER

Mrs. Newell Ruff entertained Thursday evening, October 22, at a gift shower complimenting a recent bride, Mrs. Cora Griffin. Many useful gifts were received.

Several games were played, then refreshments were served in the dining room. Gifts were presented to the bride by her mother, Mrs. W. C. Moore.

The guests were: Mesdames Dennis, Onie Gray, Myrtle Lewis, Ellen Lewis, Gertie Jones, Lizzie Scott, Ludie Jones, John Hudman, Alpha Dobbs, John Speer, Ethel Patterson, Mamie Griffin, Walter Moore, Ester Moore, Franklin Patterson, Rena Thornton, Eunice Burkhalter, Eunice Lewis, Emerline Carrol, Cora Griffin, Lillian Driver, Mamie Patterson, Decie Wells, Newell Ruff, and Pearl Carroll; Misses Edith Dobbs, Alpha Gray, Velma Jones, Velma McDowell, Inez Nation, Gladys Moore, and Kathleen Blalock.

EACH RAT COSTS $2.00 IN UPKEEP ANNUALLY

Auburn, Ala.—Each rat eats about $2.00 worth of feed annually, states W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist, in recommending community city, county-wide poisoning campaigns against these destructive animals.

"It destroys millions of dollars worth of grain, poultry, food, clothing, and other materials in Alabama every year," he says in describing them as "man's greatest enemy in the animal world." It has also been proved that Brill's fever is spread by rats, he reports.

"Rat-proof buildings are the only sure and premanent relief from rats," Ruffin concludes. "It is particularly important that poultry houses, cribs warehouses, grocery stores, and other buildings ih wnich food is kept should be rat-proof," he advises.

IN MEMORY OF RUTH TIPPETT

Our hearts were saddened and broken when we received the message that our dear wife, daughter and sister had passed to her happy home on October 18th.

She was sick only a short time, and bore it with patience. She told everyone that God had called her home to be with Him. She cannot come back to us, but we can live in a way that we can meet her again some day.

She was a kind and loving wife and daughter. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn, her mother, father, three sisters and one brother.

She prayed and sang so sweetly, as though she was singing with the angels and told us not to grieve for her, for she was gone to rest.

The family circle has been broken,
And time can never mend;
But we can put our trust in Jesus,
And on Him we can depend.
The flowers we laid on your grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love we have for you, dear Ruth,
Will never fade away.

Rev. Paul Nickson, of Montgomery, officiated at the funeral services, with Martin & Sons in charge of burial, which was made in Samaria cemetery. —Nathan Tippett and the Downing family.

Mrs. Billy Smith and little son returned Sunday from a visit of a few days to her mother and sister in Wetumpka.

J. L. SMITH WRITES TO VOTERS

Dear Voters:

As the campaign comes to a close we may be expecting the Democrats to hatch up some unthought-of scheme to try to defeat the Republican nominees in this county. I want to warn you against any such scheme. Think and vote according to the dictates of your conscience.

I believe in the principles of the Republican party and the things that it upholds. While the Democrats are trying to destroy the Constitution of the United States, the Republicans are doing all in their power to save it. During the last two years the Democratic officers of this county have taken more power than has ever been taken before. Are you going to let this practice continue? You as a voter have a right to help keep the government in the hands of the people by voting for the party that upholds that principle. Will you do it?

During the past two years the tax in Chilton County has been increased, according to records, $14,719.08, yet we cannot have roads worked or keep schools open. This does not include the gasoline tax which has been raised from $4,000 to $8,000 per month. Some people try to make you believe that the state is giving us large sums of money. You can be assured that every time you put gasoline in your car or buy any of the necessities of life, you are paying this tax.

While these taxes have been increased, the taxes of the corporations in our county are $1,200 less than they were two years ago. Are you one whose taxes were raised, and who favors the continued rise?

If you are not in favor of the above practices, come to the polls on November 3 and vote the straight Republican ticket. Let's help the government into the hands of officers who stand for higher principles and more freedom. Yours for the party,—J. L. Smith.

Set your plans now to attend the Rexall One-Cent Sale at Upchurch Drug Company, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday November 11-14. You know the rest. Remember the dates.

Chestnut Grove

We are glad to state that the health of the community is very good at present.

Mr. B. B. Curry and wife of Wilton visited his sister Mrs. Nannie C. Moose, Sunday.

Miss Gladys, Clearess, and Welma Lucas, of Siluria, visited their parents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lucas Sunday.

Misses Margaret Nabors and Frances Lucas were the dinner guests of Miss Erva Lucas, Sunday.

Mr. Mack Nabors visited Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors, Sunday.

Misses Niner and Thelmer Horton of Dogwood, and two boy friends, visited Mrs. Steverson and family, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Burness Little and Mrs. Rossie Little visited Mrs. Nannie C. Moore, Sunday.

There was a nice crowd at prayer meeting Sunday night, everybody enjoyed it; we hope to have more to attend it next Sunday night.

REXALL TRAIN COMING TO BIRMINGHAM NOVEMBER 6

Upchurch Drug Company Invites You To Visit This Train And View The Attractive Displays.

To those who are inclined to cater to the unique, the unusual, the different, the beautiful, Dr. E. E. Upchurch, of the Upchurch Drug Co., local Rexall dealers, has an interesting announcement to make. The United Drug Co., of Boston, will have their Rexall train in Birmingham all day Friday, November 6. Inspection of the train will begin at 9 o'clock, and will continue on into the night. There are 12 cars to the train, and there is something interesting in every car. There will be interesting lectures during the day.

The Rexall train, which is embarked on a 29,000-mile tour of the United States and Canada, has aroused unflagging interest throughout its journey. Wherever it has stopped, crowds have flocked to view the 12-car train's exhibition cars and the powerful locomotive giant which is hauling this mammoth load through every state in the Union and Canada. Based on attendance of more than 800,000 people in the first 3½ months of the tour, it can be safely assumed that 2,000,000 people will inspect the train during its 8-months journey.

Traveling across the country as a harbinger of returning business prosperity, the glistening royal blue and white Rexall train serves a 2-fold purpose. Through this magnificent train, the United Drug Co., is bringing its annual conventions to the 10,000 Rexall agents instead of asking the agents to travel long distances to its conventions. Also during the convention stop-overs the beautifully designed and appointed exhibition cars are open and the public is invited to inspect their attractive displays.

Gatherings of the druggists will be held on the train in 109 cities on the good-will tour, and at these and 81 other cities to be visited the public will be admitted to the train. Free admission tickets may be obtained at any of the 10,000 Rexall drug stores.

Louis K. Liggett, president of the United Drug Co., has explained the purpose of the tour as a series of "old fashioned New Year's calls."

"We are carrying the crew to show how to do business but we are not asking for business. The depression is over and confidence, the basic factor of recovery, is here," Mr. Liggett said.

NITRATE DEMONSTRATION IN OAK GROVE COMMUNITY

The Jemison chapter of the Future Farmers of America sponsored a Chilean nitrate demonstration at the farm of Mr. W. C. Martin. Two and a half acres were used in the demonstration. One acre on each side was fertilized with 200 pounds of Chilean nitrate of soda, and nitrate was applied about 40 days after the corn was planted. On the half acre plot which was between the two acres fertilized, no nitrate was applied and was used as a check plot.

The demonstration showed where nitrate of soda was applied at the rate of 200 pounds er acre, 30.67 bushels of shelled corn was harvested. Where no nitrate was used, 8.1 bushels of shelled corn was harvested per acre. This, an increase of 22.57 bushels of corn, was made by the use of nitrate of soda. This increased yield cost 14.2 cents per bushel, but with the present market prices of corn and nitrate of soda, Mr. Martin made $21.62 profit per acre by using nitrate of soda.

A guessing contest was held at Mr. Martin's farm. The winner of this contest was Erdis Atkinson. He guessed 29 bushels on the fertilized plot and 8 bushels on the check plot. His average error was .88 bushels. Wallace Littlefield was next with an error average of 1.03 bushels. Jack Benson made the third best guess with an average error of 1.91 bushels. Harold Martin made the fourth best guess with an average error of 2.16 bushels.

Jemison chapter is working for the prize in the demonstration contest. The prize is a $60 radio.—H. H. Denson, local adviser.

EDWIN F. PORTER

Edwin F. Porter, age 69 years, died at Central Alabama hospital in Clanton, last Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Burial was at Marbury Friday afternoon, following funeral services at Marbury Baptist church; services were conducted by Rev. Cecil Ellisor, assisted by Revs. Rogers and Goss. Martin and Sons in charge.

Besides his wife, the deceased is survived by one son and two daughters. Mr. Porter, a resident ob Marbury, had been an employee of the L. & N. railroad company, as machanic in the round house at Boyles, for a number of years. He had been working only part time for the past few years.

It is reported that death came as a result of a self-inflicted pistol wound in the back of the head. A note was left, but no definite cause for the action was given.

Mr. Porter enjoyed a large circle of friends, both among the people where he lived and where he worked.

CENTER HILL SINGING

Our afternoon singing was called to order Sunday, by the president, B. L. Cobb.

The opening song was sung by Mrs. John W. Collins followed by prayer by Mrs. W. J. Northcutt.

The following directors sang two songs each:

Mr. W. J. Northcutt. Sam Collins, Mrs. Tentell Northcutt, Miss Berney Dean Cobb.

Mr. Dick Martin and A. H. Glasscock, directed lessions of indefinate number.

Organists were: Mrs. Carnie Northcutt, B. L. Cobb, Flora Martin and Mr. Sam Collins.

We appreciate the help of all present, especially Mr. Glass and Mr. Martin for the use of their books.

There were several visitors from away, we extend them an invitation any fourth Sunday afternoon.

Raising Tomatoes Being Advocated

More than 50 farmers met at the city hall Friday night to discuss the possibilities of developing a green wrap tomato industry in Chilton County. This is the third of a series of meetings held in promoting this project. Those present were very enthusiastic over the tomato becoming an important cash crop in this county. From the information gotten from the tomato growing areas it appears that it would cost about $30 an acre to secure plants, fertilizer, and stakes, and produce an acre of tomatoes. In western Tennessee the tomato growers produce 125 to 200 bushels of tomatoes per acre. These growers receive from $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel at their shipping point. This indicates that there is considerable profit in tomatoes.

We have just as good land and just as good farmers in Chilton County as there are in the tomato growing area, therefore, we believe that it would be to the advantage of the farmers in this area to plant a few tomatoes and add another cash crop to what we now have. This crop would be harvested just after our strawberries moved to the market, and would fit very well into our scheme of farming.

In order to make this project work it would be necessary to have 100 or more acres. It is necessary, however, if a farmer is planning to grow tomatoes next spring that he should see the county agent before November 7 and tell him how much he wants to plant. It is important that we have this information in order to be able to secure good plants next spring.

All persons interested in this project should either contact the county agent or write him, stating the number of acres or fractional part of an acre that he would like to plant. We would not advise the average farmer to plant more than one acre. If interested please let me hear from you at an early date.—J. W. Fant, County Agent.

J. E. EASTERLING WRITES VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I would like to take this opportunity of making my last appeal to the voters through the county papers. I have tried to see as many of you, personally, as possible, but there have been a great many I have been unable to see, and I am using this means of asking you for your vote and influence next Tuesday, November 3.

To those who may not know me personally, I would like to state that I was born in Chilton County, and have resided here all my life, and for the past several years have been in the service station business in Clanton. I am 29 years of age.

I have tried to conduct my campaign above mud slinging or any unfair tactics, but by appealing to the voters for their vote on the ground that I could render them good service and that I would be fair and square with every person in Chilton County should I be elected. And from now until election day it will be my purpose to continue to conduct my campaign in this manner. And whether I am elected or not, when the campaign is over, I will still have the people of this county as my friends.

I want to thank all of you who voted for me in the primary, and all who have given of their time and expense to assist me in the primary and in this election, and I want to here render my thanks to all of you, and also urge you to see that the voters are carried to the polls next Tuesday.

I pledge you here, that if you see fit to elect me to this office, that I will conduct the office and attend to the business in such way that you will have no regret that you supported me. Very respectfully yours,—J. E. Easterling.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Hughes of Verbena, Alabama celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary, October 18.

Rev. and Mrs. Hughes, have six children, all of whom are living, but one daughter.

They have fifteen grandchildren, and six great grandchildren.

The children and guests who enjoyed the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Devaughn, and children, Floy and Annie Laura of Clanton, and Lena Mae and son of Sylacauga. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hughes and children, Pearl and Ralph of Verbena, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Taylor and children, Crieghton, Avolene, Fannie Jean and Ella Ruth of Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hughes and children, Melton Orvid and Paul of Verbena, Mr. A. M. Devaughn and children, Lois, Clara Ann and Euba Joyce, Clanton. Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Nichols and children, Dwight and Yvonne of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Robinson, and girl, Rosa Dene, of Cooper, Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Billingsley, of Clanton, Mrs. A. C. Smith of Clanton, and Miss Claudie Hughes, Verbena.

At the noon hour a beautiful dinner was spread out under the trees. The afternoon was spent in singing by the Devaughn quartet.

COMEDY-DRAMA AT ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

On the night of November 6, one of the most popular plays will be presented by the W. M. U. of Mulberry church, in the High School auditorium.

This play has been staged in a large number of localities, in some cases it was necessary to stage it twice to satisfy the public. This is its first appearance at Isabella, so shape your plans to set back and enjoy two and a half hours of real pleasing comedy on the above date.

ORGANIZED LABOR FIGHTS AMENDMENT

Organized labor in Alabama is working feverishly to defeat Amendment No. 1 to the Constitution of Alabama, more commonly called the "disfranchisetment amendment."

Following a resolution adopted at the Florence convention, organized labor under the direction of President William Mitch, of Alabama State federation of Labor, and W. O. Hare, secretary, is waging a bitter battle to protect the right of the people to elect their own county officers.

Little Helen Hayes is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Broadhead in Montgomery this week.

P. M. MARTIN WRITES TO VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I wish to take this means of making my last appeal to you for your influence and vote on November 3.

As you know, I have been unable to see most of you, so please take this as a personal letter to you, as you know I was a candidate for this same office, member of the school board, and was defeated in the general election two years ago. Now I am asking again for this office. I feel that I am entitled to this place for several reasons, some of which I will try to mention.

I feel that I am capable of holding this office. We need a board member in the northern part of the county. If my opponent is elected, all members will be below Clanton.

Now, as you know, I am a farmer, and can arrange my business so it will not conflict with any of my school duties. So I am asking you to consider me, and if you see where you can help me. I will appreciate your vote. Yours for better schools,—P. M. Martin.

6,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND SING

Montgomery, Ala.—Visiting singers from throughout the state are expected to swell the attendance of the convention of the Alabama singing societies here November 8 to 10 to more than 6,000. The Capitol Hights Singing Society will be hosts.

Arthur Beaed, chairman of the program committee, has announced an elaborate program, promising some unusual singing for the choirs, some of which will be composed of hundreds of voices.

Members of the executive committee include W. C. Vines, W. L. Darby, James Rice, J. H. Guy, J. W. Heustess, A. B. Robertson, H. E. Eddins, H. L. Walden and M. B. Myers. Members of the program committee include J. W. Williford, W. L. Darby, A. B. Robertson and J. R. Burner.

Old-Time Republican Writes To Citizens

Uncle Tom Hubbard Believes In The Principles of The G. O. P.

Editor Union-Banner:

Two years ago I made through your paper as I then thought my final appeal to my Republican friends in Chilton County to render unstinted loyalty to the Republican ticket. But as I yet linger this side of the setting sun, I appeal to you again.

A great number of you knew me in my official career, while the younger ones know of me. So I again ask all my old friends and younger ones too to rally to the Republican ticket to a man and to a woman, yes, the whole ticket. We cannot afford to do less.

We think of the great number who stood by the ticket so loyally two years ago. They did that regardless of money or influential leaders. We believe you all are yet true to our cause, and it will be a pleasure to me to again cast my ballot with you, although it may be my last, and if I should go down in defeat, I will go dwon with my own people.

We have abundant cause to be true to our ticket. Just look at our county today, see its condition, think how it once was when the people ruled. Look at the roads, look at the efforts to go contrary to our wishes in the legislature, and what a poor showing on the roads this year. Look how the money is going. How we need to get back under the rule of the people!

Then look at Alabama, so long under Democratic rule. See where we are now. Where is any hope under Democratic control? Well do we recall the years of the past, back in the 90's, and think how Capt. Kolb was overthrown in Alabama. How can we afford to tolerate such misrule? Never never!

How sad to behold our American government at this time, "The land of the free and the home of the brave." Such waste, such debts, mountain high. They will have to be paid by someone. Such disregard for the Constitution. Such a revival of foreign isms, both religious and political. It is alarming.

The New Deal claims the colored vote. What would John T. Morgan think of that? We don't expect to hear any more of white supremacy. This year's record is enough.

A deluge of criticism is falling daily on President Hoover, just as if we never had a panic before his administration. Come now, listen. The older people all remember the Cleveland panic in the 90's. For years we toiled through it. Cotton sold for less than 5 cents; public works dead; tramps everywhere. How we had to do without so much we needed. No money—yes, hard times—and President Cleveland was a Democrat, no New Dealer.

But we worked out of it without destroying crops, hogs or cattle. In the face of these facts, it seems the critics of Hoover would keep silent.

Such great prosperity we enjoyed under Wm. McKinley, the immortal "Teddy", Harding, and Calvin Coolidge. No wonder we are for Gov. Landno.

In conclusion, dear Republicans — our ticket is a good one, worthy of our support. Go on November 3; go rain or shine, go and vote the whole Republican ticket. I am with you until the last.—T. J. Hubbard.

1,000 TEACHERS EXPECTED AT MONTEVALLO

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 23.—More than 1,000 teachers and leaders of P.-T. A. will meet at Palmer Hall, Alabama College, in Montevallo, at 10 o'clock, on Saturday morning, October 31, for a district meeting. The meeting is sponsored by the Alabama Education Association, the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the State Department of Education, for the purpose of discussing ways and means of improving public education in Alabama.

The morning session will be featured by an address by President Garland Smith, of the A. E. A., and by a symposium on teacher welfare problems, emphasizing teacher tenure, a retirement fund for teachers, and ethics for teachers.

During the afternoon session State Superintendent J. A. Keller will discuss "The Educational Outlook in Alabama".

UNION GROVE

'Grandma" Edwards has been quite ill, but is improving.

We had a wonderful sermon delivered to us Sunday by Bro. Carroll. We regretted that he was called away on account of his brother-in-law's injury, and could not be with us Sunday night.

We had a good B. Y. P. U. meeting Sunday.

We were glad to have Bro. Robinson from Providence with us last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Bates visited Mr. A. P. Robinson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Martin spent a while Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Mack Martin.

Mr. J. M. Robinson spent Sunday night with Mr. A. P. Robinson on his return from Birmingham, where he was called to the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Margaret Harrell.

We were glad to have Miss Jessie Dorminey and her mother with us Sunday.

Bro. Paul Oden will preach for us next Sunday at 11 o'clock, and will show his pictures Sunday night. We would be glad everyone would come out. And don't forget Sunday school at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.—Irona Martin.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their kindness and help during the sickness and death of our father, Mr. Tom Robbins.

We especially want to thank Dr. Johnson and nurses, Miss Louis Aldridge and Y. S. Cope, Spigner Funeral Home. May the giver of every good and perfect gift, reward you as you rewarded us; is our prayer.—Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter, a daughter.

The Mt. Pleasant Home Demonstration Club will meet at 2:00 o'clock on Tuesday, November 3rd, at the home of Mrs. Emmitt Smith. We urge all the members to come and bring someone with them.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT JEMISON

The P.-T. A. of Jemison High School is sponsoring a Hallowe'en party on Friday night, October 30, at 7:30 o'clock P. M., in the auditorium of the school.

There will be plenty of amusement and a good time will be assured all who attend. A delightful comedy will be presented first; then you are sure to want to know your fortune, which will be told by an excellent fortune teller. Valuable "catches" can be had from the fish pond, and a most amusing puppet show will be staged.

A box of candy will be given the prettiest girl and there will also be a guess cake, ice cream, cake, coffee, cocoa and hotdogs will be for sale. Proceeds will go for school needs.

Everyone is invited to attend.—Jessie Mims.

Mr. H. E. Robinson of Collins Chapel community was in Clanton, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Williams and children and Mr. Patterson, of Enterprise, visited relatives and friends here Saturday.

Misses Edna Lee and Olie Myrtle Blalock spent the week end with relatives, near Clanton.

Miss Bessie Williams, spent a few days last week with her Aunt, Mrs. Sally Deramus, of near Haynes.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Williams, spent a while with friends in New Cedron Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dickenson, of Clanton visited Mrs. C. L. Dickerson last Thursday.

Mrs. Salley Deramus, and Miss Winnie Carter of Haynes, were the spend the—day guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moats and children spent the week end at Clanton, with relatives.

Several from here attended the football game and barbecue at Billingsley Friday.

Mr. T. H. Deramus, spent some time last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ledbetter.

Several from here attended preaching at New Cedron Sunday and Sunday night.

IN LOVING MEMORY

On Saturday morning, October 17th at 9:30 o'clock the death angles silently entered the home of Mr. Wilson M. Deramus of Haynes community and gently bore his spirit to the great beyond, where there will be no sorrow, heartache or sighs, where we will never say goodby. There his spirit is sweetly resting in The Land where we'll never grow old.

Uncle Wilson lived to be 78 years and 8 months old. He lived 52 years in the community where his death occurred.

To know him was to love him for on his face there was always a smile, and a word of cheer for everybody.

He died as he lived—a Christian.

He leaves to mourn his passing: one brother, Mr. Joe Deramus of Independence, two sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Rowlinson of White Water, Mrs. Salley Deramus, of Haynes, and a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral was conducted at the home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Rev. Williams of Autugaville in charge. Interment was made in the Gaines Cemetery near by with Griffin Funeral directors of Prattville in charge.

The Pallbearers were: W. H. Gaines, Barnett Deramus, J. H. Rawlinson, Dayton Rawlinson, Hawey Carter, D. I. Deramus.

To the bereaved ones we would say weep not, but look to God our father, for guidance, for He doeth all things.

Written by a niece who loved him. —Bessie Williams.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

© Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for November 1

LAW, LOVE, AND TEMPERANCE

(International Temperance Sunday)

LESSON TEXT—Romans 13:1-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth. Rom. 14:21.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why We Keep Rules.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Junior Citizens.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Shall We Do About Drinking?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Law, Love, and Temperance.

Revolution, political disorder, anarchy—these are words which characterize much of the world's news of our day. What should be our attitude toward government? Should a Christian participate in revolts against government? These are questions that stir the hearts of men.

The Bible has an answer, and it is found in our lesson for today. Let us study it with care and seek God's message for us and for our nation in these utterly confusing days.

We consider together a portion of Paul's epistle to the Romans in which, having laid his superb doctrinal foundation, he turns to a practical application. Let us ever remember that while right doctrine is necessary to right living, it is never sufficient to hold the doctrine and fail to permit it to control our daily walk.

Good citizenship of the true type is the result of staunch Christian character. Much of the weakness in our political and social life can be traced to the neglect of the things of God in the home, the school, and the church.

Paul presents the Christian as one who has the right attitude toward his neighbors, and toward his own daily walk. The Christian is

I. Politically-Intelligent and Loyal (vv. 1-7).

Lectures on political economy are well worth while. School children should learn to love and honor their country. But for real intelligent citizenship we must have a study of God's Word. For all governmental authority is dependent on a God-given power. No man has any right to rule over any other man except as God delegates that right to him.

No "divine right of kings" is justified by this passage, but clearly it does teach that government is ordained of God and functions by his providence. To resist such authority is to resist God.

Must we always obey the government? Yes; until it commands us to do that which is clearly contrary to the laws of God. We do not resist or question the authority of any properly appointed governmental agency, no matter how weak, or even wicked the agent may be, as long as he acts as "a minister of God . . . for good." Any government is better than anarchy. But no government has the right to command any man to disobey God.

In our land we have a powerful agency for the correction of governmental weakness and error — the ballot box. Let every Christina use it discreetly and in the fear of God.

Before leaving the passage, note that the Christian does not dodge, "fix," or leave unpaid the taxes which support the government under whose benefits he lives and works. There is too much dishonesty at this point, and we need to correct it.

II. Socially-Honest and Loving (vv. 8-10).

"Love thy neighbor as thyself" and there will be no social dishonesty, strife, and ill-will. Remember the lesson of last week on love—I Corintians 13.

III. Personally-Clean and Spiritual (vv. 11-14).

The time when our redemption is to be fully completed—that is, when the Lord himself returns — is at hand. We therefore will not live as those who walk in darkness, but as children of the light, clean in life and thought. We will "put on the Lord Jesus Christ."

In these days when almost every wayside store and hundreds of thousands of city buildings have been converted into drinking places far worse than the old-time saloon, when men and women are making drunken sots of themselves, it is indeed time for Christians to raise their voices in protest and to act to protect the boys and girls of America.

But above all—let us win them to Christ, for if they "put on Christ" they will "make no provision for the flesh to fulfill the lusts thereof."

Respect for Parents

Honor your parents in your hearts; bear them not only awe and respect, but kindness and affection; love their persons, and fear to do anything that may justly provoke them.—Rev. W. Craddock.

Good Neighbors

It is a small thing to a man whether or not his neighbor be merciful to him; it is life or death to him whether or not he be merciful to his neighbor.

Mrs. J. R. Mullins and Ed Mullins spent Friday in Birmingham.

THOMAS W. ROBBINS

On morning of October 14, at 5:40 o'clock, the spirit of Thomas W. Robbins winged its flight to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns.

Uncle Tom, as he was affectionately called by his many friends, was born in Autauga County, March 31, 1856.

In early life he was married to Mrs. Robinson, a widow with one child, (can't give date of her death;) But, on March 25, 1894, he was married to Mrs. Sallie Headley, a widow with three children. To this union was born one child, Onnie Bell. (Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter, Verbena, Ala., Rt. 1).

He first joined the Missionary Baptist church. In the year 1905, he joined the Methodist Protestant church at Mt. Pisgah, near Clanton, and was a faithful member till the time of his death.

He was buried at Mt. Pisgah, October 15, 1936 by the side of his wife, who preceded him on December 25, 1934.

He leaves to mourn his loss one daughter, Mrs. Burkhalter, and a host of friends.

Truly, a good man has gone to his reward. I have known his character in my life.

May Heaven's hichest Blessing be with the lovely daughter. May she realize that her loss is his gain. She will find comfort in John 14:1-4.—Q. C. Meroney.

REFUGE

We had a very interesting Sunday school last Sunday. We met Sunday night and organized a Baptist Training Unoin. We are thankful for the interest being manifested in all church activities at this place.

We met last Thursday night and enjoyed about two hours of good singing. We will meet every Thursday night, about 7:00 o'clock P. M. We cordially invite any and all to come out and be with us.

We have also organized a W. M. S. whcih will meet on Monday after every first and second Sunday, at 2 o,clock P. M.

MT CARMEL

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Willis Foshee is still ill. Hope that she will soon be able to return to church.

Mr. A. F. Childress also is on the sick list.

Next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching dates. Be sure to come, and bring someone with you.

Mr. and Mrs. Pink Watley attended preaching at Cedar Grove last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scott visited Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pate at Pates Chapel Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Higgins and Miss Lillian Higgins were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Liveoak.

Mrs. Minnie Higgins visited Mrs. Linnie Mims Sunday afternoon.

The W. M. U. will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, November 3. We urge all members to come and bring money and ticket number, as it is the time to give away the blanket. We are expecting Mrs. Sidney Webb and some others to be with us.

Don't forget prayer meeting Wednesday night.—Reporter.

RESOLUTION FOR REV. JONES

Since Rev. J. W. Jones is leaving us to become pastor of the church at Columbiana, and since, through many pleasant associations, we have learned to highly esteem and love him. We, the members of the Pastor's Conference of the Unity and Chilton County Baptist Associations submit the following resolutions:

1 We are grateful to Brother Jones for his splendid service as secretary of our pastor's conference.

2 We appreciate his leadership as moderator of the Chilton County Association and his untiring efforts to advance the cause of Christ.

3 His Christian influence, his high ideals, and his constant striving for the best have endeared him to us all. The example of his life is worthy of emulation.

4 We will miss him as a wonderful counselor and advisor in our church activities.

5 Copies of these resolutions shall be sent to Brother Jones, to the two county papers, to the Alabama Baptist, and a copy spread upon the minutes of the Pastor's Conference of the Unity and Chilton County Baptist Associations.

The friends of Mrs. J. Hance Alred will be delighted to know that she is improving after a complete nervous breakdown. Mrs. Alred is at her home here in Clanton.

Miss Pauline Hogan, who attends Huntingdon College, spent the week end here with her parents.

Beware The Cough

From a common cold

That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

J. G. DOWNS FOR REPUBLICANS

Clanton, Ala., Rt. 2., Oct. 28, 1936.

Dear Voters:

Only a few days are left until we will again employ our officers to represent us for the next four years. I am asking the Christian people of this county to pray over the situation and then vote according to the dictates of their conscience. I believe the people who serve as officers are regarded as models for our young people to follow and I believe that until our younger people find Christ, world conditions will not be better.

The Republicans have a clean set of men as candidates. Mr. Billingsley, the candidate for Treasurer, always takes an active part in Sunday school and church work. He does not drink, and is clean morally. Mr. Devaughn, is clean morally. Mr. Devaughn, the candidate for Commissioner, is my neighbor. I know that better men are seldom made. I have investigated the reputations of other Republican candidates, and find they are clean, moral men, and sober. This is the only kind of people we should have in office.

Let's vote for the Republican men in our county, who have conducted a clean campaign, and I believe we will have honest officers. Sincerely yours,

—J. G. (Gip) Downs.

VERBENA P.-T. A

On Thursday evening, Oct. 22, at 7:30, the Verbena P.-T. A. held the first meeting of the new scholastic year at the high school building, with Mrs. T. B. Deramus, president, in charge. Mrs. Deramus announced that Verbena would be first among schools of the county to receive funds for a new grammar school building when the funds are available.

Miss Elsie Schurter, elementary supervisor of Chilton County, spoke on the importance of the local P.-T. A. becoming affiliated with the state and national P.-T. A. She gave a brief history of P.-T. A. work in the United States.

A motion was made and carried that the Verbena P.-T. A. become affiliated with the state and national P.-T. A. In connection with this, the local P.-T. A. will sponsor a contest for new members for one month. The room at Verbena school receiving the largest number of new members among the parents, will be given a prize.

Several people will represent the Verbena P.-T. A. at a district meeting to be held in Montevallo on Saturday, October 31.

Mr. W. C. DuBose, principal of the Verbena High School, spoke on the financial condition of Alabama schools.

There being no other business, the meeting was adjourned.—Myra Moore, Secretary.

PILGRIM REST 4-H CLUB

Mr. B. N. Ivey came to Pilgrim Rest school Friday, Oct. 23, and organized a 4-H club. The officers are as follows:

President — Miss Alma Abbott.

Vice President — Miss Marie Traywick.

Secretary and Treasurer — Miss Beatrice Carter.

Reporter — Miss Mildred Traywick.

Song and yell leader —J. T. Abbott, Jr.

Two local leaders will be selected at the next meeting.—Mildred Traywick, Reporter.

SCHEDULE OF REPUBLICAN SPEAKINGS IN COUNTY IS ANNOUNCED

The Republican Campaign Committee of Chilton County announces dates for Republican speakings over the county prior to the election on November 3rd. The dates and places follow:

Cane Creek Schoolhouse ..... Thursday night, October 29

Oak Grove Schoolhouse ..... Friday night, October 30

Thorsby, public school building ..... Monday night, November 2

The hour for all the above speakings will be 7:00 o'clock.

The speaking at Thorsby will be the closing speaking before the election, and will be a county-wide affair. Hon. C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, will deliver the principal address at Thorsby, followed by Judge J. O. Middleton. Hon. T. J. Kennamer, our National Committeeman, and other prominent Republicans will be present at this meeting.

Speaking at the other places listed above will be done by Judge Middleton and Percy M. Pitts, and probably others. And through special arrangement, Prof. W. M. Devaughn and his quartet will appear at each meeting and sing several numbers. You will certainly want to hear this quartet singing, even if you are not interested in the speaking. Hear them sing—You will enjoy it.

The American System Will Endure

The time has come for Southern men and women to break the shackles which have so long fettered their right of self-determination and for once vote their convictions in a presidential election. If they do so, and there is growing evidence that they will, we will witness a real race of it throughout the South in next Tuesday's election. It all depends upon whether people will vote the way they feel and talk, or whether they will continue to allow a bunch of selfish politicians to deprive them of the rights of citizenship by dictating how they must vote for the highest office in the land.

Never before, perhaps, in all history has there existed an instance of such complete domination over the spirit and will of men by other men as in the domination wielded by professional politicians of the Democratic party over the rank and file of Southern voters. Our ancestors came to this country and founded this republic to escape the tyranny of foreign masters. They escaped the clutches of the foreign despot only to find, here in the South, a species of political slavery so galling that it is hard to understand how free men have endured it. Southerners who would vote their honest convictions have found themselves browbeaten and threatened, disfranchised and ostracized. In the past, they have too often cringed before the lash of the Democratic party bosses, and thousands have either gone to the polls and cast votes directly contrary to their convictions, or gone fishing. This year, there is ample evidence that many at least of these bondmen will for once dare to defy their political overlords and enjoy the rare and refreshing experience of voting for whom they please. It is a happy augury for the South's future when thousands of her sons refuse to any longer sacrifice their self-respect as men and citizens. It means the dawn of a new day and a new freedom.

The issues raised in the campaign now closing are such that men who for a lifetime have passively submitted to dictation will submit no longer. It is not merely a question of which political party will win the spoils of office. It is a srtuggle between two conflicting systems of government—the issue, whether our American system and instiutions shall stand, or be supplanted by a thinly veiled dictatorship along the lines of Russia or Germany. Whether we will retain the individual liberties that have been our proudest boast, or be regimented and herded like sheep by a bunch of bureaucrats operating out of Washington. Whether the hard-working and thrifty element of our population shall be despoiled by the shiftless and indolent, with the government abetting such legalized robbery. The same struggle is in progress today, not only in America, but over the world. The basic issue is whether a man shall be allowed to enjoy what he has earned and saved, or be forced to divide with those who find it more pleasant to live by the work of other men than to get out and hustle for themselves. Mr. Roosevelt and his crack-pot Brain Trust have forced a class war upon the American people. In Europe, such differences have been and are being settled by bullets and bayonets.

In America we still have an opportunity to say with our ballots which system we prefer, and we would do well to decide wisely and to end once and for all the menace of dictatorship or Communism, or any other alien threat to our institutions. The average man and woman has sensed the real issues at stake; and because the South is essentially conservative, we find our Southerners breaking away from the shackles of tradition to cast one for the old institutions and the old landmarks.

President Roosevelt has set an inspiring example to those who would break the fetters of party bondage to vote the way their convictions point. He has boasted that he voted for Theodore Roosevelt for president. Some two or three years ago, Roosevelt and his man Farley supported an "independent" candidate for mayor of New York, and thereby insured the defeat of the regular Democratic nominee and the election of the radical LaGuardia. He has more than once openly supported Republican senators where they have been radical enough to suit him and have manifested a willingness to play ball with him in Congress. Certainly, Mr. Roosevelt should be the last man in America to complain of anyone breaking with party ties to vote for Landon, if they believe Landon to be the better man and the principles he advocates superior to the theories of the New Deal.

Here in Alabama, it will of course be highly displeasing to the Democratic party bosses for anyone to vote any way except as they dictate. The last thing these bosses want to see is two strong political parties in the state. So long as matters stand as they are, everything that happens at the capitol or courthouse is merely something "between us Dmocrats" and the public has no right of protest or appeal. You can hardly blame these Democratic bell-wethers for putting up a fight to retain the political blunder which they have come to regard as their own private prerogative. Unless all signs fail, however, thousands of the rank and file are going to kick over the traces on November 3, and defy the Democratic inquisition which has so long kept the voters of the South in subjection.

Landon will win, with the South or without it. Impartial polls indicate that Mr. Roosevelt's new-fangled notions and his attempt to make over the nation to suit Mr. Roosevelt and a few radical college professors will be buried under an avalanche of ballots from every section of the country. We hope, and believe, that the South will manifest the courage of her convictions, and have a hand in striking a blow for Americanism and real democracy next Tuesday.

Thorsby Institute News

As this was the end of our first 6-weeks term, several of the dormitory students went home for the week end. Those who stayed over, and the faculty members who stay in the dormitories, had a pleasant time Saturday evening. We had a picnic supper at the dormitory on the hill, where Miss Klingelhoefer, Miss Fairbank, and the dormitory boys stay. After the supper, games were played. Later in the evening a bonfire was lit and marshmallows were toasted. Then some more games were played and some songs were sung.

Lawyer Atkinson of Clanton gave a very interesting chapel talk here on Wednesday morning, October 21. The students and teachers enjoyed hearing him very much.

The next open meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society will be held in Helen Jenkins Hall on November 7, at 7:30 p.m. Miss Klingelhoefer has planned the program. A Biblical play, 'A Leper of Syria', will be given. The public is cordially invited. The usual admission charge of 10 cents will be made.

At Tuesday morning chapel, Miss Foss, Chester Messer, and H. L. Collins sang 'Lead Me Gently Home,' and Miss Foss sang 'Danny Boy'. Thelma White was the accompanist. Both of these numbers were enjoyed very much.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Trotter and sons wish to express their thanks and appreciation to the people of Thorsby for the many deeds of love and kindness shown them in the loss of their home by fire. May God's richest blessings abide with each every one.

Christian Endeavor News

The Christian Endeavor Society met Sunday evening, October 25, in Helen Jenkins Hall at 6:30 p.m. Oleita Nowell, the leader, had planned an interesting program on 'How many white and negro groups learn mutual appreciation?' The following persons took part on the program: Margie Yongue, Ella Dixson Mary Adams and Maude Knight. After the program, Miss Fairbank led an open discussion.

There will be an executive committee meeting next Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Carroll Trotter is home from Greenville to see his folks over the week end.

P.-T. A. social will be held at the home of Mrs. L. L. Stanley Thursday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT JEMISON

The P.-T. A. of Jemison High School is sponsoring a Hallowe'en party on Friday night, October 30, at 7:30 in the auditorium of the school. There will be plenty of amusement, and a good time will be assured all who attend. A delightful comedy will be presented first, then you will want to know your fuure, which will be told by an excellent fortune teller. Valuable catches can be had from the fish pond, and an amusing puppet show will be staged. A box of candy will be presented to the prettiest girl, and there will also be a guess cake. Ice cream, cake, coffee, cocoa, and hot-dogs will be for sale. Proceeds go for school needs. Everyone is invited to attend.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Hallowe'en Is Here Again

What madcap mischief is being plotted here? Thanks to camera and photo-flash these Hallowe'en dreadfuls have been caught in the act.

WHOO-OO! Boo! Whish-sh! Clunk! Here is Hallowe'en coming on apace and all of us remembering the warning that on that night—

"The Gobble-uns 'll git you
Ef you don't watch out."

Well, what do you say, folks, to turning the tables this year and "getting" the goblins? It can be done. What's more, you can expose them. How? By shooting these night-prowling scaremongers with your camera. In so doing you expose them and "git" them at the same time—on your film. See?

Yes, you can easily take Hallowe'en pictures, inside the house or out, dark and fearsome as the night may be. To photograph the outdoor goblins, the witches, ghosts, jack-o-lantern bogies and other horribles that come to play their spooky tricks on your windows and front door, you will need one or more photographic floodlight bulbs. For the regular indoor Hallowe'en party photographic floodlight bulbs for your electric light sockets may be used or flashlight bulbs, if you prefer. Inexpensive reflectors help.

The uninvited outdoor apparitions may not be expected to stay and pose for you if you alarm them by being in evidence when they approach; so you may have to lie in wait and surprise them—all the better for the picture. This means some ingenuity in finding a place of concealment from which your camera may be trained on them as they tip-toe up your walk. For this kind of picture, you must use a flashlight bulb. Your lens, of course, must be open at "time" when you set off the flash. If lights of any sort are within range of your lens, have your camera on a tripod or other rigid support; otherwise, you can hold the camera in your hand. Your young visitors will be surprised all right, but perhaps not unwilling to stay for another picture if you will allay their fears of being collared.

In the case of the invited spirits and such, coming as welcome guests to your Hallowe'en party, amusing pictures may be made indoors of the whole group posed in their fantastic costumes, and of two or three at a time playing the Hallowe'en games or doing their stunts.

For these pictures, do you know that there is a new *flood*light bulb on the market with which you can take snapshots indoors at night with the slower-lens cameras, including even those of the box type? If yours is of this kind, you can make snapshot pictures of your guests by using a couple of these new floodlights, in reflectors, placed three or four feet from your subject, supersensitive film, and the largest stop opening.

For snapshots with No. 1 floodlights, you should use two or three and a camera with an f.6.3 lens or faster, supersensitve film and an exposure of 1/25 second, with the lens at the f.6.3. or larger, opening. If your lens is not so fast as f.6.3, make a short time exposure with these floodlights; or use a *flash*light bulb in the same manner as for an outdoor picture at night, but turn out all the lights near your subject before you open the lens. Always, quicker exposures can be made with supersensitive film, but with the flash bulb the chrome type will also yield splendid pictures.

Will this be fun? Try it. The spooks and goblins who see the pictures will be delighted at being exposed in this fashion and thus the pleasures and shudders of a memorable Hallowe'en can be enjoyed over and over again.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

MAYOR'S COURT PROCEEDINGS

During the past week eleven people have been arraigned before Mayor C. Fenn Jones for various breaches of the law. There were five for public drunkenness, five for public gaming, and one for parking in front of the fire truck door at the city hall.

All the parties were tried and fined. Some paid their fines in full, some are paying by the week, and others are working on the streets.

Mayor Jones wishes particular attention called to people parking their cars in front of the fire department of the city hall. It is extremely important that no obstructions be left to hinder the fire truck from getting out of its quarters. A fire may happen any time, and when it does, no time is to be lost in getting cars and trucks out of the way. Our people should bear this in mind and not park in front of this part of the city hall.

CHILTON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

We, the Chilton County Baptist Association, in regular session, do hereby go on record as being opposed to any change in the laws of the State of Alabama, regarding the liquor question.

We furthermore, appeal to you and the present Administration to do all in your power, in law enforcement, and in preventing the passage of any laws premitting the sale of wine, beer, and liquor, and gambling devices in the State.—G. G. Williams, Moderator.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE MEETS AT WALNUT CREEK NEXT WEEK

Large Gathering Of State Methodist-Protestants Convene For Three Days

Probably the most important gathering of Methodist-Protestants ever held in this section will convene at Walnut Creek church, for three days, beginning next Wednesday, November 4th. The occasion will be the 108th session of the Alabama Conference of that demonstration.

The State officials, including Dr. J. S. Eddins of Birmingham, President, Dr. T. C. Casaday, of Montgomery, secretary, and Dr. T. W. Eddins of Elmore, treasurer, will be present, as well as other prominent figures from over the state. Rev. J. W. Enfinger, the pastor at Walnut Creek church, says that there will be prominent men from Baltimore and Pittsburgh here at the conference.

The people of Walnut Creek have made elaborate preparations to take care of the conference. There will be a barbecue each day. The welcome address on behalf of the people of Clanton and Walnut Creek will be made by Judge L. H. Reynolds, Wednesday night, at 7:00 o'clock.

An invitation is extended to all to attend these services at Walnut Creek. A grand time is anticipated.

The Junior Music Club met Tuesday, October 27 at the home of Miss Nell Rockett. The club was called together by Peggy Page who presided since the last year's president was absent.

They elected the following officers: President, Emily Sawyer; vice president, Ann Ross; sec'y-treasurer, Nell Rockett; reporter, Myrtle Pitts; a delightful plate was served to Peggy Page, Ann Ross, Alee S. Johnson, Elizabeth Newell, Mayanice Walton, Grace Ezell, Olive R. Elmore, Emily Sawyer, Lump Pitts, Nell Rockett, and Mrs. Barney Roberts, consul. The next meeting will be at the home of Olive R. Elmore.

OPEN HUNTINNG SEASONS FOR GAME IN CHILTON COUNTY

Mr. A. R. Lightsey, game warden, announces the new law on the hunting of game in Chilton County. The hunter can legally kill 10 squirrels a day, and the open season is November 20 through January 31. The bag limit of quail is 12 a day, and the open season is November 20 through February 20.

Turkey gobblers may be killed, one a day, limit of five a season, and the dates are November 20 through December 31, and March 15 through April 15. Twenty doves a day may be taken, beginning November 20 and going through January 31.

Mr. Lightsey urges all sportsmen to observe these laws in hunting the game of Chilton County.

SEND IN NEWS EARLY

There is lots of news that comes in to The Union-Banner Tuesday that could just as well be written and sent in Friday or Saturday of the previous week. Where such is possible, please help out the publishers by getting your copy in just as early as possible. If the article is of such nature that it can be written and turned in Friday or Saturday, then greatly oblige us by doing it then instead of waiting.

We will more than likely be in a rush for the next several weeks, and will need the cooperation of our friends. You can greatly facilitate the publishing of the paper by getting your copy in early. We are depending on you from now on.

MARCH OF EDUCATION

The week of October 19-26 has been designated by Gov. Graves as statewide P.-T. A. membership week, and he issues the following proclamation:

"All thoughtful Alabamians recognize and appreciate the work of this Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers and acknowledge the great value of the daily contacts of parents and teachers in this Association in minimizing the problems that are involved.

"A large percentage of our adolescent population are in schools throughout the state and all of our citizens are interested in the promotion of child welfare in the state, in the schools, and in the home.

"It is important that the attention of all our people be directed to the necessity of a continuation of the splendid work of a Parent-Teacher Association in each community, that our schools may have support, intelligent direction, efficient operation, and the harmonious cooperation of both parents and teachers. Therefore, I, Bibb Graves, do hereby proclaim Parent-Teacher week as of October 19-26 inclusive, 1936, and designate its observance during that period. I urge particular consideration as to ways and means of increasing the scope and value of the Parent-Teacher Association and request that every teacher and every parent in Alabama join in this movement so important to the educational and spiritual values that are to be observed and developed.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 16th day of September, 1936. — (Signed) BIBB GRAVES, Governor".

The District P.-T. A. meeting will be held in Motevallo Saturday, October 31. Chilton County is a member of this district. Every P.-T. A. organization in the county is urged to have representatives both of teachers and parents present at this meeting.

Dr. J. A. Keller, state superintendent of education, Dr. Smith, instructor director, and Mrs. Hill, president of the state P.-T. A., will attend this meeting to explain and tell some of the needs of education in the state.

The following schools have elected P.-T. A. officers:

Cooper — President, Mrs. P. S. Minor; Vice President, Mrs. Arthur Taylor; Secretary, Mrs. Lucile Allen.

Thorsby Junior High — President, Mrs. J. M. Higgins; Vice President, Mrs. E. N. Bentley; Secretary, Mrs. Clauda Mims; Treasurer, Mrs. R. R. Franklin.

Chilton County High School — President, Mrs. P. M. Pitts; Vice President, Mrs. Napoleon S. Johnson; Secretary, Mrs. H. G. Heflin; Treasurer, Mrs. Milton Smith.

Vermont Junior High — President, Mrs. C. J. Chandler; Vice President, Mr. Archie Stroud; Secretary, Miss Marjorie Wallace; Treasurer, Mr. J. D. Harper; Reporter, Mrs. H. L. Ratliff.

Jemison High School — President, Mrs. H. H. Denson; Vice President, Mrs. Norma Smith; Secretary, Miss Mary Clements; Treasurer, Mrs. J. D. Cooper; Reporter, Miss Jessie Mims.

Materials for P. T. A. programs may be had for the postage from Alabama College by those requesting same. Dr. Riddle will give this his personal attention.

Set your plans now to attend the Rexall One-Cent Sale at Upchurch Drug Company, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday November 11-14. You know the rest. Remember the dates.

MISS GENTRY AND MR. SPRATLAN ARE WED

Montgomery, Oct. 27.—Miss Frances Elaine Gentry, only child of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Gentry, was married yesterday morning at 9 o'clock to Mr. Berry Fleetwood Spratlan, Jr.

The ceremony was one of impressive simplicity, taking place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Leek, with Dr. Leek, pastor of the Highland Avenue Baptist church, officiating, in the presence of members of the families and a very few close friends of the bride and groom.

Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gentry, at 3 Vine St., Oak Park.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

Natural law in the political and economic world never changes. But there is much mutability in words and their meaning. The term which may be opprobrious in one generation can possibly in the next be an attribute of merit. One has to go no further than the present political campaigns to be convinced of this truth. For example, the term "tory" has been applied by New Dealers to those who oppose their especial principles of government. The epithet is one of opprobrium and the term refers to the tory of our own American revolution, who has gained much deserved scorn in our country because he upheld the claims of the British government against those of the opposing colonists.

Yet it is a fact which can be established by a little thinking, that the principles of the tory of 1776 were by no means similar to those of the man designated as a tory in 1936. It is equally true that the "liberal" principles of that day were by no means parallel to those of the New Dealers who like to term themselves "liberal" in modern times.

One of the foremost patriots of the early days of the Revolution was James Otis, a matchless orator whose public career was ended by the dastardly assault from a party of British. Otis spent the greatest part of his time as a colonial statesman protesting against regimentation proposed by the British monarch. King George was very desirous of enforcing what might be called paternalism over the hardy American colonists. He wanted to tax them when and as much as he willed, to tell them with whom they could trade, and what they might buy and sell, and it was this regimentative disposition on his part that aroused the greatest protests among the early Americans who were "rugged individualists" if nothing else.

Otis on one occasion violently opposed the Governor of Massachusetts when he sent out an expedition at the cost of the taxpayer without securing appropriation or other authority from the legislature. In his patriotic work "The Rights of the Colonies Vindicated," he insisted that all questions of expenditure of public monies ought to be decided by the legislative body and not be left to executive authority. When the king's appointive officers sought power to search the house of any colonist they uleased for the alleged purpose of seeking "smuggled" goods, he made one of the greatest protests of his career. And our immortal Declaration of Independence is full of the protests of the colonists against the regimentation forced upon them by the English King George.

Now in his purposes of regimenting his subjects, the British monarch was staunchly upheld by the tories of his day, and just as staunchly opposed by the American liberals who believed in states' rights and economic freedom. It would seem, therefore, after an examination of the record, that the liberals of 1776 have become, in economic theory, the tories of today, while the tories of Revolutionary times favored many of the theories which are now upheld by the New Dealers as something entirely novel and untried.

In the Declaration of Independence the patriots protested of King George that "he has erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither swarms of officers to harass their people and eat out their substance". Certainly "liberals" Wallace and Tugwell of the present New Deal era would never make charges of that kind against the government. To them rugged individualism is the fetich of the tory. Can it be that the liberal of yesteryear has become the tory of today? If so, there have been some startling changes.

THE FOUR AMENDMENTS

The manner in which the Democrats of Alabama have maligned our great structure of government is, indeed, a source of regret with us Republicans. Not only are they going to vote, with deep reservations, to continue our national government in the hands of a man who, by word and deed, has shown contempt for the entire system, but they are, in New Deal fashion, about to add four amendments to the state constitution, with about as much discussion of them as the legislature gave to the "must" bills that were sent down from Washington. We doubt if there are 100 people in the state (not including job holders) who know what the amendments are, or whether they should be adopted. Many do not know, and don't care. There is a reason for this indifference as to what happens to the state constitution, and that reason is the Democratic party. If the people of Alabama are to ever respect the state constitution, the example must first be set by our state officials. If amendments to the constitution are to ever be voted upon by an informed electorate, it is essential that the State of Alabama be blessed with two strong political parties. But just so long as state officials wink at election frauds in their own party, or give aid and comfort to the stealing of elections from Republicans, then just that long will this attitude prevail. And just as long as the Democrats continue to wave the bloody flag of passion and prejudice before the people, then just that long will one party government rule over an indifferent and uninformed electorate. The Republican party has fought and will ever continue to fight to present its side of the issues to the people, and this paper proposes to do so in regard to these amendments, but at the same time we realize that our entire argument for or against any of the amendments could be destroyed in one sentence from the Governor, stating that Democrats should vote "yes" or "no".

We confess that we have been more interested in the national election, we believe, is a fight to save the United States Constitution, than we have in adopting amendments to the state constitution, but to the conscientious voters of Chilton County, we offer suggesions as to the worth or unworthiness of the amenments:

Vote "No" on Amendment No. 1. It affects only Jefferson County, but like most local legislation, it is means by which one faction of Democrats seek to get revenge on another faction. The Amendment gives to the legislature power to change, merge, alter, consolidate, or abolish county offices in Jefferson County. The result of this amendment will be that when the Horace Wilkinson crowd win the Tax Assessor's and Tax Collector's offices, an anti-Wilkinson legislature will pass an act to consolidate them. Then if the anti-Wilkinson crowd win the legislative and lose the minor offices, they will pass an act to change these offices to some other name and put their crowd in. We in Chilton County are familiar with some of this in the fight that is being made to change the County Commissioners to a Board of Revenue. No economy will be practiced. It is wholly political.

Vote "Yes" on Amendment No. 2. This is local legislation affecting the City of Montevallo. It gives the city power to levy a school tax. If the citizens of Montevallo want to pay a little more taxes, we have no objections. If they have any objections they have failed to make their objections known.

Vote "No" on Amendment No. 3. This amendment confers upon the courts, having original jurisdiction in criminal cases, the power to suspend sentences upon persons convicted of crime, where the punishment does not exceed five years imprisonment, and place such persons on probation. This amendment is vague and indefinite. It will embarrass honest judges and aid dishonest judges. It will weaken our criminal laws. It will help to break down an already badly bent parole system. It puts the courts deeper in politics. A criminal with political influence could always bring enough pressure to bear to get a suspended sentence. The lawyer with the best "stand in" with the judge would soon be getting rich defending criminals, because of the assurance he could give them that, if convicted, he would get their sentence suspended. No greater step has been taken for the rehabilitation of delinquents by the federal government than the probation system, but until judges are removed from politics, we feel that such power in their hands is unwise.

Vote "Yes" on Amendment No. 4. It is another local amendment, and affects only Lawrence County. It empowers the county to increase its indebtedness in a sum not exceeding $130,000, for the purpose of constructing and equipping a courthouse. We know nothing of the merits of such legislation, but if the people of the county are opposed to such legislation, they should let us know about it. If it passes against their will, then they can certainly recall the gentleman who introduced such a bill in the legislature, and see that he never again holds public office.

MAN IN THE MOON

BE SURE TO VOTE

Records compiled from actual voting results compared with lists of qualified voters show that about 52 per cent of the qualified voters actually go to the polls and vote. The other 48 per cent sit idly by and "let George do it."

This should not be. The officials picked by that 52 per cent must govern the whole 100 per cent of our people, and it is nothing but a duty that the other 48 per cent help in selecting these officials. The greater number of people who voice their desires by their ballots, the better chance there is that the better officials will be elected.

During a period of war, any able-bodied man who sneaks away to keep from the service of his country is called a slacker, and is wholly despised. Likewise, every qualified voter is on the same parallel with an able-bodied man who could make a soldier. The man or woman who is not qualified to vote is, of course, in the same shoes with the weakling who cannot bear his part in war.

During the coming election you must find youself in one of three groups. The first is the qualified voter who steps up to the polls and does his bit, just as the man who dons the khaki and learns to do "squads right" in time of war. The second is the qualified voter who stays at home and leaves this important work to others, just as the slacker does when he sneaks away to dodge service for the flag that protects him. The third is the man or woman who is not qualified—a weakling, if you please—unable to do anything for his own protection.

There are some who make a point of voting every time there is a chance—they are to be commended. There are other qualified voters who do not vote every time. Why not use that precious privilege that is yours? And you who are not qualified—why not make up your mind to qualify yourself as soon as possible, and stop being a weakling? The physical weakling can't remedy his plight. You can!

So, on election day, let me again urge you to vote. It is your duty—a duty you owe to your country, to your neighbor, to your family, and to yourself. Vote for somebody! Back your own judgment or that of someone you can trust as to the persons you vote for, but by all means VOTE!

ONE DAY VS. FOUR YEARS

In this country there is a day which comes every four years that is more important, from an economic standpoint, than any other day. This is the day of the general election, when we elect the highest official in our land for the next four years. Naturally such an important decision should be made only after careful consideration by the electorate, both as to the man, himself, and as to his principles of government. Besides this careful consideration, it is the profound duty of every qualified elector to speak his desires by his vote at this time.

On next Tuesday, America will be making one of the most important decisions in its history. Shall America go on with a safe and sane type of representative government, as it has since our system of government was established, or will it risk a violent upheaval in its governmental affairs during the next four years? This very, very important decision should have your undivided attention. It is all very well to joke about politics and elections, but it must be remembered that, after all, it is quite a solemn affair.

The last four years have shown quite conclusively what President Roosevelt's governmental opinions are. To say that they clash with the tried and true American principles which have brought us this far along, is putting it mild. There is not one single basic American principle of government that he has not assaulted in some degree. The NRA, the AAA, and a host of other New Deal experiments were wholly contrary to American principles of freedom, proved so by decisions handed down by our supreme national interpreter of basic national law, the Supreme Court.

Because those un-American ideas have been thwarted once is no reason they will not be tried again, if Mr. Roosevelt should be re-elected. In fact, the president has already let it be known that he is returned to the White House, he will find some means to put these ideas through, whether they be constitutional or not. On at least one occasion he asked that one of his theories be made into law, even with the risk of its being unconstitutional.

He has kept people in advisory capacities who are admitted enemies of our form of government. They have sworn to "make over the government of the United States". We submit that our government is one of the best in the world, if not the best, and that our system of government is the best ever conceived by man in the world's history, and needs no remaking.

Can we risk the overthrow of our government? Can we afford to have enemies of our government sit at its council tables? Can we risk an upheaval in this nation such as has come about in recent years in Russia, in Italy, in Austria, in Germany, and in Spain? The last named is a good example of what political revolutions are like. The people of that country are divided and fighting to the death—death stalks through that unhappy land by day and by night, with thousands upon thousands of soldiers dying, to say nothing of the women and children and other noncombatants who must suffer therefrom. Do we want that? Do we want even to run a remote risk of such?

It is better that we do not shut our eyes to close possibilities. It might be that such could not happen here, but the advisers of the president advocate a change in our government, and a change of government is what is being attempted in Spain.

This nation has had one such experience—the Civil War. The scars of that unhappy period are yet on our people, and it is doubtful if they will ever be totally erased. Why should we risk another?

While President Roosevelt and his aides are contemplating "remaking" our government, and will very likely attebpt such if given a vote of confidence, Gov. Landon is a firm disciple of the American form of government as we know it today, and as our forefahters have known it. He has no fantastic reform ideas to try out on the nation. America is good enough in its present form for Gov. Landon, and if elected to the highest office in the land, his will not be a struggle to "remake" the nation, but to "preserve" it.

Think these things over—carefully. If you have not already done so, inform yourself on the matter thoroughly. Then on next Tuesday, let nothing keep you from the polls, where you can speak a word for the continuance of a safe and sane government which has, does, and will insure your freedom. One day is not such a long time. You can better afford to lose the whole day if it would help keep our country safe. It is one day against four years, and perhaps for all time. One day's time against your whole future. The odds are too great—you can't afford the risk!

Here in Chilton County, it is not so much a personal vote for the men on the Republican county ticket that counts as it is a vote for the sober form of government they espouse. It is not so much a vote for Mr. Burnett, Mr. Devaughn, Mr. Billingsley, and Mr. Martin, personally, as it is a vote for the principles behind them. The Republican party is making a stand in defense of the grand old American eagle against assault of that deformed and altogether repulsive Blue Eagle so characteristic of Mr. Roosevelt and his henchmen.

All of these men on the Republican county ticket are good, honest, sincere men who, like Gov. Landon, believe that America is good enough as it is, and needs no remaking. You have seen fair examples of Democratic remaking with your own eyes right here in your county in the recent changes in our road system and other county functions. Do they appeal to you—these changes? Even the conscientious Democrats oppose them, just as national figures in the Democratic ranks oppose the un-American tendencies of the president.

America is at the cross roads. We can either go on with our present form of government with Landon and his running mates on the Republican ticket from Washington to Clanton, or we can risk this remaking, possible and very probable upheaval and chaos under President Roosevelt and his followers.

A careful analysis of the situation should convince any true American as to the right decision. Go to the polls next Tuesday! Vote! Register your desire to keep America for Americans! By your vote help the good old American eagle to scream to the world that America is no place for Communism, Bolshevism, Fascism, nor any other 'ism' but Americanism! If you are an American, then prove it! If you believe America is the best nation on earth, then vote to keep it so! The job is not a hard one. An X under the Republican elephant next Tuesday is your premium on your freedom's insurance policy! Vote American! Vote Republican!

PUBLIC SALE

An amusing 'circular' has been handed to me, which advertises a 'Public Sale'. Some wide-awake satirist is the author of it—I don't know who the author is, but have been told that it was gotten up by Frank Barchard, of the Foley Onlooker, at Foley, Ala. It is supposed to be a joke at the expense of the Roosevelt administration, and I found it quite amusing. There is lots of truth in it, too. Here it is:

PUBLIC SALE—Due to the fact that the owners probably will take back the management of their property, there will be offered at Public Sale to the highest bidder at the White House at Washington, D. C., on January 8, 1937, beginning promptly at 10 a. m., the following:

1 Democratic platform, never used, therefore good as new.

1 Aged donkey, somewhat blemished, and too weak to kick.

A miscellaneous collection of charming smiles.

1 Carload mixed feeding cattle, if not shot before sale day.

Bones of 12,000,000 little pigs and sows, slaughtered by AAA.

1 Boar, sired by the doctrine of scarcity, and dammed by everybody.

150,000 Bushels of seed corn, imported from South America.

500 Hams, imported from Poland.

123,000 Corn and hog contracts, for what they will bring.

1 Joke book, containing all codes, and the Russian alphabet.

1 Big chisel.

Large quantity of PWA picks, spades, shovels, rakes, and like tools, which have been use donly to lean on.

Miscellaneous collection of new-fangled gadgets, Brain Trust Brand, too numerous to itemize.

All sums of $10 and under, cash in 59-cent dollars. No gold.

Free lunches to hoboes, relief clients, underprivileged transients, and any who won't work, and those who have missed the social values of the 'more abundant life'.

Large number of European trained field hands, mostly Russian, available for other employment.

UNCLE SAM, Owner.

G. O. PARTY, Trustee.

COL. VOTE STRAIGHT and COL. PUT 'EM OUT, Auctioneers.

How's that for a laugh, even if our Democratic friends CAN'T see the funny side of it?

—Man in the Moon.

IMPROPER — BUT TRUE

President Roosevelt must hold the intelligence of the American voters in pretty low estimate if he thinks they will be impressed by his characterization of the Republican leadership as that of Janus, the two-faced Roman god. Who more than the president, himself, deserves to be thus represented? Who was it who accepted "100 per cent" the platform of the 1932 Democratic National Convention and then proceeded to scrap nearly every important plank it contained? Who was it who solemnly promised one thing to the people, and then did another?

For a man of Mr. Roosevelt's written record to charge Gov. Landon with inconsistency is not only an exhibition of the grossest impropriety, it is a perversion of the facts as well. Mr. Landon has not, as the president asserts, played one tune in the East and another in the West. It is true that he has devised a farm and drought prevention program which will cost money. It is likewise true that he is committed to the theory that relief must continue to be extended to the deserving needy and the worthy unemployed. But when the present waste is eliminated and the present incompetence driven out, neither of these projects will constitute the drain on the United States treasury which is the mark of the Roosevelt administration. Nor is the fulfillment of them in the least incompatible with the economical and thrifty government to which the governor, in his Eastern addresses, has dedicated himself. This country will always have funds for national necessities. It will never have so much money that it can afford to throw any of it away.—Boston Transcript.

HOW DO THEY GET THAT WAY?

The shallowness of New Deal financial policy is indicated by the statement purported to have been made by President Roosevelt in his Pittsburgh speech that the billion and a half dollars which have been paid to the American veterans of the World War are no longer an obligation of the government. There is no hint of any necessity of Uncle Sam's paying back the billion and a half bonus money which was borrowed from the people by the issuance of government bonds. It seems to be popular to think we can pay a debt with borrowed money, or spend borrowed money on relief or boondoggling activities and assume that that ends it.

Gov. Landon very properly called attention to this loose way of considering the finances of the government when he said later in a statement issued from Chicago:

"An ordinary knowledge of arithmetic, without even the use of a pencil, would show the fallacy of the president's recent statement at Pittsburgh that 'over a billion and a half went for the payment of the World War veterans' bonus this year instead of 1945, and that payment is now out of the way, and is no longer a future obligation of the government.'

"Leaving out of consideration the question of the bonus itself, I would like to ask: If the billion and a half dollars paid in bonus is not a future obligation, what is it? It was largely paid in bonds, and some day the government will have to pay the bonds."

Here is an answer to the wondering query of so many people who know that there is a future day of financial reckoning and cannot understand the blithe gaity of the Brain Trusters who spend billions with a nonchalance which seems to believe that some way Santa Claus is going to take care of it all.

If the payment of the soldiers' bonus with borrowed money settles the matter so far as the government is concerned, then we need no longer wonder at the child-like announcement in finances of the members of the Brain Trust. For, as Gov. Landon says:

"With the president himself being so utterly less with facts and figures, it is not surprising that his cabinet members likewise are getting reckless."

It is comparatively easy to spend other people's money, especially with the realization that the other people will have to pay the bill. Most of the collegiate high spenders who make up the brain trust are novices when it comes to finances. They never handled any money of their own, so there is small wonder that they do not appreciate the value of credit and financial responsibility.

LANDON'S SENSE

His political enemies say Alf Landon is a nice man, but has no sense.

We guess that is right—although he made a success as an independent oil man.

We guess that is right—although he was twice elected governor of Kansas.

We guess that is right—although he was elected governor when all other states went Democratic in the Roosevelt landslide.

We guess that is right—although Landon balanced the state budget.

We guess that is right—although he reduced taxes in Kansas.

We guess that is right—although he believes in personal and public thrift without niggardliness.

We guess that is right—although he is opposed to "foreign entanglements".

We guess that is right—although he acted immediately against state officers who betrayed their trust.

We guess that is right—although he worked in harmony with the legislature, and got the legislative action he desired.

We guess that is right—although he believes that every cent of a relief dollar should go to relief.

We guess that is right—although he built up a comely estate without inheriting any of it.

We guess that is right—although he does not believe prosperity is dependent on scarcity.

We guess that is right—although he understands the problems of farm and business.

Sure, Landon has no sense at all. And in that case, neither did Solomon. — Atchison Globe.

SCARE-MONGERING

New Dealers pretend to be shocked by the Republican statement that, after three years of New Deal credit inflation and money-tinkering, no life insurance policy and no savings account is safe. They call this scare-mongering.

Then what was it when Mr. Roosevelt, in 1932, said that the federal government was on the road to bankruptcy? Was that scare-mongering?

What was it when, in 1932, he described federal prodigality and extravagance as a danger to "the entire banking, savings and insurance system of the country?"

If, in 1932, with a debt of 22 billion dollars we were on the road to bankruptcy, what are we now, with a debt of 34 billion dollars?

If, as Mr. Roosevelt said, the deficits of the Hoover administration were a peril to our basic security, what are the enormously greater deficits of the Roosevelt administration? — Chicago Daily News.
